IOWA CITY, IOWA, SATURDAY, OCTOBER 3, 1896.

NO. 6.

Alumni.

Complying with your request in a letter of October 4th, I am writing (in regard to alumni news) I shall give you a few notes from this section of the paper. At a recent canvass made in the city, I found that there were between sixty and seventy persons, who had been students at one time or another at the University, representing all the learned professions. Space will forbid mentioning all these, so I shall mention only a few.

Among the dentists can be mentioned Dr. Deford and Jessie Hitchco- deford, Cumm. Clara, Booch, Halp, Huns- beck, Miller, and McClellan.

Among the drugists can be named Boyson, Listebarger, Skiles, and others, who are students and professors, Cogwill, Dalby, Cornell, Lynn, and Crawford.

The bar has always been well represented by University students, and at present both the opposing candidates for county attorney, Cash, and Clemons, are Law graduates of the University, and.

One of the feats of the year was the election of J. W. McCann, President of the Athletic Association of the State University of Iowa, and.

The conditions of this obligation are such that whereas, the said John W. McCann was elected treasurer of the Athletic Union of the State University of Iowa.

The following officers were then chosen: Vice-President, Holstein; Secretary, Miss Howard; Treasurer, Robinson; Sergeant-at-Arms, Wright, and Sullivan.

Notices.

All students desiring to become members of the Mandolin Club are requested to call at Close Hall on Monday, or Tuesday evening before 5 o'clock.

We Will Drill.

It is definitely decided that the study class students will drill, and we shall be in command. The Faculty have not yet decided upon the hour for drill so no details can be given to that effect.

That Scrap.

At existing content with the freshmen as victims.

There was no mistake--the freshmen had called a meeting. The notices were posted where all might see:

"There will be a meeting of the freshmen class at Close Hall, Friday, 5 p.m. Bring cards with you." The question arose as to whether the Sophomores would interfere. The consensus of opinion was that last year's experience would be a lesson to hold the Sophs in check. So, a hurried meeting was called at 1234, in Irving Hall. A boy and a girl knew until members of the Sophs appeared a little later in sweaters and old clothes. A meeting was held in the neighborhood of Close Hall. Word was sent to the Vencent Recon- nition" for a numerically call to bat reporter upon the scene. But our special war correspondent was already on the field, and the Sophs would not rely for our reports upon the Associated Press disasters. It began.

At four o'clock, several of the Sopho- morecs took their stand on the steps of Close Hall. In unison, the Spanish girls in the late war, heavy wires were stretched across every avenue of approach to whether they were there to display their stars and authority. The Sophomores were "dowered on masses" behind their wire fortifications. On came the freshmen--but the policemen, raising to the occasion, wailed their drums unmercifully upon the heads of the attackers, and finally arresting a senior, who had be- come unduly popular. Forcing the Fresh- men, they marched triumphantly to the City Hall. The battle went on; the crowd grew, and the Ferris scouts, who were unable to stand up to the heavy wire people, were called in a manner bestfitting a Sophomore, and during a discussion as to whether or not the policemen should they elect officers before they had a constitution. It was unanimously decided that a constitution could be adopted afterwards, and that offers be elected at once. McGage sug- gestest that they needed a secretary pro tem. He at once received the solicitude.

The nominations for president were Fred, Berry, of Sioux City.

Frank Erhe, of Newton, C. J. El- ier, of Pearl, Ralph Williamson, of Iowa City, and of the Iowa City papers.

Upon the motion candidates took some upon the platform.

It truly could be said "some in roses, some in sable, and some in beggar's gowns." But full dress suits were not required, and their distaffs but added merriment and interest to the oc-

We know all men by these presents, that the said John W. McCann, was elected Treasurer of the Athletic Union of the State University of Iowa.

The Sophomores were greatly out- numbered, and credits in due form were determined. They blocked the entrance, and few, if any, entered the door. On the other hand, the strong Freshmen started out to hold a meeting in Close Hall--and they held it. Although some added by some of the students they accomplished their end, and carried the day. May this class be blessed in the uprisings and popularities that characterize them throughout their college career.

We are very glad to see that so many students are beginning to send in orders. That is what we want. We try to get the news, and need your cooperation. We wish to request, however, that items be sent in early in the forenoon of the day of issue. Several times we have printed duplicate local and incorrect items because they were handed in after the proof had been read and the editors had gone.

The Literary Society.

Last night the various societies held their first programs of the year, and the Freshmen who are interested in this line of work were popular, as they never were before. The greatest interest was displayed in their welfare, and many kind offers of assistance and aid were made by upper-classmen, only to be followed by "Can't I propose your name to the faculty?" The rivalry between the different organizations is excessive at this time of year, and it is next to impossible for the new men to obtain a correct knowledge of the comparative merits of the societies.

The habit of "spiking" new students is unfortunate. The rush for desirable candidates is so great that men do not have an opportunity to take their bearings, and the societies must go more or less by chance in selecting members.

Notwithstanding these methods, the societies are equated by few, if any, in the West. The work in forenoon lines at I. T. I. has been a source of pride to the institution for years. Not alone in the contests that are won, but in the men who are sent out from the halls reflect credit upon their Alma Mater in later years.

The various literary organizations are important institutions of the Uni-Attention Students.

The Bible class had its first meeting last night. Mr. Hawk will lead the ensemble of the Apostolic Age. Mr. Polkingham sang the course in "The Life of Christ."

The Y. W. C. A. will meet Sunday in Room 20. The dinner at Chase Hall will be led by Agnes Safety, the subject being "Bible Study." Miss Lydia McClellen will give a talk.

The Natural History Bulletin will appear in a few weeks. It will contain "Sodges of Iowa," by E. J. Cramer; "Creatures," or "Rods in Iowa," by Messrs. Holley and Artists. Both subject will be illustrated. The latter one is a continuation of work begun about two years ago.

We learn with great pleasure of the nomination of J. B. Fralley as clerk of the courts of Lee county. Mr. Fralley, who has been a lieutenant in the Sth Iowa Volunteer Infantry at Jacksonville this summer, but a short time ago returned to his home in Fort Madison. The Republican convention met at Davenport, Sept. 28, Mr. W. C. Blood of Keokuk, a condidate for Lieutenant Governor, presented his name as a candidate for clerk of the court. He was at once nominated by acclamation.

Mr. "J. B.", as the popular student in school, and his friends in school will learn with pleasure of his success. In the University, Mr. Fralley had an enviable reputation. He stood high in class. His faculty as a speaker and debater was the admiration of all. As Editor-in-Chief of the Vinnet, President of the Athletic Union and editor of Student's voice, his great capacity and ability made him a name that will long be remembered and respected. In behalf of the students we extend congratulations to Mr. Fralley.

The Hoparian (U. of Neb.) devotes space to its last issue to items from U. I. T. it prints among other things the Vinnette-Reporter's recent editorial on the abolition of duel.
