'Greeleys' Change Name of the First Party January 24

Tickets Are Limited; Harmony Thrown To Winds

New and Original Features Promised by Committee

"The name has been changed, but the party remains the same." This was the announcement given out by the committee for the next university party to be given January 24 in the men's gym.

This change in name in no way affects the scheme of the party. The decorations will carry out the idea of Bohemianism, and this same general scheme will be followed in the feature dance. The committee promises that from the first entrance of the Gym until the last dance is played the atmosphere of Greenwich Village will be preserved. Contrary to most parties there has been no attempt at a harmonizing color scheme in the decorations. Rather there has been an effort to make all colors clash and to have nothing good looking but the crowd.

Tiss will furnish the music with his ten piece orchestra, presenting a new feature, special for this party. In addition to this there will be a feature act in keeping with the Bohemian idea. There will also be programs and punch.

Tickets will be out this afternoon. A limited number have been issued to avoid too large a crowd in the gym. The price is $1.50, and they may be purchased from any member of the committee, or through any student in the school of journalism. The committee is as follows: Kenneth McDonald, Leslie Moeller, Fredric Huebsch, Claude Puffer, Velma Critz, and Dorothy Wilson.

Theatre Adopts New Ticket Plan

Ticket Numbers Designate Night of Performance

A systematic method of numbering tickets to indicate the night of the performance for which the tickets are sold has been adopted by the University Theatre. Series of numbers are used, such as forties and fifties, the numbers on the tickets having a difference of ten. The smaller number is always for Wednesday night and the larger for Thursday.

This system makes tickets numbered 47 valid for Wednesday night's performance of "Fashion" and those bearing the number 57 valid for Thursday night.

"Fashion" is a satire on American society of the early forties. It is written by Anna Cora Mowatt and will be presented in the University Theatre on January 14 and 15 by members of Octave Thanet and Philomathean Literary societies. Miss Helen Langworthy directs the production.

Finance Ministers Agree on Payments

Set Amounts U. S. Gets on War Damage Claims

(By the Associated Press)

PARIS, Jan. 12—The British and American delegations at the conference of allied finance ministers have reached a final and definite accord, relative to the payment to the United States of the cost of the army of occupation and war damage claims. This was officially announced tonight.

The agreement is subject to ratification by a plenary session of the conference but inasmuch as France, Italy, and Belgium entered the negotiations already pledged to support the American viewpoint, and divergencies existed only between the British and Americans, ratification is regarded as a foregone conclusion.

The United States under the terms of agreement will receive about 25,000,000 dollars yearly on the total of her claims amounting to approximately 600,000,000 dollars Thus reimbursement of the United States will occupy a period of twenty-five years.

The sum remaining due for the cost of the American occupation is fixed at between 250,000,000 and 260,000,000 dollars, while the amount of war damage claim, the conference has agreed will be based on the finding of the mixed claim commission. This has been tentatively fixed at 600,000,000 dollars.

Kansas Governor Ends His Stormy Career in Shadow

Accused With Son of Accepting Bribes For Pardons

Released Under Bonds For Inaugural Ceremony

(By the Associated Press)

TOPEKA, Jan. 12—Jonathan M. Davis, "dirt farmer" governor of Kansas, stepped out of office today at the end of a turbulent two year term just a few hours after his arrest on a charge of "accepting a $1,250 bribe for a pardon."

Jointly charged with a retiring executive is his son Russel E. Davis, 28, who was caught in the act of receiving the money and delivering the pardon to Fred W. Pellman, former banker and convicted forger. Both were released on bonds of $1,000. Their preliminary hearing was set for January 23.

Governor Davis militantly met the issue. He went to court to face the accusation, made bond, wrote a letter to the presiding officers of the legislature demanding "a full and complete investigation" of his clemency record and then carried through his part in the inauguration ceremonies turning over his office to the incoming governor, Ben S. Paulen, republican.

"I stand before you today the only governor of Kansas ever placed under arrest while in office," Governor Davis told the inaugural crowd.

"I have committed no crime. I have not violated the oath of office I took two years ago, have neither solicited or accepted a bribe Throughout my official conduct I have had an ear to the poor and downtrodden. The great portion of the paroles granted have been in cases where the imprisonment of a man was causing others to suffer even more than himself."

"A great newspaper in search of prestige and influence has sought to besmirch me. They have invaded the sanctity of my home and sought to solicit the effort of criminals and those of low character. The people of Kansas will resent such attempts."

The audience applauded long and loud as the governor finished his address with a word of hearty welcome to his successor.

Geologists Tell Of Features of Ithaca Meeting

Five members of the department of geology gave reports, at the weekly meeting of the Geology club, of the meeting of the Geological Society of America, which gathered at the site of its organization in 1888, in Ithaca, N. Y., December 20-31, with Cornell university acting as host. Two of the ten men at the meeting were present when the society first met thirty-seven years ago.

