BETA THETA PI

Annual Party of Alpha Beta Chapter a Brilliant Success—Many Alumni Guests from Abroad

One of the most brilliant social events of the year was the reception and dance given last evening at the armory by the Alpha Beta chapter of the Beta Theta Pi fraternity. The armory was finely decorated with bunting of pink and light blue, the fraternity colors, alternated with streamers of gold. From the stage at the south end of the hall the Harp Orchestra played for one dance and then the next music would be given by the High School Orchestra on a stage at the north end of the hall—an arrangement highly novel and delightful. The patronesses of the party were, Mesdames G. E. MacLean, W. P. Coast, P. C. Coast, E. McClain, L. W. Andrews, and C. B. Wilson. Alumni present were, J. W. B. McGee, L. '00, of Davenport, Richard Letts, L. '99 of Davenport, Arthur L. Rule, L. '00 of Cedar Rapids and Curtis Dey, '96, of Cedar Rapids. Among the out of town guests were Mrs and Miss Brady of Cedar Rapids, Mr and Mrs Wm. Cooling of Wilton, Mr and Mrs George Coldren of Cedar Rapids, Miss Holbrook of Marengo, Miss Easton of Minneapolis, Mrs and Miss McArthur of Burlington, Mrs and Miss Murphy of Vinton, and Miss Musser of Muscatine.

The University

[Under this head will be published Editorials and Articles of interest to the university clipped from the leading papers of the state.]

The Johnson county supervisors have taken action, which, if followed by other counties of the state, will mean that the state university's engineering department will become exceedingly practical. Professor Sims and his students have contracted to furnish plans and specifications for a bridge at Hanging Rock over the Iowa river. The class will go to the site of the proposed improvement, make the necessary surveys, and duly estimate the strains and other technical details. Working for practice the engineering department has made a lower price than the charge of engineers in practice, and the county believe, with the care exercised, that the plans and specifications will be perfect.—Des Moines Leader.

Gift to Williams

Fred A. Williams, who has been coaching the Normal school football eleven for the past few weeks, was very much surprised Wednesday when he went on the gridiron to find all the members of the team gathered in a circle discussing football matters in general. Mr Williams of course joined in the circle. After the football games of the past, as well as those of the future, had been gone over, the captain of the Normal eleven stepped forward and, in a few well chosen words presented Mr Williams with a fine watch chain as a gift from the team 1900, thus showing in a slight degree the team's appreciation of the efforts that the coach has put forth in training the team during the season. Mr Williams, in a very appropriate little talk, thanked the boys for the gift. The regular practice was entered upon, and every effort will be bent in the next several days in getting ready for the contest with the State college eleven, which will take place on Thanksgiving day, on the gridiron at Ames. Last year the two elevens played a tie game on the Normal campus, neither side being able to score, but it is hardly probable that such will be the case this year.

DRAKE'S DOUGHTY SCRUBS

On a Sea of Mud Neither Drake Nor Iowa's Second Crews Do Brilliant Playing.

On Iowa's fumbles, Drake University won yesterday in a college team game played on a muddy field at Des Moines. After two minutes of play Stevenson picked up a fumble made by Iowa, and sprinted 25 yards for a touchdown. Clark kicked goal. Iowa's touchdown was made in the second half Iowa had reached Drake's 15-yard line by straight-line bucking, and Melton ran around off right tackle for a touchdown. Ingham missed goal. Time was called with the ball in Iowa's hands on Drake's 5-yard line.

Final score—Drake, 6; Iowa, 5. The features of the game were the work of Hollenbeck, Melton, Macy and Stevenson.

The lineup was:

IOWA.	DRAKE.
Dahms re	Shaw
Brown rt	Stevenson
Roth rg	Cohagen
Briggs c	Lyons
Hart lg	Burrows, Joy

NO POST-SEASON GAME

As Predicted by This Paper Thursday, the Board of Control Unanimously Refuses Wisconsin's Challenge.

"The board of control has unanimously voted to play no post-season game. The board desires to make no statement in regard to its reasons for the refusal."

This is the statement which Professor C. C. Nutting made to the press this afternoon at 3:53 in behalf of the board of control.

