THE REGISTRATION.

Number of New Students Equals the Whole Number Graduated Last Year.

Owing to the great rush in the registrar's office it is impossible to obtain exact figures on the registration, and anything like an authoritative statement as to the number of the fall enrollment is impossible at this time. However it is certain that a healthy increase will be shown in the number of students enrolled. Already there are some 450 new students registered which equals the total number graduated from all colleges last June, and there are many new students in town who have not yet registered, owing to one cause and another. The total registration last night was 1018 and as we go to press is approximately 1100. A smaller per cent of the old students have registered than of the new, as many of the former go to their classes for a day or two and register later. The size of the freshman medical class is a pleasant surprise. Instead of all of the medics going through to Chicago, as was predicted when the building burned, the freshman class this year is much larger than last and this in the face of an increase in the required time for graduation caused by lengthening the term from 6 to 9 months. President MacLean predicted that the enrollment this year would run up to between 1600 and 1700 and the facts seem to be bearing out his prophesy.

Alumni.

L. A. Wescott, M '01, has located at Cherokee for the practice of his chosen profession.

Sol Moss, '01, was united in marriage to Miss Della Putman, of Greene, Iowa, June 25. They have settled at Sheffield, Iowa, where Dr. Moss has engaged in the practice of his profession. Sol will be remembered as one of Iowa's corps of pitchers during the past two years. THE DAILY IOWAN joins his many friends here in wishing Dr. Moss a most successful future.

J. J. Sharpe, C '98, for the past two years principal of the Oxford High School, has announced himself as a candidate for county superintendent of Johnson county.

The marriage of Oren M. Deems to Winifred Purdy occurred at the Trinity church, Iowa City, on September 11. The bride and groom went direct to Philadelphia where Mr. Deems is taking the medical course of the University of Pennsylvania.

Miss Decca Lodwick, C '01, is teaching in Le Mars, Iowa.

Miss Abbie Safford, C '00, occupies a position in the West Des Moines High School.

Mr. Maurice L. Curtis, C '99, has entered into partnership with W. W. Loomis, C '99, and Mr. Boys, the firm being Loomis, Boys & Curtis. They together control the Atlantic Messenger, the Boone Daily Republican and the Knoxville Journal. Mr. Curtis is in editorial charge of the Knoxville Journal.

IOWA'S HAND TO YALE.

President MacLean and Prof. Andrews Named as Delegates to the Yale Celebration.

In response to the invitation tendered the University of Iowa by Yale University to attend the bi-centennial celebration of the founding of Yale, the following acceptance, indicted upon parchment, will be sent to Yale today:

To Yale University, Greeting from the State University of Iowa:

"The regents and faculties of the State University of Iowa acknowledge with thanks the invitation to be represented at the celebration of the two hundredth anniversary of the founding of Yale College. President George E. MacLean, B. D., Yale, Ph. D., L. L. D., and Launcelot Winchester Andrews, Ph. B., Yale, Ph. D., are appointed delegates to represent the State University of Iowa, which has had many Yale men among its presidents and faculties, at the bi-centennial celebration of Yale.

May Yale continue illustrious in the republic of letters and of the United States.

Given at Iowa City, Iowa, on the eighteenth day of September, in the year of our Lord one thousand and nineteen hundred and one, of the republic the one hundred and twenty-fifth, and of the university, the fifty-fourth. Witness the seal of the university and the signatures hereunto affixed.

LESLIE M. SHAW,

Governor of Iowa.

W. J. HADDOCK,

Sec'y of the Board of Regents.

GEO. E. MACLEAN,

President of the University.

First Drill.

The first drill of the year and also the first under command of Captain Burnett took place yesterday. Only about one hundred and forty men were out owing to the fact that a large number of the new men have not yet procured uniforms and others have not completed their registration. The battalion and companies were sized and the men put through the facings and dresses. The new men were taught the position of the soldier. In all, the battalion was handled in a very soldierly manner, from all appearances Captain Burnett will prove a strict disciplinarian and will, no doubt, bring about many improvements in the battalion during the coming year.

He is a graduate of West Point and comes here with a very honorable and distinguished career in the United States Army behind him, having served in several hard Indian campaigns. In these campaigns, he so conducted himself as to merit, and received several medals for bravery and gallantry in action. Since leaving the army, on account of wounds received, he has been instructor in military science and tactics in Fairfield Military Academy.

ATHLETIC NOTICES.

Fall Field Meet--Football Practice Secret--Baseball Candidates Wanted--New Athletic Offices.

TRACK MEN.

All men who expect to do track work next spring are urged to hand their names at once to the manager, who will have blanks for the purpose in the athletic office, room 20, liberal arts building, from nine till twelve a. m., and one till five p. m. These men should take part in the fall field meet, which will be held Saturday afternoon, Sept. 29th at 2:00 p. m. Previous practice for this meet is entirely unnecessary as it is held only for the purpose of ascertaining what men of the university can be counted on to try for the team next spring.

