MINNESOTA IS THE NEXT.

GREATEST CONTEST OF YEAR

Hundreds of Rooters Going To Minneapolis—Team Leaves Thursday Night—May Be a Practice Game Tuesday.

The greatest football game of year to which all Iowa and Minnesota have been looking forward to eagerly ever since it became evident last year that the 1900 teams of these two institutions were about evenly matched, is now but one week in the future. Hundreds of enthusiastic Iowans will take advantage of the low rate of $5 for the round trip which has been granted by the B. C. R. & N. railroad company from Iowa City and intermediate points to Minneapolis. The people of Mason City and many other Iowa towns have made applications for special rates and it is probable that at least 3,000 or 4,000 Iowa people will witness the great game.

Arrangements have been made whereby Iowa city people, who wish to go to Minneapolis, may leave Iowa City on any train Friday, and their return tickets will be honored on any train leaving Minneapolis before midnight on Monday. The railroad company will have enough cars on hand to carry comfortably, all who go. A limited number can secure sleeping car accommodations by applying to Agent F. D. Lindsley early. All who wish berths are advised to order same by Thursday night if possible.

The team is rounding into good form for the great game. If possible, a good practice game will be scheduled to be played on the home grounds next Tuesday. Negotiations were instituted for a game with Cornell, but that team decided that they could not risk playing so heavy a game so soon before their game with Knox. If a game is secured, same will be announced in the Monday evening papers and the banner will be strung across Clinton street at the post office corner, Tuesday morning.

The team will leave for Minneapolis, over the B. C. R. & N. at 8:50. Thursday night. A grand football rally and mass meeting will be held at 7:30 o'clock on that evening, and students and citizens will practice yelling and escort the team to the train. The rally will be held on the front campus by torch light, if consent of the University authorities can be secured.

The reading room at Close Hall is being papered and painted and fitted up in an attractive manner. Through the kindness of Mr. Parvin, of Cedar Rapids, the ladies' reception room is also being repaired and furnished.

The boiler of the steam heating apparatus at Close Hall has been re-set with new fire-brick and grate irons and does better service than ever before.

Adam K. Hess, '03, is enjoying a visit from his mother.

FACULTY-SENIOR GAME.

The Senior Class of the University of Illinois Submits the Following Challenge to Their Faculty.

We, as a class, feel that our conduct merits reproach. Therefore, we do sincerely and earnestly request that our beloved faculty do select eleven husky representatives from their body and we do cordially invite these representatives to gird their loins, don canvas jacket and quilt trousers and on Illinois field at their earliest convenience administer corporal chastisement to the representatives of the erring. This we realize, must seem inadequate, but it is the best that lies within our power. The minor details of this, our penance, may be arranged with him, whose name appears below this statement of our wishes.

"Woman, Oh, Woman!"

A recent number of the New York Saturday Times publishes a touching article on the "Bookseller's Woes," by one of the fraternity. We feel that the eloquence of the following passage must have been inspired by sad experience:

But woman, oh, woman! To the bookseller, whose brow generally is assailed by care and pain, she proves to be anything other than a ministering angel, and he sadly realizes that "the days are gone when beauty bright his heart's chain wove." She asks for "Helen's Babies." You have no copy. "Well, any of hers will do—I know she wrote a lot." Or she wants a Bible, pocket size, with "large and easy print." Or perhaps Dickens, complete in one volume. Or, again, a copy of Shakespeare. You show several, which she scrutinizes closely; and then, with marked disapproval, she says she "don't want it in those funny lines, so hard to read, but wrote out in a story." "Like the Duchess' books you know!" She asks you, to the intense gratification of the onlookers, (especially your friends), if "you are the old bookseller?"

Negotiations have been under way for some time to bring about an international debate between Harvard and Yale and Oxford and Cambridge.

Philip Casady, C. '04, has had to leave school on account of poor health. He will spend the winter in California.

TO ENCOURAGE THE TEAM.

IT NEEDS SUPPORT NEXT WEEK

Sympathy, Encouragement, and Good

Hard Rooting Required of the University—Comparative Distances in Yesterday's Game.

The Iowa football team in its game yesterday showed up much better than in any previous contest this year. The material for a good team is there; all that is needed is a general "get-together" and a slight improvement in the playing of positions by the guards and tackles. The university can help in this if it will. Every student solidly behind the team, making known his faith and confidence in every way, will make the team come to the best form that can be attained in the short time before the Minnesota game. The team will never, not even at the close of the season, be as good as the Iowa team of the past two years, for perfection cannot be expected from the new team of 1901.

But the eleven will show up finely next Saturday and hold Minnesota to a low score, if it has the encouragement of the students. A good rooting delegation going to Minneapolis next Friday night and making Rome howl with the Iowa yells throughout the game will make at least two touchdowns difference in the final score.