Various features of the Ithaca program wer enumerated by M. A. Harrell, who gave an introduction, revewing the history of the Geological Society. D. A. C. Trowbridge discussed some of the few papers presented at the meetings and stressed the general lines of attack that are being made on geological research throughout the country.

Mr. E. T. Apfel summarized certain papers concerning glaciation, mentioning the work that had been done on diastrophism and correlation. Report of the meetings of the Paleontological Society and the papers read there was given by Mr. H. S. Ladd.

Dr. C. K. Wentworth told of the work being done geology at Cornell university and also described certain features of geological interest in the vicinity of Ithaca.

Vaccinations Total 1800; Yesterday's Number About 300

Vaccinations at the student health offices yesterday numbered nearly 300, according to University medical officials late yesterday afternoon. The reports showed that 140 women and 135 men received the vaccine.

The number of students vaccinated yesterday brings the total of students who have received the free vaccination service of the student health to over 1800 during the week.

Former Football Hero is Elected Speaker of House

DOES football make politicians? Is there some psychological connection between football and politics, because they are both rough and tumble, and "the biggest man wins?" Former Iowa football stars seem to find it so. When W. C. Edson, of Storm Lake, was elected Speaker of the Iowa House of Representatives, Iowa alumni searched their memories and found in them vivid recollections of "Eddie" Edson, '01, one-time football hero and campus idol here.

"Edson was the big man of the campus in those days," said Mr. Will O. Coast, who remembers him well. "He had the same place that Devine and Parkin have since taken, and those who knew him knew that he was not only a real football player, but an "A" student, and all-around good fellow as well. People always recall that he carried his right hand in a splint continually."

"Edson was a rather short man, not really a football type at all, one would think, and that made him more conspicuous than ever."

"Eddie" Edson came to Iowa with a reputation for playing a superior brand of football already made at Ames. He played here for two years, in 1899 and 1900, at right half back. During those two years the Iowa goal line was never crossed, and Iowa was the undisputed Western champion in 1900. They piled up 568 points to their opponents 17. Such famous stars as Captains Morley Eby, now coach at Coe, S. Clyde Williams, placed on many all-American elevens, "Red" Griffith, and others whom Iowa will never forget for their prowess, were on those teams.

"This team is the only one in the United States whose goal line has not been crossed this year. One of its members whose star work will long live in Iowa's annals is Will Edson, whose phenomenal end runs helped to make the scores," said the Vidette-Reporter, the "Daily Iowan" of that day, in its issue for December 5, 1899.

Mr. Coast, in speaking of Edson, went on to say that he is not the only man who has made good both in Iowa football and in Iowa politics.

"Bill Atkinson, who played here in 1905, was also speaker of the House, in the 36th general assembly, and Jim Brockaway has been a football man here and representative from his county in the legislature."

Omaha, Neb., Gets Legion Convention

Committee Sets October 5 and 6 for Annual Meet

(By the Associated Press)

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 12—October 5 to 9 were selected as the dates for the seventh annual convention of the American Legion by the national executive committee in session here today. The convention will be held at Omaha, Nebraska.

Posts were urged in a resolution passed by the committee to rent safety deposit boxes or provide other places of safe keeping where members may deposit their adjusted service certificates.

National Commander James A. Brain was authorized to appoint a committee to investigate erection of a memorial on the battlefield of Yorktown to French sailors who lost their lives there during the war of the Revolution. Representatives of the department of Virginia reported the scene of their fighting has been located and the field will be given as a site for a memorial.

Matrices to Hear Prof. Frederick

Editor of Midland to Discuss Short Story Art

Prof. J. T. Frederck, of the department of English and editor of the Midland, will speak before the Matrices tomorrow afternoon at 4:30. His address will be on some phases of the art of short story writing

The Matrices organization, which is sponsored by the journalistic sorority, Theta Sigma Phi, has made plans for a series of talks on different phases of writing. This is the third meeting of the series and it is intended that others shall follow every two weeks throughout the year.

The meetings are open to all women of the University who are interested in journalism, as the journalism branch of the personnel service is in connection with these talks. Any persons interested in some branch of writing are invited to attend.

Preceeding the address a short business meeting will be held to discuss Matrices plans. The meetings have been changed from 5 o'clock to 4:30 and will be held at this time in the future.

Descendant of Washington Dies

MACON, Ga., Jan. 12 (AP)—Mrs. Ellen Washington Bellamy, 84, said to have been a descendant of the family of George Washington, died here today.

RAIN WHEN YOU WANT IT, AND AS YOU LIKE IT, PROMISED IN FUTURE

Never again—Will little Johnny figure that he is the most unlucky person on earth and swallow hard to eradicate the lump which rises in his throat, as he sees his plans for a big Sunday School picnic fade before a black cloud is fast rising in the west.

Never again—Will farmer Jones shake an angry fist at the August sun which is popping, a la husk the corn he was saving for the holiday season.