Professor Smith of the board of control said concerning the challenge that personally, so far as the game was concerned, he would like nothing better than to see it played. It was better, however, for athletics in the state that Iowa should refuse the challenge. There is always a reaction after so much enthusiasm over football and just so far as Iowa would go in for such an extreme phase of intercollegiate athletics, she would be putting a club into the hands of the opponents of athletics.

Myers, '98, Not Sick

Carroll, Iowa, November 24, 1900. Special to the VIDETTE-REPORTER—Joe H. Myers, Law 1898, is not sick at Ames as reported. A cousin of the same name is sick at Ames with typhoid fever but President Beardshear reports this noon that he is getting along well. Myers, Law 1898, is practicing law here and is in good health.

Williams for All-American

It begins to look as if when Mr Camp, he of Yale, begins to look about for a quarter back on his All-American football team this year, he would have to come further west than he ever ventured before and pick on Williams, the quarter back who has helped to make the University of Iowa football team famous for the past two seasons. Captain Daly of the Harvard team has seemed thus far to be the most likely man of the big bunch of eastern stars, but Williams' many friends push him forward as the proper and only man for the place, and advise to the effect that Daly would look well on the second eleven.

Williams has for the past two seasons given the signals in games, and in this position he shows remarkable generalship. The papers of every city in which he has played acknowledge this to him. He selects his plays with remarkable sagacity and puts them in just where they are least expected. Few fumbles for which the Iowa team is held responsible are caused by his work. It is said that he can get the ball from the center rush to the man who is to carry it in less time than any quarter back in the country.

Warner, who is one of the best goal kickers in the west this year, makes many goals from placement. For the remarkable success which he has had in kicking these he gives a large share of credit to Williams, whom he says can get the ball into proper position for kicking better than any man he ever saw. Withal it looks as if Camp would have to come to corn-fed Iowa to get a man to fill the important position of quarter back on his All-American team for 1900.—Des Moines News.

The committee appointed to select a head for the Northwestern university, are much in favor of Dr F. W. Gunsaulus, pastor of the Center church in Chicago. Among others favorably suggested is Dr Sheppard, in whose favor the alumni of the school are circulating a petition.

1903 MAKES MERRY

Sophomores Hold Their First Sociable this Year—Did the Freshmen Get the Girls?

Thursday evening the sophomores held, in the Woodman Hall, their first social event of the season. Some eighty members of the class were present. Masculinity had the majority. This was due to the fact; that the boys in the class outnumber the girls and also to the fact, that at a recent meeting of the class, resolutions were passed to the effect that none but members of the class should be present at the sociable. However the lady members present succeeded so well in entertaining two of their gentlemen classmates at a time, that no one felt a lack.

Some "tripped the light fantastic" to the music of the High School Mandolin Club. Others, meanwhile, spent the time in playing cards and games, or in some cozy corner passed the time in conversation. During the evening light refreshments of ices and cake were served.

During a lull in the gayety President Jones demanded the attention of the class and said that there was a matter which required immediate attention, "and he would ask Mr Spangler to state it. Mr Spangler said: "There is a certain member of our class, who should no longer be called a member of this class. Instead he may be called a member of every class in the university. One who has won fame for his class, for his university, and for his state by his skillful playing on the gridiron at Marshall Field and Detroit. I refer to Henry B. Watters, and in behalf of the class of '03, I present him with one of our class canes." Mr Watters said: "Friends I thank you. More than that I can not say." Then with a vim the class gave their lately revised yell: Hi! Ki! Yi! Hi! Ki! Yi! Watters, Watters, S U. I.

But the most pleasant of times must end; and at two o'clock the strains of the good night waltz sounded. The sophomore sociable was ended.

We feel like taking off our hats to our State University. We glory in her record in football. Every citizen of Iowa, especially the younger portion, is proud that our University has vanquished every foe on the gridiron among western universities and now stands in a position where large eastern schools must recognize her.

The following editorial recently appeared in the VIDETTE-REPORTER, always very careful and conservative in its statements. This may be of interest to some skeptics.

The scholarship of the members of the football team this year is excellent. All are above the average. The university faculties are highly pleased with the state of affairs. In past years there have sometimes been one or two whose class record has been a cause of anxiety: Because of the high scholarship of the players, the faculties felt justified in granting leave of absence to the '00 team in order to allow them to go into training quarters at Mt. Clemens.