For this reason, every student should do his best for the team this week. Friday night, on the last practice should be an occasion for showing the confidence to some extent. Mass meetings and rooters' gatherings should be held and enthusiasm in the team should boil and bubble this coming week. Coach Knipe is doing everything possible to develop the team; he has accomplished a great deal in bringing material, not too promising to its present stage. Coach and team should have this week the hearty co-operation of every student. Everyone who can should take the low rate to Minneapolis to cheer the game.

Iowa's rooting for two long years has had no test when the score was against it. At Minneapolis, there is every indication that such a test will be given it, and it should not fail through thick and thin. The work of Michigan students at Detroit last year will be an excellent pattern for the Iowa rooters' delegation.

Figures on the distance which each team carried and kicked the ball yesterday are as follows:

	Carry	Kick
By both teams	571	535
By Iowa, total	405	195
By Ames, total	160	340
By Iowa, 1st half	160	55
By Iowa, 2d half	245	140
By Ames, 1st half	95	65
By Ames, 2d half	71	275

Coach Clinton, of Ames, said at the middle of the second half: "I think that Ames has outplayed Iowa, although you have the advantage of us in the score."

A STRAIGHT TIP.

Of Especial Interest to Members of the Senior Class. Read and Reflect.

It is desired to invite the attention of those collegiate seniors who are not taking part in the military instruction, to the fact that several vacancies exist in the rank of lieutenant in the battalion and to suggest to them the advisability of volunteering their service for duty in this capacity.

It is to be hoped that a proper sense of appreciation of the importance of holding a commission from the governor of the state will constitute a sufficient inducement to these young men to avail themselves of this opportunity to secure the same, as soon as the subject is brought to their attention.

Its value as a stepping stone to a commission in the National Guard is too obvious to need further comment, and this in a national emergency is practically equivalent to a similar status in the volunteer service and from there to the regular army is comparatively easy, as sufficiently demonstrated by many of the recent precedents, familiar to the older cadets.

The Commandant would be pleased to receive, either personally or in writing, at once, the applications of all those seniors who are eligible for these positions in order that the battalion may be filled up to its full strength. It is not his disposition to exercise the authority vested in him by the military department regulations, to detail men for this duty from the senior class, irrespective of their wishes in the matter. Aside from a consideration of the old saw, "That it is one thing to lead a horse to water and another to make him drink," he regards this matter of conferring commissions, as a distinguished honor, that not only ought not to be forced on anyone, but on the contrary, decidedly, should only be bestowed upon those who prove themselves most worthy. This is the course that will be rigidly adhered to.

The manager of the Des Moines college football team, has at last received a check for his share of the gate receipts at the Penn-Des Moines game. This seems a little late but Penn manifests a disposition to be "twenty minutes late" this year. It was this same stubborn spirit which forfeited the game to Des Moines.

The Ames team played a good, clean game of football and played it with a grim determination that elicited much commendation from the spectator. Of them, their school may well be proud. What they lost, they lost after a bitter struggle and if the Iowa team manifests the same bulldog grit when they meet Minnesota, we will be proud of their showing.

The lecture to be delivered by Dr. Richard T. Ely, next Thursday, will be well worth the while of the students of all colleges of the university. Dr. Ely, who holds the chair of political science at Wisconsin University, has written very extensively along this line and is recognized throughout the west as a master in his work. His subject, "The Twentieth Century City" involves a question which has baffled the shrewdest minds of our municipalities ever since the day of their founding and the product of Professor Ely's years of study of this problem cannot but be interesting and highly instructive to everyone.

The enthusiastic rooting done by the Old Gold wearers at the time when it appeared that our goal was in danger, was of that kind which encourages. It showed that we can "root" if we have to, and now that it has been begun, let the good work proceed. Further, it is by no means urgent that it be resorted to, only in cases of apparent danger; if it is good, strong, and enthusiastic, it cannot be overdone.

The high board fence at the south end of the Athletic Park is about ten feet too low yet, and during the last two football games "rubbers" have been so thick as they could stand all along the foot of Burlington Street and on the bridge. Why would it not be a capital plan to take pictures of these "fence loyalists?" The series could be framed, labeled "Iowa's loyal football supporters" and hung—well say, in the ladies' waiting room in the new building.

Ralph Hoagland, the authority on football in the west, said after the game: "I don't see what you fellows are 'hollering' about here at Iowa. Your team is alright. It is a good strong one. It is just developing now. All it wants, is practice and plenty of encouragement. How does it compare with former Iowa teams? Well, I saw Iowa play last year when she was about the best you see. I saw your team at Detroit, you know, and you can't expect to have a team like that right along."

T. L. Burkland, who umpired the State Normal game two weeks ago and the Ames game yesterday, said, that in his opinion the Iowa team has improved wonderfully within the two weeks. He added that the Ames team is unusually strong and should give their future opponents some surprise.