Never again—Will farmer Jones' wife evoke a multiplicity of epithets upon the inclement weather, as she realizes that the recording secretary of the Do-So-Little club is chalking up another absence for her—

When the happy day arrives that the weather can be automatically controlled by human ingenuity, and according to Prof. A. C. Trowbridge, of the geology department, that time is surely coming. "Already, many experiments have been made along this line," says Mr. Trowbridge, "It has been proven that clouds can be artificially dispelled and it is only a matter of time until they can be made to give forth their precipitation at the right time."

Although it seems pretty much of a dream, on the basis of work already done along this line, such a thing is possible although rather remote. Already different experimenters have tried various methods of bringing about condensation in clouds, which would result in rain. They have tried jarring the clouds and also cooling and thereby condensing them by means of dust particles, but so far these methods have been unsuccessful.

The best solution seems to lie in the use of electricity, in connection with which two methods are being tried. Artificial lightening gives some promises of success and another experiment is based upon the supposition that the moisture atoms of a cloud are charged either positively or negatively with electricity. Experimenters believe that if they can charge part of the atoms in an opposite way, they will be attracted to each other and in this way will bring about condensation and precipitation.

Finkbines Hosts to Prominent Women Last Night and Men Tonight, Talk Loyalty to Iowa

Toasts and Songs Feature Program At Women's Meet

Jefferson Scene of Big Banquet to Iowa Women

"In loyalty to S. U. I.," was the dedication of the first "Good Will" dinner for representative women, given last night at the Jefferson hotel, by Emilie Stapp, Marie Stapp, and Dorothy Finkbine Sovers.

The toast program, singing, place cards, decorations, were all designed to carry out the purpose of the hostesses, "to inspire in these representative women an even greater affection for the University, and a renewed devotion to it as their alma mater."

Toast Program

Toastmaster, Adelaide L. Burge

Good Will William O. Finkbine, '78, '80 L.

The biggest, broadest promise
That our mission can fulfill
Is just to live our span of days
In friendship and good will.

We Will Margaret Sayers, '25

We will carry on the banner,
We will lift its colors high,
We will pledge our consecration
And our love to S. U. I.

They Will George F. Kay

They have made our pathway easy;
They have toiled that we might reap;
They will still be up and doing,
Still the old-time vigils keep.

Free Will Maude McBroom, '24

Freedom ever be our watchword,
Free our choice to do and dare;
Free our will to any action,
Free our service anywhere.

God Will Clara M. Daley, '07

We will swell the rising chorus
In our Alma Mater's praise;
God will give us of His spirit
While we gladsome voices raise.

Lydia Walker, A4 of Des Moines, led the singing of the verses to the tune of "Glory, Glory, Hallelujah." The author of the verses is Prof. Clara M. Daley, of the department of history.

The large banquet room of the Jefferson hotel was decorated with yellow calendula and narcissus, and the tables were arranged as three sides of a hollow square.

Literary Magazine Takes Up the Fad Of Cross-Worders

"Bub of Bagdad leaped three feet and hit the dust"—but where did he hit it? The newest encyclopedia doesn't say a word about it, and Webster's International forgot that historic incident. But it must be a word of seven letters, ending in "t". Then, Mabel lost her sweetie-why? We have two letters, but we can't find the third.

And that isn't half of it! The January number of the Iowa Literary Magazine has a whole essay dedicated to the cross-word puzzle. Harrowing experiences of railroad magnates searching for engineers who will not endanger the lives of passengers by crashing into the rain ahead while looking for vertical 42; rumors of an added man force to handle inquiries of those wanting technical synonyms; tales of a possible cross word class,—all these will thrill every fan who cross words.

The Iowa Literary Magazine appears Friday and has other features and articles to interest those who still defy the cross word craze.

President Jessup Convalescing From Typhoid Infection

President Walter A. Jessup, who is convalescing from an atack of yphoid fever, is getting along fine, was the statement issued yesterday by Fred M. Smith, of he collgge of medicine.

A period of twelve days has elapsed since the President had any fever. Propped up by a back rest, he is allowed to si up from two o three hours each day.

It will be about en days before President Jessup is removed to his home at Jessup heights, was the opinion of Doctor Smith.

No More Cabinet Changes Expected in Washington

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12: (AP)—While Washington buzzed with reports of further impending changes in high administrative circles, following the unexpected announcement Saturday of the resignation of Secretary Hughes, evidence increased that in White House circles no more cabinet changes were expected for March 4, except in the selection of a secretary of agriculture to succeed Howard M. Gore who will at that time become governor of West Virginia.

Winter Sports In Next Frivol

Editors Get Criticisms On Policy of Exchange

The editorial staff of Frivol, university humorous publication, announces that the forthcoming issue be devoted to Winter Sports. Copy for the issue is coming in daily and materials will all have been compiled by the eighteenth of this month.

The issue will appear early in February. Artists and contributors who have not been given definite assignments for work on the current issue should report to the editor or his associate at once.

