THE CALDWELL INCIDENT

A CLASS PARALLEL IN THE REPUBLICAN CONVENTION AT MINNEAPOLIS

In 1892, the University of Minnesota, located in Minneapolis, was experiencing a period of intense political activity. The Republican Convention was held in the city, and there was a significant number of closed debates in the history of the two institutions. The convention was attended by representatives from various states, including Minnesota. Among the attendees was James A. Garfield, the 20th President of the United States, who delivered a speech at the convention.

The convention was characterized by a high level of political discourse, and the speeches given by the delegates were often praised for their eloquence and depth of analysis. The convention was notable for the presence of a number of prominent politicians, including William McKinley, who would later become the 25th President of the United States.

Among the delegates present at the convention was a group of students from the University of Minnesota. These students were known for their political activism and their support of the Republican Party. They were particularly active in the debates held at the convention, and their presence was widely noted.

The convention was a significant event in the history of the Republican Party, and it played an important role in shaping the political landscape of the United States. The convention was also notable for the presence of a number of prominent politicians, including William McKinley, who would later become the 25th President of the United States.

THE MIDWINTER INCIDENT

At the University of Minnesota, the Women's Glee Club was organized and conducted a series of activities throughout the winter. The club was known for its high level of musical talent, and it performed at a number of events, including a concert held in the Memorial Union. The club was led by Miss H. M. H. Pierce, who served as the conductor.

The Women's Glee Club was noted for its performances, which were well-received by the audience. The club was also known for its activities, which included social events, such as proms and dances. The club was a popular gathering place for students, and it provided a space for them to socialize and enjoy themselves.

An Excellent Concert

The pupils of the Iowa City Vocal Institute, C. Jay Smith, Director, gave an excellent program last night in the K. P. Ames Hall in the Crescent block. The hall was filled with an appreciative audience. Owing to the illness of Mrs. Smith, Miss Chase kindly substituted in her place on the program. The program contained many excellent numbers. Among them were the five fire sections of pieces by the Vocal Trio, Mrs. Tantlinger, Miss Smith and Miss Spidel, the concert position, The Lord my Pasture, written for this concert by the able director, J. A. Smith, the duet by Mrs Tantlinger and Mrs Dostal, who are well and favorably known for their frequent and excellent appearances before university audiences, and the piano solo by Miss Chase whose playing always gives pleasure to lovers of excellent music. The entire concert was an excellent one and a fine testimonial of the work done in the Iowa City Vocal Institute.

BASE BALL

We are pleased to acknowledge the very successful close of the "Great City League" of Professional Ball Clubs in Chicago. The games were played in Detroit, Denver, St. Louis, St. Paul, Chicago, and Chicago, and unanimously adopted the Chase League Ball.

The Chase League Ball will be sold in all large cities. This game is a great favor in our cup because the ball was selected in competition with the Reach, Spalding and Victor.

The Intercollégiate League will also probably adopt it.

IMPORTANT TO YOUTH PEOPLE.

Paying Positions Guaranteed to Several Hundred Young People.

A Valuable Opportunity.

The W. P. Main Co. are now advertising for young people to be instructed in the jewelry manufacturing business, saying that they are prepared to give them instruction to several hundred people between the ages of 14 and 26 years. They offer instruction in chemistry, economy, and the relations between labor and the manufacturer.

We believe that many of the marvelous changes that have taken place in the manufacturing world, and that this period the question was, "What do you know?" or "Is there anyone in this world that will give you a job at all?" The answer was, "Yes, but are you rich?"

President George E. Maclean will speak at a meeting of the University Alumni Association to be held on Sunday, April 20. The Sunday Association is a strong organization in the city that meets at the university from that city. At meetings of the association in the past, President Schnorfer, Dem Carriere, and Charles McClean have spoken to the alumni.

The Polytechnic literary society gave a successful and splendid last evening in the old Main Building, the school society increased its membership to some good literary talent and the popularity of the students. Dr. Patterson, Mr. Patsarrow and Miss Hughes, who are among the honorary members are a talented, energetic, and able group of young workers. The meeting last night will be remembered for some time by those who wore the mathematical emblem.

The Quill is the recipient of an unusual amount of comment not only from its Iowa City contemporaries but from the college exchanges as well. When the exchange editor of the Quill is returned to his position he will have enough material to run him through the rest of the year. The notices are usually in excellent spirit and the consideration the Quill is meeting with among its college contemporaries might be interpreted as excellent grace by the rest of the profession.
