The football season east and west opened Saturday and from now on until the final turkey pick- ing in November the rah-rah boys will be undisputed about in the sporting line. The math- ematical genius of the university where such matters are a hobby an enthusiastic interest in football are already at work on Saturday and the results are to be considered from the eastern and western champions. There is an interest about these early games that is entrancing but their results are not easily reduced to paper for purposes of comparison, unless the minds of the various coaches are known. Minnesota, for instance, boasts of Brutus and Lulu for women Carleton college and ended with 33 scores; Northwestern played for dear life against poor Lombard college and has been crowing and burning her fires over her 48 points.

In the east, Pennsylvania, under serving Captain in Harvard, wore a pretty total against the comparatively strong Lehigh team, the latter of which has to have been reckoned with pretty seriously in the eastern championship. Maryland, which was sending out the most dismal tales from the eastern city, Monday, was on Saturday, making a statement that Eastern college must be taking post graduate work. This team played against their Hartford opponents. Harvard is not yet in any form for any serious playing. Colum- bia met a surprise party in Batta- lo, who defeated her 60-0, and Columbia, who is a very strong team, was defeated by the Sophomores President Maclean called meeting to order and requested all sophomores to retire from room if any were present. He said that the regents had rul- ed there should be no rushing in this building. The action of last week indicates that the latter man wants fair play and has the true university spirit. The winning team of Iowa City, nomin- ated for temporary chairman and Dis- man, of Iowa City, tem- porary secretary, who is a smart team, was defeated by the committee of five appointed to draft constitution and by laws. Some freshmen asked the question, "Are not all students of the college and new members of the freshman class?" which question is being raised and answered.

FRESHMAN MEETING.

Temporary Organization Elected Without Rival at the State Normal.

The class of '05, held their first meeting this afternoon at 3:15 in the college of liberal arts, nominated by the Sophomores. President Maclean called meeting to order and requested all sophomores to retire from room if any were present. He said that the regents had rul- ed there should be no rushing in this building. The action of last week indicates that the latter man wants fair play and has the true university spirit. The winning team of Iowa City, nomin- ated for temporary chairman and Dis- man, of Iowa City, tem- porary secretary, who is a smart team, was defeated by the committee of five appointed to draft constitution and by laws. Some freshmen asked the question, "Are not all students of the college and new members of the freshman class?" which question is being raised and answered.

Middletonian.

At a special meeting of the Middletonian society, Saturday afternoon, the resignation of J. L. Cooper, '92, as editor of the yearbook, was announced. Immediately after the announcement, J. L. Cooper, '92, elected to fill the vac- antcy. According to present plans, the Middletonian, the first number of which appeared last Saturday, March 11, will be issued sometime during the latter part of each term.

J. C. Longfellow, of Dubuque, is visiting the town. Oliver, T. '44, reported that she is out of the running by al- lowing Wabash to score on her.

STATE NORMAL TEAM.

Many Old Man On Team That Plays Here Next Saturday—First Game Fierce.

The following is from the Nor- mal Eye concerning the strength of the team that plays in Iowa's first game here Saturday. With most of their last year's team playing this year the Normal men are likely to give the Hawkeye novices a stiff game. At any rate it will be the first assault of the year on Iowa's two-year incresed goal line.

"The prospect for Normal's foot- ball team brightness as the men are being rounded into shape. The team is considerably heavier than last year and in condition, physical condition.

"This is what we are going to see. Would that every position on the team had three or four candidates, for the very best, as they are in them would be brought out. We would almost be safe in saying that in all probability the team that will be picked from Streff, Yeager, Dewell, Abel, Dunkerton, Clark, Burkhartler and Steakos.

"These men are showing up unusually. The old men, Yeager and Steakos, at tackle, Thrub and Dunkerton at guard, Dewell at center, are seen from up to fourteen, and while the newer men, Abel at guard, Burkhartler a tackle and Lumber at center are put up a fine game.

"The candidates for ends are J. L. Jones, Chantry, Strawn and Reifman. Jones puts up a game which for quickness and skill is hard to excel. Chantry is in fine trim and playing better than ever. Reifman's is a man who will make somebody hesitate to hold down his job. His strain is as entirely new as his name. He is full of fire and is it difficult to say just what he can do.

"The improvement that the entire team has shown in the last week in punting and catching is remarkable. The scrimmage work has put through a pretty good shape. Signal work and forma- tions have been dewl on some- where but will receive most of the time between now and the first game. Coach Abel has paid particular attention to the line men up in this time, but from now on he will work more with the backs.

"Adams and Gist are in line for full. Adams has the advantage in weight and experience. His kicking which up to this time has been his main draw back is show- ing up more favorably than ever.

"It is just about a toss up among Jones, Wallace and Wolfe to see who will land the position of half-backs; Wolfe's speed is an item in his favor. Seely and Rob- erts are the only ones left in the rear quarter. Seely's head work and accuracy will probably give him the position.

