SUMMER SESSION PLANS

School of Training for Librarians Will be Held Under Direction of State Library Commission

The summer session of the university will be held from June 13 to July 26. It will be broadened and enlarged in all departments over last year's session. The appropriations available for the use of the summer school are larger than last year and a number of new features will be added as suggested by the experience of last session. Professor J. J. McConnell, the head of the department of pedagogy and High School Inspector for the university, will be the head of the summer session this year as he was last. A large number of distinguished lecturers from other universities and states will be on the list of those who will appear before the students of the summer school. While many of the faculty will remain on the working staff of the university during this session, fully one half of the professors and instructors of the session will be from other colleges.

One of the new departments of the university during this session will be a school of training in library work. This school will be under the direction of the state library commission. Miss Alice Tyler the secretary of the state library commission will be the director of the school. The course of study will embrace a general training in library work as nearly as this can be compressed into a six weeks' work. It will be particularly adapted to provide persons who are already engaged in library work but who have had no special training, with the means of improving their work and bringing it into accord with the well-recognized standards of library work, qualifying them for promotion at the same time. It is intended that the work will occupy the whole time of those disposed to make the most of it. Those in attendance will have the privilege of attending the university lectures that will be given frequently during the session.

Mr Johnson Brigham of Des Moines, the state librarian, will be present for some time during the session and will deliver a number of lectures. There will be on the staff of the school an instructor and a revisor of work, besides the director and the lecturers. A considerable portion of the work will be practical work in the university and city libraries. The class will be limited to twenty-five and residents of this state in order of their application will be given the preference in the registration. Should there be room residents of other states will be admitted to the school.

It is the intention of the university to provide by this school the means of carrying out some of the objects of the state library commission. The State Normal School will have in connection with its summer school a class for elementary instruction in the requirements of the state library commission for country teachers. The universities of Illinois, Minnesota, and Wisconsin and Amherst college have courses somewhat similar to that which will be offered by the University of Iowa.

Another new department of the summer session will be the course in public speaking offered by Professor Gordon. A special course on reading in the public schools will be offered to teachers. A fundamental course in vocal training that will give special attention to the correction of certain current mistakes in the teaching of elocution, a course in public address, and possibly one in famous orators will also be given.

The summer session of last year had an attendance of one hundred. It is expected that the attendance this year will be largely in excess of that figure on account of the increased opportunities offered to teachers and students and of the better knowledge that will prevail throughout the state as to the advantages of the session.

Martin-Phillips

A very pretty wedding was quietly celebrated at the home of Mrs W. H. Goodrell in this city on Wednesday evening, November 28, when Rev Mark Williams of Des Moines performed the ceremony that united in marriage Mr H. E. Martin of Boone, and Miss Bertha Phillips of West Liberty. Only a few invited guests were present. Mr and Mrs Martin left Thursday morning to spend Thanksgiving at the home of the bride's parents in West Liberty, where they will visit for a short time. Mr Martin is a popular member of the senior homoeopathic medical class and has won a charming bride, who, in her short residence in the city, has made numerous friends. They will make their home at 622 East Burlington street until April.

College of Dentistry

Dr Gibford, '00 visited the clinic Tuesday.

Dr L. L. Poston, '95 was a visitor Wednesday.

The Juniors begin dissection immediately after the holidays.

Mr Rainer and son were the guests of A. J. Roth Wednesday.

Dr McCartney, who was called home by the death of his grandfather, returned Tuesday.

ALPHI CHI RHO

Phi Upsilon Chapter of the Fraternity Gives a Brilliant Party at the Armory

Phi Upsilon chapter, Alpha Chi Rho, made its first bow to university society last evening in a brilliant party at the armory. The building was tastily and profusely decorated with the garnet and white colors of the fraternity, and with old gold bunting and banners. The finest center piece ever seen on the armory floor was a large cone with garnet and white electric light bulbs arranged on the sides and tops. The glow of the colored light on the chrysanthemums, evergreen, and the garnet and white cloth of the background of the piece made a most pleasing effect.

The patronesses of the evening were Mesdames George E. MacLean, Arthur G. Smith, Alden A. Knipe, Benjamin F. Shambaugh, John W. Harriman, Isaac A. Loos, Emlin McClain.

