Seek Substitute in Wake of AAA's Demise

ollection of Processing Taxes, Payment Of Benefit Checks And Salaries Halted

MELBOURNE CHRISTERSON

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP)—e supreme court splintered AAA second cornerstone of the new al—so completely today that pre-ously planned patchwork was all t forgotten.

An uncompromising 6-3 opinion t only wiped out President Roose-lt's cherished farm-aid program, t threw a shadow of doubt over her recent major legislation.

The treasury tonight halted all ocessing tax collection under the , and said that "for the pres-t, no checks will be issued for nefit or rental payments, or re-nds, or for administrative pur-ses."

Interpretation

Treasury officials interpreted the ler, issued after a three-hour con-rence with its counsel, as halt-g further salary checks to AAA's 00 full-time employes, as well part-time workers throughout e nation.

Farmers have received $1,127,000,-0 since 1933 for reducing crop oduction under AAA's plan of eral control.

In shocked silence, administra-n leaders were called to the hite House. They talked it over th the president for two hours. ey emerged saying no decision d been reached on what to do. The White House conferees said r. Roosevelt hoped to find means der the decision to pay farmers o have fulfilled existing con-acts—up to their invalidation to-y.

Hear Proposals

Proposals for a constitutional endment were heard immediately just as they were last spring en the high tribunal unanimous-struck NRA's death blow.

Senator Costigan (D-Col) said that nless convinced that other early tion will more definitely serve e public good," he will press for tion on his amendment to give ngress the right to regulate ag-cultural production—and business d industry as well.

The opinion of the court major-, read by Justice Roberts, was led a "political stump speech" irate Senator Bankhead (D-Ala) hose cotton control act awaits ruling by the justices on its val-ity.

"Poor Law"

Calling the decision "poor law," ankhead said he had no doubt t that the court also would throw t the cotton act. There was nilar fear for survival of the rr-Smith tobacco law, the potato ntrol act, and similar farm meas-es, as well as the more important cial security, Guffey coal con-l, and Wagner labor disputes ws.

Justice Roberts held that AAA—the agricultural adjustment act s called—invaded the "reserved hts of states" and was "beyond e powers delegated to the federal vernment."

In a vehement dissent, Justices one, Brandeis and Cardozo de-ared that "courts are not the only ency of government that must assumed to have the capacity to vern."

Important questions went un-swered in the initial confusion rrounding the court's action.

New Cold Wave To Hit Midwest Tonight

CHICAGO, Jan. 6 (AP)—Her-alded by heavy snow, a severe cold wave spread over the mid-dlewest tonight.

The frigid wave, tempered by temperatures of 20 below in the northwest and 36 below in Can-ada, moved south and east. Forecasters warned it would cover most of the north central states by Tuesday night.

Third Party Head?

Dr. Francis E. Townsend

As the $200-a-month old age pension proposal, formulated by Dr. Francis E. Townsend, above, loomed more impressively as a divider of party lines in the re-assembled congress, Dr. Townsend himself at his Long Beach, Cal., home, where he is shown, said he "was prepared to launch a new party on a week's notice" unless major party leaders come to see his way. Dr. Townsend, starting for Washington after this photo was taken, said "we find people fed up on the old party idea."

Italians Rout Ethiopians In Bitter Battle

Report 150 Ethiopians, One White Italian Slain in Clash

DOLO, Ethiopia, Jan. 6 (AP)—Italy's southern army, resuming an offensive, routed the Ethiopians in a bitter two-day jungle battle in which 150 Ethiopians were believed killed and one white Italian soldier was slain.

The hand-to-hand clash occurred in the dense undergrowth 35 miles north of Dolo—near Areri in the valley of the Ganale Dorya river.

Military observers pointed out the battle was significant because it marked an Italian shift from defensive warfare in this region to an offensive movement in which the fascists' leaders sought to determine the strength of the enemy.

An Italian officer declared: "We are now preparing to drive forward."

The center column of Ethiopians under Ras Desta Demtu, son-in-law of Emperor Haile Selassie is the strongest, the Italians learned, and holds the most advanced position. The fascists also have located the right Ethiopian column, which is the valley of the Gestro river.

(Dolo, north of which the battle occurred, is on the border between Ethiopia and Italian Somaliland).

J. Scott, 80, Breaks Leg at Post Office

John H. Scott, 80, 625 N. Dodge street, was taken to Mercy hospital after he slipped on the post office steps and broke his leg yesterday at 1:30 p.m.

Scott's condition was reported as fair last night. He was taken to the hospital in a police car.

President Roosevelt Presents Budget to Congress Forecasting A Billion Dollar Deficit in 1937

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP)—President Roosevelt transmitted to congress today a 1937 budget forecasting a more than billion dollar deficit, only to have his estimates thrown out of kilter by the supreme court's AAA decision.

Even as the reading clerk of the house and senate droned through the chief executive's communication, the court swept away the source of an estimated $1,076,342,000 in revenues, over a two-year period, by invalidating the processing tax.

Immediately, President Roosevelt and his aides decided to seek funds to pay off existing AAA benefit payment contracts. Unofficially it has been estimated $500,000,000 would be required. Before the court's decision, Mr. Roosevelt mentioned the possibility of new taxes in this regard.

Surprises Many

Surprising many, the chief executive also left open in his budget message the amount of money to be asked for relief.

Submitting only a partial estimate for relief costs, he placed a $1,098,000,000 minimum on the 1937 deficit, as compared with a deficit of $3,234,000,000 now estimated for the current fiscal year and an actual deficiency of $3,575,000,000 in the fiscal year which ended last June 30.

In both the message and a supplementary press conference, he maintained that estimated revenues will be sufficient to cover all expenditures then contemplated except those for relief, with $5,000,000 left over to be applied to the latter.

For relief he tentatively allotted $1,103,000,000 of unexpended previous appropriations, adding that two months hence, when the situation can be more accurately gauged, he will submit additional estimates.

1937 Receipts

Subject, therefore to the increase in relief expenditures the chief executive estimated 1937 receipts at $5,654,000,000 as compared with $4,410,000,000 for the current year, and expenditures at $6,752,000,000 as compared with $7,645,000,000 for the present year.

These estimates, however, were predicated upon continued collection of processing taxes and payment of farm benefits. In fact, Mr. Roosevelt included in his message a petition of a warning enunciated in September:

"Estimates of receipts contemplate continued collection of processing taxes. If the attack which has been made upon this act is sustained, we will have to face the problem of financing existing contracts for benefit payments out of some form of new taxes."

In addition to the "existing contracts" estimated by some to require $500,000,000, there was unanswered speculation whether the treasury could be forced to restore some $586,000,000 of processing taxes, and $180,000,000 impounded by the lower courts, pending the high court's decision.

For practical and immediate effect upon the budget, observers pointed to estimates of $529,000,000 in processing taxes to have been collected during the current fiscal year. With six months of that period elapsed, the treasury has collected only $65,428,000.

