RAMBLERS DOWN HAWKEYES 32-19

Grand Jury May Investigate Fight Over Million Dollar Estate of Former Iowa Man

Contest Over Will of George L. Finn Complicated by Four Wills and Many Contracts Running Into Millions

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 23 (AP)—Possibilties of grand jury investigation into charges and counter-charges in the fight over the million dollar estate of George Lafayette Finn, former state senator in Iowa, who died here last January, was disclosed by officials here today.

Entry of the district attorney's office in the cases was revealed when it became known that Gladys L. McAfee of Santa Monica, grand niece of the 83-year-old millionaire, was being called for concerning sensational charges she was said to have made in the case.

The contest over the estate, complicated by four wills and at least three contracts involving the million dollar properties, was replete with sensational episodes. At one time, two investigators of the district attorney's office were called upon to go to the office of Dr. Frank Murphy, physician for Finn and a central figure in the involved legal battle, to seize a purported last will of Finn.

Contested Will

During the trial of the suit, various phases of which still are pending in both the superior and appellate courts, Mrs. McAfee charged in open court that the will obtained from the physician's office disinheriting her and Finn's brother, W. H. Finn of San Francisco, was made prior to a revocation of the wealthy man's wills, and that the signature on the will was forged.

Deputy District Attorney Daniel Beecher called Mrs. McAfee for questioning late today regarding the case, while still other phases of the accusation brought by her through her counsel were being considered by Deputy Bonner Richardson.

75 Would Share

The prosecutors said that if sufficient evidence was obtained to warrant the action the entire case would be investigated by the next county grand jury. If all the wills of the aged millionaire were thrown out, attorneys said, approximately 75 heirs would share in the estate.

Finn served in the Iowa senate in the twenty-second and twenty-fifth sessions, inclusive, as the representative from Taylor County. His home was at Bedford, Ia.

BEDFORD, Dec. 23 (AP)—George Lafayette Finn, whose wills became a matter of concern to county authorities of Los Angles county, Cal., today, left Bedford about 25 years ago, old residents here recalled today. From here he went to Kansas where he was reported to have made considerable money by buying up land at tax sales. He then went to Oklahoma City where he profited during the boom.

Was State Senator

Finn served in the Iowa general assembly from 1886 to 1894, one term as representative and four as senator. He won election as an anti-monopolist during the time that railroad legislation was of prime consideration.

His efforts in obtaining the selection of Albert Head of Jefferson county as speaker of the house, work in which he was active several days before the legislature convened in 1886, brought about his selection as chairman of the important railroad committee. He then switched his attention from the house to the senate and continued his compaign as an anti-monopolist.

Never Married

Following his return from legislative duties, Finn bought up much land which had been owned in Taylor county by the Burlington railroad.

He was at one time a candidate for congress on an independent ticket but was defeated by Col. W. T. Hetburs.

Finn lived at the Hotel Bedford during the entire time he made his home here. A veteran of the Civil war, he never married.

Schnoebelin to Appear Friday

Guy Schnoebelin's trial which was scheduled for Monday morning has been postponed until Friday, Mr. Schnoebelin is the proprietor of the Andrews hotel. He was held following a raid by the police last Wednesday night.

He is charged with maintaining a liquor nuisance, but entered a plea of not guilty when arraigned before Judge B. F. Carter last week. He is out under a bond of $1,000.

THE WEATHER

IOWA—Fair but some cloudiness, warmer Tuesday; Wednesday partly cloudy and colder.

Canadian Police to Follow "Golden Rule" Policy for Christmas

DETROIT, Mich., Dec. 23 (AP)—Police of Canadian cities across Detroit river have been instructed to follow a "Golden rule" policy toward visiting celebrants who may become more or less helpless but refrain from unruliness between now and Jan. 2.

The policy on ordinary days in the border cities is to arrest on charges of drunkenness those whose conditions attracts the attention of policemen. For the next 10 days, however, chief constables of Windsor, Walkerville, East Windsor, Sandwich and Riverside have instructed their men to be more lenient.

Policemen in most instances were told that they should give service in helping those who nedd it to find their homes.

Hoover Signs Hospital Bill

Authorizes Building to Total $15,950,000

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23 (AP)—Disabled World war veterans received welcome Christmas cheer today when President Hoover signed a bill to authorize construction of veterans' hospital facilities to cost $15,950,000.

Forecasting further projects for the care and treatment of veterans, the chief executive announced he had directed the medical council of the veterans' bureau to study the future hospitalization needs in view of prospective increases in incapacitated service men.

An increase of 4,491 beds is provided in the law enacted today. These will be distributed in 19 different building projects, four of which are to be neuro-psychiatric hospitals.

This measure brings the total expended and authorized for hospitals under the veterans' bureau to $104,436,942. Despite this increase, however, a report to congress from the veterans' bureau indicates that many veterans in contract hospitals will have to remain there until additional facilities are constructed.

The American Legion has sought the aid of President Hoover in an additional hospitalization program to cost $19,000,000. In that connection, the chief executive announced that he was glad to sign the bill today but indicated that the study should be conducted by the medical council of the veterans' bureau to know the extent of the needs before taking up a broader construction program.

Iowa Grads in Law Merger

Announcement of the formation of a partnership between Claude W. Baldwin, county attorney of Clay county, and Gilbert S. James, both University of Iowa graduates, was made last Tuesday. The firm was opened the later part of last week under the name of Baldwin and James, in the Clay county national bank building at Spencer.

Mr. Baldwin will retain his county attorneyship, but has made no statement relative to his possible candidacy in 1930. Mr. Baldwin, whose home is in Spencer, received his B. A. degree from Morningside college in Sioux City. He then studied law at the university, receiving his degree and being admitted to the bar in 1922. He practiced law in Sioux City for a year, then returned to Spencer and was associated for a time with J. W. Cory, Jr., in his law office.

Mr. James received his degree from the university and was admitted to the bar in 1928. Since that time he has practiced in Spencer. Last July he was named assistant county attorney of Clay county.

FIVE MEN DIE

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras, Dec. 23 (AP)—Five workmen cleaning a high smokestack at the La Lima sugar factor near San Pedro fell today and were killed.

Moose to Give Annual New Years Party for Members

About 400 persons are expected to attend the annual New Year's party which will be given Dec. 31 by the Moose lodge for its members. A chicken dinner will be served at midnight. A seven piece orchestra has been engaged to furnish the music for the dance.

George Seydel is chairman of the committee in charge of party arrangements. He is being assisted by Otto Greazel, Fred Smith, James Regan, George Chadek, John Schintlen and Leo Kohl.

Paul B. Shaw Lands Plane Minus Wheel

Lindbergh Hurt Self, Plane While Doing Same Stunt

Paul B. Shaw, local flying instructor, accomplished a feat that apparently happens only to the great, or else they don't live to tell about it. Recently Pilot Shaw was going up with Ira Stover to give him an hour's instruction at the controls. On the take-off the left wheel and axle broke leaving the wheel on the ground.

There being clouds at a low altitude they went up above them to about 3,500 feet for instruction. On returning to the field Pilot Shaw noticed five men on the field waving their arms and running around. He thought they were a group of boys playing on the field, until he noticed a bonfire burning at the end of the field. Then he realized something was wrong, but as he flew over them they motioned for him to go on, holding up the wheel he had lost.

He circled the field several times while Stovers crawled out on the wings and found the left wheel was missing. After a consultation Pilot Shaw brought the plane down in a slow glide setting it down in a snow bank.

The plane was tipped to the right at an angle with the right wing almost touching the ground. It ran about 100 feet and came to a stop without injurying the occupants or scratching the plane.

Under similar conditions Clarence Chamberlin and Charles A. Lindbergh have done the same. However, Lindbergh injured his shoulder and damaged his plane.

Instructors of Law to Attend Southern Meet

Five professors in the college of law will attend the annual meeting of the Association of American Law Schools to be held in New Orleans, Dec. 27-30.

Those attending include Prof. H. Claude Horack, president of the organization, Prof. Percy Bordwell, Prof. C. M. Updegraff, Prof. Rollin M. Perkins, and Prof. Mason Ladd. Mrs. Horack will accompany her husband. Previous to this year the meetings have been held in Chicago.

Following this meeting, Professor Perkins will go to New York city to attend three meetings from Jan. 2-11. These include a joint meeting of a committee of the American Bar association and a committee of the National Research council, a conference with the chairman of the committee on psychiatric jurisprudence of the American Psychiatric association, and a meeting of the American Law institute, to finish in tentative form the model code on criminal procedure which has been underway for some time.

500 Attend Program at Legion Building

The community Christmas carols program given last Sunday afternoon at the American Legion building was attended by 500 persons of the local community. The program was sponsored by the chorus of the Iowa City Women's club. The carols were directed by Mrs. Alexander Ellett, assisted by the Iowa City high school orchestra and glee clubs, Celeste Fuhrman, William Holland, the junior choir of the Methodist church, and the choirs of other Iowa City churches.

Mrs. Maude Smith and Zita Fuhrmann were the accompanists. Two unannounced pieces were added to the program. These were a violin solo by Ellen Jones, and cornet duet by Lee Seger and William Swishart.

Two solos, one overture, one duet, five carols, and three songs constituted the remainder of the program.

White House Prepares for Big Christmas

Hoovers to Spend First Christmas at Famous Old Mansion

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23 (AP)—Just as in homes throughout the land, the white house radiated cheer tonight as final preparations went ahead for the first Christmas of the president and Mrs. Hoover in the famous old mansion.

Holly, poinsettas and glimmering tapers heralded the joyful season for the foremost family. The same atmosphere pervaded the homes of diplomats and government officials as did the humbler residences.

The snowy sleety day found thousands of shoppers edging through the downtown sections for last minute purchases. Mr. and Mrs. Hoover had already trod the crowded streets having a good time window-shopping.

Big Spruce Tree

The east room of the white house was dominated by a spruce tree towering toward the ceiling. In the apartment of the president upstairs was a smaller tree decked in tinsel, other colorful Christmas trinkets and shining lights.

The union station saw thousands of arrivals and departures of widely-known citizens and their friends. Among the homecoming students is Allan Hoover, journeying from Harvard university to join the President and Mrs. Hoover and some friends for the traditional exchange of greetings and presents the day after tomorrow. Herbert Hoover, Jr., will not be with his parents, since he and his wife have decided to spend Christmas with their two young children in their California home.

Tafts in Quiet

Chief Justice and Mrs. Taft will pass the day quietly, and do not expect any of their children, or 11 grandchildren to join them in observing the day.

With the exception of Secretary Mellon, members of the cabinet were looking forward to family gatherings. The treasury secretary arrived at Porto Rico today after fishing in the Bahamas, and was enroute to Santa Domingo. Secretary and Mrs. Stimson plan to spend both Christmas and New Year's at their home here, with Stimson devoting spare time to preparation for the London naval conference. Secretary Hurley is planning a quiet family Christmas "just as it would be out in Tulsa, Okla." Secretary and Mrs. Davis also had plans for a family gathering, with presents on hand for their several children. Attorney General Mitchell was to have his sons home from college. Secretaries Wilbur and Hyde were looking forward to the holiday.

Helps Santa

Mrs. Hoover helped Santa Claus dispense to the needy children of the city today gift packages and toys. Toddlers from the central mission emergency home clutched their cretonne-covered bags, and smiled happily as they passed in line before her.

Tomorrow she will pursue a like role, in distribution of 500 baskets—each containing enough food for six people—at the salvation army temple. The building was decorated festively today and Mrs. Hoover will be escorted to a platform by boy and girl scouts after the poor meet to be greeted by her tomorrow.