The time of selection in agen- cies for the junior class has been changed from nine o'clock to ten o'clock. The class will meet Monday.

IOWA FOOTBALL.

Dr. Henry L. Williams, director of athletics at the university of Minnesota, has the following to say of Iowa's style of foot-ball in an article in the "Foot-ball in the Middle West."

"At Iowa, under the skilful di- rection of Captain C. M. Werts, president, the original style of play, built up on the Pennsylvania system as a basis, is being kept up, but combining with the formidable guards-back, a swift, open running and kicking game has been developed. From the standpoint of attack, brilliancy and rapidity of execution, and general efficiency, Iowa's game is unsurpassed by that of any col- lege in the country. No foot-ball game has been played in the east or west of a higher type than that which was formally deflected for the past two years by Iowa. The older conservative Eastern insti- tutions, resting on their past laurels, might well learn from her many valuable lessons in modern foot-ball.

The Philomathy society, last spring, debated with the Debating League of the University of South Dakota, and won one of their literary societies, as was stated in our last Saturday's issue.

WOMEN'S PARLOR.

Elegant Apartments in the Arts Hall to be Opened Saturday.

The floors are being given a general overhauling in the new building which will be formally op- ened for use Saturday next, at 3:30 p.m. An open reception to which all the women students and members of the faculty will be invited. Iowa's game the university will have to wait until Monday to feast their eyes on the beauties of the new room. They may be able to prevail on some co-ed friends to take them down into the old nothing a man dare enter the sacred fashion. Some people find it the purpose to have the recep- tion over by 3:30 p.m. in time to work and others in time to attend the floorcovering of the new floor. Thus setting an example of early clos- ing which is to be hoped will become an honored precept in the parlors.

All the women students of the "U" will be asked and expected to meet Dean Young at 1:30 Sat- urday afternoon in the auditori- um. After this meeting, which will last an hour, the feminine portion of the student body will proceed to the parlors to their own use with the Taylor parlors as stated above. The parlors is on the main floor directly under the auditorium. The walls are covered with panels, the draperies, tables, lace curtains, and every- thing to make it pleasant and

At a meeting of the senior class of the college of medicine, the follow- ing officers were elected for the following year: President—C. M. Werts, vice presi- dent; B. V. Scarborough, secre- tary and treasurer.
This is the season of the year when the wily sophomores and the brawny freshman engage in continual combat, physical and otherwise, while the tailors and job printers stand by in glee and hope for the good thing to continue.

The mainspring of student life are freshmen, so it is varvy spirit. This spirit teaches loyalty to Old Iowa first, last and all the time. Keeping this idea uppermost in your minds and making your acts stand the test of being for the weal of the 'varvy' you will not go far wrong whether you whip the sophomores or not. It will lead you to give your best to your alma mater and receive her best in return.

The Next Junior Annual.
The 1903 Junior Annual board are at work on their subscription lists, and are receiving hearty support from the student body. The publication of the Hawkeye is a matter that concerns the whole university and the board deserves the hearty support it is meeting. In return for this support the board owes it to their fellow students to get out the best book possible. With nothing but praise for the efforts of those who have worked on the past Hawkeyes, it is apparent that this year's board is able to issue a better annual than ever before. In the last three years eye has almost doubled and the amount realized from advertising has increased by about one-half, and, while the cost of printing has become greater, it has not increased proportionally to this larger income. The 1903 board if it makes improvements in the size and appearance of their book. Another thing in favor of the 1903 Hawkeye is the greater time this year's board has in which to complete the work. In the past it has been necessary to distribute the book during March to accommodate the Medical and Pharmacy students, but with the lengthening of the terms of these colleges to nine months the book will not have to be published until the spring term, giving the editors two or three more months in which to do their work and allowing them to cover a large part of the current year than has been done in the past.

With these increased advantages the Hawkeye is expected of this year's book then ever before. The 1902 book was a very creditable one but if no better book is published this year it will prove a dismal failure and the editors and managers will have shirked their duty. But they are not going to fail. Mr. Hadley and Mr. Van Vleck, realizing what is expected of them, are we, believing, going to more than fulfill these expectations.

Daniel Zwilling.

Yesterday afternoon occurred the death of Daniel Zwilling of the collegiate class of '94. Mr. Zwilling underwent an operation for acute appendicitis, last Friday, and strenuous efforts were entertained for his recovery, but he became rapidly worse Sunday, and sank till the end came at four o'clock p. m., Monday. The deceased was born in Nevada, Iowa, in 1882. He graduated from the Nevada High School in 1894 and entered the university with the class of 1904. He was a member of the Zetagathian society and was a promising candidate for the 1907 track team. The body was taken to Nevada, Iowa, this morning, the college being accompanied to the depot by President MacLean and the members of the sophomores class and Zetagathian society. The interment will occur Wednesday.