At the same time, the cost of the farm program for the present fiscal year has been estimated at $621,000,000. Of that amount, a total of $370,000,000 has already been expended in anticipation of processing tax collections.

For the next fiscal year, Mr. Roosevelt estimated receipts from processing taxes at $547,000,000 and the cost of the AAA program at $619,000,000.

So stunning was the AAA decision, throwing uncertainty around the entire budget, that there was little comment on the latter subject.

Court of Pardons Will Hear B. Hauptmann's Plea Saturday

Lindbergh Baby Slayer Gets Last Chance To Ward Off Death

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 6 (AP)—Bruno Richard Hauptmann's plea to the state to save him from the electric chair will be heard by the court of pardons Saturday.

Failure of Albert B. Hermann, court clerk, to announce the session would be held in the executive offices, the usual meeting place, suggested the possibility the court might convene at state prison to hear Hauptmann personally.

Hermann said the court would meet "in Trenton," the place to be announced later. The session will start at 10:30 a.m., and will probably last most of the day. The court usually announces a decision immediately upon adjourning.

Hauptmann received an additional few days' lease on life today when Col. Mark O. Kimmerling, principal keeper at state prison, decided to delay execution until late next week.

The execution, set by the courts for the week of Jan. 13, had been set tentatively for next Tuesday, but Kimmerling postponed it because the legislature convenes that day. Executions, when held late in the week, are usually on Fridays.

Hauptmann, who has been in the death house for 10 months since his conviction of the Lindbergh baby killing, showed no signs of changing his story that he obtained the ransom money from Isidor Fisch, his furrier partner.

Peacock Made A Secret Call

Doctor Made Mysterious Phone Call Shortly Before His Death

CHICAGO, Jan. 6 (AP)—A mysterious telephone call made by Dr. Silber C. Peacock two hours before his brutal murder opened a new avenue of investigation tonight for the host of crack detectives seeking to solve the baffling crime.

Lieut. Charles Egan of the state's attorney's office announced he had learned that the child specialist had left his apartment in a swank hotel at 8:30 o'clock last Thursday night. Egan said he told his wife and seven-year-old daughter he wanted to buy some cigars, went to the looby, made the purchase and then obtained a telephone slug.

Hotel employes told the lieutenant the physician spent several minutes in a booth. Presently he rejoined his family as they opened their Christmas presents following a nine day absence from the city. Egan regarded it as significant because the call was kept secret.

Administration Seeks Vainly For New Plan

Government Officials Consider Several Substitute Measures

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP)—The administration, obviously taken aback by the sweeping character of the supreme court's invalidation of the AAA, tonight sought grimly but without immediate answer for some substitute farm plan.

From a hurriedly - summoned White House conference came a report that President Roosevelt hopes to pay farmers for complying with existing crop control contracts up to today. But even the method for doing this was not clear.

So sweeping was the court's decision in knocking down all existing parts of the AAA that in one informed official quarter it was said such payments, if made, might have to be direct grants without any obligation on the part of the farmer attached. That is, it was explained, the payment might have to be made without reference to what it was paid for.

While hurriedly seeking some substitute, the administration tonight moved to halt virtually all AAA operations. The treasury announced formally, long after nightfall, that no further processing taxes would be collected, and that "for the present" no checks would be issued either for benefit payments or for AAA administrative expenses.

Informed AAA sources indicated an order would go out tomorrow halting all activities in the field.

Far into the night, AAA leaders gathered in conferences to canvas what might be done.

Three possibilities—and they were tentative possibilities only—were reported under consideration at the AAA. They were:

1. Organization of 48 state AAA's, financed by federal grants.

2. Payment of subsidies to farmers for "proper use" of land and not for crop reduction.

3. Adoption of some form of the old domestic allotment plan as a temporary measure.

C. F. Robinson Appointed To Succeed Koser

C. Frederick Robinson, superintendent of the state heating plant, last night was appointed mayor of Coralville by the town council. Mr. Robinson succeeds the late Ed Koser, who held that office for the last 32 years.

Mr. Robinson and Mr. Koser were opponents in the last Coralville election two years ago. Mr. Koser was victorious by five votes.

Nearly two years of Mr. Koser's term of office remain, and Mr. Robinson will assume the position during that time. He will be formally conducted into office Friday night.

Mr. Robinson is 60 years old, and members of his family include his wife and three children, Alfred, Florence, and William.

Pro-New Deal Quarters See Decision With Eye to Future

Corn-Hog Meeting At Ames Receives News With Undertone Of Anxious Protests

DES MOINES, Jan. 6 (AP)—A wave of sentiment demanding immediate development of a substitute farm program rumbled across Iowa tonight in the wake of the supreme court's decision invalidating the AAA.

Expressions of protest echoed from pro-AAA quarters as the first heated reaction to the supreme court's decision. The minority farm group, headed by Milo Reno, national president of the Farmer Holiday association, hailed the AAA's defeat with satisfaction.

Protest

An undertone of protest swept through the assembly hall at Ames when the court's decision was received by 600 Iowa county corn-hog committeemen and county agents, gathered there to discuss plans for the projected 1936-37 program.

The announcement temporarily threw the conference into confusion until Claude Wickard, chief of the corn-hog section here to explain the program, announced the federal officials had suspended AAA activity.

Wickard said the suspension order would effect work on checking compliance of 1935 contracts, as well as plans for the new contract. He expressed a personal belief, however, that "the government will fulfill its (1935) contracts if the farmers have fulfilled their obligations."

Requests Calm

He asked the county committeemen to go home and straighten up their records and turn them over to the county agents, official representatives of the department of agriculture through the extension service.

R. M. Evans, chairman of the Iowa corn-hog board, said in Des Moines tonight that the state board would go ahead with filling out compliance certificates on 1935 contracts, so everything might be in readiness if and when congress provides for payment.

"This is one of the bitterest disappointments agriculture had ever had," Wickard said. He advised the committeemen to go back to their counties and "talk it over." He cautioned, however, against any drastic action by farmers that they would later regret. He advised the use of "careful deliberation" before any action is taken.

On first receipt of that news, Wickard said "this sounds very much like the worst possible decision. It evidently means that the federal government does not have power to control agriculture because it is intrastate. I feel, however, that upon consideration of this group and similar groups we have greatest ground for optimism and cheer."

Only a rough estimate of the Committee Makes Only Three Minor Changes as Bill Passes House Group Minus Opposition

Patman Bill Backers Decide to Postpone Fight Over Method of Payment, Unite to Drive For Passage of Organizations-Backed Bill

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP)—Without a single voice raised in opposition, the house ways and means committee voted today for cash payment of the bonus to 3,000,000 war veterans.

Sitting in secret session until after dark, the committee approved a bill supported by leading veterans' organizations and once-warring house blocs. Plans were drawn for a speedy house vote.

Minor Change

Only minor changes were made in the measure, which would:

Give former soldiers full maturity value of their adjusted compensation certificates.

