Phi Kappa Psi Party.
The Phi Psi's gave a snow party last Monday, the halls were elaborately and beautifully decorated. Snow banks and snow balls met the eye in every direction. The halls were lighted entirely by candle chandeliers, all producing a very pleasant effect. The following ladies were present: Misses Clark, Hutchinson, Mary Alford, Holt, Copeland, Horne, Ashley, Gilchrist, Louise Alford, Moore; Daughters, Speigelvitch and Mrs. Cook, from Davenport. James Bollinger, '98, L. '99, and R. B. Cook, L. '99, also came up from Davenport.

Notice.
The Semi-nary in Political Science will hold its regular meeting next Monday evening in Professor Wilson's room, Central Building.

I. A. Loox.

There will be an important meeting of the Athletic Association next Wednesday. Time and place will be announced on the bulletin board.

All persons, students or otherwise, using current numbers of the periodicals in the library are requested to return them to their places.

Members of the base ball team of last spring will meet at the Central Building, at noon, Monday, to elect a captain for the coming season.

The necessity of holding a special election next Thursday, for the election of an Associate Editor renders it expedient to change the date of the election of Managing Editor from Tuesday to Thursday, so that the two may be at one time. Both officers will be elected next Thursday afternoon between 3 and 5 o'clock, at the Central Building.

It is the intention to give every man in the University, who wishes to play, an opportunity. Training in the gymnasium will begin as soon as practicable.

ALLEN T. SANFORD, Capt.

The Zetagsathians.
The Zeta presented a military program last night to a large audience.

W. T. Chantland spoke on "Alexander the Great," his great principle to make Greek liberalism supreme. He was the first to make war an art.

Frank Russell had for his subject "Hannibal," and showed him to be a man who, by his strong right hand, made a way for himself.

B. F. Shambough, in a humorous way, gave in Shakespearean language a forecast of things that were to be.

I. E. Munger on "Hannibal" dilated on his prowess and unrivalled ability as tactician.

First Lieutenant H. S. Hollingsworth maintained all advancement in civilization has been through the power of war He argued in favor of better military forces.

C. C. Stover told "Why my father left the army" in an entertaining way.

E. F. Hopkins, in a taking war, gave some reminiscences of his military career at S. U. L.

G. H. Thompson followed with a neat speech on "The Campus."

The program closed with the Zet war song.

The Eastern Iowa Dental Society held its regular semi-annual convention at the City Hall, on Tuesday and Wednesday, the 12th and 13th inst. President Pickard delivered the address of welcome. Dr. Breene, President of the Society, spoke on the History of Dentistry. At the business session, Professors Pollock and Rockwood, of the Medical Department, were elected to honorary membership, and S. S. Brotherton, D. V. D., to full membership. The time of meeting was changed to annual, and new officers were elected.

Official World's Fair Guide.
It affords us pleasure to announce that the Official Guide to the World's Columbian Exposition and the great city of Chicago, is now ready in elegant book form, and of nearly 400 pages, richly embellished with superb illustrations of the highest order. The aid of the best photographers and engravers has been invoked, that the beautiful and picturesque features of the great Exposition and points of interest throughout the city of Chicago be clearly presented.

The Guide does not only describe to the minutest detail everything of estimable value pertaining to the Exposition and Chicago, but has a full page picture of each of the mammoth exhibit buildings in oil colors. Also many others, illustrating artistically the useful, the curious and the beautiful, that will be there in magnificent display.

It ceps the climax with a magnificent cyclorama view, "Bird's-eye View of the Exposition Grounds and Buildings," beautifully lithographed in eight colors, size 8 x 10 inches.

It is a book for the millions who contemplate visiting Chicago in 1893. It will be purchased by the millions who cannot go, but will desire to know what their friends are seeing. In fact, every loyal American citizen should possess a copy of this great work. The well-known Pacific Publishing Company, St. Louis, Mo., are the sole State agents, and they will be glad to sell the book in every town. Full particulars and terms will be sent on application. Read their advertisements in another column.
The two night discussion between Mr. Donnelly and Professor Freeman on the authorship of the Shakespeare plays, has occupied the chief place in the mind of most every student during the past week. It would be interesting to know the effect produced upon each one by the arguments, and the judgment of each upon the merits of the question as well as the merits of the debate. It is possible to state only the general impression. As to the disputed question of the authorship of the plays which have for three hundred years borne the name of Shakespeare, no one is any nearer the settlement of the question than before. Still, it is interesting to observe that the question has been opened to many who heretofore have rested satisfied in the general conviction that Shakespeare was the author of course. That there are some good arguments on the side of the Baconians none will deny who heard or has read a report of the discussion. The event will doubtless be followed by a further study of the question on the part of many students.

Considering the relative merits of the debaters, it is difficult to say which was the stronger. Mr. Donnelly, though in one or two instances inelegant, is exceedingly shrewd and ready in reply; and holding in mind the fact that upon him rested the burden of proof, and against his proposition was the great preponderance of public opinion and prejudice, impartiality cannot withhold admiration for his genius. Prof. Free man, however, while he was occasionally uninteresting and weak in reply,—at one time approaching even the discourteous—stood for what is by all odds the stronger side of the question, and upheld the established belief with strong and well placed logic.
