Drake's U. O. I.

Drake's "O. U. I." is the base ball team accompanied by Manager Myers started for Des Moines yesterday morning at 5:37 when they were to play an exhibition game of ball with Drake University. The rain which fell during the afternoon rendered ball playing rather disagreeable and it was with a certain degree of reluctance that the captains of the respective teams decided to play. After the game had been called however there was excitement enough to keep things lively, the result of the game being decided in the last moment. In fact it had not been a good catch by captain Hail in the 7th inning the score would have resulted in a tie. McKibben, who started in to pitch for Drake, was taken out of the box after the second inning and Myer substituted in his stead. McFarlane acting as second. For the Variety nine Hurst and Converse formed the battery, both doing good work. On account of darkness the game was called at the end of the 9th inning. The score resulted as follows:

Athletic Associations.

The annual meeting of the Athletic Association was held in Zetaghahan Hall Thursday afternoon only about one third of the members being in attendance. It is a matter of regret that so few of the students take an active interest in the business affairs. Surely at this the one important meeting of the year a larger number of the members should have been present to hear the reports of the officers and acquaint themselves with the Association in its various departments. The first business taken up was the consideration of a number of important amendments to the constitution, one being to the effect that the managers of the three teams shall hereafter meet in a complete slate of votes, and another that the officers of the Association shall henceforth be elected at the close of the winter term.

The officers elected for the ensuing year are: President, F. S. Wall; General Secretary, R. L. Lomas; General Secretary, G. A. Snook; The men chosen for the Advisory Board were from the base ball team W. L. Converse, 94, from the track team L. R. Robinson, 94, from the foot ball team G. S. Adrich, 96. The men elected were in all known ability and men who will carry on the work with the energy and foresight that alone is able to insure success. At the representation of the I. L. C. were chosen W. T. Chastain, L. W. A. T. Sanford, 95, and F. D. Van Oosterhout, 96.

The Minstral Program.

The S. L. U. minstral program which was given by home talent at the open house last Thursday evening was a success in every respect. We all well feel proud of the performance, different as it was from the usual line of college entertainments, it was all the more novel and enjoyable. Our college days would have little of their true value, were it not for moments such as these. We come to the University not only to acquire knowledge but to also more effectively develop ourselves, and in what way is this better accomplished than by thus building better and more intimate relationship with our fellow students.

In Part I. the following members participated:

Professor Hale in a most excellent manner performed the part of the middle man. The other members were:

Masons—

Frederic Farlieh—Coehran

C. L. Ende—Lomas

C. M. Tuttle—Kahlenberg

M. R. Museler—Swanson

G. P. Con—Cox

W. W. Whitemore—Booth

Hollingsworth

Dora—Jennett
telltale

After the last the audience were favored with a guitar-mandolin quintette, by Miss Cox and Miss Horne, Messrs. Tuttle, Evans and Coehran.

Part II. of the program was the Athletic performance by the boys of the gymnasium. The pretexts were the feature of this part and were very good indeed, showing a good deal of ingenuity on the part of Mr. Kahlenberg, their designer.

Part III consisted of (1) a serenade, and (2) a farce entitled "A Live Corpse" by Messrs. Coehran, Museler, Lomas, and Kahlenberg. The program throughout was excellently rendered and was good. The singing of Messrs. Tuttle, Coehran and Mason especially being of a high order of merit.
It is surprising that we do not hear more French and German conversation about the University than we do. There is scarcely a student, who does not take at least a year in one of these languages at some time during his course, but there is only about one in twenty who ventures to converse in the tongue which he is studying. If the student would only pay a little more attention to this, he might find his German and French studies much easier.

One of the literary societies has had an excellent feature in several of its programs this year. This is the review by some member of some new book. Another good thing which has been added to another society was the occasional summary of the news of the week. Both of these features have been so interesting that we could wish they came oftener. Both serve to keep us in touch with that real, struggling world beyond our walls which we students sometimes forget, but the existence of which nevertheless, it is not wise for us to ignore. Every one of the literary societies might well profit by these two examples, and make more of such exercises next year.

There exists in the University to-day a class of students whom we might well spare. It is not always he who has some special talent given him by nature who will accomplish. Yet the idea seems to be prevalent that all that is necessary to make the student the man is an unlimited amount of self-confidence, which seems to say so often brought about not by the assurance acquired through long and continuous toil but by the idea that nature forming the necessity of placing on "ideal" among those who are so foolish as to aim at acquiring knowledge by honest work has endowed one with all the gifts at her disposal. In him she sees herself, not in the mirror of truth, but through the transparent veil of the ideal which she has placed before her.

His arrogance knows no bounds. Either there is something lacking in his early training or he forgets that civility is due at least to his seniors if not to his superiors. He neglects his work, trying to persuade others in that of which he himself knows nothing. We find him everywhere even in the University. It would be well for him however if he found out that here his arrogance will not thrive, and the sooner he will consent to rise to his surroundings the better it will be for him.

The University of Pennsylvania will contribute to the folk law department of the World's Fair a collection of the games of the world. They trace the origin of playing cards from the primitive knuckle-bones up to the Chinese cards now in use.