Allow those desiring to hold their certificates and cancel unpaid interest.

Set up no definite method of raising the money for payment, estimated by supporters of the bill at $1,000,000,000 immediately upon enactment.

The way was cleared for the committee to report the measure when backers of the Patman bill to pay off in new currency decided to postpone their fight over the method of payment and join the drive for passage of the authorization bill advanced by the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and Disabled American Veterans.

Committee members said that votes along strict party lines brushed aside suggestions by Representative Treadway (R-Mass), ranking minority member, that the bonus be paid with relief money or through a bond issue.

Pass up Open Hearings

Having tussled with the issue for years, the committee pased up open hearings. Chairman Doughton (D-NC) said it decided "to use all available parliamentary procedure to get the bill up in the house as soon as possible."

Committee members said those present voted unanimously for the bill and that an attempt would be made "as soon as possible" to obtain a rule and bring the measure to the floor for a vote.

The bill is backed by the American Legion, Disabled American Veterans and Veterans of Foreign Wars. It provides for immediate cash payment of the full maturity value of the veterans' certificates, refunding of interest on past loans and the option of holding the certificate and receiving three per cent interest until 1945—the original maturity date.

Duce's Press Strikes Back At Roosevelt

Italian Newspapers Say President's Speech Can't Halt Them

ROME, Jan. 6 (AP)—Fascist Italy shot sharp words through her newspapers today at President Roosevelt's "sermon, which cannot halt the Italians in Africa."

Premier Mussolini's approval of the bitter attacks was seen by observers, because the government supresses newspapers when it disapproves what they say.

Mr. Roosevelt was labelled the "American dictator" by La Tribuna and was reminded by the Giornale D'Italia that his democracy "exterminated" Indians, but failed to conquer gangsters.

"Poor Laborers"

La Tribuna contrasted the "poor, famished Italian laborers" who built New York's skyscrapers for "miserable pay" with those here today, "fully conscious of their rights, which they assert with force after learning to their sorrow they cannot get them by arguments."

Virginio Gayda, friend of Il Duce and authoritative writer, in an editorial in the Giornale D'Italia, returned three shots to Mr. Roosevelt's expressed preference for democracy over autocracy. They were:

1. American wealth was attained with wars of expansion and conquest during which they exterminated all colored and native races."

2. President Roosevelt's democracy "nevertheless, has not known how to stamp out crimes of gangsters, and finally Lindbergh, America's national hero, has been obliged to seek safety for his child in voluntary exile across the ocean."

3. "Roosevelt's attempt at American intervention in European and league affairs established a precedent for intervention by Europe or other continents in American affairs."

Right to Choose

"All free peoples have the right to choose the form of government that pleases them," said Gayda.

Premier Mussolini's name was not mentioned but observers believe Gayda would not dare make such statements without the government's approval.

President Roosevelt was warned that a "ban or excessive limitation of oil to halt Italian operations could only provoke new world complications."

Demos Seeking Meeting Site

Farley Declares Contest For Convention Is Now "Wide Open"

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP)—A contest for the democratic convention site was declared "wide open" today by Postmaster General Farley after a conference with President Roosevelt.

Farley, chairman of the democratic national committee which meets here Thursday, said he had a "sentimental" feeling for Chicago, but added that "we will leave it up to the committee members when they arrive here."

Other prominent democrats consider the choice between Philadelphia and Chicago.

Hoover Won't Comment

Chest Drive Opens Monday

"Be a Good Neighbor" Will Be Slogan For Yearly Campaign

"Be a Good Neighbor" will be the 1936 slogan for Iowa City's annual community chest drive which opens Monday, Graham M. Dean, campaign director, announced last night. This will replace the slogan for the last two years which has been "Share Your Share; Every Penny Counts."

Budgets for the six groups participating in the drive will probably be completed sometime today, Mr. Dean said. These organizations are the Social Service league, unemployment relief, recreational center, city hall rest room, and Boy and Girl Scouts. An emergency fund is also provided to meet unexpected crises which may confront the city.

Division chairmen have already been appointed and are planning their work. Prof. George F. Haskell of the college of commerce will be in charge of the university canvass. Postmaster C. A. Bowman will direct the work in the business district, while J. P. Clark, commercial engineer for the Northwestern Bell Telephone company here, will take care of solicitations from the non-resident corporations and out of town mail. Mr. Clark has already begun his work and will probably have several sizable contributions to announce next Monday.

Mrs. E. F. Rate will head the canvassers in the residential sections of the city, and contributions from employe groups will be supervised by B. G. Bradley.

Workmen are now being chosen by the division chairmen and will be announced later this week.

They're Back

AFTER HEARING all the exchanges of greetings between returning students last night we are beginning to think that the poet who said, "Christmas comes but once a year," was wrong.

We Iowa Citians thought Christmas wa sover and done 12 days ago. Now Christmas and New Year's greetings are flying back and forth so fast that maybe we'd better join in the spirit of the thing and dish 'em out too.

However, the grim specter of examinations looming up not more than three weeks in the future is enough to take the joy out of the life of the returning student.

It's An Open Season

THE RECENT crop of fair young maidens in Iowa either do not take advantage of leap year or they do not successfully overcome the sales resistance of eligible males during that year. Support for this view is found in the marriage statistics filed with the Iowa state department of health.

In 1928, for example, marriages in Iowa numbered 20,529 as compared with 21,048 in 1927 and 21,935 in 1929. Since the law requiring a five day notice of intention to marry was in effect during all of 1931, but during only six months of each of the years 1931 and 1933, figures for those years are not comparable.

The number of marriages registered during leap years, 1930 and 1924, outnumber those taking place in Iowa during the years immediately preceding and subsequent to them. The number of couples married during 1920 was 28,568 as compared with 18,933 in 1919 and 25,282 in 1921.

At present, the number of marriages performed in Iowa during 1935 is not known. Only when that total is available will it be possible to see whether or not the 20,214 weddings in 1934, the largest number in Iowa since 1930, reflects improving economic conditions, the repeal of the five day marriage law or possibly a combination of these factors.

After all, the girl who desires to get her man during 1936 has two strong allies, namely, better times and the marriage record of two leap years occurring after the turn of the third decade of the twentieth century.

Dig out the old hunting equipment girls, this open season is 366 days long.

In The Twilight

AS WE understand it, the crime of which Republican Chairman Fletcher accuses the president of the United States is that he undertook to address the congress at an hour when the largest number of people of the United States could listen.

And this knavish plot, says the New York World-Telegram, took on an even darker hue by the coincidence that the hour chosen arrived after sundown. Apparently the hour also arrived in the twilight of the republican leader's sense of humor.

Cantor's Gift To World Peace

WE WERE pleased to learn yesterday that Eddie Cantor, that great American movie and radio humorist, will award a four year scholarship and complete maintenance at any American college or university to the person who writes, in the opinion of a distinguished board of judges, the best letter on the subject: "How Can America Stay Out of War?" Cantor has set aside a fund of $5,000 for the purpose.