The editors of the publication are in receipt of many letters of commendation and adverse criticism of their policy in introducing exchange jokes in the advertising columns of the magazine. The majority of the critics favor the policy. In support of this the staff points out that practically every college and university humorous magazine is received at the Frivol offices.

Consequently, the exchange editors have only to glean the best from these magazines and offer them to the Frivol patrons. The policy will be continued so long as it meets with campus-wide approval.

Negroes Kill Aged Leavenworth Man

Caught With Goods Taken From Loan Office

(By the Associated Press)

LEAVENWORTH, Kansas, Jan. 12—Two negroes, alleged slayers of A. Hyman, proprietor of a loan office here, who was beaten to death late today after being bound and gagged, were secretly arraigned tonight and taken to the state penitentiary at Lansing to forestall mob violence. Bond was fixed at $50,000 dollars each.

The negroes, Dan Russell and Hirshal Stevenson, were arrested shortly after the crime, which was said to be the most brutal in the history of Leavenworth. Hyman was beaten to death with an iron bar. He was 75 years old.

Hyman's body was found lying on the floor of his store by Rube Smith a negro deputy sheriff. The body was wrapped many times with a rope and a gag was in his mouth. He had been tied to a suit rack. When Russell was arrested he had several watches and about $25.00 in cash in his possession, police said. Stevenson, according to police, had $20 concealed in his cap and had jewelry in his pocket. When Smith entered the loan office he met Russell and Stevenson coming out. Smith saw the safe standing open and on investigating found the body and he gave chase to the two negroes and captured them a little later.

February 9 has been set for the final date for the W. A. A. vaudeville. Contrary to the usual custom, the performance will be held on one night instead of two. The date for reservations will be announced sometime later in the year.

Campus Lights Will Toast Their Hosts at Dinner

One Hundred Twenty-eight Expected As Guests

One hundred twenty-eight guests track team captains, seasoned attorneys, and learned college deans will break forth in song tonight, voicing tribute to William O. Finkbine, their host at the annual dinner for representative men of the University.

Harold G. Reuschlein, A3 of Burlington, Wis., president of the men's glee club, will lead the singing of popular campus songs, and Prof. Forest C. Ensign, of the college of education, will preside as toastmaster. The alumni of Iowa will be presented from the view point of:

The Men on the Wing—John M. Grimm, '89, '90L.

The Men about to Fly—Hobart S. Dawson, '25L.

The Man in the Stone House—Col. Morton C. Mumma, representing Pres. Walter A. Jessup.

When Good Fellows Get Together—William O. Finkbine, '78, 80L.

There will be no place cards, as the affair is to be very informal, Professor Ensign stated. However, seats will be reserved for the guests of honor.

The student guests will assemble at 6;15, and meet Mr. Finkbine and the guests of honor at the door of the large banquet room of the Jefferson.

Hinman to Talk To Chemistry Club

Head of State Water Department Talks January 14

Prof. Jack L. Hinman, head of the state water department, will talk to the chemistry club on "The Water Supply of Domestic Animals" at its meeting Wednesday, January 14 at 7:30 in room 317 of the new chemistry building.

Professor Hinman will discuss the water supply with special consideration for the relation it bears to the diseases of animals.

"It is still a question just when the water becomes a disease carrier," said professor Hinman, "but we know that sewage and water supply have a great deal to do with animal diseases."

No Holiday on February 23, Say Board of Deans

A change has been made by the board of Deans in the University calendar for the year. Since Washington's birthday comes on Sunday classes will not be dismissed Monday, February 23, as is scheduled. Because classes are being dismissed for mid-year convocation and the Foundation Day service this change has been made.

Day at Washington

Vice chairman Plummer of the Shipping Board testified before the Shipping Board Investigating committee.

Senator Borah, republican, Idaho, urged early action on farm legislation even if it requires an extra session of congress.

The tentative agreement between American and Allied representatives on war claim has been accepted by the Washington government.

The Supreme Court held the States can not compel a private carrier by motor vehicle to engage in public traffic for hire.

Nomination of Attorney General Stone to the Supreme Court was approved by a senate subcommittee and that of Charles B. Warren to succeed Mr. Stone was referred to a subcommittee.

The Daily Iowan

OFFICIAL STUDENT NEWSPAPER OF THE UNIVERSITY OF IOWA

TUESDAY, JANUARY 13, 1924

NIGHT EDITOR
Paul C. Smith

"Friends All"

SECRETARY of State Charles Evans Hughes will withdraw from the spotlight of American politics and step quietly into the role of private citizen on March 4, after twenty years of continuous service to the public. The affairs of a nation will be in other hands—those of Frank B. Kellogg, now ambassador to the court of St. James. America's part in world politics in the next administration may be gigantic, or may be insignificant. The stage is set for a better understanding between nations. Possibly Mr. Kellogg can direct the cast to a successful performance.