FOOTBALL PRACTICE SECRET.

Hereafter, except on Fridays, football practice will be strictly secret, no one being admitted to the grounds but the players in uniform, the coaches and the managers. On Fridays the gates will be open to all.

BASEBALL PLAYERS.

All men who expect to be candidates for the baseball team next spring are requested to call at the athletic office and leave their names with Captain Storey, Mgr. S. C. Williams, or Mgr. McCutchen.

ATHLETIC OFFICES.

Athletic office in Room 20, in hall of Liberal Arts will be open from nine till twelve a. m. and from one till five p. m. daily until further notice. Dr. Knipe's office hours are eleven till twelve a. m. and one till two p. m. Either Manager McCutchen or Assistant Manager McClain will be in the office in person or by representatives during the entire day.

Fall Field Meet.

Every man in the university who desires to do track work next spring should hand in his name at once to the manager, and should participate in the home meet next Saturday afternoon. It will be to the advantage of every man to compete Saturday, even if he may not have any time for preliminary practice. The object of the fall meet is not the making of records. Its purpose, rather, is to ascertain exactly what men are in the university this year who have a desire to compete next spring, and who are sufficiently interested in the success of the team to give the captain and the coach this opportunity to make an inventory of the available material. That the manager may be able to make an estimate in advance of the equipment needed next spring is an additional reason why every man, who has the slightest intention of competing next spring, should report at the athletic office in room 20, hall of liberal arts, sometime before next Saturday at noon and fill out one of the blanks provided for the purpose.

PRELIMINARY PRACTICE.

Dr. Knipe in the "Leader" Justifies the Usage and Talks of Our Prospects.

The question of preliminary training in football, by which is meant preparation some weeks before the opening of the school, has given rise to much discussion and in the east has been practically abandoned. The touch of professionalism arising from expensive training quarters and the apparent attractiveness of a summer outing free of charge, is mainly responsible for the doing away at some universities of what is truly an essential and very necessary part of the season's work. Such criticism natural enough when team are housed at expensive seashore resorts for weeks, but great expense is not essential, and the physical equipment of the individuals making a team is of far more importance than any other thing, and yet uniforms and all the paraphernalia for the protection of players is bought by the athletic organizations of all the universities without comment. That preliminary training is essential, I think no one will question, and the game is suffering from criticism, due to accidents that could in a great measure be obviated by more patience on the part of those in control and a longer period given simply to the physical development of the men.

The heavy schedules played between the universities in the west, make it imperative that their team should be in form comparatively early, so that in order to condition the players preliminary training is essential; and the western schools, with much good sense, have ignored the protests from the east and institute their preparation before the school begins.

The serious injuries in football comes largely as a result of lack of training and the just protests from the fathers and mothers is largely attributable to the shortsightedness of those who, having the matter in charge, know but little of the responsibilities they are apparently so willing to accept. In the preparatory schools, particularly, is this true. The boys, anxious to test their strength, come into personal contact long before their physical development is adapted to the strain put upon it.

Much has been written and some published about the football outlook at Iowa this season. To be able at this time in the season, when even the names of the candidates are hardly known, to prophesy strength or weakness, is a faculty I can only look upon with envy.

The material is excellent, so far as it goes, and a more willing lot of men, anxious to do their work as well as possible, I have never seen, but how they will develop or grasp the system being taught only time can determine. With the exception of Captain Williams, Watters and Burrier

Application made at Iowa City post-office for entry as second class mail matter.

Owing to an error in the proof the volume number of the Vidette-Reporter was run on Saturday's DAILY IOWAN. We bespeak for this and any other such errors which may occur, the charitable forbearance of the public. There is unavoidably some confusion at the starting of a new enterprise.

There is still room for improvement in the quality of spirit here at Iowa. Just at this season of the year, when the university is about to enter on another football schedule, the unanimous support of every student should be given to the team which will wear the o'd gold in 1901.

While the number of men who have turned out for practice is quite pleasing, many of these men are new at the game and come out, some of them at their own personal inconvenience, to do their best for the university. They should receive nothing but encouragement and commendation from their fellow students, but strange as it may seem, some of those on the side lines seem to think these beginners in football fit butt for jokes and ridicule. "Guying" new candidates for the teams should not be tolerated for a moment. It should be hissed down and the public disapproval of it manifested in such a decided fashion that it will never occur again at Iowa. The only thing that will win year in and year out, is for everybody to work for the side. If the student body would take up Dr. Knipe's expression, "Help him," and apply it to the team, there would be no knocking heard.

