Rusell's Summer.

In the latter part of spring Mr. Russell was stationed at Fort McCloud, but as soon as the ice began to melt he joined the party of traders and proceeded down the river in a "pawpaw." This trip was a veritable encounter with death; the boat was a clumsy one propelled by oars and the channel of the river was so treacherous and rocky that more than once the party came very near losing both property and lives. They finally reached Athabasca Lake and here Mr. Russell camped for four or five weeks collecting birds and mammals. The weather was very severe and with no other protection than a small tent Russell made a series of very fine sketches.

From Lake Athabasca he proceeded to Athabasca River and about eight hundred miles northward and finally reached Fort Rae on June 30th. Here he remained for almost a month and the usual difficulties of the Hudson Bay Company. The last that was heard from him, dated July 15 was a postcard announcing that he returned home.

The address was well received and awakened a deep interest in the auditors; the speech was a healthy tonic.

Russell's work will be published later in the form of a monograph.

The Annual Meeting of the Regents.

The Board met Tuesday and Wednesday to consider the business of the University, and to arrange some plan for presenting the matter to the next Legislature. President Schaeffer made a report showing the many improvements, the great increase in attendance, the growth of the Museum and Herbarium, and set forth the necessity of more buildings for almost every department.

The chair of Geology and Biology alone needs about 80,000 dollars to properly enlarge and equip it. Attention was also called to the dangerous position of both the Library and the Museum, and the difficulty of the physical laboratory, the latter above the room containing the boilers, engines, and machinery used by the engineering department.

These two valuable additions to the University should be placed in fire-proof buildings.

The general needs of the University were adequately summed up as follows: A collegiate building; a building for the law department; a hospital for the Homoeopathic department; a hospital for the medical department; a building for the Homoeopathic department; a building for the dental department; a fire-proof library building; a shop for electrical and engineering; a University hall or assembly room.

A comparison of the amount, expended by neighboring states in the erection of buildings for their Universities shows that: Iowa is falling far behind. As the exception of Michigan and Wisconsin, Iowa is the oldest institution, and a comparison of a similar period shows that the colleges in those states are again in the rear. Iowa has not yet, at the very end of the line.

Still another comparison is the expenditure of the State University. Iowa has spent 40,000.000 on its Iowa Aerials, fifteen times as much as was spent on the University. {Let us all go to the Iowa Aerials.}

The President's report was referred to a Committee consisting of Specifier Gilliland, A. W. Seals, Howard A. Burrell, D. N. Richardson, J. D. McCleary, and B. F. Osburn.

The degree of Doctor of Laws was conferred on Charles A. White, formerly professor of Geology in S. C. U., and State Geologist for Iowa, and for some time past connected with the U. S. Geological Survey. He is now a member of the United States National Academy of Science, Vice-President of the American Association for the advancement of science, and corresponding member of the Geological Society of London, an association limited to forty members, selected from prominent geologists of the world. Dr. White's work on Great Slave Lake was much admired and is a valuable addition to scientific literature.

Hesperian.

The first programme of the season given by the Hesperian was greeted by a good audience Saturday evening.

The programme was opened by an instrumental solo by Anna Burrell. "The Voice of the City," was excellently and showed great care in its preparation, followed by a declamation by Anna Robinson, "The Maiden Martyr." The debate was on the question: Education: That specialists should specialize in the beginning of the college career," opposed on the affirmative by Amy Zimmerman, followed next by Elia Asnes, the first speaker on the negative; both showing a good understanding of the question under discussion.

The debate was followed by the best arguments presented by either side. Mary Holt closed the debate with very good arguments. The judges gave the negative side the decision.

"Van Biber and the Swastika," reading by Theresa Peet, was much enjoyed by all. Nannie Carroll gave a declamation "Tarpeia," in her usual pleasing manner.

The programme, closed with a vocal solo by Professor Buggs, after which the society enjoyed a social time with friends.

A Complaint.

Editor Vidette-Reporter—At the be­ginning of the northwest corner of the present issue of the Iowa City newspaper we read a reference to the presence of a regular laid-out programme, and has always been the source of much annoyance; especially in the last year, for the part of students who have just entered. On account of this, during the first week or ten days of the term, several hours were wasted each day in waiting about the buildings or expected lectures. No one seems to know just where the lectures are to be held. They are supposed to be given at any time, and as a result of this the students are made uneasy and often kept from their studies. There has been a great improvement in this respect over last year, but there is still room for improvement.