Elks Hosts to Kids of City

Elks lodge No. 590 of Iowa City, will be host to all the boys and girls of this city between 1 and 2 o'clock, Christmas day. Santa Claus will be at the Elks club house, corner of Gilbert and Washington streets, and will distribute tickets to any of the theaters for the Christmas afternoon matinee to the children.

Special arrangements have been made with Albert Dunkel, Thomas A. Brown and Albert Davis, proprietors of the Iowa City theaters to provide a program suitable for children.

The party is in charge of the committee on community and social welfare. The members of the committee are: Matt Mattes, chairman, W. P. Russell, Edward Hogan, Dr. Erling Thoen, and William R. Hart. They extend a cordial invitation to all the children of the city to attend.

Elks Distribute 60 Baskets to Needy

Sixty Christmas baskets were distributed by the Elks lodge of Iowa City yesterday. Each basket contained corn, beans, sugar, milk, bread, butter, lard, nuts, apples, candy and one-half of a ham.

It is in keeping with the annual custom of the Elks organization to distribute baskets at Thanksgiving and Chrstmas to the poor and needy of the city and vicinity.

Scouts Do Part in Bringing Cheer to Poor Children

Boy Scouts delivered more than 225 remodeled and newly-painted toys yesterday morning to the Social Service league. The toys have been collected by the scouts and repaired by the high school manual training classes under the direction of C. R. Cannon. They will be distributed by the Social Service league to the poor and needy children of the city.

Paul McGuire, scout executive, says there have been more and better toys donated this year than ever before.

Blackstone to Give Report

Commerce Teacher to Speak in Chicago

Earl G. Blackstone, associate professor of commerce, will deliver a report next Saturday to the business round table of the National Commercial Teachers' federation. It is their thirty-second annual convention, which will be held in Chicago. Mr. Blackstone is the only one from the University of Iowa to deliver a report.

His subject will be "A Report of the Follow-up Study of 3,000 Commercial Graduates of Iowa." In the report he will show two purposes or results of the committee's study of the graduates of Iowa high schools.

Report Covers Year

The first purpose is to present a report of the answers to inquiries of all the boards and colleges which have commercial training in their schools. In the inquiry they sent out 300 letters and received approximately 175 answers. However, the report covers only a year. It was startel last January.

Iowa Second in Reports

It is being developed scientifically and much progress has been made in the last year. The department in the University of Iowa ranks second in number of reports and leads in the quality of them. The department for the last five years has established a very good record.

On High School Students

The issue taken up in Mr. Blackstone's report is an investigation of 3,000 students who graduated from high school two years ago. The high schools of Iowa were used.

In the report they tried to find out if the high school training fitted the pupil with a sound knowledge in the commercial line. The three subjects bookkeeping, shorthand, and typewriting were used for the study as they are taught in the high schools.

It was found that they are not well fitted to teach the average pupil for a business or commercial career.

Shorthand Valuable

The courses offered to the pupils are better fitted to the girls than the boys. Shorthand being especially valuable to them. The reason given is that boys take more jobs of clerical nature. The results were drawn from the jobs.

A few suggestions are offered. This includes a salesman course for the boys as they apparently go to that line. They also recommend that the schools get away from the traditional courses. A few schools are doing the latter.

Add Extra Mail Planes

CHICAGO, Dec. 23 (AP)—Extra planes have been required to handle the last minute Christmas air mail rush, which has been agravated by the delay resulting from the week's general snowstorm, it was revealed today by lines operating out of Chicago.

Boeing Air transport, which handles the Chicago-San Francisco mail, has been sending seven and eight sections to and from the Pacific coast each 24 hours since the storm abated, officials of the company stated, and National Air transport, operating the eastern half of the transcontinental route, announced it had been using as many as five ships each way.

Freighter in Distress Sends Out SOS Calls

NEW YORK, Dec. 23 (AP)—Temporary distress of the Norwegian tramp steamer Karmoy, at first reported aground and in danger 15 miles south of Nantucket lightship, tonight disrupted the broadcasting of radio programs and sent more than half a dozen vessels scudding toward the disabled ship.

A little more than an hour later came a radio report that the Karmoy was afloat again and proceeding toward Providence, R. I.

The freighter sent out an SOS at 10:31 p.m., saying she was sinking. Radio stations promptly abandoned the air to the messages of greater import that began to fly back and forth between the disabled vessel, neighboring ships and land stations.

Elmer Huckins Released on $5,000 Bond

Surrenders to Officials on Fugitive From Justice Warrant

WAUTOMA, Wis., Dec. 23 (AP)—The mystery surrounding the financial activities of Elmer S. Huckins was presumably one step nearer solution today with his surrender here on a fugitive from justice warrant.

He was released on $5,000 bond after accepting service on the warrant, based on a criminal warrant from Linn county, Iowa, charging him with obtaining money by false pretenses.

R. S. Milner, Cedar Rapids, Huckins' attorney, carried out the promise he made yesterday that his client would appear in court here. Huckins, charged jointly with his son and associate, George, was sought for a week. George Huckins was arrested in Excelsion Springs, Mo., last week.

Face Civil Suits

The failure of a Hancock, Wis., bank to redeem notes two Iowa investors held in the Huckins enterprise resulted in the fraud charges and the arrest of Huckins. In addition to the fraud charges they face civil suits for $73,000, instituted by the two investors.

Attorney Milner said his client "may or may not" fight extradition to Iowa when he appears here Jan. 7, but he indicated that excepting for a delay to prevent service of process in the civil suits, Huckins will consent to return without the formality of a governor's warrant.

The arrest of Huckins today was the second during the long investigation into the business enterprise he conducts and which has paid 26 and 52 per cent dividends. Huckins, it was revealed, told investors he was in a cigar business, but federal inquisitors said a check-up with leading cigar manufacturers showed that the Huckins business does not exist.

Charge Use of Mails

The federal district attorney in Milwaukee charged Huckins with using the mails to defraud but the case collapsed several months ago when the government failed to prove that the financial "wizard" was not engaged in a cigar business. A federal court commissioner held communication form cigar manufacturers consititued hearsay evidence.

Huckins, the investigator revealed, drew money from investors throughout the middle west.

Investors received notes signed by Huckins' secretary which listed the amount of the investment, and contained a provision by which the money could be withdrawn "on 40 days notice."

MAKE PLANS FOR TRIAL OF HUCKINS

CEDAR RAPIDS, Dec. 23 (AP)—Plans for the trial of Elmer S. Huckins and George E. Huckins on charge of obtaining money under false pretenses were being made today by attorneys for both defense and the state, while they awaited word of the time when the two men would return.

Carl Hendrickson, county attorney, said he expected Elmer Huckins, head of a concern reputed to pay dividends of 26 to 52 per cent to return here within a week, but had no information from the sheriff as to the time George Huckins might be removed from the hotel where he is ill at Excelsior Springs, Mo.

Meanwhile, papers notifying the Huckins of civil suit to recover $73,350 invested in their concern by four persons, were being held ready for service upon their arrival. The charges of obtaining money under false pretenses grew out of the filing of those suits by William Speas, manager of the baseball club of which George Huckins was owner; Charles Negus, partner with George Huckins in a cigar store here; Fred Leiser, baseball manager at Dubuque, and Elwood Royster.

Pan-American Air Service Is Established

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 23 (AP)—The first air passenger service between Panama and the United States was completed late today with the arrival of Pan-American Airways United States air limited. Two passengers made the trip from Cristobal, Canal Zone, to Miami.

Another plane which left Miami Saturday morning, arrived in Cristobal this afternoon to inaugurate service to the south from here.

SKID RESULTS IN DEATH

OCALA, Fla., Dec. 23 (AP)—Lambert Richards, identified by papers in his pocket as a member of the New York stock exchange, died here today of injuries suffered yesterday when his automobile skidded on a wet highway and turned over. The body is being held here pending investigation.

Prohibition Head Warns Against Holiday Liquor

DES MOINES, Dec. 23 (AP)—Warning of the danger lurking in holiday liquor was issued here today by Glen A. Brunson, deputy prohibition administrator.

At this season, Mr. Brunson said, all sorts of potions are offered under the guise of liquors and the seasonal demand, in which little discrimination is shown, makes the vendor's task easier, no matter what he sells.

Bootleg dealers here were reported to have raised the price of alcohol to $5 a quart, an increase of $1, the new price to hold over the holidays.

Mr. Brunson said his staff was maintaining its usual vigilance and that no unusually large movements of alcohol and co-called "Bonded" goods into this part of the state had been discovered.

Famous Grad Revisits Iowa

Bartsch Searches for Type Specimen

Dr. Paul Bartsch of the national museum at Washington, D. C., has been visiting the university during the last two days where he was conferring with Dean George F. Kay of the college of liberal arts, and Prof. Joseph H. Bodine of the zoology department. The conference regards materials collected by the late Prof. Charles C. Nutting, in which the national museum is interested.

Dr. Bartsch is negotiating with university authorities to obtain a type specimen to place in the national museum. A type specimen is one upon a species of animal is based and it is important that the museum should get the material for reference by collectors. It is also important that they get the material for the purpose of verifying the species of future specimen by comparison.

Bartsch, Iowa Graduate

Dr. Bartsch is one of the Iowa graduates, most distinguished in scientific fields. He received three degrees from the University of Iowa, a B.S. '96, M.S. '99 and Ph.D. '05. He is now employed as curator of the department of mollusks in the United States national museum at Washington. He is also professor of biology at George Washington and Howard universities.

When a sea worm was destroying woodwork of the Panama canal, Bartsch was dispatched to the Canal Zone by the government and succeeded in halting the depredations of the past. His research on snails won him much recognition, and now he is regarded as the world's finest authority on mollusks.

Visits University

Enroute to Des Moines for the convention of the American association for the advancement of science, Bartsch is visiting the university for the first time since he became internationally famous. He intends to stop at Burlington where he will spend Christmas with his mother, who is more than 90 years old.

Spradling Begins to Rival Brother as Star Basketeer

Iowa's cage leader against Notre Dame last night, high scorer in the Marquette game Saturday, and key offensive player as captain and center against Pittsburgh, Robert Spradling brought his season scoring total to 30 points with three field goals. He has caged 11 throws from the field and eight from the foul line.

Reg Hildrth, fast and smooth forward, added five points last night. His season total now is 16 in the four games played. Bobby Kinnan, star guard, has 10 points made while holding enemy scorers to low counts.

Other present squad members and their totals are: Rogge, forward, 5; Jebens, guard, 4; Reinhardt, guard, 3; and Simpson, center, 1. Talbert and Eshelman, substitute forwards, have not scored.

The team total is 93 against 116 for the quartet of opponents, including 24 points made in a single game by Plunkitt, Nelson, Benson, Leeka, and Farroh, now ineligible.

Murderer Receives Eight Year Sentence

SIOUX CITY, Dec. 23 (AP)—Ernest Bonner, who fatally shot "Pat" Dillion in a pool hall here March 17, was sentenced on a charge of manslaughter to eight years in the penitentiary at Ft. Madison in district court here today.

Before sentencing Bonner, the judge overruled a motion for a new trial. Bonner was convicted a few days ago by a district court jury. He said he shot in self defense.

Iowa Checks Notre Dame for One Half

Hoosier Center Key Player on Old Gold Five

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Dec. 23 (AP)—Showing a smooth, powerful offense in the last half after being held to a tie score in the opening period, Notre Dame trounced Iowa tonight, 32 to 19.