THE DAILY IOWAN, as is stated on the front page, is published by the students of the State University of Iowa. This means just what it says and all of it. THE IOWAN is a student organ; for, by and of the students of the university and each and every one connected with the university is invited to co-operate in bringing it success. This it will attain in the measure that it represents the students of the university. Contributions are gladly received from any and all, governed, of course by newspaper usage respecting the identity of the author. None are barred from the editorial board of THE DAILY IOWAN. Merit is the only criterion that will determine the make-up of the staff, and those will be selected, who demonstrate their interest in and adaptation for newspaper work by contributing to the paper suitable news matter. Anyone desiring to do newspaper work while in school is invited to enter into the competition for places on the board. Next year's editors will be selected from the best reporters of this year.

Patience is a most necessary quality to possess, particularly at the first of the year. It takes lots of it to pass through the ordeal of registration without losing your temper. However, Miss Quaintance seems to have enough to make up for what everyone else lacks. It takes patience sometimes to find the rooms where your classes meet, but you only have to do this once a year and after you once find them you sometimes wish you hadn't. It takes patience to make yourself believe, day after day, that the lovely white columns in the arts hall are really, truly marble, but they are. It takes a great deal of patience for laws and medics to be housed in the same building as they are in the arts hall, and maintain that orderly peace and decorum which is the proper demeanor of university students. It takes patience for the freshman to go to drill, but next year, when he can order some other fellow around, he will put on his blue suit with glee. It takes patience to wait for the sixty odd players down on the athletic park to be made into a football team. But that is not all it takes. It takes the magic hand of Doc Knipe and the work of Sam Hobbs and Clyde Williams, backed up by the loyal support of every Iowan. Nothing but their best will be accepted from the 1901 team by the student body, but when they have given this nothing will be too good for them. Meanwhile, have patience. If the man at the bookstore hasn't your text book in yet, you don't have to study and can afford to have patience.

Philo Hall Receives.

At their new hall, last evening, was held a reception for the freshmen by the Philomathean and Octave Thanet societies. About a hundred invited guests were present, and a very enjoyable evening was spent.

President and Mrs. Mac Lean were present during the earlier part of the evening, and in a short talk the President congratulated the societies upon their new hall, and the better opportunity it gave them to meet in social gatherings. He also spoke very encouragingly of society work in general, believing it to be a highly beneficial adjunct to the college curriculum.

The Ames Student appears this year as a twice-a-week newspaper under the editorship of Clyde Warburton, who last year made a reputation on the paper as local editor. The Student has always been a wide-awake college paper and will this year be better able to give all the Ames news to its readers. The Student is now the second college paper in Iowa to issue twice a week; the Scarlet and Black, of Grinnell, having satisfactorily served the students of Grinnell for several years as a semi-weekly.

PRELIMINARY PRACTICE.

there are no candidates who have had the experience that can make it certain at what position they are best fitted, so that practically all the men available are of unknown ability. No effort, however will be spared to make the eleven essentially a team, but to begin at once and compare it with the seasoned elevens of the past two years is evidence of much ignorance. The tendency to jump to conclusions early in the football season and prophesy most positively is shown by the expressions of supposed weakness of the Chicago team this season. A high school team scored a touch-down on Marshall Field; therefore Chicago must be poor. That new men are continually tried at this time in the season and that any sort of team play is out of the question, seems to be utterly lost sight of and the critics in blissful ignorance change their opinions with each game. The most apparent criticism that can be made between eastern and western football is that the student body of the universities in the east have a more thorough knowledge of what is expected of their representatives upon the gridiron and their judgement, which is bound to have its effect upon the team, works always for the best interests of their eleven. This condition requires time, of course, but the west, with characteristic energy, might in this case take a less passive interest in football and learn the rules at least.

Charles W. Dye.

Old students were shocked to receive the news during the summer of the death of Charley Dye. Born in 1880, at Macedonia, Iowa, he entered the university when not yet seventeen, graduating with the class of '01. Taking an early interest in athletics he won a place on the '99 track team as a hurdler and relay man. In these events and the short distances he contested in '00, '01. He was sub halfback on the '00 varsity football team. He was a member of Die Germania and the Alpha Chi Rho fraternity. Possessing a pleasing, even disposition, together with true grit and courage, he occupied a large place in the hearts of all who knew him. In him the university has lost one of her best and truest sons.

THE DAILY IOWAN has made its appearance. If the indications of Vol. I, No. I, are to be deemed prophetic of the future of the union of the Vidette and Quill will give the Hawbeys state a daily university paper of which Yale or Harvard editors might be proud.—Iowa State Press.

University Golf Club.

Plans are being laid for the formation of a university golf club. There are already several clever players in school and that their number has been added to by the freshmen is evidenced by the appearance of many of the latter with caddy boy and a bunch of clubs. The members of the university club will probably become associate members of the Iowa City Golf Club and use the links north of the city. Matches for the fall can easily be arranged with several of the neighboring clubs and also with some of the western university clubs. This movement meets the hearty approval of the golf players of the school. The date of the meeting for organizing the club will be announced later, at which all interested in golf should be present.
