The university extension movement made a decided advance in the right direction for the further operation of organized labor. The Chicago Trade and Labor Assembly, one of the most representative labor organizations in the world, has engaged Professor Benis of the University of Chicago, to give a course of six lectures on the labor question, certainly an appropriate step to be taken. These lectures should carry the university to those who could not go to the university. Working people cannot attend lectures at the University of Chicago nor the Northwestern University, but both of these finely equipped institutions can come to the working people, and the better system, if we had the tree of knowledge by lifting their hands.

The inauguration of this popular method of acquiring a liberal education opens up fascinating possibilities in the field of practical and technical learning. The university extension movement was born of the desire of earnest and disinterested people to carry the university to those who could not go to the university. Working people cannot attend lectures at the University of Chicago nor the Northwestern University, but both of these finely equipped institutions can come to the working people, and the better system, if we had the tree of knowledge by lifting their hands.

The Chicago Trade and Labor Assembly has been a power in keeping down the consumption of alcohol for many years, and it has been one of its prominent officers said: "It is the ambition of local union No. 7 to rise above strikes and boycotting, and to elevate its members for their own good.

The music has been developed until it is a proper science. He described the use of bacteria as essential to life, and enumerated them as follows: First the reproduction of figures which produce, however, they do not abuse, for they know when to quit and do not prejudice the evil of the drink habit. Bread, one of the elements of life, is made light and digestible through the agency of some small plants. As scavengers they purify the atmosphere, consuming the decaying animal and vegetable life. Without this process the world would become a mass of rubbish, all vegetable life would cease to exist, and without vegetable life animal life could not continue.

Chicago newspapers have lately gone into merchandising in connection with the efforts to increase their circulation, to such an extent as to involve them in some difficulty with their large readers who object to the low prices and good values offered. The most notable instance of this is The Inter Ocean, which has been compelled to dispense with its very popular Book Department for no other reason. It continues its World's Fair Portfolio Department, however, which is deserving about 11,000 per day at present and has just added a comprehensive series of "Views of the World," and a book of music called "Harmonious Melodies" on the same plan. They are sold at a certain price provided the purchaser presents a certain number of coupons cut from the paper.
