Phi Beta Phi.

Last Thursday was the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Phi Beta Phi fraternity. Iowa Zeta and Kappa celebrated this event at the home of Bertha Horak. There were present Mrs. Hadock, Mrs. Ball, Mrs. Swisher, Mrs. Laura Shipman Donnel, of Minneapolis, Minn., Miss Loughridge, Miss Lillian Lewis and Edna McElravy, of West Liberty. Mrs. Wentover, of Boston, Miss, Misses Ella and Annie Haan, Myra Throth, Ida Greer, Julia Rogers. Beth Wilson, Bertha Horak, Neely Peery, Mabel Rundel, Ida Haslock, Annie Robinson, Zs. Kostomlatsky, Bessie Parker, Jessie Whinnery, Mrs. Horak and Norma Garwood.

By each plate at the banquet table was a dainty blue arrow bearing the inscription "Feb 9, 1892-92," and about the shaft a knot of wine colored ribbon. Julia Rogers, in a most charmingly witty manner acted as mistress of ceremonies. "Mommonw 67," gave the founding of the order—response. Mrs. Neil Custer Swisher. "Ten Years Ago" was responded to by Mrs. Hadock, who was a charter member of Zeta chapter in 82. "Ten Years Hence" was thoughtfully responded to by Beth Wilson. "Iowa Zeta and Kappa," was responded to by Miss Loughridge, who gave a beautiful composite photograph of the character of the Phi Phi girls.

Edna McElravy then gave a very bright response to "Pedagogical Reminiscences." As soldiers are encouraged by the sight of the flag of their choice, so Phi Beta Phi is inspired by "The Wine and Blue," so said Zs. Kostomlatsky in response to this toast. "Rostling" was done ample justice by Mrs. Westover who is just from the "Ithb." Our Chorale was responded to by Neely Peery, who spoke of the general kindly feeling among the "Greeks" of the S. U. I. "Our Alumnae was responded to by Ella Haan, who told of the young women who have gone forth from Zeta chapter into active life. The last toast "How I Climbed the Matterhorn" was wittily responded to by Lillian Lewis.

Sam G. Cartwright went to Medica-lys yesterday to spend Sunday.

Cornell vs. S. U. I.

The game of base ball scheduled for to-day with Cornell is the first of the season and prospects for an even and exciting match are very favorable. Bolton and Brown are Cornell's battery and the good work they did here last spring will be well remembered. The entire team too has been considerably strengthened. For S. U. I. we can also record only flattering prospects. The team has been somewhat hampered by the frequent rains this spring, which, together with the poor condition of the grounds, have given the boys comparatively little chance for good practice and team work.

Later—The Cornell team arrived at noon, but the heavy rain which began falling at one o'clock has made the grounds so muddy that the game cannot be played.

Beta Party.

The Betas gave a dancing party last night in their halls which were lately repaired and refurnished. Lunch was served in the parlors by Fred. Those present were Chancellor and Mrs. McClaim, Professor and Mrs. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Coe, Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Gilbert, of Burlington, Messedam Van Fless, Mosier, Dot, Perry, Porter and Hepburn and Misses Cora Morrison, Vinnee Morrison, Schaefer, Dot, Butler, Horne, Alford, Louise Alford, Bloom, Coldren, Griffin, Ashley, Morrow, Tene Easton, Cose, and Morse, of Brunnel, and McLean, Cos. Portrait, Morrison, Dot, Woodbury, Cowperthwaite, Cum, Fuller, Ingham, Bear, Morrow, Butler, Gilmore, Perry, Wen and Griffin.

Entered at the Post Office at Iowa City as second class matter, Sept. 11, 1912.

"At Chicago, the 17th inst., was formed the Western Inter-Collegiate Athletic Association. The Universities of Michigan, Minnesota, Wisconsin, and the Northwestern will form the league. Iowa State University applied for admission but was rejected."—University of Michigan Daily, April 27.

The Daily makes a mistake here which we hasten to correct. Iowa State University made no application for admission to this league nor ever thought of doing so. The name of Iowa College, of Grinnell, is frequently mistaken for that of the State University, and if any application from Iowa came before the recent Chicago meeting it was probably from Iowa College.

At a joint session of Zetagathian and Irving literary societies last night called to consider the advisability of holding a joint debate with Grinnell this term, it was decided after considerable discussion that it would be best to postpone the debate to next year and a committee of two was appointed to look up the question. We believe that the societies did well in standing by the resolution which was taken last week. That a joint debate of this kind would be very valuable and beneficial goes without saying, and it is on this account all the more necessary that the first debate should be made a success. If the effort in this direction should prove a failure it would discourage to a great extent all attempts along these lines for the future. It is patent to all that the spring term is one in which literary energy is in a comparatively quiescent state. Furthermore the six weeks that are left of this term will be very busy ones and therefore it is clear that the debate can not command the interest and the effort which it should call out. Let the matter be brought up early next year and then we doubt not arrangements can be made which will prove satisfactory to all concerned.

The women of the University should make it a point to attend the lecture given by Mrs. Annie Jenness Miller at the Opera House next Tuesday afternoon. Whether in sympathy or not with her methods, all must acknowledge the movement of dress reform a good one which should meet with the encouragement of all thoughtful women. It is to be hoped that Mrs. Miller will be met by a good audience in which the women of the University are well represented.

President Schaeffer and Regent Richardson will return from the east next week where they have been in search for professors to fill the vacancies recently made in the departments of English and Law. They have met personally six or eight applicants for the chair of English and have received applications from many others. Nothing definite has been decided yet however as to who will be appointed.

At the Mock National Republican Convention held at Mt. Pleasant, Iowa, last night by the students of Parsons College and the Iowa Wesleyan University, Blaine and Dooliver were nominated on the third ballot amid great enthusiasm.
