Further Growth of U. S. I.

Plans Now Being Considered Concerning a Building for the Museum.

With the completion of the new Collegetown building, sufficient space for the Languages, Political Economy and Philosophical department will be provided. The Law and Civil Engineering departments will then be given the quarters vacated, affording ample room for their many needs. But the Science department, which has grown so rapidly in recent years, will not be directly benefited by it. S. U. I. has a museum second in size in the west. The results of the exploration in the far north in the shape of Arctic animals is surprising by no institution in the U. S., while the presentation of a serpent is the best specimen of its kind yet discovered. By the time that all the specimens are packed in the upper story because there is no other place large enough to accommodate them, the collection may be said to be a large one. The fact must be mentioned the great number of students taking work in science, as well as the gallery of the Museum, which is used for science work alone, instead of being the home of both the science work and the museum, would be too large too.

A new building is needed for all the great courses so as to be suited to the needs of the museum.

As it has been mentioned, plans are being considered whereby the new building can be secured. No one will deny that the present museum building will probably take more definite shape in a near future, but the friends of the University will agitate the matter in the proper way with the hope that the Legislature will grant the desired funds.

The Republican says: "The plan of the University to balance the new College building is a market of imposing character on the side of the central walk. This will leave the old capital at its key, and would relieve the presses of the one-idealess that is sure to follow the erection of the new building structure. It is proposed to occupy a good portion of the north half of the campus — between the central walk and the great buildings of the central walk. It is the plan of those who favor the proposal to balance the new museum building is the plan of those favored with the present building the great opposition to the plan in spite of its being the nucleus of the City. The idea of the men of small and provincial ideas being the State of Iowa, and having been in existence for many years at the University is that they are necessary for the balance of the University, not complimentary to the University, nor to the State."

Honor System Rejected.

The Freshman Medical class at the University of Michigan held a hot meeting recently, which lasted over two hours, the object of the meeting being to determine if the class wished to adopt the honor system, which is in vogue at the University in the Classics and other classes. The meeting was well attended and the opposition to the plan in spite of the fact that the opposition has been great and has been in existence for many years. The speeches made by members of the Faculty, the president of the Medical class, and others, sang one song in praise of the system. The question of the hour being finally put to a vote of the class, it was decided against it. There was much feeling about the matter, the chief opposition being on the ground that the plan would necessitate that each student act as his own judge and secreted out the cases, which idea was extremely repugnant to the class in general.

During the presidency of Dr. Dwight, the student body went to the University more than $100,000, or twice the amount of his salary.

Base Ball Game.

Iowa Plays Knox Friday — A Heavy Game.

On Friday afternoon our S. U. I. base ball team will play on our own ground the first game of the seasons with a college team. Knox comes with a good record, having already defeated a number of teams, among them, Eureka, by score 37 to 7. Our team, on the other hand, has played but three practice games, those with Cedar Rapids last week, the last of which series was at Iowa victory in 17 to 13. Since last Friday the team has been practicing daily, putting on the finishing polish, that will enable them to give the Knox boys a good swift run for their money.

A large crowd is expected at the game, as, owing to our relations with Knox College in the recent past, no little interest is manifested where the bases and conditions are, and it will be a great matter to be able to schedule a game with one of our athletic teams. Then, too, as this is the opening college game of the season, the base ball cracks, as well as the ordinary lavers of the national game, will be out in full force. Our team will be composed of practically the same men who won the Cedar Rapids games, and the order that every student may be given the opportunity to enjoy the game. Major Scharff yesterday announced that an advertisement would not be until 12 o'clock, by which time the game will be ended.

Spring foot ball practice began at Princeton last week.

The University of Tennessee has asked for a foot ball game with Wisconsin this fall.

Saxton Hanna, of Ohio, recently gave $2,000 toward the establishment of an economics in the National University.

The gifts made by Americans to educational and charitable institutions during the past year amounts to $4,000,000. This is the highest figure yet reached.

The corporation of Brown University has ordered the Athletic Association to admit free to all intercollegiate contests any student who is unable to pay the admission fee.

Fifty-seven schools and thirty-five colleges have thus far signified an intention of entering the relay race held under the auspices of the University of Pennsylvania.