The judging body comprises four noted educators, Robert M. Hutchins, president of the University of Chicago; Frederick Bertrand Robinson, president of the College of the City of New York; Ray Lyman Wilbur, president of Stanford; and Henry Noble MacCracken, president of Vassar college.

The comedian declares the competition for the peace scholarship has no commercial affiliation whatsoever. It is entirely a personal matter with him. He makes choice of school and time of attendance optional.

In speaking of the scholarship competition, Cantor says: "There are absolutely no strings attached to this offer. No one has to tear off the top of a carton of any kind, nor send in stamps, nor solve crossword puzzles . . . I never was fortunate enough to have had a college education myself—but I want to provide one for some American boy or girl. Like most people in this country, I'm a rabid peace advocate."

Mr. Cantor's scholarship is characteristic of his way of delving directly into the heart of any problem. He may do it in a humorous way, or he may do it in all earnestness. He believes in aiding the ideal of peace. So, he does something about it.

The height of something or other is a drunk in the city jail humming that popular song with the phrase "A Little Bit Independent."

What Others Think

The Roosevelt Appeal

By CHARLES P. STEWART
(Central Press Staff Writer)

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Roosevelt leadership, it is rumored, practically has abandoned hope of winning business' support of its presidential candidate at the coming election, but is concentrating upon the task of capturing almost the solid vote of the commonest of the common people.

Business is improving but business men don't seem to thank the administration for it. Contrariwise, the more it improves, the more, apparently, they resent government interference with their efforts to make the most of the improvement. The White House, from all accounts, has about arrived at the conclusion that folk like the members of the American Liberty league, the United States Chamber of Commerce and the National Association of Manufacturers are irreconcilable in their attitude toward new deal policies.

But, after all, agriculture and the industrial masses are in a vast majority over the select element of the voters. If President Roosevelt can consolidate such a bulk of the electorate under his banner, he can do without the comparative few intransigents.

This line of reasoning is said to be, not so much Democratic National Chairman (and Postmaster General) James A. Farley's, as Colonel Louis McHenry Howe's.

The colonel, chief White House secretary and most trusted presidential adviser, has sufficiently recovered from his illness of the last few months to be devoting an hour or two a day to 1936 campaign strategy.

The story is that he thinks Farley has bungled.

It is a fact that Farley made some bad predictions concerning local elections of 1935, notably in New York and Pennsylvania. The democrats lost where he said they would win.

Recent straw polls have taken an anti-new deal direction. They may have no real significance, but they are poor democratic propaganda.

Howe also is understood to regret that the "brain trust" ever was allowed to be tagged onto the administration. Not much of it is left now, but it continues to be advertised.

The colonel is doing his best to counteract the effects of what he considers such errors.

Perhaps it is Colonel Howe's suggestion or perhaps it comes from some other source, but it is whispered that the administration would be glad to hit on some other candidate than Vice-President John N. Garner as the tail to the 1936 Roosevelt ticket.

Garner is regarded as having little national appeal.

As a substitute for the Texan's the name of President John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers of America is mentioned.

Quadruplets are being announced with what seems like growing frequency. The latest four are from Germany. A little while before it was Central America. Before that it was London. In the Newfoundland case there was a direct demonstration of the good influence which the five little Dionnes seem bound to exert in this field. Quadruplets evidently prefer parents in very straitened circumstances. The Newfoundland couple were actually destitute and threatened with eviction. The guardians of the Dionne fund came to the rescue with a donation, and the local authorities were spurred to action on their own part.

Quadruplets have been hitherto regarded as an aggravated form of the hard luck that besets poor folk in the shape of twins and triplets. But the Dionne miracle has cast something of its own aura over these lesser multiple births. Or it may be that a world in which the birth rate is falling precipitately and in which children promise to become a great rarity turns to these exceptional outbursts of human fertility in an unconscious nostalgia.—New York Times.

A Washington Bystander

By KIRKE SIMPSON

WASHINGTON — Profound students of democratic party history such as Representative Cannon of Missouri have discovered a time or two in the last century when a democratic national convention met without a two-thirds nominating rule included in its governing regulations. At such times, however, "immemorial" custom has been stronger than written rules. It has held the two to one majority requirement for selecting presidential and vice-presidential nominees no less a part of proceedings than if it had been declared in the adopted rules code.

That being the case, it is permissible to doubt that the next party convention, for all its special circumstances inviting abolishment of the two-thirds rule, will take any such action. Too many party hopefuls will be looking ahead to 1940 to agree to so drastic a change in nominating procedure.

Clean-Cut Opportunity

True, no convention can bind another. Nevertheless, if any convention breaks that "immemorial" tradition, it ceases to be a tradition at all. While the line remains unbroken by affirmative convention action, as was proved in those isolated cases of failure to incorporate the two-thirds requirement due to oversight or for whatever reason, it is an unwritten law of the party.

Yet, there have not been many times in the more than a century since the democratic two-thirds rule came into being when such an opportunity to revert to simple majority action presented itself. Where there is a bitter nomination contest in prospect, obviously the two-thirds rule becomes a vital part of the struggle. It is only where a first-term president is to be renominated as a foregone conclusion that a clean-cut opportunity to do away with the trouble making two-to-one requirement presents itself.

A "Sleeping Dog"

Will a Roosevelt renominating convention take such action? A bluff was made in Chicago in 1932; but it simmered away into a mere advisory recommendation that the next convention "consider the question" of changing the rule.

That was a by-product of Roosevelt Campaign Manager Farley's gesture of flank attack on the "stop-Roosevelt" allies in 1932. Farley let off a bomb about changing the rule right then, since Mr. Roosevelt had a heavy clear majority to start with. It brought a storm of indignation that "Big Jim" probably still remembers.

Unless the president through Farley, functioning now as national chairman and 1936 campaign manager designate, elects to take some step at the January meeting of the national committee to facilitate abandonment of the two-thirds rule by the next convention, quite likely it will continue in being by default in 1936 just as it always has.

It cannot reasonably be expected to have any bearing on 1936 convention business anyhow. (No one actually doubts Mr. Roosevelt's ability to muster not only a two-thirds majority for his renomination; but a seven-eights, or even nine-tenths one if needed. It might well be administration policy, then, to let sleeping dogs lie.

Dog in Bed, Divorce

STOCKTON, Cal. (AP)—Mrs. Leona Langley refuses to share a bed with a dog. In a divorce suit filed after 13 days of married life, she told the court her husband had informed her "you will have to sleep with my dog in this bed or you can leave."

Mail Carrier Is Naturalist

LEHI, Utah (AP)—Two hobbies have brought John Hutchins, Lehi mail carrier, recognition as an archeologist and naturalist. In his spare time he has made an extensive collection of Indian artifacts from ancient mounds and has collected eggs from every known type of bird in Utah county.