The scholarship of the team is no doubt raised considerably by Coach Knipe's attitude. It is well known that at all times he has discouraged men whose scholarship was apt to be ragged, from trying for the teams and has always insisted on attention to class records as one of the first qualifications of an athlete. With our athletes among the first in scholarship, leading in class offices and other honors, athletics at the University of Iowa show a great advancement.—Collegian Reporter, Sioux City.

The Challenge Refused

The board of control of athletics is to be congratulated upon its fortitude in refusing Wisconsin's challenge for a post-season game of football. The temptations to accept it were many, the greatest being that the five or six thousand dollars which Iowa would receive as her share of the gate receipts could be nicely used at Iowa City. In refusing the game, the board has taken a step in advance of that taken last year by Chicago and Wisconsin. It is a step that means much for the preservation of the purity of amateur athletics.

The action of the board this afternoon means that Iowa will play her regular schedule and rest content with her best efforts in those games. The question of settling the championship will be left to our loving friends: if they think Iowa is entitled to it, many a Hawkeye heart will be glad; if the pennant should be given to other universities, Iowa will rejoice in that, too, knowing well that her own team is entitled to the highest praise that she can give it for doing its best in every game in a clean, sportsmanlike manner.

The heartiest compliments of every lover of the best inter-collegiate sport to the Iowa board of control for its action today!

Mrs. Jane Sather of California has presented the University of California with the deeds to a block of realty in Oakland. The value of the gift is about $150,000.

A gift of 2,000 birds, collected from the Malay Islands, India and different parts of Europe, has been received by the Princeton University from the British museum.

"The Royal Box" a romantic costume drama which has twice enjoyed successful runs at the Fifth Avenue Theatre, in New York, and was also given for some months at the Garden Theatre in the same city will be the attraction next Wednesday evening, at the opera house.

The company headed by the distinguished young actor, Andrew Robson, is a large one, numbering twenty people. The story of the play deals with the ever fascinating subject of stage life. The scenes are laid in London of a century ago and hence there are ample opportunities for picturesqueness in costuming.

Tale of a Festive Youth.

There was once a festive youth who came to the university, staying three months, and then delivered himself of the following sentiments "This is a bum college! The students are a lot of dugs and armers and sports, and there's no college spirit here. The Profs. are either snobs or bluffers, and I'm going to leave the place!" So he left and went to another seat of learning, but strange to say, he found the same conditions there. He grew disgusted with the world, but he tried it once more at a third college. At the end of six weeks he was making his chronic declaration to a few humble associates who had been deluded into thinking that their school was a pretty fair place.

"This is a bum college," he said. Just then a gray-haired professor who was passing touched him on the shoulder and remarked, "My son, if you will allow me to adopt your own phraseology for the moment, I think from your general demeanor that you yourself are the bummiest thing I've seen for some time. If you were to work your thinker very rapidly for about two minutes might it not occur to your critical discerning faculty that the reason you see so many disagreeable things about you lies in the fact that your own disposition is little and carping and distorted?"

Then the professor passed on leaving the festive youth looking as does the guileless rustic when he beholds a magician eject from his mouth one dozen new-laid eggs.

The moral to this beautiful story is as follows: "Take a Penetrating Glare at Yourself Occasionally!—Ohio Lantern.

There is a story told of a young girl not a thousand miles from here, who while walking with her gentleman friend, asked him to guess how much she weighed. After thinking a few minutes he replied that he could not tell unless he could lift her. The girl made no objections; he then placed his arm around her slender waist and raised her from the ground, after which he guessed she would weigh about ninety pounds. She looked at him a moment and then in a voice sweet and low remarked: "I think you will have to lift again." But then it is said they are engaged.

A BRASS MONKEY
Charles H. Hoyt, who might be called the "Yankee genius" as a play wright, is author of more farce comedy successes than any other American. All of his farces begin with "A," which is a Hoyt-ian trademark. Some of the earlier productions from his pen have been the greatest and most profitable successes. "A Brass Monkey" is included in this list. It amuses and pleases all classes and is as welcome as summer flowers. This piece with a special company is announced at the opera house next Monday night. The cast is headed by that dainty, pretty, dashing soubrette Miss Mazie Trumbull, whose work has placed her in the front rank of farce comedy artists.
