THE NINE POINT CIRCLE by Prof. E. B. Gate.

At the meeting of the Iowa City athletic Club Friday evening the regular paper was presented by Instructor George S. Baird, his subject being "The Nine Points Circle."

The nine points circle is not in itself different from any other circle. It is one of the numerous circles which may be drawn in connection with any right-angled triangle. The main point of importance relates to the number of particular relations which may be drawn in connection with this circle.

P. F. Noble, L. V. G., and librarian of our Law school in 1894-95, is now engaged in the practice of law in Casey, Iowa. Mr. Noble received his doctor’s degree last year from Columbia; his thesis was a discussion and history of taxation in Iowa.

It remained for the representative magazine of the Middle West, the Midland Monitor of Des Moines, to give to the world the solution of the historic question: “Who won the War Department of John Brown?” We brought into the War Department of Harper’s Ferry, and who was the hero, informally, of the famous Quaker Gov. G.: the February Monitor. The Monitor is assuming his full share of responsibility for the act, relating the whole story of the anonymous hero, with a candor which precludes further question, Gov. G.’s admission will compel a rewriting of the history of the John Brown Movement. Another interesting feature of “Gov.” number are the loving portraits of Notice Grant Sartoris and his son and two beautiful daughters.
