University Golf Team Defeated by Iowa City Team in a Close Contest.

A team representing the Iowa City Golf Club classified as one of the most closely and successfully resisted the matches seen on the Minnehaha links this year. Play started promptly after one and it was not until the last match was finished that either side knew which was the winner. It was an ideal day for the play and both teams did their best to carry off the honors. The greens are in better condition than they have been for sometime and some of the players succeeded in reducing their final scores. Some of the medal scores were reduced by an amount largely attributed to the use of the Haskell ball which is entirely new for our greens.

Each match was closely contested from start to finish and it was only by their skill at play that the city team succeeded in reducing a lead of three up which the visitors held by the end of the first round. For the city team: Prof. H. E. Gordon, Preston J. Shefer, C. W. Hull, and Oakes, gave up the honors, and for the "varsity team" J. B. Berryhill and J. B. Thompson, sergeants-at-arms, C. J. B. Berryhill, umpire, and E. G. Yates manager.

Junior Laws Elect Officers.

The Junior Laws may fit the law lecture room and elected the following officers for the ensuing term: J. J. Martin, president; E. Delevan, vice-president; P. H. Jones, secretary; Wm. Oakes, treasurer; W. L. Charles, H. F. Thompson, sergeants-at-arms.

A game at Okaloosa between Penn and Des Moines colleges yesterday resulted in a scratch for the latter, as the score stood 11 to 6 in favor of Penn, referee Jackley, of Des Moines, made a decision against the Quakers which resulted in a termination of the game. The Penn men refused to allow the decision and the game was forfeited to Des Moines. The Penn management refused to pay the expenses of the visiting team and Manager Turrill of Des Moines threatened to sue them under his contract.

IOWA CITY, IOWA

Application made at Iowa City post-office for entry as second class mail matter.

After one has tramped through the ditches, mires and weed patches of South Ninth street only to stand in a mud hole during the Drake-Iowa football game, he can in a measure appreciate our own accommodations for football contests.

We hasten to extend our sympthies to the University of Chicago. Something is wrong there and if anything that we can do will assist in straightening out matters, Mr. William Rainey Harper need no more hesitate in calling upon us than he would upon, say, Mr. Rockefeller. The trouble is unprecedented, 'tis true but that may be simply because no one connected with the University of Chicago has been interested enough to give the matter to the world before now.

But away with speculation. Let us have the awful truth. The students of the University of Chicago have planned a grand festal occasion a day when music and the lyre shall rejoice the heart and lead the footsteps lightly. The pipers have been secured and arrangements made to pay them. The official sanction of the Dean of Women has been obtained and the solemn promise made in pur­ dance thereto that the dance shall positively end at ten o'clock.

All, it would seem has been attended to that would add to the pleasure of such an occasion, except the young ladies. And there are the Chicago men stamped.

These fellows, said by the vera­ cious daily press of Chicago, to be the soul of the earth on the football fields and not the worst that ever happened in baseball and track events, with an immense endowment for the pursuit of every kind of knowledge science and fade, these men at the University of Chicago are ashamed to ask girls to dance with them.

To be sure, the case presents complications. We have never seen the young men of the Standard Oil institution and it may be that a consideration for the feelings of the co-eds, both physical and otherwise, modestly restrains the youths of the Midway from inflicting themselves upon the fair damsels. Still, the girls are said to be giving every encouragement to the bashful swains by way of smiles and waivings of the hands and to be recklessly exposing themselves in other ways, so it would seem as though the Chicago men might brace up.

Again, we have no acquaintance with the University of Chicago co-eds and it is therefore merely a matter of speculation to us how much screwing of the masculine courage is required to reach the sticking point of contemplating a whole evening with them. But, as all the other preparations for a dance have been made and as young ladies are necessary ornaments at such functions, it would seem that it would be wise to overlook those perfections of an attribute only skin deep, of manner or spirit. We can pity the bad taste of the young men's parents in countenancing their attendance at such an institution as Chicago but we cannot excuse the deficiencies of the young men in the matter of nerve.

We would suggest that remedies, guaranteed to cure or no pay, can be obtained at any corner drug store. We beg the young men of Chicago to remember that they are up to them and that a world hangs breathlessly upon their deportment. Meanwhile, we de­ ire to tender the young men of the Midway institution the assurance that they have our heartfelt sympathy in the matter.

Notice.

The Greek and Latin Library has been closed while the books were being arranged and classified. It is the desire of the instructors and students in these departments that all students have access to this library, but owing to the lack of funds it can only be kept open at certain hours. A list of these hours is posted on the door of the library room (No. 315 in the Hall of Liberal Arts). Students wishing particular books at other times can obtain them by asking for them at the desk in the general library. While certain books are to be kept in the room for the use of advanced students, most books of general interest can be drawn by students under the same conditions as other library books. Either one of the general librarians, or a instructor in the departments will have the necessary record of books that have been taken out.

The above statement is intended to answer numerous inquiries that have been made, in view of the fact that this department library has been far closed. (Signed.) AMOS N. CURRIE.
