BASE BALL.

S. U. I. 5, I. A. C. 4.

From Des Moines the base ball team went to Ames Friday evening to play with Iowa Agricultural College. The success that attended them at Drake did not desert them here and contrary to all expectations the I. A. C. team which two weeks before had defeated our men by a score of 10 to 2 now went down before the determined onslaught of the 'Varsity nine. Up to the eighth inning the score stood 3 to 0 in favor of I. A. C. but in the latter half of the eighth Gillette began by driving out a neat single, Tuttle got first on a dropped fly, Reno made a safe hit and the bases were full. Blair made a sacrifice hit and Gillette brought in the first score. Clarkson and Converse each made a three bagger and by the time the side had been retired five men had crossed the plate. In the ninth I. A. C. made one more run and would have tied the score but for a phenomenal throw from deep left field by Blair, putting the runner out at the plate and retiring the side.

Cornell 8, S. U. I. 4.

It was an ideal day for base ball and a large number of enthusiastic students and interested townspeople were in attendance when the umpire called play at 4:00 p. m. Tuesday. Zmunt and Gillette were unable to play by reason of slight injuries sustained in the game with Ames and so Dawson and Oppice were substituted in their stead. The game was not remarkable in any way except for the large number of errors made on both sides. Hurst pitched for the 'Varsity and Rhea acted in the same capacity for the visitors, both doing reasonably good work. In the last half of the seventh inning with one man out, Converse was called out on third by Cornell's umpire, Smith. The decision gave general dissatisfaction and Captain Blair refused to continue the game if the umpire should insist on his ruling. After the customary lapse of time had expired the score then standing 8 to 4 in favor of the visitors the game was given to them 9 to 0.

Many of the law students have attended court this week listening to two of the ablest lawyers in the state, Judge Nourse of Des Moines, Hon. I. C. Bills of Davenport.

A Catholic society has been formed at Harvard, to make the Catholic religion better known and to increase the good will that exists between Protestants and Catholics at Harvard.

Hesperian-Zetagathian Program.

The program was opened by the mandolin quartette. Following this came a scene from Hamlet. Ralph Dunlap, '96, as the mad prince showed a remarkable power to throw himself into the thoughts and feelings of the character he personates. Bessie Parker, '93, was the queen and supported Dunlap's acting with a realistic strength that made the whole thing an excellent bit of amateur tragedy. McKinley, '95, as the Ghost deserves praise for his make up and for the way in which he carried that difficult part. Between this scene and the farce that followed Miss Dugan gave a very pleasing vocal solo.

"The Albany Depot" was the farce and the parts were well played. Keefe, '95, as the tipsy Irishman and Mamie McKinley, '95, as his wife probably called forth the loudest applause from the audience but while these two characters merited all the praise they received the other parts in their way were supported equally well.

This closes the program of the Hesperian Literary society for this year.

News From the Bahama Party.

HAVANA, CUBA, May 21, 1893.
President Charles A. Schaeffer,—
Dear Sir: You have doubtless received my cablegram announcing our safe arrival here. I am glad to be able to report a successful voyage so far. Nearly all of the party suffered from seasickness, but recovered within a week. Every one is in excellent health at present, and delighted with the opportunities afforded by the expedition. We have collected considerable good material on our way down. The dredging apparatus has been tried and works well. Tell Professor Weld that the iron rope is a success and vastly more convenient than the hemp rope could be. The hoisting machine is amply powerful and works without a hitch. We have not as yet discovered the omission of any important instrument or material for our work.

The members of the party are prompt and willing to do anything requested of them, and I feel more confident than ever of the success of the expedition unless some disaster occurs. A more enthusiastic set of naturalists I never saw, and they may well be so, for their appointments are certainly exceptional. Mr. Sabin's published letters will inform you in regard to many details.

Please have our mail addressed to Key West until further notice.

Very respectfully,
C. G. NUTTING.

Decoration Day Program.