The Irish failed to get started in the first half which ended with the teams tied at nine all. In the closing period, led by Donovan, Notre Dame cut loose and easily distanced the Hawkeyes. Donovan's long distance shooting was the feature of the final period punch, the Irish guard collecting five goals from the field.

Tied at Half

Iowa failed to score until the game was nearly 12 minutes old when Spradling's first field goal made the score two-all. Newbold and De Cook collaborated to bring Notre Dame's total to nine points and Hildreth, Kinnan, and Spradling counted enough points to tie the score shortly before the period ended.

The Notre Dame offense began to function a few moments after the second half began and the Irish set up a lead of 19 to 9 before the Hawkeyes could connect again.

Hildreth Good on Floor

Spradling led Iowa in all around play topping his team in scoring and heading the offense. Hildreth played a great floor game, dribbling through the Irish defense for a pair of field goals in the first half, but was stopped in the closing period.

Party Mourns Marsh's Death

WATERLOO, Dec. 23 (AP)—An entire political party, both state and national, today mourned the loss of Wilbur W. Marsh of Waterloo former treasurer of the democratic national executive committee and former national committeeman from Iowa. Marsh died here Sunday, a few hours after being found unconscious in his automobile near Hudson. He had suffered a paralytic stroke.

From democratic leaders throughout the nation came words of sympathy as plans for funeral services to be held at 2:30 p.m. tomorrow were made. Marsh will be buried in the Waterloo cemetery.

Eulogies for the man who directed the unsuccessful campaign for the democratic nomination of Champ Clark of Missouri in 1912 came from democratic leaders at the nation's capital. Jouett Shouse, chairman of the democratic national executive committee, said, "there was no more personally popular democrat than Mr. Marsh."

Representative Garner of Texas, minority leader in the United States house, said "the country has lost a valuable citizen and the party a very valuable councilor."

Similar words of praise came from other national leaders.

Richard F. Mitchell, democratic national committeeman for Iowa, praised him as a "leader and builder," calling him a "man of extraordinary energy and enthusiasm."

TINLEY COMMENTS ON MARSH'S DEATH

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Dec. 23 (AP)—Emmett Tinley, a close political associate of Wilbur W. Marsh, when told here today of the latter's death said: "The death of Mr. Marsh is a distinct loss to the state. In all of his business activities he had constantly in mind the interests of Iowa. No man in the state of his generation contributed more to the elevation of the standard of the live stock industry of the state. His pet hobby was Guernsey cattle, but with him this hobby was interesting because of the good he was accomplishing for his state.

"He was the outstanding democrat of the state. He believed that a political organization should be controlled by the same high class business principles that control business enterprises. Although he found this impossible with a minority party, nevertheless his efforts were not all together in vain."

$40,000 for Mayor Jimmie

MAYOR JIMMIE WALKER will receive an annual salary of $40,000. This is a raise from the meagre $25,000 that he received last year.

There is meaning back of this increase, which makes Mayor Walker the hihgest paid city executive in the United States. The idol of New York led Tammany to a smashing victory over the republicans in the last city election. He is called the best dressed man in the city of New York. He is as popular a mayor as ever graced the streets of an American city.

The victory of Walker for Tammany has raised the name of Tammany to a higher level than it has held in the past. The reason is the way in which Walker conducted his fight against La Guardia. In fact, it should not be called a fight. Walker made speeches that were uplifting for his organization, but did not degrade his opponent. Walker met all charges squarely and asked for an examination of his and Tammany's record during his regime as mayor. La Guardia continued his mud slinging up to the last, with the rsult that he lost in a very sad showing.

The mayorality choice in New York means much, because of the fact of its being a four year job. Four years is too long for an unscrupulous man to be in office because of public finding out about his record. The fact that Mayor Walker came back stronger than ever after his first four years is remarkable. His platform is a constructive one. His claim for doing things during the last four years was not idle talk. He had a wonderful record to show.

Walker is a sample of the new guard in politics that makes one forget the old Tweed ring. The new guard is quick to find out what the public wants and give it to them. Mayor Walker did this and finds himself with a salary of $40,000 a year.

Children and Crime

BECAUSE they were always getting in the way of his broom when he was sweeping up, Daniel Wilbur, six years old, and Lulu Wilbur, three years old, were shot and killed by their brother Lawrence, 15 years old.

The slaying was confessed only after the boy had attempted to attribute the crime to his father. It happened in a cabin in the Ulster Hills, 16 miles from Kingston, N. Y., when Lawrence, who was in charge of the house, was trying to clean it up, and the other eight children were in the way. The mother was in the hospital.

Lawrence will be tried for murder and probably put in the reform school where he will become proficient in the fine art of crime as it is practiced by experts.

Reared in a trapper's lonely cabin, always full of children, raw pelts, rifles, and traps, Lawrence is apparently lacking in the qualities that make life tolerable in groups. Because he had never been taught to control his temper, respect the lives of others, and love his brothers and sisters, Lawrence will be isolated from the society which might have taught him.

Children are neither instinctively good or bad, and how they act depends greatly on the training they have been given. If Lawrence's parents failed to give him proper training, it is scarcely his fault that he has broken the law.

It is necessary, of course, that anyone displaying such dangerous tendencies should be separated from the rest of the people, but cases like this make us wonder if the nature and results of this separation are not a blot on our administration of justice.

Doctors Use Jazz for Operations

OFTEN have people remarked about the deteriorating results of jazz music, but now with the successful experiment of jazz as a sedative for operations at a Butte, Mont., hospital causes the critics of the "crazy rythm" to wonder.

An automobile accident victim in Butte was placed under the ether to the lilting tune of "I Wish I had a Talking Picture of You," and regained consciousness to the cheery refrains of "Sunny Side Up."

"It's a wow," said Edward Mason, the victim. "With the music lulling you to sleep, you forget all about the ether."

Among the selections being considered by musically inclined patients for future use were "Oh, How I Miss You," for appendicitis operations, and "I Wanna Go On Living," and "I Can't Go On Living Like This," for more serious cases.

In the days gone by, music had its place only at the home, then at the dances, now at the hospitals, but soon it will not be uncommon to have a jazz band play at a funeral, "I'll Paint the Clouds With Sunshine," or "Down Among the Dead Men."

The Source of Wisdom

"WHEN I left college and entered my professional career as a magazine editor, I was profoundly impressed to find that my colleagues in the editorial room, who never thought of teaching me anything, taught me everything; while my professors at the university, who were paid to teach me, had taught me almost nothing." These men the words of Hamilton Holt, now president of Rollins college at Winter Park, Fla.

No doubt many of us have decided as Mr. Holt that we learn more outside of class than we do in class. If it is true it is a deplorable fact.

Knowledge is to be plucked from hither and yon. It is an abstract quantity that takes no color from its source. An idea is just as valuable whether you get it from a friend or an enemy, a wise man or a fool. And to stubbornly refuse to absorb wisdom in a classroom where its manner of presentation is perhaps irksome is to cut off your nose to spite your face.

Opercula—Any Lid-Shaped Object

ONE is almost tempted to say that there is something new under the sun. The lowly coal hole, bane of the pedestrian and boon of the slap-stick comedy, has become an object of art.

A medical student 65 years ago admired coal holes. He admired coal holes so much that he spent all his spare time rambling around London with a pencil and pad with which to sketch "the infinite beauty and variety" of coal holes.

And now, after hundreds of years of obscurity, the coal hole has come into its own. These 150 sketches are being published in a booklet called "Opercula," which is a polite name for any lid-shaped object closing the aperture of a tube.

Times have changed. To think that the commonplace coal hole which we have ignored for years should be in actuality "a lid shaped object closing the aperture of a tube." Something must be wrong with our artistic appreciation.

More Automobiles in Iowa

UP TO Dec. 1, motor vehicle registration in Iowa during 1929 reached 799,862, a gain in the state for the year of 58,189. The license receipts from these registrations were $11,837,885.

The increase in good roads is probably the biggest factor in the more general ownership of cars. With indications pointing to thousands of miles of new paving for the next two years it is likely the state will witness registrations in excess of the 900,000 mark and close to the million mark within the near future. And with more cars, the problem of financing the new road construction becomes easier.

Even without an increase in the number of cars during 1930, there will be an increase of approximately a million dollars in revenue from licenses. This will be the result of a change in the truck license law under which owners of trucks will be required to pay on the basis of weight of their loads instead of on the factory rating of their vehicles.

Almost 60 Years

FOR the first time since 1870, the bishop of Rome in the person of Pope Pius XI last week left Vatican soil and entered Italian territory to celebrate mass in his own Cathedral of St. John Lateran, "the mother church of Christendom."

Since the time when the popes were deprived of their temporal powers, they have remained in voluntary seclusion in the Vatican. Until last week no pope had stepped on Italian territory since Sept. 19, 1870, when Pope Pius IX went to the Lateran hill to pray while the Italian forces were threatening the gates of the city.

Although the difficulties between church and state were finally settled by the Lateran treaty last February, the pope had never taken advantage of the treaty provision. Last week, however, with no ostentation and no preliminary announcement, the pope made the history-making trip to celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of his own ordination as a priest at the very altar of confession before which he celebrated mass as pope.

It Can't Be Done

ONE more criminal can testify that the long arm of law enforcement can't be avoided indefinitely. James Davis, member of the famous Red Burzette gang, escaped from the Iowa state penitentiary back in 1921 after serving two years of a life term for murder. Last Friday he was returned to the penitentiary by Canadian officials who captured him in Vancouver.

Davis managed to dodge the law for a longer time than a criminal ordinarily does, but he couldn't keep away from it any longer. Criminals can't get away with crime, for in the end they pay the penalty every time. A few may manage to escape prison but they pay the penalty by haunted, slinking life or violent death.

Beware! The Flu is Here

NOW that another cold spell has settled and replaced damp and disagreeable weather, persons might well keep one eye directed on that familiar old enemy, the flu.

The flu is a puzzling sort of malady. It is mighty easy to acquire; a few hours exposure to bad weather in insufficient clothing gives the disease a wonderful foothold. And once it gets established, it is hard to shake off. If it is trifled with, it can lay a person up for weeks and in a large number of cases, it results in death.

Avoid exposure, keep warmly dressed, get plenty of fresh air at night and don't let any little cold get the better of you, will help you keep away from the flu.

Dim Trails of Unsolved Crimes Spur Hunt for Slippery Burke; Find Arsenal in House

The object of a widespread police search is Fred Burke (left), also known as Dane. It began after a policeman was slain at St. Joseph, Mich., where the arsenal shown above was found in Burke's house (below). In the bungalow Mrs. Viola Brenneman (right) had also lived.

ST. JOSEPH, Mich. (AP)—In the heads of police in many parts of the country certain questions of crime have been buzzing for months.

Who killed Frankie Yale, Brooklyn gang boss?

Who led the St. Valentine's day massacre in the Chicago garage this year, when seven "Bugs" Moran gangsters were machine gunned against a wall?

Who staged the big bank robberies in Cadillac, Mich., Jefferson, Wis., and Peru, Ind.; who kidnapped a trio of victims in Detroit, filched from the mails at Toledo and stole United railways moneys in St. Louis—profiting, thereby, $1,000,000 in all?

There may have been a single super-bandit behind those crimes, more than one chief believes.

And here there and everywhere Fred Burke is being sought.

Just the other day, on the outskirts of this town, lived a fellow considered a quiet suburbanite. Quiet, but with ample means. Twenty-five suits in his closets. Name of Dane. Friendly with his neighbors, and all that. Retired bootlegger? Well, maybe.

Police forgot Dane and started looking for Fred Burke (same man, apparently) following a trivial traffic accident in St. Joseph.