Phi Upsilon chapter was founded in the spring term of 1899, largely through the efforts of Mr Easton, a popular instructor in mathematics for that year. The chapter now has tastily furnished halls on Iowa Avenue. Its chapter roll now has fifteen names: Edwin Calhoun Arthur, Ralph Lee Berkeley, Thomas Cyrus Doran, Walter Lyman DuBois, George William Egan, Charles Lucian Goodwin, Frank Thomas Jensen, William Joseph McDonald, Charles Alonzo Murphey, John Augustus McKenzie, Conde LeRoy Raguet, Roy A. Nickerson, Linus Celestine O'Malley, John Patrick Redmond, Thomas Corwin Smith.

NEXT YEAR'S TEAMS

The 1901 Base Ball and Football Teams Have Excellent Prospects—Some of the Candidates

From what can now be told of the 1901 athletic teams, they bid fair to be as good or better than the champions of 1900. The track team will have all its old men of last year back except Howell and Banschbaugh. In addition to these there are a number of promising candidates in both field and track events. Captain Brown says that he thinks the team will be much better than the 1900 team. The team will begin soon to take short cross-country runs on Saturday's.

Efforts will probably be made to secure a capable trainer to help Dr Knipe in his work with the team. Fred Stone, the trainer of the Chicago Athletic Association was desired for this position. He was seen in Chicago last week, however, and it is thought that he will hardly be free next spring on account of a contract with the Chicago Athletic Association.

The track team will have at least two trips outside the state: the meeting with Northwestern at Evanston and the Intercollegiate meet at Chicago in June. Besides these, there is the dual meet with Grinnell at Iowa City and the State Meet at Des Moines. A meet with either Wisconsin or Michigan is being much talked of. It is understood that the men on the team would favor very much a meet with one of these universities.

The base ball team will have the following candidates for positions:

Catchers—Yates, Clyde Williams, Struble, Bert Watters, '03, Ed Crum, L. '03, and Harned.

Pitcher—Lowry, Moss, Hurst, Willett, '04, Spencer, L. '03, a south paw, and Harned. The Harned brothers were the Lone Tree battery last year.

Infield—Warner, Davis, Struble, Powell, Willett, '04, Durkee, Goodwin, Schenck, M. '03, Shearer, formerly of Coe college, Chew, L. '03.

Outfield—Clyde Williams, John Redmond, M. '03, Tom Redmond, M. '04, Dubois, '02, Parsons, last year's center fielder, may be back for special work in the spring term.

Captain Storey considers the chances for a winning team as very good. "The team," he said, "ought with good training and no bad luck, to be better than last year's was."

It is possible that an assistant coach may be secured to help Dr Knipe in his work with the team. The supervision of two teams, to say nothing of his work with the tennis men, will keep Coach Knipe very busy even with two competent assistant coaches. If good men, familiar with many of the intricate points of the game, could be secured to help bring the team around into form, it would mean much to the team. There is some doubt as to whether a national league player or a college man would be better for this position. Sexton and Watkins of Michigan and Clarke of Chicago could probably do as much for the team as any one. They understand college men better than professional players. Sexton is engaged at Michigan, and could not be had, but it is probable that either Watkins or Clarke could be obtained. Roach of the National League would probably be the man if a league player is chosen. He has played on both national and western leagues and is well known to base ball fans here. He played for some time on the Des Moines team. The kind of a man that is really needed is one who can teach the players how to bat and who can bring the pitchers into excellent form.

The team will play some of the colleges in the state and games will be played with several of the members of the conference colleges. Contests with Nebraska and Kansas are not remote possibilities.

From present indications the 1901 football team will be as good or better than this year's. The best judges agree that Iowa's prospects are fully as good as those of any of the conference colleges. Ely, center, Little, guard, Coulthard, tackle, Watters, Siberts and Herbert, ends, Williams and Dye, quarter backs of this year's team will be back. There is a long list of players on the second team who will be fine candidates. Briggs, the substitute center, and Hollenbeck, captain of last year's Beloit team, will make good men for any place in the line. The great need of the team will be candidates for positions back of the line for Edsons and Mortons do not grow everywhere.

Next year's schedule is not arranged as yet, but it is understood that Chicago, Northwestern, Michigan, and either Illinois Wisconsin or Minnesota will be among the conference colleges played. The last two colleges will certainly apply for games. This year Wisconsin turned down Manager McCutchen when he asked for a date, saying that it desired to play Grinnell, Minnesota did likewise, choosing Ames rather than Iowa. Both universities regretted their action before the close of the season, and one challenged Iowa to play a post-season game. If it is still desired to play both Minnesota and Wisconsin in addition to an eastern contest, the matter could be arranged only by dropping the Northwestern game.

