TUESDAY, THURSDAY AND SATURDAY

The '94 vs. '95.

Not to be outdone by '95's challenge to a cane rush, '94 retaliated by challenging them to a game of ball, and Saturday was the day appointed for the match. No special features of the game are recorded and the entire five innings were conspicuous for the number of errors made, especially on the Freshman team. McElderry for '94, and Johnson and McKiely for '95, did the twirling, and while each was more or less hit at various times, McElderry had a little the best of it, as the score of 11 to 9 in favor of '94 will show. At the end of the 5th inning foot ball practice stopped the game.

Following is the score:

Saturday's Foot-Ball Practice

The foot-ball team has wasted a great deal of time in getting to work but at last it has begun in earnest. The election of a captain was the turning point in its development. The moment Captain Pierce took command and began to give orders as one having authority, saying unto this man go and he goeth, and unto that man come and he cometh, that moment every one felt that the time for dilly-dallying was over, the time for hard and steady practice had begun.

Nevertheless Saturday's practice was in many respects disappointing, though some of its bad effects can easily be accounted for. The lower classmen wore out their welcome by keeping possession of the field for half an hour beyond their allotted time, and when the team finally lined up, the men were chilled and out of humor. As a consequence they showed none of that head-long enthusiasm, the fierce, silent unfagging zeal which characterized the play of both elevens last Thursday. Then, too, several good men had been hurt in previous practice and were unable to play.

The poor team work, however, was relieved by a great deal of very good individual play. At the right of the first eleven's line, McElderry and C. Hall, who played opposite him, gave each other very little to do, while Sanford at right tackle had it all his own way with Fenner. Nevertheless, Fen-ner stood up to the work and played a plucky game from start to finish. But at right guard the advantage was reversed, and Hall on the first eleven was fairly out played by Bailey, who blocked him off or broke past him time and again. At center it is still a question between Stiles and Holman. Stiles is the better man at snapping back, but Holman outblucked him and is rapidly learning the game. At left guard two new men, Woolston and Allen, were shifted back and forth across the line. Allen is the bigger and apparently the stronger man, but he has not yet learned how to use himself, and Wool-ston, who blocks splendidly, entirely out played him. Elliott at left tackle had no trouble in blocking off against Biakely, but found his hands full when Fenner took Biakely's place. Like Allen, Biakely is new to the game, does not know how to use himself, but his weight and height ought to make him a good player in time.

At the left, as at the right of the line, the ends did not distinguish themselves, while back of the line Pierce was hand- leapped by an injury to the right eye, received in Thursday's practice. Ger- man, in spite of a battered ankle that soon forced him to leave the field, made one good run, but he shows little judgment in dodging. Decidedly the best work in this part of the field was done by the first eleven's right half-back, Ferren. Dutcher, on the other hand, plainly showed that he was not as good a full-back as he will be after more practice.

Behind the line in the second eleven Sibley fumbled too much to give the other backs that confidence in the quarter which they must have to win. For Wright, handicapped as he was by Sibley, it was evidently an "off" day. His play lacked its usual energy, but he was plucky and cool as ever, redeeming several poor plays by snatching the ball out of a scrimmage and running half the length of the field to a touch-down. Johnson, at full-back, played a fairly good game, but was not very effective in blocking; while Larrabee, though he always found his man, was apt to tackle high.

The crying fault of both the elevens is lack of team work, and even such fine individual play as that of Sanford or Woolston in the first, or of Bailey in the second, cannot make up for this fault. The men have not yet learned to play together, but this they must learn to do at once if they are to win next Saturday.
