"LAKES GENERA

We Lose a Game.

Our collegiate neighbors from Mt. Vernon joined Williams's "truth" in a friendly game of base ball at Athletic Field, Tuesday afternoon. The visitors were in high spirits, and although they made several errors, succeeded in showing the spectators a good clever game. Our players put up quite as good a game, and it was only due to the most severe hard luck that we did not score two or three more runs. In the fifth in-

This year's conference opens Friday, June 30, and closes July 2. The time from eight to twelve each day is given to the sessions of the conference. The afternoons are spent in various forms of recreation and athletic contests. Swimming, boat sailing, track and field athletes, tennis and base-ball, are all popular. Iowa always stands high at the annual field meet, as well as in water sports. Each evening, at twi-

An Engineer's Testimonial.

Commenting upon the recent report that Attorney Frank O. Lowden has given $2000 to Northwestern University, the Iowa City Republican says: "The emotions of gratitude toward Frank O. Lowden, that surged up in the hearts of S. U. L. adherents a short time since, will be slightly tinged with jealousy upon the present of the following:"

Then follows a statement of the facts recorded above, with added moral comment. It is surely a matter of surprise that such sentiment should find its way to the usually well-carved columns of the Republican, but such seems to be the case. However, we deem it necessary to state that no such feelings have as yet touched either of the bold canvassers for Mr. Lowden's action. We are not envious of the good fortune of another institution, nor do we feel called upon to question the motives or criticise the action of a benefactor of the two universities. We are deeply thankful to Mr. Lowden for the practical interest he has shown in his Alma Mater, and whether he sees fit to extend his donations to us in the future, or not, will in no wise affect the present sentiment regarding his action. The same is true of any action Mr. Lowden may take in regard to other institutions.

IRVINGS TRIUMPHANT.

A calm, unostentatious man—without cries, processions, etc., hence is also a failure. The public account system so diversifies labor that its effect on free competition is null. This speaker is likewise a fine debater and ably upheld his side.

F. H. Randall, the second speaker for the negative, after a summary of regarded the New York system employs every possible means to force the money out of the pockets of the people. F. H. Randall presented his arguments with clearness and precision.

The closing speeches by J. W. Morse and J. E. Pinkham were both of great merit, abounding in Sarce rebuttal and clinching summaries.

"Bonaparte and Washington" was the subject of a carefully written and well-delivered oration given for the Irving's by G. S. Calthan.

Mr. J. Kinney, for the Zeta, delivered his production upon the theme "Bene dick Arnold." Through the last speaker of the evening, he held the attention of audience throughout.

The decision was then rendered—Mr. Brackett winning the declaration, Mr. Calthan the oration.

The judges of the debate, Professors Wilson and McClain, and Rev. Williams, decided for the affirmative, thus closing the final contest—a victory for North Hall.

Drake Summer School of Latin.

It is often a perplexing question to many students in the University as to the methods to be pursued in making up back work. A little back work is often a great hindrance to good, efficient school work, and could this little we be eliminated in the regular course of many students, the benefits resulting would be incalculable. Especially in this true of many of our Latin students, and a few weeks' summer work will greatly less the difficulties encountered in a regular course. The authorities of Drake University have instituted a summer school in Latin, opening on the 19th of June. This school is devoted exclusively to Latin, and the term is longer than in many other schools. The Faculty is composed of three efficient instructors, and the certificate of the work completed and grades earned are honored by all leading educational institutions.

We have not a project of similar magnitude in Iowa City, nor a body of students to turn out the work of a summer school. The expenses are so great that such a project could not be undertaken here. Still, Mr. Lowden's action is commendable as well as educational.

Professor Calvin, as one of a party of six, will take a trip to Alaska this summer to explore and develop certain nickel mines in this country of the frozen north. It is said Geo. Shaw is interested in the mineral, but probably will not be able to accompany the expedition. The party will start June 10 from Seattle. There, aside from the perils of waters, snows, and false brethren and the Eskimos, but surrounded by all sorts of animals, they will try to ascertaining the secrets of this little-known region. Professor Calvin, as geologist of the expedition, will doubtless be able to add much to the world's knowledge of the northern possessions of the United States.

Chancellor McClain's Lecture.

Chancellor McClain, in his lecture on "Reforms in Law and Law Reformers," to the Law class yesterday, mentioned as early and most potent reformatory measures the provisions of Magna Charta (1215) that the king's court should be held in one place, and the provisions of statute of Westminster and (1285), authorizing writs to be framed in new cases. The civil law, he thought, had been of significance in the common law system, as furnishing scientific form and philosophy. This system of equity would have been unnecessary had the common law judges been less wedded to form. It has performed its functions, and has practically ceased to exist as an independent branch of jurisprudence.

Legislation, which, Sir Henry Maine named as the third method of legal reform, furnishes more practically the sole means for improving the law. The great impetus to systematic reform in this manner was given by Jeremy Bentham, in the latter part of the 19th century. He was a philosopher rather than a lawyer, and hardly appreciated the true spirit of legal evolution, but the movement which he inaugurated has brought about extensive codification, which is the great legal fact of the latter half of the 19th century.

Wisconsin Debate.

The Vidette-Reporter desires to acknowledge receipt of the twenty-ninth annual joint debate of the University of Wisconsin, recently from the press of the Daily Cardinal Pub. Co., of Madison, Wisconsin, and edited and arranged by W. L. Kies. The question discussed was: "Is the present system of private ownership and operation of the street railway lines of the city of Chicago preferable to a system of municipal ownership and operation?"

In the debate, which took place December 6th last, the question was affirmed by Messrs. Benjamin Piss, Joseph Loeb and Wm. S. Kies for Athenian Society, and denied by Messrs. Wm. F. Adams, Warren M. Persons, and Emerson Ely, for Philomathean Society. The eighty-volume book contains all the speeches made on both sides of the question, as well as a complete bibliography of the subject. Mr. Kies has written a brief introduction, and Professor D. B. Frankenburger, of the chair of oratory, has added a preface. The volume is further embellished by a half-tone engraving of the latter gentleman, as well as by a half-tone of the two teams' emblems. It may be obtained by sending five cents to the College Bookstore or to the Daily Cardinal Publishing Co., of Madison, Wis.
