Philanthropes.

The special program given by the Philanthropans last Friday evening was well attended. The new officers were inaugurated. President-elect Calyon Dunn gave the gavel in a few well chosen words by the retiring president, Mr. E. M. Howes. The toast for the new officers was delivered by his inaugural address, expressing genuine hope for the success of the society. It is worthy of remark that Mr. Mcleod is the founder of the organization, and he, in his essential office, is a deserved honor.

The next was a declamation by J. W. Mariner, a selection from King Henry V, which was exceedingly well rendered.

A paper on "The Germain Race" was read by W. E. Pettit, and the article, written by Mr. Gideon, was enthusiastically endorsed.

Music was furnished by Misses Alex., Albert Beck, Benny Dunlap and Clara Wilson.

Ivory.

The visitors at the North Hall witnessed a very pleasant program Friday evening.

The opening number was a vocal solo by Professor Buggies, which was rendered exceptionally well. Professor Buggies never fails to receive hearty applause from an ivory audience.

The following declamation was then presented:

Declamation: ........................................... W. J. Bailey
"Character of Napoleon." Speech: ........................................... Fred. H. Blums
"Taxation." Debate - "Resolved, that cities should own and control their electric lights and waterworks.”

Affirmed by A. J. Burt and A. C. Peet.

Denied by W. E. Kemahmer and F. B. Hobbs. Typical responses by C. M. Oronate, ........................................... J. B. Shores
"The Scholar in Politics." As a way to make it to appear on impromptu exercises, which were heartily appreciated.

Resolutions of Respect.

Whereas, the All-wise Teacher of the Universe, He who teaches through a living voice, is the highest and his mercy and wisdom to call a friend from life's school to the Great Beyond.

Therefore, be it resolved by the trustees of the Carroll schools and the pupils of the high schools:

First, that we mourn the irreparable loss of our friend and teacher, Rev. E. M. Cunningham.

Second, that we have always recognized in him the elements of a superior teacher; that he early won our admiration and love by his frank, manly ways and his earnest devotion to duty.

Third, that his example has always been above reproach and his outward and inward life, and we believe his inward life, has been such as becomes the highest type of a Christian gentleman.

Fourth, that we mourn with the friends who mourn, but rejoice with them in the evidences that he was ready to meet his Maker.

Fifth, that we send these resolutions to the family and friends, and to the local, the Iowa City, and the Cedar Falls papers for publication.

The foregoing resolutions are unanimously endorsed by the teachers of the Carroll schools and the pupils of the high school.

May Morning Breakfast.

The parlors of the Congregational Church presented a very pretty appearance last Saturday morning, the occasion being the annual May Morning Breakfast served by the Y. W. C. A. Sweet strains of music issued from one corner of the room. The tables were tastefully ornamented with dainty rhomb and floral decorations—pink apple blossoms and violas, while large bouquets were scattered throughout the room.

The dainty menu, for which the Y. W. C. A. girls have earned an enviable reputation, was served to nearly one hundred persons while the breakfast really merited a larger patronage, yet the girls will take some little sum as the result of their efforts as well as the expressed appreciation shown which attend. This is a social event of yearly occurrence in Association life and is to be heartily appreciated from all points of view.

College Notes.

Cornell Chapter, of Chi Psi, has purchased the famous Fiske-McGraw mansion, at Ithaca, for $45,000. The mansion cost a quarter of a million, and is no doubt the finest chapter house in the country.

Out of the two hundred and seventy-five members of the Yale faculty, thirty are natives of college.

Of the six religious denominations represented among the seven hundred and eighty students of Wellesley, last year, there was only one representative of the Jewish and one of the Roman Catholic faith.

A. E. Fiske and Malcolm Chase, of Yale, together with William A. Farnsworth, who are among the ten leading tennis players of this country, have made arrangements to play in the English lawn tennis championships at Wimbleton, England, next July. The entries of the two Yale experts at Wimbleton are the first since 1899, when the disastrous defeat of Champion Otto Campbell at the hands of the French sticks, dissuaded other American players.

The annual spring games at Cornell University, which were held on the campus, were invested with special interest and importance, inasmuch as from the first four men in the various events were to be chosen the men who will compose the team that is to complete in the dual games with the University of Pennsylvania, on May 9th, at Franklin Field.

The following is a list of the men who qualified in their respective events:

100 yards dash—Bowen, 1st; Moskine, 2nd; Farnsworth, 3rd; Covell, 4th.

