SAID END.

GEORGE P. KITCHEN TAKES HIS OWN LIFE.

George P. Kitchen, a member of the senior law class, making his home with his parents, near Urbana, and recalls that Mrs. A. J. Pickle, committed suicide yesterday morning, near the home of his sister, Charles Pickle, seven miles east of Iowa City, near the body was found, and death was pronounced.

Dear Friend: Before you get this and have been devastated, and death was pronounced. Mrs. A. J. Pickle, committed suicide yesterday morning, near the home of his sister, Charles Pickle, seven miles east of Iowa City, near Life had nothing left for me, and I am going to end it all. I am going to end it all and I have spent some happy hours.

For my friends I have grateful PENS for my deepest and most sincere appreciation.

G. P. KITCHEN

Thanking you I am,

Your friend,

George Pickle.

Having delivered this letter, and doubled over, he was hired a horse and buggy from a livery barn by his brother and was driven to his uncle's, where the body was committed about an hour later.

Much sorrow was expressed as the Law department when the sad news was received. President McClain, who addressed the Senate last year, and a committee was appointed to draft resolutions in memory of Mr. Kitchen.

The body was unceremoniously affixed with temporary mental alteration. He had a peculiarly sensitive nature, and a remarkable nervous temperament, and brooded for a long time over the accidental death, by shooting of his brother, Thomas, at Williamsburg. Than last summer came the death of his mother, which he never fully recovered.

Evidently his mind at last gave temporary mental alteration. He had a peculiarly sensitive nature, and a remarkable nervous temperament, and brooded for a long time over the accidental death, by shooting of his brother, Thomas, at Williamsburg. Than last summer came the death of his mother, which he never fully recovered.

The University of Minnesota has already chosen her introductory debate. She has a debate with Wisconsin as well as with Iowa, and she has chosen two teams of three each, and an alternates for each team. Four of ten of these eight men are from the Law department and none of the men who met last year, or year before, are on the team. After having suffered a series of defeat, Minnesota is determined that this year she will win, and so has her men ready to begin work on our debate as soon as the question is sent them.

Grinnell Foot Ball.

The situation that has been pleasant Grinnell and Ames during the past three years in regard to their foot ball games has culminated in a resolution passed by the Grinnell College Athletic Union to play no foot ball with Ames next year. While Grinnell has a long series of grievances against Iowa College, the resolution is based solely upon the discourtesy and undignified attitude of the foot ball management of that institution.

The Grinnell representatives who witnessed our game with Ames formed the opinion that "The Ames team played a much better game at Iowa City than at Grinnell," and that "It is more than probable that either team playing as it did on that occasion would have been able to defeat Grinnell.

Those who are familiar with the spirit of Grinnell College know that this opinion will only cause their team to practice the more earnestly and play the harder in order to beat us and thereby gain the State championship. This year's Grinnell team is playing with all the snap, vim, and close-knocks as characteristic of her former teams, and in order to defeat her, this S. U. I. team must be composed of the very best players in the University, and every player do his level best.

Irrving.

Last night the performances of Irving and their friends were treated to a first-class literary program. Several new men took part, and the result of their efforts was such as to make Irving proud of its recent acquisitions. The debate by Mac Reynolds, Noland, Hoffout and Burt was brisk and strong, while Anderson's oration, Hulsey's and Kingland's declamations, were all excellent.

An extemporaneous speech by Horack was an unusually successful effort, and the music was all that could be desired.

All the big games this year will be played on college grounds, and New York and Springfield will be cut in the cold.

Out of 400 young men graduated from Harvard University last year are 340 not inclined to take up the study of theology.

At a meeting held in Osaka, Japan, on the 26th of May, 1871, and attended by high officials of the state, nobles, scholars and business men, it was decided to found in Tokyo a Japanese University for women. The money needed to give a start, amounting to almost 200,000 yen, is to be raised by subscription. The Emperor and Empress are said to favor the plan and have promised state aid to the institution.

Military drill is now being tried in Chicago University. President Harper has just authorized its introduction, and it will be a substitute for regular gymnastics. It is very likely that the innovation will prove very popular with the students. Professor Stagg is enthusiastic over the proposed change, and thinks that the students will make good soldiers. An offer from the United States army will be secured as instruction.

There is more chatter in this section of the country than all other districts put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by standing far to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven correct to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Harvard University, in connection with Dr. T. Blackavad, co-founded to, Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally by doses from 5-10 drops a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollar guarantee for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonial Address, H. F. E. E.