Harvard football coaches for the coming season have been announced as follows: Iowa; Head-coach, B. H. Dibbun, '97; for defense and center worked with H. W. Lewis, '93; for tackles, B. G. Winters, '94.

The Chicago University Comedy Club recently gave two performances of "The Decent Dean," a strictly University drama. The present, about $2,000, were given to the University settlement fund.

An organization known as the State Fair-Scholastic Athletic Association has been formed in Nebraska, to be under the control of the State University of Nebraska. Minnesota is about to organize one similar.

Missouri State University is the first institution in the U. S. to offer a Collegiate course in journalism. An extended curriculum has been outlined, including all important phases of theoretical and practical journalism.

A Professor B. I. Wheeler, as chairman of the committee of Fellows of the American School at Athens, has announced the appointment of Miss Harri-ett A. Boyd, as present a student in Athens, to the Agora Hoplites memorial fellowship for the year 1900-1901. This fellowship is open to women graduates of Agora Hoplites college, and yields $2,000 a year.

Commerce to be Educated.

That university courses are to be even more complex than now, is evidenced by the fact that Missouri has just introduced a course in journalism. The following clipping from The Lantern, the official organ of Ohio State University, gives notice of an additional course which has recently been added to the curriculum: "The introduction of courses in commerce into the curricula of different universities of this country, has secured the endorsement of chambers of commerce in all of the large cities. Just recently courses of this nature have been introduced at the University of Minnesota, Columbia, and at our own institution." We are sure that this new course will attract many new students to O. S. U., for the advantages to be secured here in this line are very great. The popular lecture courses are still dominant of all the other courses, and the opportunities to visit large industries are limited. An example of this is to be seen in the visit of the students in 'Money and Banking' to the city courting house last Saturday. The operation of clearing house was explained by Manager Field, in sometimes, by a very simple process, how much money is changed hands. Such practical lessons as this show very well the practicality of this new course."

A Correction.

The following communication from Professor Eaton is self-explanatory:

"EDITOR VIDETTE-REPORTER: I beg to enclose your copy of last night's Vi- dette-Reporter of my note at the Be- canton society, on the sun disquisition. It was a little mispronounced. I did not say that the retrogression of the shadow was 'impossible,' but that a cer- tain rationalistic explanation of the event was insufficient—(apparently?)"

The paper to-morrow evening pertains to a topic of practical interest to educators. It will be read by Dr. L. W. Dean on the subject, "The Hygiene of the Public Schools."
We desire by this article to recognize the common sentiment held by the student body concerning its value, and to assure its members that the faithful and patriotic conduct is fully appreciated by all.

The First Intercollegiate Game.

To-morrow will witness the first intercollegiate base ball game of the season in which S. U. will have a part. The boys from Knox College will seek to sustain their reputation as "the cyclones of the diamond," while the defenders of Old Gold will battle nobly for school honor and fame. Considering the work of both teams this season, it can hardly be doubted that the game will be a close one, and the winner may well feel proud of his victory. Knox has carried everything by storm thus far: S. U., though defeated by a league team, was nevertheless a winner in the last games of the series, and has a team capable of winning the pennant this year, if hard and conscientious work is continued. We need a base ball team which shall compete with our foot ball and track athletes. Not anonymity in one or two, but in all lines, must be sought: for complete success shall be ours. To this end certain weak spots in the line must be strengthened, and the entire force of college spirit and enthusiasm be called upon for active encouragement. We must win this year. Prospects were never brighter. Duty, if not destiny, plainly manifests itself to every student. Okey the word.

The officials of the Yale-Harvard and P. H.-Harvard foot ball games next fall will be P. J. Dashiell, empire, and N. M. McGinnis, referee.

Some action of the CIA to bear upon the guilty party or parties, the accumulated $10,000 every week and see what we did and see. It is true that each team is equal to any of the track teams. There is enough material to form two track teams, each equal to any of the track teams of former years.

The starting report is current that the Freshman-Sophomore dual meet has been declared off. It seems both sides granted concessions to the other, and each professed that the meet would have been a fair one. The final split comes on the matter of the bicycle race. Both sides refused to accede to the demands of the other, with the above result. The action of the representatives of the classes is severely censured on all sides. Some one is to blame for the present situation. It is to be hoped the full force of student opinion will be brought to bear upon the guilty party or parties so that such a state of affairs cannot occur again.