The new official is stepping into a giant sized pair of boots. He is to do a service that Woodrow Wilson, Charles Evans Hughes, or any of their predecessor-statesmen, failed to perform, if he is to bring about a more than doubtful friendship between the nations of the world. His promotion to the greatest diplomatic service in the country comes at a time of great foreign tangles and dislikes. Ill-will exists because of America's present isolation policy.

But American backing also comes with the appointment. Whereas the Harding administration stood for a let-Europe-alone-policy, the Coolidge government now wants American participation in world affairs. America is ready to help the nations of the world, and by so-doing to help herself. All that she asks is that the terms do not take her independence.

The audience for the show "Friends All" is large. Can Mr. Kellogg put across the performance?

Are Women Competent?

WYOMING has a woman governor, Texas will soon pass into the hands that formerly were content to rock the cradle, and women judges, magistrates, and legislators are becoming more common every day.

The question as to whether women would make use of their oportunities in politics has been answered. Another question remains. Are they fitted for their new responsibilities?

The necessity for trained leadership has been stressed by most writings on politics from Plato's "Republic" to the last scribbling of a modern editorial writer. Men have failed in many cases to heed this dictum and have chosen leaders because of their popularity, their wealth, or for some whim of even less weight.

There is some reason to believe that women will be able to bring a more active, intelligent mind to the problems of government. It is a curious fact that foreigners such as Joseph Conrad and George Santyana who have had to learn English after learning their own mother tongue have developed the most materful prose of the day. Parhaps women will be able to bring a freshness and vigor and intellectuality to their new field.

At least we have evidences that they are attempting to begin their duties intelligently. The interest which various women's clubs are taking in the study of theoretical and practical politics is encouraging. Now comes the participation of the women of this and other universties in the field of debate. Three debates have been scheduled for this season; with Wyoming, where the first woman governor is at work; with Minnesota; and with Knox college, in Illinois. The opportunities which such debates give for training in political problems and their public discussion are such as should interest every girl who has any desire to make use of the liberties permitted her by the nineteenth amendment.

We advocate replacing the telephone system by wireless. Then our car won't get damaged on the telephone poles so often.

Such headlines as "Shot by Mistake" or "Bystander Killed" tempts us to remark that if the police can't put the gunmen under lock and key, they should at least teach them to shoot straight.

Among other wonders possble in 1925: a substitution for the cross-word puzzle.

Among other recent changes in etiquette — a hiccough doesn't have to be excused. It is a sign of social superiority.

We like to hear from our friends in Florida and California, but we wish they would talk about something besides the weather.

Miss Summers to Lead Discussion At Y. W. Vespers

Questions Brought Up At Chicago Meeting Discussed

Based on discussions brought up at a meeting of all church workers in university communities held in Chicago January 7 to 9, Miss Summers, secretary of the Y. W. C. A., will lead a discussion at the Wednesday vespers this week on the "Effect of College Life on the Religion of the Students."

Some of the questions which will be emphasized by Miss Summers are: the effect of fraternity life upon the student; what students think of the religious workers on their campuses; the present attitudes of the university administrations toward the religious life of the students; the effect of the class room on the religious life; student movements in this country; undergraduate morals and campus morale.

Approximately two hundred workers, including undergraduates, from all sections of the country from California to New England, were present at the conference which was held at the Chicago Beach hotel.

Miss Summers acted as a visiting delegate from the local Y. W. C. A. Representatives from this community included Rev. E. T. Gough of the Methodist church, Rev. Herbert Searles of the Presbyterian church, and Rev. Harry S. Longley of the Episcopal church.

The meeting Wednesday afternoon will be presided over by Jean Beattie, A1 of Malvern. Following the discussion tea will be served with Mrs. Philip G. Clapp, of the music department, pouring.

Annual Y. W. C. A. Geneva Dinner Set For January 14

Purpose of Dinner to Interest Women in Summer Camps

Wednesday evening, January 14, has been chosen as the date for the annual Geneva dinner of the Y. W. C. A. Between forty and fifty University women have been invited to attend the dinner, which serves as an initial effort to interest women students in the summer conferences held annually at Lake Geneva.

The invitation list includes students who have previously attended conferences at either Lake Geneva or other camps in the country, and those who have not heretofore attended conferences but who have expressed an interest in them. Last year several University women attended the conference at Geneva from the University of Iowa. They included: Margaret Sayers, A4 of Jefferson; Mae Becker, A4 of Elkader; Gail De Wolf, G of Spencer; Marvel Braley, A2 of Britt; Harriet Skemp, M3 of Dubuque; Marguerite Horning, M4 of McGregor; Maude De Witt, N of Knoxville; and Florence Culver, N of Cresco.

Spanish Club to Hold Open Meeting and Program Wed.

To-morrow evening at seven-thirty in the liberal arts assembly room the Spanish club will hold a meeting. The program will consist of a short one act play presented by a group of the Spanish club members. This will be an open meeting and all University students intersted in the Spanish language are invited.