Burke's automobile scratched paint from a farmer's car. The latter demanded a five spot. Burke laughed and drove away.

Farmer called cop.

Charles Skelly, patrolman jumped on Burke's running board—then fell to the gutter, dying from pistol wounds.

Burke fled.

Police searched the $14,000 bungalow near here where he had lived since September with Mrs. Viola Brenneman and found $319,000 in stolen bonds and a complete arsenal. Also a trap door and a tunnel—all the accepted things.

Scattered through the house were 200 decetive story magazines, well thumbed.

Mrs. Brenneman, arrested, said Burke left his home in Hammond, Ind., where they lived at the time, three hours before the garage massacre in Chicago last Feb. 14.

That started police hooking up the name Burke to many of the biggest recent crimes in the book.

Can Burke straighten out the whole affair?

If he does, he can blame hard luck on a $5 fuss.

Coroner's Jury Names Burke

Was Member of Gang Valentine Day

CHICAGO, Dec. 23 (AP)—The assassin disguised as a policeman who marched with a band of killers into a north side garage last St. Valentine's day and slaughtered seven gangsters was named as Fred Burke by a coroner's jury today.

He was the same Fred Burke whose pistol ended a traffic argument with a St. Joseph, Mich., policeman last week. Search for the policeman's slayer led to a closet in Burke's home where officers found the two sub machine guns identified as the weapons which mowed down the seven clansmen of George Moran ten months ago.

Burke previously has been suspected as one of the killers, witnesses having pointed out his rogue's gallery picture as that of one of the assassins. Today Col. Calin Goddard, firearms expert, testified under oath that the sub-machine gun found in Burke's St. Joseph home were the ones which fired the bullets taken from the slain gangsters.

Microscopic measurements and peculiarities established that fact, Colonel Goddard said. Burke, who is still at large, was not known as a liquor racketeer, so if he killed the Moran liquor gangsters it is believed to have been because he was hired to do it, or for some other unknown reason. The official belief is that the Moran men were slain by rival liquor gangsters, with probably some hired killers to help them.

Burke is reputed to be a bank robber and gunman who knows guns and is not afraid to use them, although in St. Joseph he was a quiet appearing man.

The coroner's jury has not been discharged and is subject to call to consider any new evidence. In their recommendations, they said Burke should be held to the grand jury for murder for the slaying of James Clark, and Dr. Reinhold Schwimmer, two of the massacre victims.

RUMORS STATE THAT BURKE IS DEAD

CHICAGO, Dec. 23 (AP)—Lieut. Richard Barry of the detective bureau stated tonight that he had been told, through underworld sources, that Fred Burke, sought for the recent slaying of a St. Joseph, Mich., policeman and for implication in the St. Valentine day massacre in Chicago, had been killed at Clyde, O., Saturday during an attempted robbery.

Lieut. Barry said he was unable to vouch for the authenticity of his information and the police have received no communication from Clyde authorities about the killing. A telegram was sent to the police at Toledo, O., the nearest city to Clyde having a bureau of identification, asking them to compare the finger prints of the dead man with those of Burke and to report if there is any similarity.

CHICAGO, Dec. 23 (AP)—Sandusky county officials tonight said the underworld report received by Chicago police that Fred Burke, sought in several gang killings, was slain in a robbery attempt at Clyde last Saturday, was without foundation.

Authorities said the last killing in this area was Dec. 13 when Raymond Beckwith, who escaped from the Rockview, Pa., prison, May 16, 1926, shot himself after a gun fight with deputy sheriffs in a woods near Clyde.

WASHINGTON, D. C., (AP)—The interstate commerce commission granted an extension to March 2 to the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad for completion of its line in Woodbury county.

Statehouse Briefs
(By the Associated Press)

DES MOINES, Dec. 23 (AP)—Two suits brought by Secretary of State Ed M. Smith to recover penalty from two foreign corporations for failure to qualify as corporations by the filing of articles of incorporation, have been settled by the attorney general acting as counsul for the secretary. These suits were against the Fox Film company of New York and the Merchants Trade Journal of South Dakota.

These companies paid the state a premium for their failure to comply with the laws of Iowa, before doing business here. In addition, they made haste to comply with the law after suit was brought. There was no animus behind the actions of the secretary of state in bringing suit against these companies. Other companies were equally guilty of non-compliance with the Iowa law, nearly all of which now have corrected their failure. The suits were merely by way of example and notice to all foreign corporations that the Iowa corporation laws cannot be taken lightly and ommissions overlooked.

J. W. Jarnagin, veteran newspaper man, and a familiar figure in the press galleries of house and senate in the Iowa legislature for many years, has decided to try for republican nomination as state representative from Polk county, as successor to Walter B. Reno, resigned, of Representative E. A. Elliot, who may seek the republican nomination as sheriff. Mr. Jarnagin has sent much legislative "copy" to the weekly press of Iowa in times past. He has a wide acquaintance in the state.

Although the recent report of the Iowa legislative committee on revenue dwelt at great length upon the inadequacies of Iowa assessments laws, it contained no reference to a request for a special session of the Iowa legislature to promulgate tax revision. It would seem from this that neither assessment unit is ready for legislative action on that point and desires another year of study of the taxation question. The resolution creating the legislative tax committee recited that its report might be made to a special session of the legislature or to a regular session. Specials sessions to decide big questions sometimes result in failure to accomplish anything as in the case of tariffs.

In a few more years it may be necessary for the state to employ an official guide to inform the public just where the seat of state government is located. The departments of state government have been slowly splitting up into sections scattered here and there over the capitol building, in adjacent buildings and downtown. The state highway commission is located at Ames, thirty or more miles from the seat of government. The state insurance department is downtown. The state department of vocational education, a part of the department of public instruction has been shifted here and there over the state house several times in the past few years.

Four divisions of the railroad commission, namely the rate department, the commerce counsel, the motor carrier division and the transmission line division, occupy portions of an old school building, and legislative offices of the legislature while the principal offices of the commission have regular quarters on the main floor of the state house. The three commissioners share a one-room office, the office force another one-room office, and hearings are held in the supreme court room.

Secretary of State Ed M. Smith and Treasurer of State R. E. Johnson have to travel two floors of the state house to make contact with segregated divisions of their respective offices. Justice Lawrence De Graff is required by the inadequate housing of the state house to sit apart from his associates of the supreme court, in a one-room office in the upper dominions of the state house. The plan now is to divide up the office force of the attorney general, one assistant being given quarters in another part of the building.

The state board of health occupies a building once known as the Governor's Mansion, a block away from the state house. Governor and Mrs. Hammill have a two-room apartment in a downtown hotel. The state board of education shares a building in the rear of the power and heating plant of the capitol, with the industrial commissioner.

CHRISTMAS TREE BURNS

DES MOINES, (AP)—The lobby of the Hotel Fort Des Moines was damaged by fire which destroyed a large Christmas tree there, presumably as the result of a defective light wire. Window drapes also were burned.

Milk Inspector Issues Rules

Desires Cooperation of Patron, Customers

Charles Sample, city milk inspector, makes the following statement concerning the milk situation in Iowa City. It is his desire that both producer and consumer take notice of these facts and strive to make conditions as much better as possible.

"There is much to be said about the milk situation in Iowa City which concerns both the producer and consumer. The producer must fulfill the following essentials in order to have clean, wholesome milk; (1) a healthy herd; (2) clean milking, which includes hands and clean udders; (3) all dairy utensils sterilized, either steam or liquid; (4) immediate cooling after milking to a temperature around 50 degrees, preferably with a tubular cooler, and (5) clean surroundings, such as barn, and milk house. The dairyman who has a real desire to produce good milk will not neglect any of these points."

"The customer has a greater responsibility with the milk situation than he often realizes. There seems to be a great laxity on the part of some of the customers in returning containers regularly and in a sanitary condition. Extreme caution should be practised about setting out bottles when there is a contagious disease in the house. The dairyman should be notified at once about receiving such containers. Should the dairyman have a contagious disease in his home, the health officer should be notified at once."

"Just a word to restaurants, cafes, and hotels. Use the proper containers, so that your customers may be sure of their lawful percentage of butterfat."

"In conclusion, a regular visitation to each dairyman will be made, and a report on conditions of same will be given. The information gathered will be given to any customer who desires it."

Mr. Sample was a dairyman for nine years in Iowa City, discontinuing the business about a year ago. This is his first experience in the office of city milk inspector.

As Helen Wills, Famed; Now Just Broker's Wife

Net Monarch Hereafter Is Mrs. Moody

Quiet Ceremony Unites Career, Marriage for Sport Idol

BERKELEY, Cal., Dec. 23 (AP)—Helen Wills, who won the women's world tennis championship, captivated the hearts of two continents, painted pictures that won her praise in London golleries and was presented to the British king and queen, married a young bond salesman here today and now her name is Mrs. Frederick S. Moody, Jr.

They were married shortly after noon at St. Clements Episcopal church, a modest little chapel at the foot of the Berkeley hills, near the tennis courts where nine years ago Mrs. Moody began a career that made her one of the best known women in the world.

Simple, Sincere

The ceremony was characteristic of the bride's career, simple and sincere, but with a cheerful overtone. The church had been decorated for Christmas. At the altar beneath these decorations Miss Wills and Mr. Moody knelt quietly while Rector Lindley H. Miller, read the new Episcopal service which does not require the bride to "obey" her husband or the husband to "endow" his wife with all his worldly goods.

There was no music and no flowers, except golden chrysanthemums. Miss Wills wore a gray brown Patou suit, with accessories of crimson and blue.

The ceremony was attended only by Miss Wills' parents, Dr. and Mrs. C. A. Wills of Berkeley; Mr. and Mrs. Frederick S. Moody, Sr., of San Francisco and the bride-Broom's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Corbett Moody of Burlingame.

Camera Man Gets Helen

To avoid newspapermen and photographers in front of the church, Miss Wills and her party entered the chapel at the rear, but they found a photographer in waiting who "got a good picture of the bride."

After the ceremony the party left by the front entrance and the newlyweds agreed to pose a moment for the photographers. Mrs. Moody smiled the least bit but would not speak for the talking pictures. Moody seemed less cheerful and a bit nervous.

Instead of going to the Dr. Wills home for a wedding breakfast as had been expected the young couple hurried to a parked car downtown. They changed cars and sped away, presumably south toward Los Angeles.

Despite denials of reports that the Moodys would spend their honeymoon down the Mexican coast on the yacht Gallatea, owned by Cyril Tobin, a friend, it was learned that the yacht recently had been gone. The yacht was in San Pedro harbor today outfitted for a cruise.

Bride to Continue Career

Mr. and Mrs. Moody had known each other several years, but began to get seriously interested in each other two years ago on the French riviera. They became engaged about a year ago and Miss Wills said at that time marriage would not interfere with her career.

She has been until recently a student at the University of California here. Mr. Moody is a member of a well known California family of wealth, and connected with a San Francisco brokerage office.

Dan Cupid Encroaches Upon Regular Month of Santa Claus

Many Announce Weddings During Holiday Season; Festive Decorations Used

Christmas and the holiday season is also a time for weddings and it would seem that the ever-active Cupid is encroaching upon the month over which Santa Clause is supposed to reign supreme. The festive decorations of wreaths, holly and bows of red ribbon, with the merry spirit of the season provide the atmosphere for solemnizing wedding vows.

Many announcements of marriages have been made and University of Iowa alumni and students have chosen the month of December as the time for saying "I do."

