Leland Powers.

Despite the inclement weather the Opera House was crowded last Saturday evening when Leland T. Powers, the President of the State University, introduced the Charter for the season of 95-96. The speaker was introduced by R. G. Daktul, president of the Lectures Bureau.

Mr. Powers' subject was "David Garrick's life". The audience was quite interested in the story which was told with great truth and vividness. The lecture was well received and the audience was enthusiastic in its appreciation.

Hammond Law Senate.

The Hammond Law Senate met at 6:30 last Friday evening and rendered the following program:

First on the program was a speech by "Washington," by Mr. Walsh. He thought the 23rd of February should be made a legal holiday. This was followed by a well delivered oration by Mr. Powers, who said:

"A noble, unselfish life, full to the last of a desire to give rather than receive. He lived in the marbled Lincoln's sentiment: with malice toward none, with charity for all. In his every day life, an effort for eminence to those who knock at the door, a portrait of his noble profession.

Following are the number of presentations at the Homeopathic hospital to date: Medical clinic, 85; Surgical clinic, 85; Eye and Ear clinic, 124; Dispensary presentations, 106; total, 281.

The surgical clinics consisted of laryngoscopy, herniotomies, large ovarian cysts, arthroscopy, nerve stretching, Alexander's operation, etc. The eye and ear clinics consisted of operations for strabismus, enucleation of the eye, entropion, etc., and numerous minor operations.

The medical clinics were full of just such cases as the students need to work on with the very best in the way of instruction. Such cases as heart troubles, lung diseases, skin diseases, and illnesses of the blood, also stomach troubles, and numerous troubles of the nerves.

It is the history of the clinic in this department, and we can read with pride to this fine showing. It illustrates what we have repeated before - that in these columns - the State University of Iowa is all right.

The pleasant relations existing among students for the past year will be ended, and the class of 96 will take its place among those who have preceded them; the Juniors and Sophs and Freshmen will return home to spend their vacation. That success may attend each and all in their efforts to rise in the profession is the earnest wish of the seniors.

Senior Law Literary.

The Law Literary Society of '96 and its regular meeting on Friday evening in the Law lecture room.

The first number on the program was an address upon "Washington" by President Morris. This was a masterly production, well delivered, and was a fitting tribute to the "father of his country."

Mr. W. R. Gibson delivered a very instructive speech on "The Bar of 1850." The fact that lawyers are engaged to so great an extent in public affairs, Mr. Gibson explained by saying that, "the lawyer's information is that practical kind that makes him prominent in legislative and executive offices." "There would be little left should you take from the political history of Iowa the history of her lawyers."

The question, "Resolved, that the overthrow of the monarchy of Great Britain and the establishment of a repub-ic in its stead would be beneficial to the world," was ably argued by Raldolph and Hughes for the affirmative, and by Orton and Lush for the negative. The decision of the judge was in favor of the negative.

A. W. Burgess read a very interesting paper upon the subject "The United States Supreme Court. A Proposed Change," in which he advanced the argument showing why partisanship could not be eradicated from the Supreme Court, and how the will of the people may be frustrated by a system of judicial legislation.

W. H. Halpine read an essay entitled "A Lawyer," in which he pictured a young man starting out in the profession in a manner that was real. The production was numerous as well as instructive, and was of very high order.

Senior Meeting.

The Senior Class had a large and interesting meeting at Clof Hall last night at 7 o'clock. Reports from the various committees were made and discussed.

The Memorial Committee presented five different projects, and especially recommended:

The Senior Hop Committee reported progress.

As a result of the report of the Athetic Committee a captain (Rodney Arey) and business manager (Roy Eyer) were elected for the spring base ball team.

The Committee on Class Emblems reported that design had been sent for.

The Social and Class Day Committees reported progress.

During the course of the meeting President Schneider came in and expained the action taken by the Fac-cy in regard to the Commencement speakers, which is as follows:

The number of the class whose average work is above 85 per cent (this embrates about two-thirds of the class) will be elected to compete for place among the orators representing the senior class, and in the course of the exercises it will be necessary to have as many orators as the number of the above-mentioned students will permit; and the Faculty, taking into account probable delivery, will select those speakers to represent the class, using these orations as a basis of choice.

ment began this week.

The Junior Medics had their final examination in Chemical laboratory work Monday afternoon.

This is the second issue for the year, and was composed and arranged for January 26th.

The class of '99 comes very near making a success of athletic spirit, and the students, especially those of the first class, have been very active in organizing an inter-class base ball league, and the same interest on the part of the other classes will certainly make it a success.

One of the foot ball teams of the classes last fall demonstrated that good men for the Varsity team could be developed and class and college spirit aroused that would otherwise remain latent. Each class should be represented at the meeting to be held in the near future for the purpose of organization. All of the classes have elected their managers and captains, and the formation of such a league at this time would enable the teams to commence active and systematic work at the beginning of the season.

College Notes.

The financial responsibility of the athletes at Indiana University is borne by the faculty. Naturally the managership, too, is in the hands of the faculty, so that a short time ago, a student was elected manager of the base ball team by the athletic association, his election not being confirmed by the athletic board. Another meeting has been called.

Following are the requirements expected from Beloit's athletes in order to entitle them to the "B". 100 yard dash, 20 3-5 sec.; 220 yard dash, 23 sec.; 44 yard run, 56 sec.; 880 yard run, 2 min. 10 sec.; 1 mile run, 5 min.; high jump, 5 ft. 6 in.; broad jump, 20 3 1/3 in.; shot put, 35 lb.; hammer throw, 90 ft., 16 lbs.; pole vault, 9 ft. 6 in.; 1 mile bicycle, 2 min. 25 sec., unpedaled or in competition.
