According to the Yale Alumni Weekly, Yale has 700 men in the army and navy in the Spanish war, 215 being graduated. Studey of the men were commissioned officers. Five of the Yale men lost their lives in service.

The University of Pennsylvania has five members in the Spanish war and will probably erect a memorial tower in their honor.

The are also requested to take their seats as early as a quarter past one, and, out of courtesy to invited guests, to use back rows.

The Alumni Weekly reports that the Yale Alumni Weekly contains a very interesting account of the recent international athletic competition which Yale and Harvard were defeated by the English University, Oxford and Cambridge.

Penn's time for the 200 yards was 24.4 second the fastest than the best English performance, but does not stand as a record because the type of hurdles was used instead of the fixed obstacle presented in English rules.

In the quarter mile, which Harvard was expected to win, but the best was expected to win, but he won best his own best records previous several seconds and established a new English University record.

Burke of Harvard has been considered a sure winner in the half mile was never a factor in the race, on account of his weak stomach. He finished well in the race in a race several seconds slower than record.

The form of the American athletes, especially in the high jump and hammer throw, was much admired by the English spectators.

In speaking of the English distance runners for whom, we find in the Athletic Weekly: "Whether it be to endure or to the vigorous outdoor life during their early life, it is that these Englishmen are natural runners. In general the Americans run more a little faster, but the Oxford and Cambridge men prized about the track in a staid uncelerated way which gave evidence of the first strength which won their races for them.

Baseball Candidates.

Candidates for the base ball team will meet at Athletic Park for light practice, Saturday morning.
The Vidette-Telegraph.

The Forensic Society. The men's forensic societies of the University hold the first meeting this evening. These societies of which there are five brave three in the Collegiate department, and two in the Law department, have taken in the past the lead in the resolution debate and have handled one of the best topics in University life. Combined with the women's societies they have not only been one of the most powerful influences for improved forensic ability and general culture but they have centered in them themselves a considerable part of the social and political life of the student body.

The forensic societies have for many years conducted debates with sister Universities that have ever been a source of pride to the University of Iowa. A Chicago paper headlined after the last debate with the University of Chicago, "Chicago's Brains, but Iowa's Brains" contained a long-to-be-remembered tribute to Iowa's debating system. The two debates this year are with the Universities of Wisconsin and Minnesota. In these debates with these two institutions last year we won from one and lost from the other. Twelve preliminary debaters, representing the Irving and Zetgeberian societies are now hard at work upon the two debates which will be held this term, and upon the results of which the composition of the teams depends. Iowa expects to win both of these debates, the more so the Wisconsin debate which takes place in Iowa City this year.

The University now gives credit to the preliminary debaters for their appearances upon the debating stage. This encouragement is the more welcome as it has for some time been needed. Besides the debates, the forensic societies control a lecture bureau, and an ora-torial association, which sends each year an orator and two debaters to the meeting of the Northern Oratorical Association.

The literary societies have always occupied a prominent part in University activity and the new student is usually accounted wise, who decides to cast his fortunes with them.

Track Teams. The annual fall track meet will occur on Saturday, October 12th, at Athletic Park. The track will be closed and put in condition at once for the Future that will soon be clearing its length in training for the meet. The outlook for the track and field athletics is most encouraging this year. There is better material for the team in the University at the present time than there has ever been on any previous fall. The contest between classes this year will be livelier than ever before. The class of '09 which won every field meet since its entrance is now of alumni. It may be hoped that the class of '09 now entering can bring forward as good material as '09.