Alford-Geneva

Fred S. Geneva, former Hawkeye basketball star, and Marjorie Alford, both of Albia, will be married this week. Miss Alford is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy T. Alford and Mr. Geneva is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Geneva.

Gier-Clifford

The marriage of Helen M. Gier of Des Moines, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Gier of Conrad to Robert T. Clifford of Des Moines will be an event of Dec. 28. The engagement and approaching marriage was announced recently at a bridge tea given in honor of the bride-to-be by her sister, Mrs. Larry F. Page.

Mrs. Page will act as matron of honor, and Evelyn Blomsness, and Adeline Gier will be bridesmaids.

Miss Gier is a graduate of Iowa university, and has done graduate work at the University of Colorado and for the last two years has been teaching in the Amos Hiatt junior high school in Des Moines. Mr. Clifford is a graduate of New York university, and for the last two years has been manager of the Hotel Commodore in Des Moines.

Balzer-Shannon

The approaching marriage of Helen Lorraine Balzer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert T. Balzer of Los Angeles, Cal., formerly of Des Moines, to Rex Berthel Shannon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rex Shannon of Garner, was announced at a recent luncheon given by Mrs. Balzer. Granville Ryan, son of Dr. and Mrs. Granville of Des Moines will serve as the best man at the wedding.

Miss Balzer was graduated from Marlborough school for girls in Los Angeles. Mr. Shannon attended Culver Military academy and the University of Iowa. While at the university he affiliated with Sigma Chi fraternity.

Hummer-Benell

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Hummer of Iowa City announce their marriage of their daughter, Trula, to Raymond Benell, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Benell of Kalona. The ceremony took place at the Little Brown church at Nashua, Dec. 21. The Rev. William Kent officiated at the service.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Benell were graduated from Sharon high school. Mrs. Benell is a teacher in the Johnson county schools.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Hummer, and Mrs. John Benell and son, Donald, witnessed the ceremony. Immediately following the wedding the couple left on a wedding trip.

Nehlsen-Cusack

Announcement of the approaching marriage of Anne Nehlsen, daughter of Mrs. Margaret Nehlsen of Davenport, to William P. Cusack, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cusack of Iowa City was recently made.

The wedding will take place Jan. 9, at 8:30 a.m., at St. Anthony's church in Davenport. The Rev. J. W. Bugler will officiate.

Euna Cusack, sister of Mr. Cusack, and Charles J. Crowe of Davenport will act as bridesmaid and best man during the ceremony.

Miss Nehlsen attended the public and high schools of Davenport. Mr. Cusack attended St. Ambrose college, and was graduated from the University of Iowa. He is now sales manager of the A. A. A. Motor club in eastern Iowa.

Eggenburg-Herring

Ivy Eggenburg, of Iowa City, was united in marriage to Henry A. Herring of Belle Plaine, at Marshalltown, Dec. 14. The ceremony was held at the Methodist Episcopal parsonage with the Rev. Sylvester E. Ellis officiating. The single ring service was used.

Mrs. Herring is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Eggenburg, 303 Melrose Court and has been employed as the assistant to Dr. R. H. Volland. Mr. Herring is a salesman for the Standard Oil company at Belle Plaine. The couple are spending the holidays in Chicago and will visit at the home of Mrs. Herring's sister, Mrs. Alfred Bailey, at Grange, Ill.

McLaughlin-Krause

Of interest is announcement of the marriage of Mary McLaughlin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. F. McLaughlin of Davenport, to Dr. William Krause, son of Judge and Mrs. B. C. Krause of Buffalo, Okla. The wedding took place at the St. Mary's rectory at Tipton, June 8. The Rev. John Lynch officiated at the ceremony.

Florence Slemmons and Dr. M. F. Gardner, both of Iowa City, attended the couple.

Mrs. Krause was graduated from the Immaculate Conception academy at Davenport and the University of Iowa.

Dr. Krause was graduated from the college of medicine at the University of Iowa last June. He was affiliated with Alpha Kappa Kappa, professional medical fraternity, Alpha Omega Alpha, honorary fraternity, and Sigma Xi, honorary scientific fraternity.

The couple are now making their home at Rochester, N. Y., where Dr. Krause is an interne at the Strong Memorial hospital.

Bayer-Hastings

Simplicity marked the wedding ceremony of Rose Boyer and Carl Hastings which took place Dec. 21 at the Methodist parsonage of Iowa City. The Rev. W. C. Keeler read the single ring service. Attending the couple were Grace Bayer, a sister of the bride, and Raymond Koke of Iowa City.

The bride was attired in silhouette gown of sky blue chiffon. Accessories of a corresponding hue completed her costume. She carried a bouquet of American beauty roses. Her attendant wore a frock of black chiffon and a corsage of roses.

Immediately following the service the couple left on a two weeks' honeymoon trip to Chicago and Milwaukee.

Mrs. Hastings is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Bayer of Bayertown. She is a graduate of the Washington, Ia., high school. Mr. Hastings is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hastings of Iowa City, and is a graduate of the university high school.

The home will be made on a farm located on the Black Diamond road.

Marjorie Mars, who is teaching at the McKinley school in Cedar Rapids, is spending the Christmas holidays at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. G. Mars, 329 Church street.

Janet, Margaret Woods Entertain at Party for Forty-Eight Friends

Janet and Margaret Woods, daughters of Dr. and Mrs. A. H. Woods, were hostesses at a dinner party at their home, 631 S. Summit street, last evening. The affair, which honored members of the younger set, was an event of the holiday season.

The guests were seated at one large table and several smaller ones, which were centered with poinsettas. Christmas colors of red and green and Christmas novelties were also used in the appointments. Forty-eight guests were included in the courtesy. Dancing followed the dinner.

The Misses Woods, who are students at Bryn Mawr college at Bryn Mawr, Pa., and their brother, Francis Woods, who is attending Yale university, are spending the holidays at the home of their parents.

Stocks Head Downward; "Blue Christmas" Appears on Wall Street Horizon

Bears Revel in Dull Season for Christmas

First Years Since 1920 Bulls Have Failed With Cheer

NEW YORK, Dec. 23 (AP)—Wall street today witnessed the rare spectacle of a declining stock market ushering in Christmas week. Apathy rather than gloom, however, pervaded the financial district. The majority of shares closed 1 to 10 points lower, but trading slackened up considerably on the decline, only 3,491,770 shares changing hands.

Not since 1920 has the stock market failed to provide some sort of a bullish Christmas cheer. During that Christmas period, however, gloom hung heavily over the market.

As an indication of sentiment in important quarters, James A. Farrell, president of the United States Steel corporation, said of the steel industry today: "There has been no inflation of prices in inventories nor in capacity, and there is no apparent reason why 1930 should not be a good average year, with stable prices and stable wages." He predicted a substantial upturn in operations after the first of the year.

Holiday currency demands and withdrawals to meet year end payments were reflected in firmer monetary conditions. Call money renewed at 5 per cent for the first time since Nov. 21 and subsequently advancedto 5½, the highest figure since Nov. 18. Rates for other credit accommodations were unchanged.

Rails were notably heavy, reflecting uncertainty over the reception to be accorded the interstate commerce commission's consolidation plan. Rail executives were wary of comment. New York Central, Lackawanna, Wabash, Delaware & Hudson, Atchison, and Chesapeake and Ohio were among issues closing 3 to 5 points lower.

Short covering toward the close provided a substantial rally, and several shares regained about half their losses. U. S. Steel dropped to 156⅝, but closed at 159¾, off only 3¼. Among shares selling off about 5 to 10 points, but reducing their losses to from 3 to 5, at the close were, American Can, American and Foreign Power, American Water Works, A. M. Byers, Fox Film "A," General Electric Johns Manville and simmons. Anaconda dropped 5¼ points to a new low for the year at 67¼, but closed at 70½. Willys Overland preferred touched a new low at 65½.

A few shares closed higher. American Telephone was heavy for a time, but rallied to close up about 3 points. Merchandising shares were steadier; Sears Roebuck ending the day with a small gain. Newport company gained 7, and Western Union nearly 8 points.

Foreign exchanges were irregular. Sterling eased a little, cables touching $4.88⅛. The French franc, however, touched a new high level for the year, with the cable rate quoted at 3.94¼.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Dec. 23 (AP)—Cash wheat closed steady to 2c easier today while the trading basis was unchanged to ½c higher, the latter for choice northern. Shipping sales amounted to 14,000 bushels; deliveries 326,000 bushels; and cancellations 50,000 bushels of No. 2 hard. Export business in all positions reported fairly good but no figures available.

Cash corn ruled 1c easier to 1c firmer, the latter on choice grades. The basis was 1c down to 1c up. Shipping sales were 33,000 bushels but only 7,000 were booked to arrive. The better grades were picked up by stockyard interests and shippers while ordinary to poor quality was bought by Chicago industries.

Cash oats closed unchanged in prices and trading basis demand was moderate. Shipping sales were only 24,000 bushels and deliveries 4,000 bushels. Country offerings to arrive small.

AGENT AWAITS DECISION

DES MOINES, (AP)—Roy H. Weinheimer, prohibition agent fined $100 at Iowa City Saturday on a plea of guilty to keeping and resorting to a disorderly house, must await word from E. C. Yellowley, of Chicago, prohibition administrator for eastern Iowa and Illinois, before he may know his future status with the department. A report on his case was prepared for Yellowley today by Glenn Brunson, deputy prohibition administrator here.

Journalists Name Party "Pica" After Printer's Measure

"Pica," in the unholy sanctorum of a printer's rendezvous, reigns supreme as a unit of measurement. "Pica," on the campus, reigns as the informal of informals, annual all university shin-dig, and whirlwind of pent up emotion after the brain exhaustion of exam week.

Back in 1924, when reform movement was having its hey day on the campus, chasteness triumphed over originality and the associated students of journalism chose the name "Pica" instead of "Hell Box" for their first annual get-together.

Though the former was chosen, the latter was executed in spirit. Those who dared brave the first event of its kind in the university's history, held at the men's gymnasium which is now the reserve library, approached the building under arches of hay, viewed an interior decorated by two now famous cartoonists, and drank cider "for that cooling feeling" after dances.

Passing years have brought changes however. The tart cider has made way for pale punch and, in the words of Prof. F. J. Lazell, the affair has become highly decorous; but those words were accompanied by a smile that seemed to say, "There is something rotten in Denmark."

University to Offer 500 Courses During First Summer Term

With a six and five weeks term, the summer session of the University of Iowa will open June 6, continuing until Aug. 21.

More than 500 courses will be offered in 34 departments during the first term. The first six weeks ends July 17, and the second term begins four days later.

The university will muster a faculty of about 250 men and women, including more than 50 professors from other states and countries.

Enrollment in the 1929 summer session totalled 4,338 students from more than 40 states, and the teaching staff was augmented by professors from 19 states and six foreign countries.

Steel Kings Rise in Middle West With New Corporation Formed by Merger

By WILLIAM R. KUHNS
Financial Editor
Associated Press Feature Service

NEW YORK, (AP)—Banking and steel trade circles believe the new $350,000,000 Republic Steel corporation may be only a first step.

They see several other great independent steel concerns of the middle west balanced on the edge of the new combine in such a way that a little tug might pull them in.

But judging from comments in New York's financial area, what interests Wall street above all is that a financial and industrial operation of first magnitude has centered in Cleveland, not New York; also that the merger catapulated several new names into the exclusive group of powerful steel magnates.

Cyrus S. Eaton, a Baptist minister's son born 46 years ago in Pugwash, Nova Scotia, is the central figure of the banking group that piloted the Republics merger.

The group is known to own a substantial interest in the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company and the Inland Steel corporation.

