Gymnasium Exhibition.
The attendance at the Exhibition of the Natural Science Saturday night was large, and the audience was not disappointed in the quality of the performance. Mr. Kallenberg is to be congratulated on the fine results of his winter work in the gymnasium. Perhaps the most novel event of the evening was the egg race in which each of the contestants carried in his mouth a spoon and in the spoon an egg. The Matching was extremely interesting. Among those who performed we note Cohrs, 90, Durwood, Ham, Swanson, 78, Clark, McMills, 90 and Inesfer, Kallenberg.

Law Literary.
The Law Literary met Saturday evening in the Xet Hall with J. H. Boyd, the new President, in the chair. The program was opened with a speech on society by Brown. He took for his text the remark of Webster that our society consists in the man, the subject and the occasion. He gave an excellent analysis of the art. Smith, 90, delivered a declaration which literally brought down the house. It was the best declamation delivered in the society for some time. The debate was extemporaneous, but good nevertheless. The subject "Browell. That the tendency of the age is toward socialism, was affirmed by Zollman, 94, and Hammon, 94, and denied by Borden, 91, and Van Allen, 94. The decision was in favor of the negative. Miller, 94, read an essay on "The Emotions," carefully covering a large field in Psychology. This closed the program, but several students who were not on the program, were present. There was also an entire lack of music.

The attendance, while fair, was not as large as had been the case. Nearly half of the members were present. There seems to be a general decline in interest in this term.

Saturday's Baseball Game.
The weather last Saturday was much more favorable than on Thursday and consequently there was a better attendance at the Law-Collegiate game. Lindley and Larabee formed the battery for the Collegiates and Zannet and Gillette for the Laws. The Laws came to bat first and Gillette opened with a safe hit. Chantland struck out and shortly after Zannet was caught between second and third. Gillette and Blair each brought in a tally, Coleman striking out and retiring the side with two men on bases. For the Collegiates, Larabee got his base on balls and got around the bases, while the next three men were striking out. The Laws were quickly retired in the second. Oppie going out on a foul, Gillette striking out and Zollman being caught on a base. In this inning the Collegiates were retired without a score. In the third and fourth the Laws went in one, two, three, Blair, Dawson and Chantland striking out, being caught, and in the fourth the Laws also struck out. Larabee started out, Gillette sparking out and Zollman striking out. The Laws were retired without a score. In the fifth inning the Laws went in one, two, three, Chantland striking out, being caught, Larabee being safe on balls and got around the second. In the sixth inning the Collegiates went in one, two, four, Chantland striking out, Dawson and Larabee coming to bat, the base loaded and the game was won. Gillette for the Laws and Blair for the third, while Blaine and Blair the second, while Hixon and Galiff were not out. In this inning the Collegiates were retiring without a score. In the seventh the Laws went in one, two, three, Chantland striking out, Zollman striking out and graduates of this University, having taken their degree in '86 from the Normal Department. From '86-04 she taught in the Normal and Preparatory Departments. In recent years she has also kept in touch with University life, for her house has been a pleasant home for many young men and women. These will miss her very much, and not only they, but all the rest who have had acquaintance with her; for Mrs. Barber was a woman whose influence was always gentle, always helpful. She made the world seem better and brighter to all about her, and such characters are always sorely missed.

California cones.
A fire collection of conches has recently been received by Professor McElrave, the gift of Mr. Lemmon, of Oakland, California. The cones are in all stages of growth, and include the many species of fr and pine which are found in regions west of the Rocky Mountains. The largest cone, a specimen of Pondera Conifer, from San Bernardino mountains, is a foot in length and six or eight inches in diameter. The inversion of the protecting scales to the exposed cone is well shown by comparison with a specimen of the same cone in a less advanced state of development. The stumpy cones are hard and firm, and look like sculptured pieces of statuary.

Specimens of see cones are smaller, and present an outer surface apper more compact, but which has to be kept from disintegration by a network of fine wires. An Abis nobilis, from Mt. Hood, is a fine cone about six inches long. One of the party, who are an American college allowing free tuition in every department.

This work was completed last week, and on Saturday morning Professor Trotting left Iowa City enroute for Baltimore, and today the box of books, several dozen bales in all, will follow him. This leaves nothing behind but the members of the party and their personal baggage.