220 yard dash—Bowen, 1st; Daniels, 2nd; Covell, Lewis, Time, 21-4.

Quarter-mile dash—Taylor, 1st; Parker, 2nd; Holloway, Time, 55-15.

Half-mile run—Peters, first; Meehan, Vanderbilt, Emmerson, Time, 2.10-2.5.

One mile run—Gugig, first; Stellb, Clark, Farnsworth, Time, 4.99.

120 yard hurdles—Shephead, 1st; Yale, Moskine, Time, 1.6-1.5.

220 yard hurdles—(The final run was not recorded.)

Most quality: Yale, Walters, Mcmen, Gardner, two trial times. Beve, 1st.

One mile walk—Bell, 1st; Zellar, Time, 7.38.

Putting shot—Davis, 1st, White, distance, 31 feet, 6 inches.

Hammer throw—Kline, 1st, Meta, distance, 5 feet, 6 inches.

Fule vault—Barker, 1st; Hall,Class, height, 8 feet.

High jump—Becker and Powell tied at 5 feet, 6 inches.

Jump—Whittmore, 1st; Coolcy, White, distance, 18 feet, 11 inches.

A fair-sized delegation of Cornell undergrads, besides several members of the Cornell ball team, were in attendance at the game with L.S.C., and a good showing was made.

The band will play for the meet, and it is desired that all other classes in the college should wear dark uniforms.

At a meeting held yesterday noon the Senior Lords resolved to attend the Field Meet in a body, all members being to wear dark uniforms.

The hand will play for the meet, and it is desired that all other classes in the college should wear dark uniforms.

The Ames team and those from Iowa City who attended the game between I. A. C. and Cornell at Mt. Vernon last Friday, are a unit in condemning the treatment given by A. C.'s team by Cornell. They all agree that Cornell played "dirty" ball and that the game was practically "stolen" from the opposing team. In justice to the Cornell team it should be said that they were fair. Cornell's team disregarded coaching rules, and would crowd in front and behind, so that it was impossible for the Ames team to play their positions. Twice during the game while lined up almost on the bases they ran out into the diamond and hindered playing. At one time in the game one of Ames' players ran out to catch a fly which was just outside of a rope stretched to keep the "natives" back. A spectator jerked the rope, throwing the player back so that he had no opportunity to get the ball. They also "heckled" about and protested decisions, which were unquestionably right. Such tactics might be overlooked in a team from Indiana Territory, but are hardly becoming of a college team in this portion of the world.

We had hoped, for the benefit of the general public which tires of nothing more completely than success, that we should be able to chronicle a different result of the oratorial contest than that which we are constrained to admit is true. "Michigan first" has become an accepted phrase that, saying nothing of its significance, it is becoming obvious. We do not mean to insinuate that even landed justice is unduly influencing the decision, for indeed the decisions have been pretty generally concurred in by popular sentiment, but we are grieved that this very thing should be thus, and are constrained to repeat the words lent us by Polonius, "'Tis true 'tis pity, and pity 'tis true."

We have before observed that a contest involves defeat for some one just as certainly as it means victory to another. It is an extremely interesting though not very profitable exercise to theorize as to "the cause of this effect." Yet if it is within our power to remedy the evident defect, our theorizing as to what defect is would be pregnant of result, for it is by so means an enigma as to why we reap so little glory in glory plentifully abounds. It is true of our representative this year to say he did remarkably well even against five men each of whom had taken advantage of training not afforded him. In thought and composition our representative ranked second to but one. As usual the lack of training on delivery doubt against us effectively. Thus this year as formerly the hard work and successful work too done on composing an oration, is rendered of no avail because of too little training in delivery.

To emphasize the truth of this statement is apparently useless since it has been known for several years and no remedy has been observed forthcoming. It may be that we are prone to overestimate the importance of oratory, but it seems to us not altogether clear why we are so less in need of instruction in this line than in others, or than the students of other professions.

It must be acknowledged that the outlook is not very encouraging just now for those who have ambition for oratorial honors. Nevertheless we urge it as a profitable undertaking for all those who can to begin preparations now for next year. What we lack in training we must supply by hard work. Let all who intend entering the contest begin work now, and although an oratorical contest is by far too uncertain a nature to justify prophecy, we have an abiding faith that our standard may be raised. Anyway whatever change such a plan would produce would be for the better, since we can hardly change in another direction.