Clifford Adair Weds Elaine Zimmerman

Katherine Elaine Zimmerman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Zimmerman of Macomb, Ill., became the bride of Clifford Reyand Adair of Iowa City at an afternoon ceremony New Year's day in the Presbyterian church at Macomb. The Rev. Walter Appelgren, pastor of the church, read the ceremony in the presence of about 140 friends of the couple.

Mrs. Elbert Stover of Macomb, a cousin of the bride, was matron of honor, and Harold Finch, nephew of the bridegroom, was best man.

Following a reception at the church, a wedding supper was served at the bride's home for the bridal party and immediate relatives of the couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Adair took a short trip and now are at home at 13 E. Burlington street.

Mrs. Adair is a graduate of Western State Teachers' college at Macomb and also attended the University of Chicago.

Mr. Adair received his degree in 1930 from Western State Teachers' college. Since his graduation Mr. Adair has been employed in Iowa City.

The Last Judgment, by Michelangelo in the Sistine Chapel, Rome, is said to be the largest painting in the world.

A New Yorker At Large

By JAMES B. RESTON

NEW YORK—Sigmund Romberg, slipping into his fiftieth year, continues to defy the law of averages and the uncertainty of the American stage. His sixty-fifth show, "May Wine," is singing away in Forty-Fourth street, and while it's no "Student Prince" or "Blossom Time," the critics have dusted off all their old superlatives for him.

Romberg came to this country from Hungary 25 years ago and got a job strumming the piano at the old Cafe Boulevard down at Second avenue and Tenth street. He struggled along there for a while and then started writing. Sixty-five shows in 25 years—that leaves little time for anything else!

Right now Metro-Goldwyn-Meyer is filming three of his shows, "Maytime," "The Student Prince," and "Blossom Time." "May Wine," and new show, is just getting on its feet here, and he has another one touring Europe. All this in addition to his weekly radio work.

A stolid, happy man, Romberg works night and day in his penthouse at the corner of Seventy-Ninth and Park avenue. In his studio are two great grand pianos, and downstairs in his study another, where he sits at work.

He goes to Europe every other year for relaxation, and what relaxation he gets here comes from playing chess or gathering a few artists in the studio and playing chamber music.

Though he has worked hard and has completed a whole shelf of good music, he feels that he has just started. There is nothing decadent about him. He's not interested in writing jazz music and feels he's not ready to try symphonic music. But he has hope and he has energy, which is a good combination.

And speaking of musicians, the organ grinders are no longer with us. Early in 1935, Mayor LaGuardia said he would not renew their licenses. Jan. 1 was the deadline. The uncertain jingle of "East Side, West Side" brings the cops running now.

This ruling has caused much misunderstanding and has brought the mayor no little criticism. Many of the organ grinders had been turning the crank and standing by for years. Most of them were Italians who took this way of earning a living when they immigrated to this country.

Some thought they were a nuisance, but most of the people liked to hear the silly tunes. They added a bit of color to the city. But now they are gone, and the beggars do not understand.

Screen Life

HOLLYWOOD—Steve Pasternacki can't whistle, but he can, and does, tell other people what to whistle and when.

Steve is a musical expert in one of the studios and his principal job is to keep track of the copyright laws. He knows, or can find out about on short notice, 100,000 tunes. He can play a large percentage of them from memory.

He says a star can whistle in a picture—but not unless the tune is 54 years old.

And if the star is whistling an English composition for an English audience, says Steve, not only does the tune have to be dead, but so does years, to be exact.

Checks Copyrights

"We have become involved in so many suits over music copyrights that it is less expensive to hire a fellow, like me, to keep a check on the copyrights," says Pasternacki. "A picture that is going to be shown in France, for instance, cannot have music in it that is copyrighted in Russia.

"An English song copyright lasts 54 years and then for 50 years after the author's death. An American copyright lasts 27 years, but if the author is alive, he can renew it for another 27, at the end of which time the song becomes public domain.

"The average price for a copyrighted number is $25. When a player has to whistle, it's cheaper to make up a new tune or to find one that is in public domain. It's my job to find the old ones."

Plays Three Parts

About 1916, when motion picture photography began to show a marked improvement, Hollywood discontinued the practice of having one player—to save money—play three or four parts in one picture. The images on the screen became clearer and folks began to talk about bandits in one scene being the soldiers in the next.

Artie Ortego is, perhaps, the first man to play three parts in one film in 20 years. His trio appearances in "Treachery Rides the Trail" was quite accidental.

Being a horseman, Ortego played a cowboy in one sequence. When the director needed an expert archer, later, Ortego was the only one immediately available. A few scenes later, he was pressed into service again, as a buffalo hunter.

Make-up and costumes changed Ortego's appearance so much each time that he never will be recognized.

Iowa Fears Buckeyes' Speed; Indiana Trips Wolves, 33-27

Ohio State To Bring Small Team Saturday

Bucks Rely on Shooting Skill, Speed to Off-Set 5' 10" Average

The terrorizing speed which lifted the Ohio State basketball team to a 44 to 23 upset victory over Wisconsin Saturday night will attempt to offset the height advantage Iowa will hold when the two foes clash in the fieldhouse Saturday night.

Distinctly at a disadvantage in size, the little Buckeyes are forced to rely upon speed and basket shooting skill for their point. The average of the starting lineup is 5 feet 10 inches. "Tippy" Dye, the football star, stands 5 feet 6 inches, being the shortest man. Capt. Warren Whitlinger, the sharpest shooter, is one inch taller and Raudabaugh stands still an inch higher than the Buck leader. Earl Thomas, center, is the tallest, measuring three inches over six feet.

Thomas Dangerous

Thomas is dangerous beneath the basket. Against the Badgers, he counted 13 points. Whitlinger scored 18 points in the same game.

Improvement on basket eyes and polishing off the defensive department are the goals of the Hawkeyes this week. Coach Williams must also prepare for Wisconsin during the week, for the Hawkeye meet the Badgers Monday night at Madison.

Yesterday found the team going through a long offensive scrimmage. Defensive play showed improvement as the entire squad reported for the first time in two weeks. John Lindemeyer, 6 feet 4 inch center, looked impressive as he moved up replacing Matt Walsh.

Sid Rosenthal holds the scoring lead in the "all games" and "conference games" summaries. Following are the statistics:

Booking of Coyote Eleven Completes Hawk Grid Card

South Dakota's Coyote eleven will play here Oct. 10, Coach Ossie Solem announced yesterday, completing the 1936 Hawkeye grid schedule.

Four of the eight opponents, Carleton, South Dakota, Illinois, and Purdue will be met in Iowa stadium. For the first time since 1932 the Old Gold will make a trip to the east, meeting Temple at Philadelphia. Other teams to be played away from home are Northwestern, Indiana, and Minnesota.

