The Y. M. C. A.

A large number of students attended the Y. M. C. A. Sunday afternoon. Mr. Hawk, president of the association, read the 15th Chapter of St. John. After the invocation by President MacLean, Mr. Hawk, took for his theme, "Is the young man Absalom and foolish?" and quoted 18, chapter 23, verse and said, that the same question might be asked of the young men of the University. In a three fold manner: physically, spiritually and intellectually, all students should attain themselves of physical, mental and the every student should be a Christian. The Christ, whom he made his business, should be a student. Special warning was given against indulging activity at the expense of the spiritual work. Mr. Hawk said that there was a time in the school for a Christian to lose his way while in the University. That he was found in the Y. M. C. A. and that it was not only a right, but a duty to make himself known to the association. Mr. Hawk in a force ful manner explained that the Y. M. C. A. was not working for its own glory alone, but for the spiritual and advancement of others. The speaker was given special attention throughout his talk and at the close of the exercise a large number manifested their intention to join the association.

Junior Annual.

The Junior Annual held a meeting afternoon and decided to push the canvass for subscriptions, especially among the new men. The Junior Annual is published each year by the Junior classes of the University and is rightly considered the best publication of the University for the year. It represents all the departments and activities of the University in a manner that will prove interesting to every student who attends the University this year. Not only that, but every one who subscribes will preserve his annual as one of his most cherished reminders of 1890-91 in Iowa City.

This year's Junior Annual will be new in every respect. The editor-in-chief is bubbling over with new and fresh ideas and is ready to discard into the annual, and everyone of his staff has room for fresh suggestions and valuable new material. Everything in the book will be ingeniously arranged and the book will be interestingly original from beginning to end. There will be no stale features.

All the various departments of the University have been working on new and complete treatment which will be all that can be desired. Nothing can add to the interest and value of the Junior Annual, and serve us as that this year's Junior annual will be a credit to the University in every respect.

It is the advice of the editors that all who wish copies of the work should subscribe at once as the editor-in-chief will in all probability be confined within the limits of the subscriptions received.