Much of the financing in the present instance was achieved through the Cliffs corporation and the Continental Shares corporation, both of which are understood to hold large stock interests in the country's various steel companies.

If the Youngstown and Inland units were to be added to the new combine the latter would become the second largest steel corporation in the United States instead of the third. At present the United States Steel corporation and Bethlehem Steel are first and second in size.

Something more important, perhaps, than actual size, in the opinion of bankers here, is that the addition of the Youngstown and Inland concern would enable the Republic Steel corporation to produce rails and heavy structural steel.

The men who will guide the destinies of the new company include a native of England, a man born on a farm in Clark county, Indiana, and a native of Cumberland county, Pennsylvania.

Frederick J. Griffiths, who came to Cleveland from England when he was 16, will be president of the Republic Research company, a subsidiary. The chemical laboratory and the science of steel production have been his special fields.

Tom M. Girdler, who will be chairman of the board of the Republic Steel corporation, made the transition from boyhood on an Indiana farm to a manufacturer of steel by studying to be a mechanical engineer. He was graduated from Lehigh university 28 years ago.

Elmer T. McCleary, president of the organization, was graduated the same year from Penn State college as a metallurgist.

He was born at Pine Grove Furnace, Pa. His career began with steel, and steel it has been ever since.

Transit Mailed Out, Hess Writes Feature

The December issue of The Iowa Transit, published by the college of engineering, has been mailed out. Its feature article, written by A. I. Hess, M. E. '29, deals with a type of rotary sleeve valve engine that was developed by E. A. Putnam, laboratory mechanician at the University of Iowa. Another of its features is an article by Madame De Brylinska, telling of the efforts of Polish students in building a home for their university.

Other stories were on the subject of welding and the point system of wage payment. The alumni section favored Harry L. Ogg, president of the Automatic Washer company.

OFFICERS FIND STILL

MUSCATINE, (AP)—A distilling plant which they said had produced between 25,000 and 30,000 gallons of mash was found on a farm near here Sunday by Sheriff Fred Nester and W. C. Cooper and Thomas Avery, federal prohibition agents.

Frank Neuzil Breaks Leg

Frank Neuzil is recovering from a serious injury which he sustained at his home on the poor farm road, Saturday afternoon. Mr. Neuzil received a broken leg, and several torn ligaments.

The accident took place in Mr. Neuzil's orchard where he had been with some friends to saw trees. The men had just finished sawing a tree when the accident happened. The tree in falling kicked back, and struck the victim who was standing close to it, on the left leg.

He was immediately taken to the Mercy hospital where an examination showed that he received two broken bones above the ankel, besides tearing some of the ligaments loose. His leg was set, and he was given other medical care. Mr. Neuzil was returned to his home Sunday.

Cardinals to Make Annual Visit to Vatican City at Christmas Time

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 23 (AP)—Christmas eve in Vatican City will be marked by the annual visit of all the cardinals of the curia to Pope Pius to wish him the season's greetings and to hear his reply enumerating the "joys and sorrows" of the year drawing to a close. Cardinal Hayes of New York and Cardinal Daugherty of Philadelphia will represent American Catholics.

The brief but touching ceremony this year takes added importance, since by reason of the Lateran treaties concluded last February the pope now is an independent sovereign, secure in his sway over the Vatican City state. But no change in the ceremonial observed during all the years of self-imposed captivity from 1870 to 1928 is contemplated.

The pope began Christmas week by issuing an encyclical recounting the many reasons why his jubilee year had been crowded with joy, and one was the solution of the Roman question, which had been received joyfully throughout the world and especially in Italy.

University Mid-Year Convocation Feb. 4

Mid-year convocation at the University of Iowa officially is scheduled for Feb. 4, and will be featured by the award of more than 125 degrees and certificates.

It will be the first occasion for the granting of degrees in 1930. Others are planned for June, July, and August.

TOWBOAT RESCUED

DUBUQUE, (AP)—The towboat C. C. Webber, which sank in the Mississippi river a week ago, was in dry dock here today awaiting repairs which will enable it to be put into service on the barge line again next year. Officials said a leak in the stern caused the boat to sink. It was raised Sunday after six pumps were kept busy for seven hours removing water.

Christmas Season Finds Iowa Coaches' Schedule Shopping About Done

Cage Ticket Lists Dozen More Games

Ingwersen Lacks Two October Dates to Fill Season

Though snubbed by the "Big Nine" schools, the University of Iowa has been dated up far in advance by others.

Rollie Williams, possessing four pre-conference basketball games when the Big Ten crash came two weeks ago, now may feel at ease about schedules and give his full attention to the task of making one player serve where two were available before.

Jan. 9 in Cage Card

Following two road games, the Old Gold cagers now enter an ominous calm. After the idle period and a week of practice will come the date Jan. 9, South Dakota State's basketball men, first of six outfits to be met in three weeks, will appear on the field house court then. That day will also see three Western conference professors in Iowa City reviewing the cases of 13 ineligibles, including half of the original 1929-30 varsity.

The basketball card:

Jan. 9—South Dakota State at Iowa City.
Jan. 11—Missouri at Iowa City
Jan. 18—Bradley Polytechnical at Iowa City.
Jan. 24—Drake at Des Moines.
Jan. 25—Nebraska at Lincoln.
Jan. 30—Oklahoma Aggies at Iowa City.
Feb. 8—Creighton at Iowa City.
Feb. 15—Concordia seminary at St. Louis.
Feb. 17—St. Louis U. at St. Louis.
Feb. 22—Drake at Iowa City.
Mar. 1—North Dakota State at Iowa City.
Mar. 3—Marquette at Iowa City.

After a poor showing in victory over Duquesne university to begin the season, the Hawkeyes, their ranks depleted, showed spirit and defensive power in holding the strong Pittsburgh five to an eight point win. In road games they lost to Marquette at Milwaukee, 29 to 19, and to Notre Dame at South Bend, 32 to 19.

Ingwersen Needs Two

Burt Ingwersen, dynamic football mentor, has had excuse for exercising coach's license in the matter of vocabulary lately, but has brought his 1930 card to six games, 75 per cent complete. Making football pay for the athletic program of the year, getting a variety of opponents, and meeting the requirements imposed by his superiors in their anxiety not to infringe Western conference restrictions, Ingwersen has picked his foes with little idea of what material he may have.

Maneuvers for the remaining October games will be limited as the dates available narrow down, but Ingwersen has a list of probable opponents on the other end of wires which have been kept hot for two weeks.

Football calendar for 1930:

Sept. 27—Bradley Polytechnical at Iowa City.
Oct. 4—Oklahoma A. and M. at Iowa City.
Oct. 11—Open.
Oct. 18—Open.
Oct. 25—Open.
Nov. 1—Detroit University at Detroit.
Nov. 8—Marquette at Milwaukee.
Nov. 15—Penn State at Iowa City.
Nov. 22—Nebraska at Iowa City.

Five dual swims and two tank championships are in store for Hawkeye swimmers, with the Chicago Athletic association latest on the list. An athletic club has never before been opposed by a Hawkeye team.

The swimming card:

Jan. 24-25—Midwest A. A. U. senior championships at Iowa City.
Feb. 8—Chicago A. A. at Iowa City.
Feb. 15—Washington at St. Louis.
Feb. 22—Nebraska at Iowa City.
Mar. 1—Drake at Des Moines.
Mar. 8—Chicago A. A. at Chicago.
Mar. 28-29—National collegiate Championships at Cambridge, Massachusetts.

Coach Otto Vogel's worries are less immediate. The Hawkeye baseball mentor has, however, been active in obtaining 10 out of 22 games desired, four of eight sought on the annual spring conditioning trip in the south and six of 14 for the regular season, with Drake the latest addition.

Tentative diamond bookings:

April 12—Missouri at Columbia.
April 16-17—Texas at Austin.
April 21—Washington at St. Louis.
April 29—Bradley at Iowa City.
May 2-3—Nebraska at Lincoln.
May 7—Drake at Des Moines.
May 14—Luther at Decorah.
May 21—Luther at Iowa City.

In track, Coach George T. Bresnahan may have the temerity to accept an invitation to the Minnesota relays at Minneapolis April 6, unless the offer is withdrawn. He expects no bid from Urbana, "home of the pure," for the annual University of Illinois relay carnival March 15.

Relays for Track Men

Tentative dual appearance against Notre Dame is also on the Hawkeye cinder date book, as well as the following relays: Texas, at Austin, March 28; Southern Methodist at Dallas, March 29; Rice institute at Houston; Kansas, at Lawrence, April 19; and Drake at Des Moines, April 26.

Last—and, for the present least—Mike Howard must go to the mat with plans for a schedule as well as with his wrestling aspirants. He now has duals with Monmouth college at Iowa City, Jan. 11 and Nebraska at Lincoln, Feb. 15. Arrangements are pending with Cornell college, Iowa State Teachers, and the University of Oklahoma at Norman.

WHEN "OLD MASTERS" THRILL

Flaming youth, with its boy and girl wonders, wins common and great acclaim in all branches of sport, but the most powerful and poignant thrills in all games are supplied when the "old masters" reveal even flashes of their best form. To see a great gamester battling youth and the inexorable handicaps of Father Time brings a sympathetic and enthusiastic response from every real sport lover.

Bill Tilden was never so popular as he has been throughout 1929 making a supreme effort to come back as a tennis champion after gathering years manifestly had taken considerable toll. "Ol' Bill" showed many flashes of onetime form, especially when winning the U. S. singles championship.

Tilden's temperamental displays of the past that offended many were completely forgiven, if not forgotten, when the desperately striving "Old Master" outbattled surging youth to win that American title.

Equally heart-stirring was Chandler Egan's remarkable play in the U. S. amateur championship where he reached the semi-final rounds. Egan, in the full flush of his Harvard youth, first won that title in 1904; repeating the triumph when still in his twinkling twenties, and retired from serious competition a few years later.

Last summer the original urge returned and so Egan entered the National Amateur at Pebble Beach. His play was superb. For a time it looked as though he would win the championship.

With Bobby Jones eliminated, it seemed as though all sportdom was openly or secretly rooting for Egan to win. But youth just managed to defeat the great veteran in the semi-finals. However, Egan's grand effort provided one of the year's finest sport thrills.

In fistic circles, Dave Shade, looms as a championship prospect. Time has not yet withered or action stalled the prowess of this veteran battler. He's a real fan favorite throughout America, the lineal heir of Jack Britton's popularity as "boxing's brook."

Three Teams Use Stanford Grid Stadium

Glassgow, Mates, Go Against Stanford; Army Ready

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Cal., Dec. 23 (AP)—A campus lying dormant since the close of final examinations last week hummed with renewed activity today as three football teams went through intensive workouts.

Busiest of the three was the West Point Army eleven, which arrived here last night for its contest with Stanford Saturday, and was comfortably intrenched in Branner hall today. The Cadets, granted the use of the Cardinal stadium for their practices, went through a light drill and posed for photographers before noon, returning for scrimmage in the afternoon.

While the Cadets were taking things relatively easy, Stanford's varsity and the all-star eastern eleven that will face a similar western team on New Year's day, engaged in one of the most vicious scrimmages ever seen on the Stanford practice field and one that may cost the easterners the service of Tommy Dowler, Colgate fullback. Dowler suffered a badly bruised knee that may keep him out of further action.

Chuck Smalling, giant Stanford fullback, was the bright star of the workout, ripping through the all-star team consistently. The easterners displayed lack of coordination as a unit but their play as individuals was scintilating.

