Barth L. Wick spent Sunday in South Amana.

Arthur Holmquist, '94, has entered the band.

W. M. Parsons went to Grinnell yesterday.

Rev. Mr. Pratt leads in chapel exercises this week.

Mrs. Decker is visiting her sister Mrs. Professor Patrick.

Rowel and Gunsolus both of '95, visited at home Sunday.

H. O. Weaver, '91, entered the Law class of '92 yesterday.

Prospects of another game of ball between '94 and '95 are very good.

Molsberry, L. '92, lectured in support of prohibition during the summer.

Would it not be well to have a meeting of the Oratorical Association soon?

Judge Haddock is spending a few days among the lakes in northern Iowa.

Alice M. Heath, '94, spent Saturday and Sunday at her home in Manchester.

W. R. Young, M. '93, leaves for home to-morrow to attend the wedding of his brother.

A. J. Cox, '90, who is temporarily located at Clinton, spent Sunday at home in Iowa City.

George W. Ingham, once a member of '89, is now practicing medicine in Olympia, Wash.

The Arena is one of the many periodicals that will be found in the Y. M. C. A. reading room.

H. S. Hollingsworth, '92, leaves for Des Moines Wednesday to attend the wedding of a friend.

J. L. Lawson, one of I. W. U.'s best foot ball players, was severely injured in a class game on Oct. 10.

Foot-ball seems to be a rough game. Pierce received a kick above his eye, a few days ago, and now Ferren has a bandaged head as a result of Saturday's game.

'94 vs. '95.

Not to be outdone by '95's challenge to a cane rush, '94 retaliated by challenging them to a game of ball, and Saturday was the day appointed for the match. No special features of the game are recorded and the entire five innings were conspicuous for the number of errors made, especially on the Freshman team. McElderry for '94, and Johnson and McKinley for '95, did the twirling, and while each was more or less hit at various times, McElderry had a little the best of it, as the score of 11 to 9 in favor of '94 will show. At the end of the 5th inning foot ball practice stopped the game.

Saturday's Foot-Ball Practice

The foot-ball team has wasted a great deal of time in getting to work but at last it has begun in earnest. The election of a captain was the turning point in its development. The moment Captain Pierce took command and began to give orders as one having authority, saying unto this man go and he goeth, and unto that man come and he cometh, that moment every one felt that the time for dilly-dallying was over, the time for hard and steady practice had begun.

Nevertheless Saturday's practice was in many respects disappointing, though some of its bad effects can easily be accounted for. The lower classmen wore out their welcome by keeping possession of the field for half an hour beyond their allotted time, and when the team finally lined up, the men were chilled and out of humor. As a consequence they showed none of that headlong enthusiasm, the fierce, silent unflagging zeal which characterized the play of both elevens last Thursday. Then, too, several good men had been hurt in previous practice and were unable to play.

The poor team work, however, was relieved by a great deal of very good individual play. At the right of the first eleven's line, McElderry and C. Hull, who played opposite him, gave each other very little to do, while Sanford at right tackle had it all his own way with Fenner. Nevertheless, Fenner stood up to the work and played a plucky game from start to finish. But at right guard the advantage was reversed, and Hall on the first eleven was fairly out played by Bailey, who blocked him off or broke past him time and again. At center it is still a question between Stiles and Holman. Stiles is the better man at snapping back, but Holman outblocked him and is rapidly learning the game. At left guard two new men, Woolston and Allen, were shifted back and forth across the line. Allen is the bigger and apparently the stronger man, but he has not yet learned how to use himself, and Woolston, who blocks splendidly, entirely outplayed him. Elliott at left tackle had no trouble in blocking off against Blakely, but found his hands full when Fenner took Blakely's place. Like Allen, Blakely is new to the game, does not know how to use himself, but his weight and height ought to make him a good player in time.

At the left, as at the right of the line, the ends did not distinguish themselves, while back of the line Pierce was handicapped by an injury to the right eye, received in Thursday's practice. German, in spite of a battered ankle that soon forced him to leave the field, made one good run, but he shows little judgment in dodging. Decidedly the best work in this part of the field was done by the first eleven's right half-back, Ferren. Dutcher, on the other hand, plainly showed that he was not as good a full-back as he will be after more practice.

Behind the line in the second eleven Sibley fumbled too much to give the other backs that confidence in the quarter which they must have to win. For Wright, handicapped as he was by Sibley, it was evidently an "off" day. His play lacked its usual energy, but he was plucky and cool as ever, redeeming several poor plays by snatching the ball out of a scrimmage and running half the length of the field to a touch-down. Johnson, at full-back, played a fairly good game, but was not very effective in blocking; while Larrabee, though he always found his man, was apt to tackle high.

The crying fault of both the elevens is lack of team work, and even such fine individual play as that of Sanford or Woolston in the first, or of Bailey in the second, cannot make up for this fault. The men have not yet learned to play together, but this they must learn to do at once if they are to win next Saturday.
