PRACTICE MUCH BETTER.

Knipe Infusing Life and Teamwork into the Eleven—Varsity Scored Four Times Yesterday.

Yesterday's practice at the athletic field was the best this season. Watters, Burrier and Hollenbeck were all back in their places after a more or less prolonged absence on account of sickness. Buckley, playing at left tackle, was the star of the afternoon, making two of the four touchdowns against the scrubs and being generally one of the best groundgainers and runners of interference. Watters played with the dash and team work that characterized his last year's play and Wieland showed up fine. He made two touchdowns, one on a fluke by the scrubs and another on a flying end formation such as mystified Chicago two years ago. Wyant, who played on the State Normal team two and three years ago, did some wonderful work at the end during the forty minutes play between the two teams.

The best thing about the practice was the way the team played together at nearly all times. Team work they have lacked before but Knipe has worked with them until they are now beginning to show some of this most desired of all foot-ball traits and the varsity supporters are breathing easier. If the work continues good the rest of the week, no undue anxiety will be felt about the game with the State Normal.

The fact that Edson, one of the brainiest foot-ball men ever sent out from Iowa, is training the Normal, is, however a source of discomfort to the rah-rah boys when they discuss the coming game. They recall an incident on the side lines during the last Normal game. Edson was making a sixty-five yard run for a touchdown, when Prof. Richards, one of his law professors said,

"Do you know what makes Edson able to do that?"

Then, as no one answered, he said, "Because he is one of the brainiest men in his law class."

The score was as follows: Varsity 21, Scrubs 0. The line-up was:

		right, Barry, Sherman.
Briggs	Center	Si Brown
Smith	right Guard	left Chesley
Burrier,	Berry	right Tackle
left Herbert	right End	left Walker,
Wieland	left Half	right Brown
Watters	right Half	left Olinger
Wilkins	Fullback	Macy
Lurell	Quarterback	Dwight, Griffith

Touchdowns, Buckley 2, Wieland 2.
Goal from touch-down, Watters.

Fred S. Holstein, '98, L '00, who made an enviable record as commandant during his last year here, has entered the Yale Law School for post graduate work. He will take a degree from Yale in June next.

The Sophomores and Freshmen in a melee yesterday caused by the distribution of the Sophomores' proclamations, broke a large plate glass in the post office building. Class taxes will be high.

STATE NORMAL GAME.

Normalites Veteran Team Expects to Win—Excursion Party of 200 Rooters Coming.

The students of the State Normal school have just completed arrangements for a big $2 excursion over the B. C. R. & N. railroad to Iowa City next Saturday. Over 200 have already pledged themselves to take advantage of the rate and come down to root their team to hoped for victory.

This is the outgrowth of the wave of enthusiasm that swept through the institution at Cedar Falls when their team defeated Cornell in a hard fought contest at Mount Vernon last Saturday. Because they have a veteran eleven composed of ten of last year's team and one new man, Seerley, at quarter, and all coached by W. C. Edson, one of the very best half backs that ever played on the University of Iowa team, they hope and expect to repeat their record of '98 and retrieve the defeats administered by Iowa last year.

When the Normal team and rooters arrive at noon next Saturday, they will find that Iowa City knows how to greet guests. Most of the leading merchants of the city have already agreed to decorate their stores with the Normal colors, old gold and purple, as well as with Iowa's own old gold, and the streets will be one mass of waving banners and bunting.

Work is being rushed on the new grandstand and gridiron, and all will be in readiness for the opening game Saturday.

The Normal team averages 163 pounds in weight. Their lineup last Saturday was T. Jones r. e.; Dunkerton r. g.; Yaeger r. t.; Dewell c.; Stokes l. g.; Stress l. t.; Chantry r. e.; Seerley q. b.; Wolfe r. h.; Wallace l. h.; and J. C. Jones f. b. The team will be accompanied by both coaches and seven substitutes.

Williams Watches Practice.