W. A. A. Notes

About fifty women are entered in the outdoor sports classes, which meet late in the afternoon three times a week. The prominent sport at this time is skating, and if enough interest can be aroused, a tournament or plans for ice-hockey may be made for sometime before the season closes. Skiing and snow-shoeing are also possibilities for this class.

Canned Heat

By Kennett Swenson

Tex Rickard, internationally known promoter, has ranked the world's leading boxing experts according to their several abilities and weights. It is intended to make Rickard's ranking list an annual affair along the lines of the all-star football selections.

Tex has an advantage over the football experts inasmuch as he has seen most of the top-notchers perform during the past year. The recognized champions in most cases also help to simplify the selections.

In only one division has another besides the champion been given first choice. Mike McTigue, light heavyweight champion in name only, was rated 4th. After Mike fiasco with Mickey Walter the other night it is doubtful if he would even rank better than that in the welterweight class.

This rating should make it easier for the champs to pick opponents. Of course some pug may have under-rated and surprise the champ as happened in the heavy weight wrestling circles recently.

If Strangler Lewis had had a rating of Big Munn's poweress he would still be champion. And again if he had been faithful to old Stanislaus Zbyszko instead of looking for new playmates his treasure chest would still contain a crown.

Wayne "Big" Munn is going to give all comers a chance. That is—all-comers who are not too proficient in the gentle art of wrestling. The Strangler could give him some valuable hints along that line.

For the cross-word puzzle enthusiasts, a five letter word meaning fast. If unable to figure it out ask Joie Ray what it is.

N. Y. Promoters Angling for Hall in Preliminary

Reports from New York announce that Roscoe Hall, University of Iowa boxing instructor, is carded to meet Fred Lawson as one of the preliminaries to the Jack Dulaney-Tiger Flowers mix to be held Friday night in Madison Square. When approached by a reporter, however, the boxing instructor refused to state as to the authenticity of the report. He did say that his appearance on the card was very likely although final negotiations had not been completed.

The final bout, which will go twelve rounds, promises to attract sport fans from all over the country. It is a case of the cleverness of Dulaney against the ruggedness of Flowers. Tiger Flowers was once considered an easy mark, being knocked out in one round by Kid Norfolk. But now, "man alive, that chile is dangerous," and the colored puncher is confident he can administer a sleep producer to Dulaney with as much ease as he made Berlenbach, the converted wrestler, go to sleep in public.

Hall received a great ovation from the crowd that packed the armory at Minneapolis Friday night when he won the popular decision over Sammie Leonard. Hall outgeneralled Leonard and proved his master at all angles. The newspapers gave the University of Iowa boxing instructor every round except one, and his fighting made such a hit with the fans that he is wanted back on the next card. The bout was the semi-windup to the Eddie Anderson-Pete Sargent bantamweight fight.

All-U. Wrestling Meet January 14

The finals of the all-University wrestling tournament which were postponed before the holidays, will take place on Wednesday evening, January 14, in the wrestling room of the men's gymnasium.

Due to the postponement, the men have had an additional week to get into condition and most of them now show mid-season form.

A charge of 25 cents will be made to spectators, the proceeds of which will be used to cover the expense of the gold medals which will be given to the winners in each weight.

The matches will begin at 7:30 o'clock.

St. Mary's Beats Rock Island Team

By staging a comeback on the offense, the St. Mary's quintet triumphed over the St. Joseph's basketball team, of Rock Island, 19 to 4, in the best exhibition of basketball the local five has displayed this season.

Although the men came down the floor time after time with the ball, they were always back to stop the visitors in their attempts to score. On the attac the work of Chudacek and Belger was especially noticeable in following in shots. They nearly always forced the guards to jump for the ball if they did not get another shot themselves.

The floor work of Bock was also worthy of mention, and the St. Mary's guards continued their good work in holding their opponents to four free throws.

The Rock Island boys were able to get the ball their share of the time, but nearly always lost their chances by poor passing. This fault coupled with close guarding forced them to long shots, and here their luck deserted them and they were forced to go without a single field goal. Devine played a good floor game, but it all went for nought.

The lineups:

Beck	R.F.	Devine
Chudacek	L.F.	Santry
Belger	C.	Yeager
Bauer	R.G.	F. Stromberg
Helmer	L.G.	G. Stromburg

Summary—Substitutions Shridan for Bock, Balluff for Helmer, Hamen for Balluff, Kelly for G. Stromberg.

Baskets—Bock 2, Chudacek 2, Belger 2.

Free throws—Chudacek 2, Belger 4, Bauer 1, Kelly 1, F. Stromberg 1, Yeager 1, Devine 1.

Referee—Lawrence of Cornell.

Red, White Defeat Ambulance Quintet in Practice Game

The Iowa City basketball five owned the ambulance company cage aggregation last night in a practice scrimmage in which both teams were far from their standard game. Tonight the ambulance company invades Williamsburg to play the Williamsburg Independents.

Hawks Have Real Opposition With Creighton Team

Subduing Minnesota with their weaving dribble, and swamping Purdue under a rain of baskets, Sam Barry's men have fought their way to a lead in the Big Ten race.