Adrian Leads City Scorers

Undefeated Kistlermen Head Local Rivals In Game Column

By JACK MAHR
(Staff Statistician)

Walter "Skip" Adrian, fiery St. Mary's forward ace, tops the city scorers in the first month of the basketball campaign. The Marian captain has gathered 29 field goals and 10 free throws to command a five-point lead over Capt. Alvin Miller of Iowa City high.

Five Little Hawks hold places in the first 10. However, the Red and White team has played more than any of the other intra-city rivals.

The Blue of University high have yet to taste defeat. St. Mary's ranks second with an .800 percentage on four victories and one reversal. In all, 15 victories against four defeats have been registered against outside competition.

Hoosiers Hold 15-12 Lead At Halfway Mark

Huffman Tops Scoring With 10 Counters; Maize Sub Stars

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Jan. 6 (AP)—Indiana's speedy Hoosiers outclassed the taller University of Michigan Wolverines tonight in the first conference clash for both teams, 33 to 27.

The Hoosiers established a 15 to 12 lead at half time after a nip and tuck batle, but was forced to the utmost to increase the slender advantage.

Michigan rallied in the second half to tie the count at 18 all, but Gunning, Walker and Huffman broke loose for field goals that insured Indiana's victory. Herm Fishman, Detroit sophomore substitute, was the Wolverines' only threat from there on, connecting with three long shots from the floor.

Vern Huffman, Hoosier guard, led the individual scoring with 10 points, two field goals and a free throw in each period.

The game was played before more than 6,000 persons.

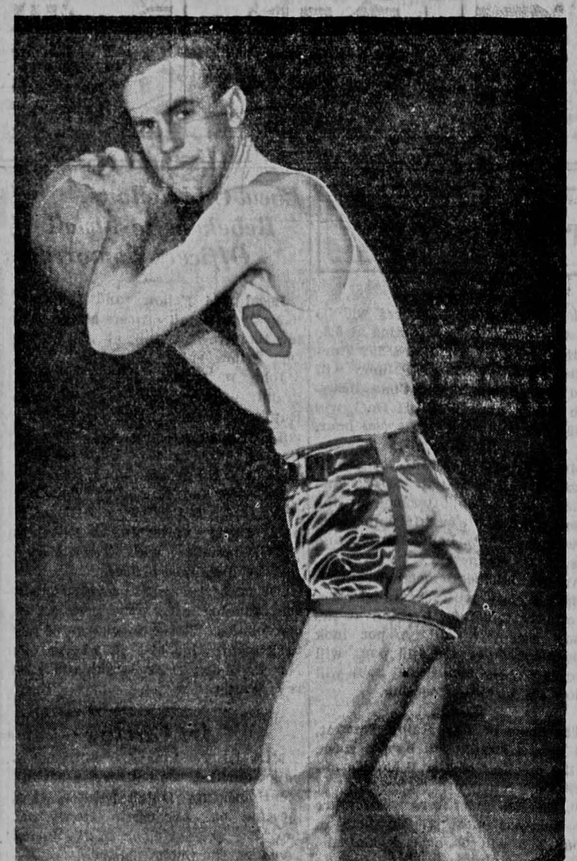
BULLDOGS NIP IOWA STATE IN WILD GAME, 24-23

DES MOINES, Jan. 6 (AP)—Drake, co-champion of the Missouri Valley, nipped Iowa State, Big Six titleholder, 24 to 23 here tonight in a wild, disorderly basketball game before 3,500 persons.

Jack Parisho, Drake forward, dropped in the winning field goal with only 30 seconds to play after Jack Cowen, Iowa State forward, had sent the Cyclones into a point lead with a shot from the basket.

Drake staged a remarkable comeback to win the rough, and at times ragged contest. The Cyclones spurted to a 13 to 5 lead at halftime, and held their advantage for five minutes in the second half.

OHIO STATE ACE



Warren Whitlinger, 5 feet 7 inch 157 pound Ohio State senior, is one of the most feared men in the Big Ten conference. Whitlinger will bring the scoring ability which made him third highest point-getter in the loop last year to the Iowa fieldhouse Saturday night when the Bucks and Hawkeyes tangle.

Reserve Guard Leads Riveter Mates to Win

Bucks Boast 24 to 19 Margin Until Late In Second Stanza

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Jan. 6 (AP)—Purdue's rangy basketball team handed Ohio State university its first defeat of the Big Ten season tonight, 36 to 27. The Boilermakers came from behind in the last half to win.

Ohio State had a 24 to 19 lead about half way in the final period, when Coach Ward Lambert tossed Glenn Downey, substitute guard, into the game.

Downey scored four field goals in the closing minutes to put Purdue out in front. Purdue's ability to gain the tip-off and secure the ball off the backboard provided the margin of victory.

A crowd of 9,554, the largest in years at a Ohio State game attended.

Charlie Grimm To Keep 1935 Bruin Ball Lineup Intact

CHICAGO, Jan. 6 (AP)—Balked in his efforts to get Pitcher Curt Davis from the Phillies, Manager Charley Grimm today said he would stand pat on his 1935 Cubs for next season's flag race.

"Any team that can win 25 in a row has the stuff," said Manager Grimm, here for a short business conference, "but we'll have to impress ourselves with the idea that a team can't win that many in a row every year."

NEW YORK, Jan. 6 (AP)—Tony Canzoneri, lightweight champion, will make his first ring appearance since defeating Al Roth last October, when he meets Brecia Garcia of Mexico, in a 10-round, non-title contest here Jan. 22, it was announced today.

Then, if things break right for him, little Tony is looking forward to a pleasant spring and summer in merrie England.

Griswold Gets Appointment

Phys Ed Instructor To Become Assistant Gymnastics Coach

Larry Griswold, instructor in the physical education department, has been appointed assistant gymnastics coach, it was announced yesterday. The appointment of Harold Briceland, a physical education instructor, to the position of freshman gym mentor was also revealed.

The addition of the two men to the staff to aid Coach Albert Baumgartner came in line with the broadening of the gymnastics program for the 1936 season. Prospects see one of the greatest teams in Iowa's history.

Season Opens With Mixer

The season will officially open with a mixer tomorrow night. A gymnastics club is also being organized. Iowa's opening meet will be staged Feb. 8 with Minnesota. A tentative meet has been scheduled with Chicago Jan. 16.

The choice of Griswold meets with popular approval. One of the greatest acrobats in the middlewest, Griswold has become recognized throughout the Big Ten for the two succesful University of Iowa circuses he has staged. As a member of the Iowa gymnastics team in 1931, he gained the conference tumbling championship.

Captains Gym Team

Griswold distinguished himself in high school as a champion wrestler. His freshman year at Iowa found him competing on four sport squads —swimming, wrestling, track and gymnastics. But in his remaining years, he concentrated solely on tumbling. He captained the team, won a title, and introduced a double somersault fly-away from the flying rings, the only time it had been done in the history of Big Ten competition.