Rev. Herman P. Williams, '96, of Jefferson, has been an interested spectator of the football practice this week. He was one of the varsity's best tackles a student generation back and is much interested in the success of the team this year. While in the university he successfully combined football, scholarship, and ministry, although those were days when umpires wore glass goggles to darken their power of vision and players were more apt than not to carry brickbats about their person. One Saturday Rev. Williams was in a particularly hard game. He came out of it with two black eyes. He bathed them that night as best he could and the next morning appeared before his congregation at Atalissa. After his sermon, which was an eloquent plea for more brotherly love, one of the old ladies of his flock came up to him with anxiety writ large over her countenance. "Really, Rev. Williams," she said solicitously, "I know you are studying too hard. Do be careful or you will lose your eyesight."

THE CLEVELAND STORY.

Tale of How Leonard Brown, a Des Moines Reporter, Broke the News of the University's Plans to Mr. MacLean.

President G. E. MacLean is telling a tale of Des Moines, that wonderful city, where reporters listen at keyholes and go away to write what they think they ought to have heard important personages say on interesting topics.

While he was in the Capitol City lately attending the meeting of the state geological board, Dr. MacLean was talking in the corridor of the state house with President Beardshear, also a member of the board. Leonard Brown, a reporter on the Register, approached and hailed our worthy Prexie thusly:

"What ho! And so you're going to have Cleveland down there are you?"

"Cleveland!" said Dr. MacLean, and Dr. Beardshear squinted at the president of the state university out of the corner of his eye.

"Sure," said Brown, with a lordly wave of the hand. "All about it in the morning papers."

"But the university is to have Cleveland at Iowa City sometime, did I hear you say?" queried the president in an uncertain tone.

"Why, yes," quoth Brown. "Going to have him dedicate the new building on Washington's birthday. Better read the papers, president."

"And so I did!" says the president. "The tale was elaborated with artistic nicety. It had me going to Princeton to invite Mr. Cleveland and a great many other details, none of which had ever entered my head. Of course, it would be a nice thing to have President Cleveland here, but we hadn't determined to ask him even when the story appeared. I had never thought of the things in the story."

"And I wonder where they got it," concludes the president, mediatively.

Coach at Normal.

W. C. Edson L. '00 has been secured by the State Normal Athletic Association to assist Prof. Affleck in coaching the foot ball team. Edson was compelled to decline the offer of the Kansas Normal School as a coach on account of sickness but he has now recovered sufficiently to assist at Cedar Falls. He has a long foot ball career back of him and has the reputation of being one of the best half backs in the West. With his experience back of the line he will be able to round up the back field of Normal's team into one of the fastest in the state as he has good material to work with. It is reported that the coaches have the Normal team in the best physical condition they were ever in and expect to have the best team in the history of the institution.

F. D. Sherwood ex-'03 has a position in the high school at Clearfield, Iowa.

NO MORE FOOTBALL.

Western College Discontinues Rugby Game—Financial Conditions Only Cause of Prejudice.

Western College, at Toledo, will play no football this season. Managers of teams having games scheduled with Western College received letters early in September from H. W. Cramer, Western's manager, to this effect:

"Our athletic board decided not to maintain a football team this year. In accordance with that action I am instructed to cancel all games scheduled. I am very sorry to be compelled to cancel with you. Sincerely yours, H. W. CRAMER."

From a letter written by the president, L. Bookwalter, of the college, it is seen that this action was taken at the close of the last college year. Without assigning any reason for this new departure the president writes:

"At the close of our last college year it was decided that Western would not organize a football team the coming season."

Upon inquiry for reasons for Western's action, Manager Cramer has the following to say:

"As far as I am able to state, football is discontinued on account of financial reasons due to the prejudice against the game here."

Today's Games.

The only midweek games to be played today are in the East where they believe in harder work for their candidates than in the West. Chicago, after scheduling a game with the Illinois Wesleyan team for today, postponed it a week for the reason, as announced by Stagg, that the team was not strong enough to play the game. The midway institution is certainly working the Yale dodge to a fare you well this year. Talk about hard luck stories that sometimes creep out from Iowa! The entire Chicago press is chained and muzzled to the most censored tales of woe that ever created a hospital out of thin air. After a while, when the Maroon waves in triumph over a half dozen varsity battle fields, then will arise from the city by the lake the merry ha ha: "Behold our wonderful improvement. Verily, 'tis miraculous." But the games:

At the freshman meeting yesterday no class officers were elected. The precautions freshmen constitute a deliberative body, and it was ruled that no officers could be elected before a constitution was framed. To substantiate this act it was pointed out that Washington did not become president until the constitution of the United States was framed. Committees were appointed to draw up constitution and look up officers.

