Grinnell Comment on the Dual Meet.

Under the heading "A Noble Defeat," in speaking of the Dual Meet last Saturday, the Scarlet and Black said: "In spite of the terrible odds the Grinnell boys go in and do their best with the result that they made an excellent showing. Baring Clarke was an accident Grinnell wins the runs and S. U. I. gets the fields events. Protests are the principal features of the day. Every man who rode a bicycle on May 2, 1896, was protested, and at the request of the Faculty was kept out of the events entirely. Some S. U. I. men were protested on the grounds of professionalism, which will be considered at the meeting to-night."

The Unit had the following to say: "Athletic teams are always especially liable to accidents, but Grinnell seemed unusually unfortunate this year. Because the bicycle races at the homes were not sanctioned by the League of American Wheelmen, all the riders who participated in them had been suspended from that organization. According to the constitution of the Dual League the bicycle races must be contested under L. A. U. rules. This disqualifies all of our bicycle men from racing, and gives two events, in which S. U. I. men acknowledged we would win first, to our opponents. This will make a difference of at least twenty points in the result, and if the meet is as close contested as it was last year, we feel the winner."

L. A. SWINER, Pres.
Nothing is more productive of complications in the average controversy than the tendency of the parties concerned to look at but one side. Differences of opinion inevitably result from differences of mental constitution and differences in the point of view from which individuals behold the same thing. Not infrequently the most acrimonious disputes can be explained on this ground, and very often they might be easily avoided by keeping in mind the very potent truth that it is not given to any one to know everything. It is not anyone's duty to avoid discussions which arise from divergences of opinion, but it is certainly an obligation which rests on all to avoid the uncharitableness which is so often made manifest where such discussions arise.

There can be no doubt that among the students of the University at present there is a general condemnation of the recent Faculty's decision relating to the track team. So far as the public is able to discern the managers have been condemned most unjustly and without the undeniable right of a hearing as to their motives and actions. There seems to be a complete obliviousness to the fact that the track team and its management may have been actuated by motives quite as honorable as the Faculty could desire, and that these same managers in any other matter would certainly have been admitted to a defense or explanation of their conduct. Unquestionably the exercise of arbitrary power may prove quite effective when unaccompanied by the formalities of ordinary procedure, but is it doubtful if it accords to the final benefit of either party concerned. In view of these conditions it is natural if not justifiable that the students, and especially the friends of the track team management, should find it difficult to refrain from uncharitable remarks.

We have on former occasions, it will be remembered, found it necessary to remark that the extreme laxity of athletic management has proved detrimental to our interests. Such is our opinion still as regards former conditions. We question, however, whether experience will prove the fire we are now inhabiting much more congenial than the frying pan from which we have escaped.

The intercollegiate athletic meet at Worcester last Saturday was won by Dartmouth with forty points. The other colleges stood as follows: Bowdoin, 36; Amherst, 35; Brown, 25; Wesleyan, 18; Trinity, 8; M. I. T., 6; Tufts, 4.

The defeat of the Yale team by Princeton last Saturday is the subject of a long editorial in the Yale News, which charges the result largely to the lack of graduate coaching, which, it says, "has been less than for years, when, with so many new players on the line, the necessity of it has been correspondingly greater." It urges the undergraduate support of the team to lift it out of its present demoralized state and prevent the season of 1896 from being a complete and discreditible failure.—Princetonian.

A meeting of the Senior class of the University of Chicago was held recently, at which important action in regard to athletics was taken. A report was presented to the meeting suggesting student representation and control of athletics. In the plans under consideration the election of coaches for the different "varsity" athletic teams and also the control of finances by the students. Hitherto both the coaching and financial management has been in the hands of A. A. Stagg, as head of the department of athletics, but those on the inside claim that his days are numbered. Stagg went to the University under a five years' contract, which does not expire before next year. Whether he will remain in the university should part of powers be curtailed seems to be an open question among the students. Some quite precedent, and they think that Stagg will resign,—U. of M. Daily.

Deafness Cannot be Cured by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a humming sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. In many cases of this kind the bony tubes must be removed by operation at the ears, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by cataract) that cannot be cured at Hall's Cataract Cure. Send for circulars, free.
