OLD GOLD VICTORIOUS.

WE DEFEAT NORTHWESTERN TWENTY TO SIX.

In a sizzling battle on the Shippen field, at Evanston, Saturday, October 10, 1897, Northwestern was beaten by Iowa's score of 12 to 6.

Although the day was raw and cold the playing throughout was swift and vigorous. Northwestern won the toss and chose the north goal. By quick, steady playing and aided by a strong wind, they made a touchdown in the first half. But when the teams lined up for the second half, the Iowa men set their teeth and by strong, rapid, steady team work, they scored two touchdowns, kicked one goal and secured a safety before time was called.

The teams were about evenly matched in weight, although the Northwestern men were heavier. The claim was made that Iowa's men "continually piled up on Northwesterners after they were down." On the other hand, some Northwestern players, unable to stop Kelly as he went over to make the first touchdown in the second half, struck him several blows in the face. Such work is to be deprecated.

The lines up of the teams was as follows:

IOWA.

Hobbs, halfback, kicked off and forced Northwestern to Iowa's twenty-yard line. Hobbs kicked, but Northwestern returned to their forty-five-yard line, but lost the ball. North westerners passing the ball high were forced to a safety. Hobbs kicked the ball, and Iowa forced through for a touchdown. Score 6 to 0.

SECOND HALF.

Northwestern kicked off. Hobbs carried the ball to the twenty-five-yard line. Hobbs kicked. Both obIs clouded the kick. Hobbs kicked, but Northwestern moved wide, pasted into the forty-yard line, to twelve yards. Iowa lost the ball on downs. Northwestern made short gains, and passed to their forty-yard line, to thirty-five yards, where the ball was dropped by Noyes. Hobbs went around right end for fifteen yards. Hobbs was called with the ball at Iowa's twenty-yard line. Score 6 to 6.

THE JOLLIFICATION.

"NOT TIME IN THE OLD TOWN" SATURDAY NIGHT.

The news of Old Gold Victory had hardly reached the city before arrangements were being made for a celebration that would be worthy of the event. Accordingly, soon after dark a crowd of students interested in Iowa's folks began to gather together, and then the Hunt for bonfire material began. Like a herd of stampeding cattle the "boys" rushed from street to street, and from alley to alley for boxes and barrels. Time was too scarce to allow the merchants to concentrate as was what was of use, but they were rejoicing as well as the students, and gladly gave all they had. The material was collected at the corner of Clinton and Washington streets, and soon one of the largest bonfires ever seen in Iowa City was lighting up the surrounding buildings, while the Hawkeyes yelled filled the air. The band appeared on the scene, and marched up and down the street followed by a crowd of bowing, yelling, exulting students. The fire began to burn the processional for the President's house, and there, at the door, was a somewhat solemn speech the "Prexy" expressed his gratification as the result of the game and his approval of the interest shown by the students. Then the band struck up with "The Time is Near," and according took up the strain as it wended its course back to the Dean's home. Here Professor Currier made a good speech, and the crowd took up the strain as it wended its course back to the Dean's home. Here Professor Currier made a good speech, and the crowd took up the strain. Then they sang: "It's a grand old flag that never did nor ever will be surrendered, and the cause it stands for is the cause of liberty all over the world." The song was followed by a sturdy "The old flag never died." The crowd took up the strain as it wended its course back to the Dean's home. Here Professor Currier made a good speech, and the crowd took up the strain as it wended its course back to the Dean's home. Here Professor Currier made a good speech, and the crowd took up the strain. Then they sang:

"What's the matter with S. U. P.?, and from the surrounding blocks would be heard the answer: 'She's all right.'"

Hammond Law Seat.

The Hammond Law Seat gave a pleasing program last Friday evening in the presence of a large audience. An unusually large number of bal roes were present. The opening number was a vocal solo by Senator Weaver, with guitar accompaniment. The selection was heartily received, and Mr. Weaver was encored by a whirlwind melody.

"The Gladiator" was the subject of a well delivered declamatory by Senator Green.

The emigration question was clearly and forcibly treated in an easy manner by Senator Hughes.

Senator McFarlane delivered an interesting and stimulating address on "The Power of our Judiciary."

Senator Hurlbut held the closest attention of the audience while he graphically portrayed a thrilling incident in the life of Jack A. Garfield.

"Two Opinions," by Edgar Allan Poe, was read by Professor Overly, 16, Ohio Wesleyan, 3, Princeton, 34, Caseville, 6, Pleasantville, 3, Darlington, 5.