However, the race is just begun and if Iowa is to beat Creighton on the basket ball floor Saturday evening, there must be no slacking in the play. While this week will be a slight breathing spell between conference games it is evident that they must be in top form to turn back the Omahans. Creighton had the distinction of giving the Hawkeyes one of the worst defeats in the history of their indoor sport last year. It was a disorganized Iowa squad which was beaten 36 to 13 at Omaha last year. Captain Bob Burgitt was unable to play and a shifted line up on the eve of the contest was disastrous to Iowa's hopes. The Nebraska crew, coached by A. A. Schabinger, has lost Captain Lovely of the 1924 team, a forward of the highest caliber.

The Omaha team has a dangerous offense built around Mahoney, center, and Trautman, forward, both featuring often in the scoring column. Speicher, guard, is also back and is doing good work both on offense and defense. Ryan, a substitute last year, has landed a regular berth at forward this season while Koudelle, a guard who subbed last year, has failed to advance his standing. Corenman, a new man, seems to have cinched the running guard's job.

Although Creighton lost to Minnesota, 29 to 24 during Christmas vacation the team beat Marquette Saturday, 31 to 15, a bigger score than Barry's Hawkeyes were able to run up on the Milwaukee team. In the Hilltopper game Trautman, speedy forward, shot five times at the hoop in the first half and five times he registered a bull's eye, making ten of the fourteen points garnered by his team in the initial period.

Coach Barry believes that the game here Saturday will prove to be a big hurdle for his men.

Iowa, Illinois, Michigan Ohio State Lead Big Ten

Six games and all's well. All's well for Iowa, Illinois, Michigan, and Ohio State. From now on the ups and downs will be outs for some and downs for others. And the downs won't be the outs for a while yet.

The teams started last week. Now they are at it again. It will be over March 14, but the first week things began moving. Up at Illinois, for the first time in seven years, it was Illinois all the way. The Ruby Illini were there, and performed like jewels, as early games go. This week Norgren is still looking for a combination that can score more than three field goals. Dickson is gone. Alyea is ineligible. Barnes has not steadied down, and Chicago is up in the air. Illinois stumbled, blocked, guarded, followed in, and wno. There was no argument about that.

Northwestern was in the cellar, but came up for three good shots. It was man to man for Michigan. Haggerty tossed in the baskets, and Northwestern didn't go any place. The Purple couldn't get started.

Wisconsin stopped Minnesota, but the Badger offense couldn't come thruogh with more than twelve points. The two point victory saved the Gophers from the lowest notch, but the Meanwell offense was working, and the complicated Wisconsin offense may soon get going. Ohio State is the Badger problem tonight, a problem with a Minor and a Cunningham to go down the sides, slip under the basket, or break through that same defense that kept the bottom in the bucket after fourteen Minnesota points had trickled through. The Buckeye scoring machine is well oiled, but Meanwell and the Badgers may rise to the occasion.

Before the Hawkeyes get another call into the arena, eight games will build and wreck the standings as Ohio State meets Wiscinsin and Michigan, the Wolverines and Illinois turn passing glances at Purdue and Northwestern, the Gophers invade Chicago and Northwetern floors, and Michigan plays host to the Wisconsin Badger.

The conference standings:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Iowa	2	0	1.000
Illinois	1	0	1.000
Michigan	1	0	1.000
Ohio State	1	0	1.000
Minnesota	1	0	.500
Chicago	0	1	.000
Indiana	0	1	.000
Northwestern	0	1	.000
Purdue	0	1	.000
Wisconsin	0	1	.000

Death Toll by Auto Accidents Mounts; Four in Last Year

Mayor Harvat Proclaims War Against Speeders as Result of Two Deaths in Less Than Month; Offenders to Get Limit

Four deaths have resulted from automobile accidents in Johnson county in the last twelve months. In the same period, 172 arrests for speeding and eleven arrests for reckless driving have been made by local police.

Two persons, one a boy of fifteen, and the other, a young man of twenty-one, have been victims of the speed mania in the last two weeks.

Those who died in the last twelve months from injuries in automobile accidents were:

Four Deaths

George W. Ball, who died as a result of a collision with a street car.

E. E. Colony, of North Liberty, who died after a collision with an interurban.

Ralph Deming, 15, who was struck by a car on the night of December 30.

John Hatcher, who died yesterday from injuries in an accident Sunday night.

As a result of Hatcher's death, Mayor Harvat has issued orders for a war against speeding.

Mayor's Edict

"From now on, anyone who is brought here on a charge of speeding or reckless driving will pay the limit," said Mayor Harvat, when commenting on the situation yesterday.

"If they haven't got the money to pay their fine, they will serve it out in jail. Anybody, I don't care who it is, will get the full penalty.