Sleight, Purdue's big tackle, Cannon, the great Notre Dame guard, and Booma, Dartmouth end, all turned in brilliant stops during the melee. Christian "Red" Cagle, the Army captain, was the center of attraction at the Cadets' forenoon workout.

WESTERN STARS IN WORKOUTS

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 23 (AP)—Eastern and western football teams which meet here New Year's day in the annual Shriners hospital charity game, went through their practice sessions on widely separated fields today.

The eastern squad under Coach Andy Kerr, worked out on one of Stanford university's fields, while the westerners had a stiff training session in San Francisco.

This and That in Sports

By Roland White

Times have changed. The store owner who used to object when his son took time from work for athletics now merely rubs his hands and smiles. Of course the boy may be a basketball player. Then the papers will tell how he works in his father's store after practice or in off seasons. That is good advertising.

* * *

If Sam Barry were still basketball coach at Iowa he would gloat over the fact that "Stretch" Murphy of Purdue didn't make a field goal and McCracken of Indiana made only two in non-conference games Saturday night. Barry, you know, wanted to abolish the tipoff because it gave longstrung men like these too much of an advantage.

* * *

In swamping the Oklahoma Aggies 55 to 25 Saturday night, Creighton university's cage five showed that it can give the makeshift lineup of Rollie Williams a stiff battle in February. Creighton was runer-up to Washington U, of St. Louis, another Hawkeye opponent, in the Missouri Valley conference last year and is starting like a comer again.

* * *

The Old Gold coach who gets hiccups in the future will be in a bad way. After all the surprises of Big Ten action, it will take a good deal to scare any of the Hawk mentors.

Which really was better, Suzanne Lenglen or Helen Willis? Could Kozeluh, Czeckoslovakian tennis pro, really have beaten Big Bill Tilden at his best?

Now that those questions can no longer be answered, it is of interest to know that amateurs and professionals at the net game may be permitted to meet in 1930.

Vincent Richards, Former understudy of Tilden who has succumbed to the brilliant play of Kozeluh, world professional champion at the court game, avers that the lean Pennsylvania veteran would be no match for the alien racketeer.

We who have read so much publicity on Tilden find it hard to believe that anybody—especially a foreigner and a professional—could have met the cannonball wizard in his prime. But he is now 37 and would be under a handicap in meeting the younger Kozeluh.

When Helen Wills was a mere up coming youngster, Suzanne Lenglen outscienced the powerful California miss. Each year America's first and best of the tennis Helens was more of a threat, as she matured and Suzanne grew a shade older.

Partly because she represented the United States perhaps, I feel that "Our Helen" has been for several seasons a better player than Miss Lenglen. Because one was a amateur and the other a professional they could not meet to settle the argument. That will have to be done by the hot stove league.

Did you notice that Chicago Tribune readers, in voting on the "most valuable player" in the Western conference, chose backfield men almost to the exclusion of forwards? With all credit to Captain Willis Glassgow, Hawkeye halfback and first place winner, it can still be said that too many of the top candidates were men who had lugged the ball.

It is no new thing to say that the more spectacular art of running with the ball gets most attention. People who read the newspapers and people who see the games are caught more by the thrill than anything else. The obviously dramatic long sprints catch their eye.

Probably that is why Wes Fesler, Ohio State end, was up in the list. News photo services used his picture extensively, he was written up a good deal, and he was on the snaring end of sensational passes.

Yet were men like Sleight of Purdue, Roberts of Iowa, and Anderson of Northwestern overlooked? Their play was as outstanding as that of many halfbacks picked. They were as valuable to their teams, surely, both in making holes and in smearing opponents' plays. Nagurski probably rated with the public more on his fullback maneuvers and publicity than for his equally good work in the line.

In that connection please recall the work of Marcus Magnussen, Hawkeye captain-elect and best Iowa center for two years. Magnussen was a sub last year while writers who still were going by 1927 reports boosted his superior, then captain of the team, as an outstanding player.

That tow-haired lad practiced nearly every day last summer passing a ball from various distances at a handkerchief tied to the barnyard fence at his home in Clinton. Though few authorities gave him any pats on the back, he was consistently accurate with his passes from center this year, and proved a valuable lineman whose work was obscurbed by that of first class players playing with him.

Watch the lad next year. He was not outplayed by any rivals in 1929, and should climax his career in 1930 as leader of Ingwersen's free lancers.

At last the great Helen Wills has fallen.

She was "poker face" to fandom for a long time. Her cold efficiency and manlike power robbed her of much appeal her beauty and figure might have produced. Unemotional Helen seemed destined to become a tennis machine following in the wake of the less graced Elizabeth Ryan. Even her art work in sketches of rival players seemed a part of her calculated efforts rather than an emotional expression.

Helen Wills was even backed on paper as the equal of leading male players.

It remained for a man to force her retirement from active championship competition. The pretty Californain was not sexless after all.

It does the average mortal good to know that his idols in sports are only human.

Even though Moffitt of the Dewey's Cafe bowling team was high single scorer with 232 pins, and won the three game scoring honors with 630 pins, he did not get the support of his teammates and the Dewey's outfit dropped three games to the Gartner Motor company, the team that took the five man scoring for three games with 2,648 pins.

The Instant Tire company team which won two games from Racines took the five man scoring for one game with 918 pins. Lenoch and Cilek rounded out the bill of fare by taking the Russell Clothing company into camp three times.

Illinois Cagers Nosed out by Depauw, 28,26

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Dec. 23 (AP)—Standing off a closing Illinois rally, DePauw defeated the Illini in an early season basketball game tonight by 28 to 26.

The Indiana team pulled away near the close of the first period and had a 19 to 12 lead but was forced to battle at top speed to cope with the Illinois finish which brought the score to within one field goal of a tie in the last two minutes of play. Marion Crawley, DePauw guard, dropped in a goal in the last 15 seconds of play, just before Harper accounted for one for Illinois.

The defeat was Illinois' second of the season.

Moffett, DePauw forward, scored five field goals, most of them in the opening period, to set up a lead for the Indiana five, while Harper dropped in six from the field and came within an ace of carrying Illinois to victory by three baskets in rapid succession in the final minutes of the contest.

Sharkey, Schmeling May Mix in March; Heavy Throne Empty

NEW YORK, Dec. 23 (AP)—Jack Sharkey will be free to box Max Schmeling in Atlantic City in March after headlining the second annual heavyweight show in Miami Feb. 27 as far as his present contract with Madison Square garden is concerned.

The garden, sponsor of the winter show in the south, has only an option on the Boston heavyweight's services for that one bout, Frank Bruen, general manager said today. If Sharkey is willing to box again within a month he will be free to oppose Max Schmeling for the rival promoting syndicate, headed by Herman Taylor and Bobby Gunnis, of Philadelphia, that is seeking to stage a major attraction in the mamouth convention hall at Atlantic City.

Negro Heavyweight Floors Ohio Rival

ROANOKE, Va., Dec. 23 (AP)—George Godfrey, Negro heavyweight, knocked out "Long Tom" Hawkins of Akron, O., here tonight, in the third round of a scheduled ten round battle.

Godfrey although apparently out of condition, proved too much for his angular opponent and sent Hawkins down for the count after winning the first two rounds by a wide margin.

David, Ousted Old Gold Cage Captain to Pitch in Majors

Virgil David, ousted captain of the University of Iowa basketball team, is to get a chance to try his pitching arm in the major leagues. Word was received here today that he had been signed by the Cincinnati Reds of the National league, for a tryout next spring.

David, who was ruled out of intercollegiate athletics recently due to scholastic deficiency, was a star guard on the basketball team and the leading twirler on the diamond nine last year. He never had a chance to play a basketball game as captain, being ruled ineligible prior to the start of the season.

David, like his pitching staff mate, Forrest Twogood of Sioux City, was a southpaw. He is from Oskaloosa.

Light Heavy Boxers Booked to Meet for Title Win by K.O.'s

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Dec. 23 (AP)—Jimmy Slattery and Lou Scozza both of Buffalo and named by the New York State Athletic commission to fight it out for the light heavyweight championship of the world, scored knockout victories on an all-star card of four round bouts here tonight.

Slattery dropped Eddie Connors of Boston in the second round while Scozza was declared the winner over Almedro Duquesne of Cuba in the first. Both bouts were stopped by Referee Lou Magnolia.

Yankees to Play 32 Exhibition Games in Tour of Southwest

NEW YORK, Dec. 23 (AP) — Over a stretch from March 8 to April 13, the New York Yankees will play 32 exhibition games, including a visit to Texas and a trip through Southern association territory. The exhibition season will open with the Boston Braves at St. Petersburg and close with Brooklyn at the Yankee stadium.

The spring opposition will include a wide variety of baseball teams. In addition to the Braves and Robins, contests will be played with the Cardinals and Reds. The minor league opposition runs the scale from class B to AA, and one college team, the University of Texas, is listed.

Wife Sues Grimes, Pirates' "Spitter"

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 23 (AP)—Burleigh Grimes, ace moundsman of the Pittsburgh Pirates, today was sued for support in a petition filed by his wife, Mrs. Florence Grimes, in county court. Judge Richard A. Kennedy set Jan. 20 as the hearing date. Grimes, one of the few remaining spitball pitchers in major league baseball, lives at Owen, Wis., and Mrs. Grimes gave her home as Minerva, O., in the petition.

Snow Sends Pitt Gridders Indoors

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 23 (AP) — Snow drove the University of Pittsburgh football team indoors again today for scrimmage against the plays of the University of Southern California, opponents of the Panthers in the tournament of roses game at Pasadena New Year's day.

Early tomorrow there will be another indoor workout and a light warming up drill will be held at the stadium Christmas morning. The squad will leave for the Pacific coast Christmas night.

Butler Wins Over Montana, 49 to 32

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 23 (AP)—Butler university won its fourth consecutive basketball game of the season here tonight by soundly trouncing the Montana State college Bobcats, 49 to 32. It was the first game of a 30 day invasion of the middlewest and east by the Bobcats.

Miller of Rockne's "Four Horsemen" Gets Coach Offer

CLEVELAND, Dec. 23 (AP) — Don Miller of Cleveland, one of the Notre Dame "four horsemen" in 1924, has been offered the position of head football coach at Case school of applied science here, it was learned today.

Officials at the school refused to comment further than to admit that negotiations with Miller are under way.

Miller served as assistant coach at Ohio State this year and in 1928 was backfield coach at Georgia Tech.

Dempsey Matches Lomski, Braddock for Bout at Chicago

NEW YORK, Dec. 23 (AP) — James J. Braddock of Jersey City, and Leo Lomski, Aberdeen, Wash., "assassin," have been matched for a 10 round bout in the Chicago Coliseum Jan. 17, it was announced today by Leonard Sachs, business manager for Promoter Jack Dempsey.

The men are leading contenders for Tommy Loughran's vacated light heavyweight championship. The bout will mark their second meeting, Lomski winning a decision over the Jersey puncher in 10 rounds at Madison Square Garden in January of this year.

Braddock will receive the larger end of the purse, Sachs announced. His contract calls for $12,000; Lomski's for $10,000.

Yankee Recruit Has Appendix Taken Out

NEW YORK, Dec. 23 (AP)—Ben Chapman, recruit infielder of the New York Yankees, underwent an operation for appendicitis at a New York hospital today. Bob Shawkey, manager of the Yankees, who was at the hospital when the operation was performed, reported that the youngster stood the ordeal well.