Now it would seem that all this annoyance and useless waste of time could be avoided by the Faculties of the several departments concerned in these programmes, if they would simply arrange these matters a few days before the work begins. They know where they are to do later on what work they are going to have. This would perhaps cost a little extra trouble on the part of the Faculty, but it can be done, and there is no legitimate excuse for its not being done.

Another reason why the programmes should be made out sooner is because the arrangement as it has been in the past makes it almost impossible for students in the Medical Department to avail themselves of the opportunity they might otherwise have of taking work in the College Department, simply because they must wait from one to two weeks at the beginning of the term in order to find out what hours will be occupied by lectures in the Medical Department. The Medical Faculty perhaps looks upon this as a trivial matter. But it is not a trivial matter to the great majority of the students. Especially is this the case with those who desire to take both the College and Medical courses at the same time.

FACT and RUMOR.

Toll, ’96, has secured a good position in Texas. J. A. Hull, ’96, has returned to continue his studies.

Tantliniger, ’94, spent Saturday and Sunday at his home. Edward Everett Hale attended the class in Shakespeare yesterday.

Harrriman has been elected secretary of the Medical Faculty.

The class in Shakespeare began reading Hamlet in class, Monday.

Elmer Roberts, ’96, has entered the Dental Department of Chicago University.

Professor Jamison gave a dinner party, Monday, in honor of Edward Everett Hale.

Burlington Maytom, of Alexandria, South Dakota, has entered the Prohm Dental class.

Kimball, ’96, Kulp, ’96, and Smith, H. M., ’96, were initiated into Beta Theta Phi, Saturday evening.

A letter from our former fellow in History B. L. Wick ’94, who is now traveling in Norway, states that he is improving in health.

Contrary to previous custom the foot-ball team now takes outdoor practice daily, good weather and bad. Things went on as usual Friday afternoon, notwithstanding the pouring rain.

It is reported that Dawson, L., ’90, is playing on the Grundy foot-ball team. This is probably a mistake, as he has not entered school there. He is, however, a fine half-back, and would greatly strengthen the Iowa College team were it permissible for him to play.

LATEST STYLE HATS AND FURNISHING GOODS AT BLOOM & MAYER'S.
Edward Everett Hale preached two very interesting sermons at the Unionist church last Sunday and on each occasion was greeted by a very large audience.

Collegiates trying for the eleven have been excused from drill while Dexcelly is here as coach. The military committee of the Faculty will grant an extension of the time, if such extension is necessary for training purposes.

The Law Literary held an interesting session last Saturday evening. An excellent program was presented and the society report a good number of enthusiastic workers and we can confidently predict a successful year for the society.

Lieutenant Vodges was somewhat misrepresented in a recent sketch given in this paper. We should have said that the graduates from West Point in 1899 instead of 1898. He has thus had ten years more experience than our article would indicate.

Chamland, Captain of the track team, has secured the promise of an amount sufficient to purchase an inter-class cup. Annual field-days are to be held, hereafter, and the class making the most points is to retain possession of the cup as long as it maintains its supremacy. The same procedure will apply to a better cup than the one owned by the State Association, and won by last spring, Grinnell has already instituted this plan, and it has had a good effort in amassing class spirit, and manifest encouragement in track athletics.

Law Literary.

Law Literary Society met at Irving Hall Saturday evening. Twenty-five old members were present and the names of about fifteen new men reserved. The program was opened by W. F. Koff who delivered an inaugural address outlining the policy which the society should follow for the coming year.

The first declaration was given by A. K. Aten, Jr. His delivery was good, with the exception of his impersonation of one of the parts.

Two carefully prepared extemporaneous addresses were then given by Messrs. Kellogg and Harvey, addressed to the Seniors and Juniors. The debate on the question of "Resolved That the Silver Purchase Clause of the Sherman Act Should be Repealed" was ably presented by Bender and McClellan and denied by Boyer and Van Allen.

A certain Junior upon being called upon to give his opinion on the question at the beginning of his speech very aptly quoted that well-known passage "Fools enter in where angels fear to tread." A. D. Dixon closed the program with a well-rendered declaration "The Manichean." The next meeting will be held at Zet Hall next Saturday evening. All are invited.