This Issue by A. H. STORCK.

All campaign workers for class officers should take an object lesson from the Senior meeting held last week. In this meeting the president lacked but five votes of being unanimously elected. These votes were complimentary votes. The choice of the class was elected and no factional fights were in evidence at any time. Honest, clean politics, however, is tolerated, but the greatest care should be exercised that no mud slinging enter into the campaign. If too much party feeling enters into these elections, the class will certainly be divided into factions, which will greatly impair the spirit and strength of the class.

The business men of Iowa City have already taken action towards doing their share to make the foot-ball season another grand success. At a meeting of the Commercial Club recently some of the most prominent men in the city declared that foot-ball was beneficial to Iowa City and that they would take a hand in advertising the home games. Manager McCutchen addressed the club and made a few suggestions. He told them that a rate of one and one-third fare had been granted on all railroads leading to Iowa City for games, and the merchants saw at once that he had done something for Iowa City. Accordingly it was decided to appropriate $50. to make the five home games, small carnivals. They will decorate the business houses with old gold and the colors of the visiting teams. It is now up to the professors and students to do what lies in their power. The games that will be played here are all good games and everyone should buy a season ticket. Whether you play foot-ball or not, if you wish to see a winning team and a successful season, your hearty support will go far towards realizing these hopes.

Exchanges that come to the IOWAN are full of challenges for foot-ball games between classes, boarding houses and other student bodies. At present no such challenges have been issued at Iowa. There are many men in school who played on their high school team but when they entered the University did not appear for practice. The men who go out to train all have a spark of hope of getting on the first team before long. Now it is obvious that there are players in school who do not go out to play because they are shocked by the enormity of the question of making the first team. Why should not the different classes and student organizations form teams? The coaches watch these minor games, and if any rough diamond is found, he will immediately be led to the Varsity squad for practice under the head coach. Other universities of Iowa's rank have inter-freshman games, and if Iowa had a freshman team it would receive challenge. Very often a good foot-ball player is developed in less than a half season's practice. These class games would certainly bring out men who otherwise had no intention of playing. The great secret of having a strong athletic team at any institution is that everyone try.

Amusements

A splendid company will appear at the opera house on Saturday evening, Oct. 5th, in the great success "When We Were Twenty One." "Dick Carewe," the leading character, is the quiet bachelor of the period. But he doesn't remain one long. O! no.
The play ends with his head bowed to the yoke of matrimony, and after the most charming four acts ever penned, Dick Carewe ambles gently in double harness, side by side with the beautiful Phyllis Ericson. We don't wish to anticipate pleasure, so the plot of the play we will keep until we give our further views of the players, but this we say without fear of contradiction:—"When We Were Twenty One" will make your mind and heart better in every way, so don't fail to see it.

While the comedy "Two Merry Tramps" as presented by Wood & Ward's company has been pronounced a bright satire by the press throughout the country during the past two years, the play in itself is of minor importance, the specialties and musical numbers introduced almost continuously during the action of the comedy being the features that have placed this organization at the head of its class. Some twenty pleasing, tuneful and novel specialties are given, among the most noted being the "Hobo
Two-Step" by Wood and Ward and the Elmore Sisters, the rage of New York; "Tell us Pretty Ladies", as sung in "Floradora,"
"My Blushing Rosie," with chorus by entire company; "The Big Detective," a musical satire on Sherlock Holmes; The Bowery
Quartette in "The East Side Belle," the Indian Opera and numerous individual specialties.
The abundance of bright and pretty costumes, dashy, tuneful music, and scenery make the production of the "Two Merry Tramps" so closely resemble an elaborate extravaganza that theatre-goers scarcely realize that they are witnessing a farce comedy, it being so different from the ordinary play of its class.