Children Give Programs for Local Churches

Many Given Sunday, Others to be Today

By SAM THOMAS

Christmas programs were presented last Sunday by the Sunday school children of the Presbyterian, Christian, Congregational, and English Lutheran churches. Bethlehem Chapel, and Baptist churches presented similar programs yesterday, while the Episcopal church holds its program this afternoon at 3:30, and the Zion Lutheran this evening at 7:30.

Children of the Christian church Sunday school gave their program at 7:30 Sunday evening. The feature of the evening was a pageant and carol service depicting the story of the Nativity and of the coming of Three Kings of Orient and the shepherds. Miss Doris Towne played the main part which was the Angel, and all departments of the Sunday school were represented in the cast. One part of the pageant was given over to the presenting of the "White Gifts," which were brought up to the platform by the children. The platform was effectively decorated, with a large illuminated star and many candles. A chorus of young people assisted the children in the singing of carols and Mary Plum accompanied on the organ.

350 Attend

Following the main program, the children went to the church parlors where they gathered around the tree and were given treats. About 350 persons attended the program.

The Christmas program given in the Congregational church took place at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon, and was given by classes of the entire Sunday school. The main part of the program was a portrayal of the story of the Nativity in pantomime, presented by Mrs. Ira H. Pierce's Sunday school class.

The rest of the school was represented in several following numbers of the program, which included: a recitation by Helen Eichler, a group recital by children of Mrs. L. R. Benson's class, carols by the older boys and girls, and the telling of several Christmas stories to the primary children by Alma Miller, their teacher.

Those in charge of the program were W. J. Harter and Alma Miller.

Gifts for Poor

A large number of gifts and toys for the needy were presented by those attending, and will be turned over to the Social Service league for distribution among the poor.

The main program was followed by the children's program around the Christmas tree, and all received treats.

Special music was featured at the Sunday morning service of the English Luthern church. The numbers presented were: a double quartet, "The Angels Song," by Shelby, and anthem by the chorus choir, "Arise, Shine," by Elvey, a solo, "Christmas Lullaby," by Wilson, sung by Gladys Johnson, and Christmas hymns sung by the congregation. A special sermon by Rev. W. S. Dysinger on the "Spirit of Christmas," was also a feature of the program.

Give Pageant

The annual program of the children was Sunday evening at 7 o'clock. The first part of the program consisted of a pageant, "Christmas Everywhere," a Christmas exercise, "Little Candles," songs and recitations by the primary children, and Christmas carols by all.

The young people of the junior, intermediate, and senior departments of the Sunday school gave the pageant, "Following the Star," as the second part of the program.

Christmas morning at 10 o'clock there will be observance of the day in a musical program and a sermon, "The Manger Message," by the pastor.

Children of the Presbyterian Sunday school presented a pageant in the church auditorium Sunday afternoon. The pageant is taken from the story of St. Luke's gospel, and portrays the story of the "Christ Child" and the coming of the shepherds. Mrs. Preston C. Coast played the organ accompaniment, and a chorus choir assisted in the singing of the carols.

Following the pageant, a social hour was held in the church social rooms, and the children were given Christmas treats.

A united service of the church and Sunday school marked the Methodist Sunday morning service. There was a program of songs, instrumental numbers, solos, and various exercises by the classes. Fruits, toys, wearing apparel and gifts for needy children of the city were collected.

The Rev. W. C. Keeler gave a short sermon, and there were special musical numbers including, "From Heaven High Angels Came," and an Austrian folk song, "The Shepherd's Christmas Song," sung by the women's chorus.

Unusual Pageant

Last night at 7 o'clock the Baptist Sunday school children presented an unusual pageant entitled, "The Christmas Star Asks a Question." The pageant was about two college students who attempt to get a message from the Christmas star on their radio. They are finally successful, but only after the choir appears singing carols. The parts of the college students were played by Neva Pearl Woods and Fred Webber. The younger children assumed many fantastic roles such as "Christmas trees."

The pageant was directed by Mrs. Elmer E. Dierks.

A social hour and treats for the children took place after the formal program.

Sing Christmas Carols

Forty children presented a program of Christmas carols, and recitations at the Bethlehem chapel last night. After the main program Santa Claus appeared and distributed gifts among the children.

A lighted Christmas tree was the feature of the decorations.

The Episcopal church Christmas services will take place today at 3:30 p.m. and at 11:30 p.m. and tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock.

At 3:30 this afternoon the children's Christmas service will be held, and the following program presented:

Processional hymns, "O Come, All Ye Faithful," and "Hark, The Herald Angels"; the opening sentences; the lesson from St. Luke 2:1; Magnificat; the Creed and prayers; hymn, "O Little Town." and the address; offertory; closing prayers; hymn, "Holy Night," and recessional, "Angels from the Realms of Glory."

Annual Midnight Service

At 11:30 this evening the annual midnight service will be presented, and tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock the Holy Communion will take place.

A pageant, "The First Christmas" will be given tonight at 7:30 in the Zion Lutheran church by the children of the church. Following the opening scripture and prayer, John Runnert and Jackie Barnes will give recitations.

The pageant includes seven scenes, between which singing of songs will take place. They will be "Come Thou Long Expected Jesus," "It Came Upon the Midnight Clear," "O Come Little Children," and carols by the primary class, "O, Come All Ye Faithful," and "Joy to the World."

Christmas Day Service

The program will be brought to a close with the distribution of gifts, followed by prayer and benediction.

Tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock there will be a Christmas day service. The program will open with the singing of Christmas carols by the congregation, the minister will give the sermon, "The Manger Message," the Christmas offering will be taken, a solo by Mr. Jones, Neidlinger's "The Birthday of a King," a trio composed of Mr. Jones, Mr. Newman, and Mr. Dysinger will render "We Three Kings of Orient Are," and a solo by Mr. Hoyem, "O Holy Night, by Adams, will close the program.

Weatherman May Produce a White Christmas—Forecast

CHICAGO, Dec. 23 (AP)—Fresh promises of a snow be-decked Christmas day were made officially tonight as temperatures arose from normal of 20 above to near the freezing point, and light flurries presaged a heavier fall within the next 24 hours.

With the general forecast of "unsettled, with probable snow," embracing the great lakes region and upper Mississippi valley the weather observer here indicated the whole mid-west may see a clear blanket laid over the traffic-stained one of a week ago.

First Mass to Be at 5 a.m.; Not Midnight

Change Complies With Ruling of Bishop H. P. Rohlman

The first masses of Christmas will be celebrated at 5 o'clock in the Catholic churches of Iowa City this year instead of at midnight. This is in accordance with a ruling made by the Rt. Rev. H. P. Rohlman, diocesean bishop.

At 5 o'clock, Wednesday, solemn high mass will be celebrated at St. Mary's church with Msgr. A. J. Schulte as celebrant. The Rev. Ulrich Hauber, president of St. Ambrose college, will be deacon, Reverend Broeckman, sub-deacon, and Edwin Knoedel, master of ceremonies.

Leroy Grimm will be censor bearer; acolytes, Robert Healey, Jack Schultz, Robert Bradley, Joseph Schlink, Ardon Kennedy and Vergil Rittenmeyer.

The altar boys are: Maurice and Patrick Bannon, Paul Hennesey, Gerald De France, Robert Knoedel, George Holoubek, Vergil Schrrer, Paul Murray, Louis Grimm, Billy Vogt, Jack Russell, Phillips O'Brien, Jack Stork, Paul Scherrer, Ray Cosamus, Paul Cosamus, Robert Grimm, Edward O'Connor, Bernard Holoubek, and Albert Galoucher.

The following hymns will be sung during the mass:

Processional, Adeste Fideles—Traditional, by the altar boys.

Kyrie, Gloria, Credo, Solemn Mass in G—Edward Marzo.

Offertory, Laetentur Coeli—V. Hammerel.

Sanctus, Benedictus, Agnus Dei, Solemn mass in G, Edward Marzo.

Christmas Hymn, O Holy Night—Adam.

Recessional, The Birthday of a King—Neidlinger.

After the 10 o'clock mass there will be benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

Msgr. William P. Shannahan will officiate at the solemn high mass at 5 o'clock Christmas morning at St. Patrick's church with the Rev. T. J. Lew as deacon and Father Lucian, sub-deacon. Edward Collins will be master of ceremonies.

William Edwin Ashmall's solemn high mass in four parts will be sung by the choir. Solo parts will be taken by William J. Holland, bass; Adelaide Walsh and Helen McInnerny, sopranos; Catherine Dvorsky, alto; Lloyd Kent, tenor; Adeste Fidelis will be sung at the offertory.

The cross bearer will be Phillip McMahon; acolytes, Thomas Welsh, and Emmett Toomey; censor bearers, John Welsh and John Mattes. The altar boys who will be present in the Joseph Hanrahan, William Smith, sanctuary are: Frederick McMahon, Louis Donohue, William Berger, Irving Roberts, Jay McNamara, Albert McMahon, William Russell, John Gordon, Joseph Mattes, James Carmody.

Robert Farrell, William Maher, Joseph Elsenhofer, Newman Toomey, Drew McNamara, Harley Pinney, William Love, Vergil Neubauer, Charles Regan, John Byers, Robert Burns, Donald Elbert, Edward Hayes, Edward Gatens, Michael Fitzpatrick, Jack Hogan, and Paul Quinlan.

Other masses will be at 7, 8, 9, and 10 a.m. There will be benediction after the last mass.

The Reverend A. L. Panoch will officiate at the 5 o'clock mass on Christmas morning at St. Wenceslaus church. He will be assisted by Father Adrian and Father Edward Neuzil of St. Ambrose college who will act as deacon and sub-deacon, respectively.

The music will be as follows:

Prelude, Silent Night—Ashford.

Mass in F—Alfred Silver.

Offertory, Latentur Coeli—J. Wiegand.

Communion, violin solo by Lawrence Smith.

Adeste Fidelis—V. Novello.

Benediction.

O Salutaris—Adolph Adma.

Tantum Ergo—M. Wilkens.

Devine Praises, Te Deum (from the German).

Recessional—Christmas march.

Cooks at Hospital Prepare Christmas Duck for Patients

By GEORGE JENSEN

Santa Claus will have come and gone tonight and still Richard Aust and Merle Elsensohn, cooks at the university hospital, will be roasting duck far into the wee small hours of the night.

These two men have the responsibility of preparing the fowl for 1,000 persons expected to eat Christmas dinner at the hospital. This means that they must roast approximately 935 pounds of duck, or a total of 203 birds, before noon tomorrow. Consequently, they will begin their nocturnal session at 11 o'clock tonight and continue until the job is finished.

Such a large number of ducks will naturally call for large quantities of mashed potatoes, dressing and gravy. Yesterday, the pastry cooks were busy cutting up citron, apricots, and various other fruits required to make the necessary 40 fruit cakes. These will cut into about 30 slices apiece. These same pastry cooks will have the job of constructing 60 pumpkin pies.

Profuse quantities of other edibles will be used. One hundred twenty-five pounds of cranberries wait patiently in the icebox. Thirty gallons of string beans and 18 gallons of oysters stand-by, determined that they shall do their level best to make a "Merry Christmas."

HOLIDAY TREAT

CITY BAKERY

222 E. Washington

How Come?

A prominent University doctor asked us yesterday to explain just how our new treating process makes coal dustless.

It is very simple.

As coal comes from the car into our tanks, it must pass slowly down a narrow chute into the big bucket that puts it in the tank.

On this chute, we have 8 spray nozzles that put a fine mist of salts (under 300 pound pressure) over the coal in such a way that each piece is covered.

These salts do not evaporate nor change with age, so that the coal stays dustless until used.

The salts do not change in any way the burning of the coal and will not injure any heating plant.