"Formerly, I have been assessing fines of from $5 to $15 and costs, depending upon the rate of speed. The limit is $100 and costs, or imprisonment until fine and costs are paid, not to exceed thirty days. Anyone brought before me henceforth on such a charge will pay the limit," she concluded.

Auto Show Has Contest Among Best Women Drivers as Attractive Feature

Iowa City automobile dealers announce a women's driving contest to be held in connection with their automobile show, January 22nd, 23rd, and 24th.

Voting coupons for the women's contest will appear in local papers and automobile owners in and around Iowa City are urged to vote for the woman whom they consider the best driver in their community. Votes must be mailed to the Secretary of The Iowa City Automobile Dealers Association and the winners from each district will be determined by a committe of judges on the night before the show starts. Two winners will be selected from the vicinity of Oxford, Lone Tree, Solon, West Branch, one each from North Liberty and Tiffin and six from Iowa City. These winners will be invited to drive the show cars in a parade on the streets of Iowa City just preceding the opening of the show. Then on each afternoon during the three days of the show they will compete for a loving cup, in a driving contest that promises to be one of the most interesting features of the show.

Any woman who can handle a car will appreciate an opportunity to drive one of these beautiful new closed models that are to be exhibited at the show—so send in your voting coupons and tell your friends to boost. Beautiful cars, beautiful women, par excellent driving plus the spice of competition should make a parade that will add mightily to the attractiveness of the auto show. Fill in the voting coupon today and let's get started.

The two buildings now occupeid by the Auto Supply company and the Harter Motor company will be used for the show, giving a total floor space of more than 10,000 square feet for the display. Contracts are being let for the decorating and preparations are being pushed with the same enthusiasm that has shown up all through the automotive industry in Iowa City during the past year.

Mail the coupon—it's part of the success of the show.

*I consider*_____

Gives Two Addresses In Local Churches On Sunday

Dr. Walter H. Judd, national secretary of the Student Volunteer Association, spent the week-end in Iowa City in an effort to interest students in foreign mission work.

Dr. Judd gave an address at the morning service held in the Congregational church Sunday and also addressed more than 500 students in the auditorium of the Methodist church Sunday evening.

He held personal interviews with students yesterday and conferred with the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. cabinets yesterday afternoon. Dr. Judd left for Omaha last night where he will continue his work.

Sophia Vermance Tells of Death Ride

Receives Only Slight Injuries in Accident Sunday Night; Blames Ice for Skidding of Death Car; Coroner Not to Probe Death of John Hatcher.

Pale, but smiling, Miss Sophie Vermace, passenger in the car in which John Hatcher went to his death Sunday night, told her story of the accident to an Iowan reporter yesterday afternoon.

"It was the ice; we hit a tree and I woke up in someone's home," said the injured girl. "I don't even know whose house they took me to. Then I lost consciousness again, and don't remember a thing until they were bringing me up to this room."

"How did I feel when I saw the tree?

Memories Wrapped in Haze

"I remember only through a daze, but I hope never to have that sensation again.

"I don't see how I escaped," she said. "Just think, he died four hours later and I won't even be crippled," murmured the pale-faced girl.

Her companion dead, the Nash roadster demolished, Miss Vermace was resting easily in Mercy hospital yesterday. A bruise on her forehead and left hand are the only visible marks of the tragedy. Other parts of her body are stiff and sore and her lungs were slightly injured. X-ray pictures taken last night showed no broken bones.

No Inquest by Coroner

"There will be no inquest into the death of John Hatcher because there is no evidence pointing to anything except an accident," said Coroner J. H. Donohue yesterday.

"I have talked with the girl who was in the car at the time and the man who saw the whole thing and their version corroborates the accident theory," he concluded.

John Hatcher died Monday morning at 4:10 o'clock as the result of injuries received when his Nash roadster was wrecked on South Summit street at 11:30 o'clock Sunday night. His companion, Miss Sophia Vermace, was not seriously injured.

Auto Dealers to Finish Plans for Motor Exhibition

Final plans for Iowa City's automobile show January 22, 23, and 24, will be made at a luncheon of the automobile dealers tomorrow noon. J. G. Gartner, secretary-treasurer of the dealers' association, reported yesterday that nearly all local dealers have signified their intention of displaying cars at the slasm is being manifested by the dealers and others.

Tentative plans are that the show, which will be held in the rooms occupied by the Auto Supply Company at Linn and College streets, will be open afternoons and evenings. Music and other entertainment will be provided for those in attendance. It is expected that about twenty-five cars and a line of accessories will be shown.

State Director Lectures on Public Health Nursing

Two lectures were given to the students of public health nursing yesterday afternoon by Mrs. S. D. Lincoln of Des Moines. Mrs. Lincoln is director of the public welfare department of the state Parent-Teachers' association. Guests from associaitons of Johnson county and Iowa City were present. A third lecture was given by Mrs. Lincoln to those connected with the Child Research Station.

Miss Helen Boyd, director of Public Health Nursing in the University entertained for Mrs. Lincoln at an informal tea after the lectures.