Among the customs established in the University which reflects credit on the institution and shows a happy spirit among its students is the custom of giving an annual program at the Opera House on the occasion of Decoration Day. Last Tuesday evening in harmony with this custom representatives of the Zetagathian and Irving societies spoke to a fair sized audience with sentiments and words appropriate to the occasion. B. E. Shambaugh '92 was the presiding officer, with a brief reference to S. U. I.'s part of the war and the object of the program, he introduced Chas. S. Brown who gave the invocation. The first oration of the evening was given by H. P. Williams, '95, on "The Price of Liberty," the central thought of the speaker was that the cost of attainment must prevail over abundance in fixing the force of civil liberty, that Americans should prize their rights above all wealth and let patriotism rule in politics. B. N. Hendricks, '94, next spoke on "The Conflict of to-day." In 1865 our fathers fought for their country's life with bullets; we their sons, are to-day called upon to fight for our nation's preservation with ballots. In the war of the Rebellion Iowa's men were ready to wash away disgrace with their life's blood, and Iowa's children should manifest that same spirit now. The speaker decorated his speech with apt illustrations and closed with a fitting address to the old soldiers before him. O. C. Anderson, '95, followed with a declamation, a scenic description of the battle of Chatanooga. It was a drawback to the enjoyment of the piece that Mr. Anderson's voice could not be heard all over the house, on account of the rustle of fans. St. Mary's Male quartette then sang in beautiful strain that grand old song "We're Tenting To-night on the Old Camp Ground" and George Beardsley, '93, thereupon read an oration on "Decoration Day as indicative of the American National Spirit." The composition was thoughtful and well considered, it advanced the idea that in the late conflict of arms, the patriotism of the North excelled that of the South in that Northern patriotism was tinctured with a humanitarian spirit and was not merely a selfish sentiment; for, deny the fact as we will, the issue of the war when stripped of all superfluities was the existence of slavery.

The speaker praised the men who had distinguished themselves in the promotion of humanism in our national spirit, pronouncing an eulogy on the poet, Walt Whitman, and closed with the statement that Americans are not control'd by a spirit of selfishness but are bound together by a certain comradeship. George Gruwell '93 followed with a well delivered declamation on "Sherman's March to the Sea," when A. L. Hudson made the closing speech. This place on the program had been assigned to J. L. Kinmonth, '95, who was taken ill and at the last hour Mr. Hudson consented to fill the place. The speech was on the spirit of Decoration, and was undoubtedly the best of the evening, an inspiration to his hearers. He brought to mind the work of the past and the heroic workers, the private in the ranks and the women at home. The program closed with another song by St. Mary's Quartette.

The German Comedy.

The presentation of the German comedy given under the auspices of Mrs. Dietz by the members of the German Conversation Club at the Unitarian church, was witnessed by a good audience Monday evening. The plan of the play was simple being a representation of a German school under the charge of a well meaning but rather incapable school mistress. A visit from the school inspector throws teachers and pupils into a state of panic and the mistakes made by both were very ridiculous. Messrs. Reizenstein, Too-good, Mason and Black took an active part, as did Misses Gilchrist, Jones, Cochran and Holmes. Professor Hale took the role of inspector with great dignity, and Mrs. Dietz acted the part of the agitated school mistress to perfection.

College Notes.

A bicycle club has been formed at Wellesley.

The Freshman crew won the inter-class boat races at Columbia.

The University of Michigan base ball team is playing under league rules, with the pitcher five feet further back than in the Eastern Colleges.

The University of Virginia has won the College championship of the South in baseball. Its nine has accepted an invitation to play at the World's Fair.

VIDETTE-REPORTER,
Iowa City, Iowa.

Entered at the Iowa City Post-Office as second class matter

The track team accompanied by manager Anthony leaves for Des Moines this afternoon and while there will make its headquarters at the Savery. The men on the team with possibly one or two exceptions have been doing good faithful work since Home Field Day, and are worthy of the confidence imposed in them by the student body. It is true that a larger percentage of new men than is usual are this year entered in the various events, but notwithstanding this fact our prospects for winning the cup were never brighter or our hope of success better founded. Special railroad rates have been secured and a large number of students should endeavor to be on hand to flaunt the old gold and cheer its wearers on to victory.

Many students seem to forget that certain alcoves in the library are for the use of certain students who are seriously inconvenienced by being unable to find a place at the tables whereon are the reference books which they are required to consult. The Philosophy alcove is not the place to learn a German lesson, neither is it just that a Philosophical student should find the table occupied by students working mathematical problems. This year is so nearly over that there is little more opportunity for such annoyance but it is a matter which students should keep in mind not only for the remaining two weeks but throughout their university course, that the library is for the use of all, and no one person has a right to do, for a small convenience to himself, what will seriously inconvenience others. In a university young men and women should if anywhere, observe the courtesies of life and there is abundant occasion for their observation or neglect in the use of the library.

It is a well known fact that Gail Hamilton has been engaged for some time on a biography of James G. Blaine. The author is Mr. Blaine's literary executor and has the hearty co-operation of his family. She has known the inner and outer life of the man who has for years stood as the foremost American statesman and political leader. She had his respect and confidence and to her care were confided his papers, letters and all his historical and biographical effects. Herself a writer of remarkable power, with a force and vividness of style which are the envy of her literary contemporaries, she undertakes a subject in its own character fascinating beyond any other American biography of the past decades. From the combination of a great subject and a great writer, a great book must result. The interest already manifested in the work shows that the demand will be great. It will be issued in one large, octavo volume and finely illustrated by the best artists. The exclusive sale for the work for Iowa has been secured by G. H. Mitchell & Co., Cedar Rapids, Iowa.