Griswold has been an entertainer and acrobatic instructor in New York City, has engaged extensively in vaudeville, and humored world's fair crowds in Chicago two year ago with comic diving as a member of the Diving Collegians.

NUMBER TEN

mas, St. Pat's defeated St. Wenceslaus 29 to 20 at Iowa City. Tonight at 8 o'clock the Irish will endeavor to make it two in a row over the Red Hawks on the Parlor City court.

St. Pat's ranks as the favorite due to its good showing against the Cedar Rapids club in their first meeting. In the tilt here, the Red Hawks were able to garner only 10 points in three quarters against the Shamrock varsity, their other 16 coming in the final frame against the Irish reserves.

Coach Harry Ryan named 12 men to make the Cedar Rapids trip: Healy, Coen, Floerchinger, Demery and Gutierrez, forwards; Patterson and Pinney, centers; and Leuz, Carrigg, Nosbish and Aaron, guards.

Bob Coen Stars

Bob Coen has been looking good in all departments lately against alumni and second string opposition. The versatile forward plays in the front court on offense and at guard on defense and at present is leading the Shamrocks in scoring.

Pint-sized Dick Healy has definitely recovered his scoring punch after being held scoreless in the St. Pat's of Cedar Rapids and University high battles and should cause plenty of trouble for the Bohemians tonight.

Bill Leuz and Paul Carrigg, guardians of the back court, are the main reasons St. Pat's opponents have been held to 14 points average per game.

"Chuck" Patterson outjumbed anything St. Wenceslaus could offer in their last meeting and is exceedingly dangerous under the basket with his mammoth height.

Next Sunday an all-Irish battle takes place when St. Pat's takes on St. Pat's of Cedar Rapids in a return game here. In their first meeting, the local Shamrocks were defeated 13 to 12 at the Parlor City.

Kashey Wins

ROCHESTER, Minn., (AP)—Abe Kashey, 218, Patterson, N.J., won the headline bout of a wrestling card here last night by pinning Ed Cook, 219, Cedar Rapids, Ia., in 21 minutes.

Mike Nazarian, 218, Little Rock, Ark., won the curtain raiser by pinning Jack Sandson, 215, Wahpeton, N.D., in 17 minutes.

Gardner Confident On Return Here

E. C. Gardner, Johnson county agent, asserted last night on his return from the cancelled corn-hog convention at Ames that he is confident remaining corn-hog allotments for 1935 will be paid.

"I believe this congress will pass a law providing for the several millions in payment yet due for corn-hog contracts already signed," he said. "In Johnson county the payments will amount to about $200,000."

Visitors Take Revenge With 42-19 Victory

Vopicka Leads Illinois With 5 Goals To Avenge Iowa Loss

MINNEAPOLIS, Jan. 6 (AP) — Illinois took revenge for its opening Western conference game defeat by Iowa and trounced Minnesota 42 to 19 here tonight.

The rangy Illini led 17 to 7 at the half.

Jim Vopicka, long-shot artist, led the Illinois scoring with five field goals for 10 points, while Harold Benham, forward, counted nine, including four field goals.

The Western conference co-champions were jittery at the start of the contest, missing many shots from the field, but they soon steadied down and began to penetrate the Minnesota defense frequently.

Minnesota puzzled the visitors with a tight defense at times during the first half, but in the second half, the visiting team scored almost at will, frequently on long passes to men free under the basket.

In the last half, Vopicka's long shots from the field had the crowd of 4,000 applauding frequently.

Death Takes Head of New York Giants

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Jan. 6 (AP)—Charles A. Stoneham, 59, president of the New York Giants National league baseball club, died at a hotel here at 8:48 o'clock (central standard time) tonight.

The baseball leader's death came within a few minutes after his attending physician, Dr. W. M. Blackshare, announced he was "gradually slipping." Stoneham had been in a semi-coma for 86 hours.

Dr. Blackshare said his death was due to nephritis (Bright's disease.) The New Yorker came here ill in mid-December and his condition became critical last Friday.

At his bedside at the time of his death were his son, Horace; Ernie Viberg, who is in charge of the New York polo grounds; and a Negro attendant who accompanied Stoneham to Hot Springs. Dr. Blackshare said Stoneham's widow and daughter in New York did not plan to come to Hot Springs.

Badgers Gain 38-36 Triumph In Overtime

Field Goal by Stege In Last 15 Seconds Brings Big Ten Win

CHICAGO, Jan. 6 (AP) — Ed Stege's field goal 15 seconds from the end of an overtime period tonight gave Wisconsin's Badgers a thrilling 38 to 36 triumph over Chicago's improved team before 2,200 spectators.

Wisconsin, sharer of the 1935 title, which opened its season by dropping a 44 to 23 decision to Ohio State Saturday night, might have won in a walk had it not been for Bill Haarlow, Chicago's brilliant captain.

Keep Team in Battle

Haarlow, shooting from all kinds of angles, from under the basket and out on the floor, kept the Maroons in the battle with 18 points on seven field goals and four foul tosses. His string of free throws, which reached 19 straight last season, ran to 22 tonight before he missed.

Stege's winning shot was the second of two in the overtime session. A few seconds after the extra session started he tipped in a basket to put Wisconsin ahead, 36 to 34. Haarlow tied it up for the last time with a basket tossed with his back to the hoop.

Take Early Lead

The Badgers took a 10 to 0 lead in the first two minutes, passing smartly and shooting accurately. Haarlow got the Maroons started and at the half the score was tied at 19-all. Chicago took a 24 to 21 lead at the start of the second half, but another Badger rally tied it up and it was nip and tuck to the finish.

Simpson Loses To Kansas Team, 38-36

INDIANOLA, Ia., Jan. 6 (AP)—Kansas State Teachers of Pittsburg, Kan., came from behind to win a 38 to 36 basketball victory from Simpson on college here tonight.

Simpson, leading 21 to 18 at the half, held the advantage until the last two minutes of play. At this point the Kansans put on a spurt that netted the victorious field goal before the gun sounded.

Fanning Taken To Kirksville

Missouri Officers Take Him and A. Schmidt On Weapons Charge

With the parting remark, "We've got enough on these boys to send 'em up for 30 years," Missouri peace officers yesterday took Homer Fanning and Alfred Schmidt to Kirksville, Mo., by automobile, there to face numerous charges of theft and carrying concealed weapons.

Schmidt was captured here early Sunday morning by federal, Missouri, Johnson county, and local police officials as he was hiding out with Fanning's sister at a local hotel.

Find Guns

A shotgun and two revolvers were found in Schmidt's room as the officers raided, and six more revolvers were recovered from an ash pile in a local business establishment. All had been stolen, police said.

Fanning, possessor of a police record here which includes a gun battle with officers, was captured several days ago by Kirksville police after an exchange of shots. He said the man accompanying him, who got away, was Alvin Karpis, now classed as public enemy No. 1. Police, however, discredited his statement, and after tricking Fanning into making phone calls to Iowa City, came here to capture Schmidt. The latter admitted accompanying Fanning, it was said.

