Collegiates vs. Laws.
There will be a game of foot ball between the Collegiates and the Laws at the hall park Saturday, October 8th, game called, generously at 3 p.m. An admission fee of ten cents will be charged the proceeds to be used in purchasing suits for the foot ball team.

Lecture Bureau.
The Lecture Bureau is still delayed in announcing the course for the year. Graves, Melanye, Nourse and Simms have been secured and every effort is being made to secure others.

Military Circular.
Major Rapidly, his elevation on October 4th, says, members of the Junior class who drilled with the battery last year and who wish to be promoted to sergeants in the battery will place their applications with the commandant before 8:40 p.m. Friday, the 7th inst.

Several of our exchanges contain severe criticisms on our foot ball team and especially regret in the family of the men in getting down in practice games. Our own team has been jolted enough since the roll was made before the fall, and still there is a number of points in which it could improve. Of late the second eleven had had a tough battle in the line of regular players and what is more is it is able to stop the rush of the first eleven. In good shape.

The first eleven can scarcely make a gain by a smash through the center, the result of which is to be found in the fact that the center rush and the guards fail to get down low enough to handle the opposing players. The end plays are better in many respects but still it is a thing that could be remodeled by a proper coach. The quarter plays a strong game and blocks well but the halves are uniformly slow in starting and are often deuced by reason of their failure to keep up with their blockers. High tackling is another fault that must soon be overcome if we are to have a winning team and strong enough to be any of the oldest men in the team need good dealing on this point. But what the team stands greatly in need of is the interest and earnest support of the faculty in the university. Why not down to the grounds and watch the team practice instead of sitting around on the campus this fall as has been thehabit in the past year. A crowd of spectators every afternoon at four o'clock would be a wonderful encouragement for our hard working athletes.

The German Symphony met for organization yesterday at 3 o'clock.