CAPTAIN AND THREE

Chicago Post Picks an All-Western Team With Williams as Captain, Warner, Tackle and, Edson and Morton, Half Backs

The Chicago Post has selected the following All-Western team: Center, Page, Minnesota. Guards, Riordan, Wisconsin; Flanagan, Chicago. Tackles, Curtis, Wisconsin; Warner, Iowa. Ends, Snow, Michigan; Aune, Minnesota. Quarter back, Williams, Iowa, Captain. Half backs, Morton and Edson, Iowa. Full back, Knowlton, Minnesota.

The Post says of the Iowa players:

Curtis of Wisconsin and Warner of Iowa as tackles do not need any recommendation. Both are head and shoulders above their competitors. Warner is a valuable kicker, in case the regular full back is disabled.

Snow of Michigan and Aune of Minnesota go in as ends. Eby of Iowa must not be forgotten, as especially in the Northwestern game he covered himself with glory. But unfortunately for the nifty Iowa man, he had to fill Captain Griffith's place in the majority of the games, and could not play his regular position in the larger contests.

For quarter back Williams of Iowa is by far the premier player. His cool generalship, his ability in receiving and passing the ball, his support in interference makes him the ideal quarter back. Williams is such a great strategist on the gridiron that he is entitled to captain the all-western eleven.

Edson and Morton of Iowa go in as half backs. Many critics will favor Larson of Wisconsin for one place, but it appears wise to leave alone such a good combination as the hawkeyes have proven to be. Both are good ground gainers, good in the interference and hit the line with great force. Both are used to each other and will make a successful combination.

University Lectures

The lectures which will be given during the winter and spring terms by Professor Fairbanks will be of great benefit to university students. Six lectures will be given on Greek sculpture and additional lectures on Troy, Mycene, and other Homeric cities, on Excavation, and other interesting subjects connected with Grecian history and art. The lectures will be illustrated by stereopticon views, many of them taken by Professor Fairbanks himself during his travels in Greece and the Levant. The lectures are primarily intended for classical students but will be open to any students who may desire to attend them. At a time when the university lecture course is particularly lacking in lectures of interest to university students, Professor Fairbanks and the university are to be congratulated upon this excellent series of lectures.

The Oratorical Contest

The efforts of President MacLean and Professor Gordon to arouse interest in the home oratorical contest are much appreciated by the forensic societies. Professor Gordon's statement that in three years, if he did his duty, the university would be winning the contests with other universities, is calculated to arouse the greatest enthusiasm and expectation. And while Professor Gordon's announced intention of being in oratory what Dr Knipe is for the the university in athletics is quite an undertaking and hardly begun in our peerless coach's modest manner, yet it should make every university student feel like doing his best to help the Professor of Public Speaking.

Professor Gordon's action in signing the Hammond Law Senate proposition for debate and oratory, and his statement Wednesday evening that a plan of having separate society oratorical contests, the three winners to compete in the university finals, would be a better plan than the present one, betray an unrest and dissatisfaction with the present arrangements of the forensic societies. The present oratorical contest is modeled directly upon the Northern Oratorical League contest and, besides, has the weight of university custom behind it. The scheme proposed by Professor Gordon does not seem calculated to give any better contestants. The present method of selecting contestants is employed by the other universities in the league, which would seem to show that the fault at Iowa is not so much with the manner of the conducting the contest as with the material.

The really feasible plan which has been suggested for adoption, if it be absolutely necessary to change the system, is for Professor Gordon to select the contestants and the winner himself. While the candidates might possibly demur to this, it should be remembered that Professor Gordon has undertaken a big job in the matter of providing winning orators in three years time. He should be given all the rope he wants.

COMING—"ZAZA"
 On Monday night will be presented at the opera house Mr. Charles Frohman's production of David Belasco's intensely powerful version of Bertou's and Simon's "Zaza." The production in all its careful detail and cast, in all its length and strength. Mr. Belasco has made a remarkable and highly interesting play. There are two chief reasons why Mr. Belasco seems to be one of the foremost of American playwrights to-day. He is most exquisitely alive to the fine spirit of comedy. He has the prose style of wonderful beauty, conscientiousness, and simplicity, with a company specially selected by Charles Frohman and all the accessories that has made the play of the age "Zaza" should and will no doubt draw an audience that will test the capacity of our theatre.