Brought Here

Schmidt's automobile, which he used to come here following his escape at Kirksville, was wrecked near Olds, and brought here to a repair establishment. Schmidt had been registered at his hotel since Jan. 1.

Participating in the arrest were Maj. L. M. Means of the Missouri state highway patrol, Trooper Maurice Parker of Kirksville, Sheriff Charles Novinger of Kirksville, Johnson County Sheriff Don McComas, and Police Officers Ben Hauber and Arthur Schnoebelen. The "G" men declined to reveal their identities.

Young Heiress Accuses Mother Of Duping Her to Sterilization

Claims Mother Did It To Get Control Of Daughter's Money

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 6 (AP)—A timid, nervous young heiress, Ann Cooper Hewitt, accused her socially prominent mother today of duping her into a sterilization operation that tightened the mother's hold on her daughter's income from a $10,000,000 trust fund.

The 21-year-old heiress filed a $500,000 damage suit against her mother, Mrs. Maryon Hewitt McCarter, at various times the wife of five prominent men.

Attorneys for the girl said a separate suit would ask for an accounting of funds from the trust.

In the suit the girl, brown-eyed daughter of Peter Cooper Hewitt who died in 1921 after amassing a fortune by his inventions, charged she had been forced into a closely guarded life of ignorance and abuse —while the mother squandered thousands in gambling resorts the world around.

The alleged operation to deprive her of motherhood was performed 11 months before her twenty-first birthday. The suit said the brunette heiress thought she was undergoing an appendectomy.

"I never had any boy friends," the girl said today as she sat with her attorney, Russell P. Tyler. "I was kept shut up at home. I never had any friends."

The surgeons said the operation was performed Aug. 18, 1934, upon Mrs. McCarter's orders after the daughter had been found "feeble-minded with the mentality of a child of 11 years."

NUMBER TWO

amount of money in benefit payments due Iowa farmers could be obtained. It was estimated Iowa farmers have about $20,000,000 at stake in the supreme court's decision as it affects the 1935 contract alone.

An additional estimated $40,000,000 would have been received under the new program.

Iowa's total benefits under the 1935 program were estimated at around $40,000,000. It was estimated that about half this amount has been paid.

The big question in the minds of farmers who have payments due—will the government pay its 1935 contractural obligations?—appeared partially settled tonight when President Roosevelt and his aides agreed to ask funds to pay off the 1935 obligations.

Wickard, although a high AAA official, emphasized that he spoke his personal views, and not those of a government official when he asserted his belief 1935 payments would be made in full to farmers who have fulfilled their contracts.

The importance to Iowa of the supreme court's decision was heightened by the fact that slightly more than 150,000 Iowa farmers signed 1935 contracts, more than in any other state in the union.

Another significant factor was the 6 to 1 vote for continuing the corn-hog program that 187,000 Iowa farmers cast in last fall's corn-hog referendum.

Today's meeting at Ames was the preliminary to this year's contract signup, so no 1936-37 contracts have been signed, leaving only the question of benefit payments on 1935 contracts.

Comments from several farmers and farm officials were sharply phrased. Two farm groups indicated retaliatory action; one in a possible move against the protective tariff; the other against the AAA for collection of processing taxes paid by farmers who received no benefit payments.

Dale Kramer, affiliated with the Iowa Farmers union and the Iowa Farm Holiday association, said officials of these groups were studying plans to "bring a trial case to collect that part of the processing tax our farmers paid without receiving benefits."

No Payments

Kramer pointed out that "our farmers" have resisted the AAA and received no benefit payments, but have "paid the processing tax" on farm products marketed under AAA regulations.

At Sioux City A. S. Wendell, president of the Midwestern League for Economic Equality, declared "I do not believe" the league will bring action against the Hawley-Smoot tariff immediately, "but will do so eventually if other plans do not work out as we hope they will."

The league, organized by farm and civic leaders of Iowa, Minnesota, Nebraska and South Dakota at Sioux City last August, had planned to bring a test case against the protective tariff in the event the AAA was killed.

Wendell said "we are hoping that the decision of the supreme court will give us certain footholds on which we can secure the setting up of a new AAA that the supreme court will approve as constitutional. . . . If it does not work out, we will proceed along the lines of the campaign originally mapped out, and attack the constitutionality of the Hawley-Smoot tariff."

AAA Questions, Answers

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP) — The wildest confusion since the supreme court smashed NRA swept official Washington tonight as administration leaders sought to interpret the decision holding AAA unconstitutional.

Some of the principal questions, with the best available unofficial answers, were these:

Q. Will payments to farmers on present contracts be paid?

A. For the present, all payments have been stopped. Administration leaders hope some way will be found to meet the contracted obligations.

Q. Will the 6,500 AAA employes continue work?

A. For the present, administrative expenses have been stopped. Officials said employes will report to work tomorrow as usual, and expressed hope a substitute would be found before physical liquidation of the AAA is necessary.

Q. Does AAA have any money not coming from processing taxes?

A. Yes. Officials said $90,000,000 remains from a direct appropriation by congress, and that approximately $50,000,000 from the customs receipts fund is available.

Smashed?

Q. Is the entire adjustment administration smashed by the court's decision?

A. AAA officials believe not. Opinion was expressed that marketing agreements and licenses were not affected; likewise, authority to use money for removal of crop surpluses believed not affected.

Q. Could marketing agreements be used to control prices of major commercial crops?

A. AAA officials say marketing agreements are believed generally effective only for small crops in limited areas, such as fruits, vegetables and milk.

Q. What will happen to the $150,000,000 estimated impounded in lower courts in injunction suits?

A. It is believed that these funds will be returned to processors who paid them into the courts.

Processors Sue?

Q. Will processors be able to sue the government for the $979,000,000 paid to the treasury in processing taxes?

A. The Louisiana rice millers case, involving the AAA amendments, now before the supreme court, will decide this question. The amendments provided that the processor could not recover unless he proved he had not passed the tax on to the consumer.

Leeper Reports Gain In Johnson County's Sale of Xmas Seals

Johnson county schools outside Iowa City made a gain of $34.68 over last year in the sale of Christmas seals, W. N. Leeper, county superintendent, announced yesterday. This year's total was $483.91.

With three one-room schools yet to report, a $44 gain has already been reported from the county's one-room schools. Town school sales this year were $89.25 as compared with $98.37 last year. The expense of the campaign was $18.

No soliciting was used in the campaign, Mr. Leeper said. School children delivered the envelopes with the seals and later collected them.

Townsend Club Plans 'Pro and Con' Banquet

As the second event of Johnson county's Townsend week, a "Pro and Con" banquet will be held at the American Legion building this evening at 6:15. Last night Townsend club 2 met at the city hall to discuss plans for the week.

At tonight's banquet short talks will be given on the plan, and questions will be answered. Reservations may be made this morning by dialing 4789.
