The people of Iowa City and the students of the university are going to serve notice on the B. C. and W. Railroad that they appreciate the $5 rate which that road has put in effect for the Minnesota game. It took much effort on the part of Agent Lindsey and of the general passenger agent, Mr. Farmer, of Cedar Rapids, to secure consent from the other roads for this rate from Iowa points to Minneapolis. For their efforts these good friends of the State University have the thanks of Iowa people.

A canvas of the university and town has demonstrated that not less than 500 to 600 and possibly 1000 or more will go from Iowa City to Minneapolis for the big game. The people who go from other points in the state will swell the Iowa contingent to 1500 or more.

It is a misunderstanding arose as to the despatch of the railroad tickets which were to be accepted for passage going to Minneapolis. It has been announced that the tickets might not pass the despatching roads that this rate should be good only on the train leaving by 10:30 a.m. on that date. In order that we might be protected, the railroad authorities were requested to despatch all tickets on the morning train. Mr. McCutchen therefore requests that the students and others who wish to go on the evening train, purchase their railroad tickets on Thursday, if possible. Reserved seat tickets may be purchased in ample number at Wiesenson's Arcade Book Store until 5 p.m. Friday.

REGENTS WANT MONEY.

Funds for New Medical Building. Purchases of Annual Fund, and New Buildings are Asked of the Legislature.

The board of regents in their report to Governor Shaw, made public this week, call for the 24th general assembly for additional appropriations amounting to $28,328.47 for the biennial period. This amount is asked by the board at the least, for the medical, electrical, bacteriological, and physical laboratories, housed in a fire-proof building, and for the purchase of medical educational apparatus, for the purchase of medical building and library books, and for the replacement of the libraries destroyed in the fire of March 10.

In asking for a new medical building the board says: "To give the university what it should have in the way of fully equipped bacteriological, pathological and physiological laboratories, housed in a fire-proof building, $7,460.00, and we recommend the appropriation of that amount to be made available as soon as possible for the erection and equipment of a fire-proof medical building on the campus. The library of the university from a student's standpoint and its usefulness and importance to the student is of great value.

In the last two years Appropriations of $1,500 per annum for the purchase of electrical and other apparatus for the department of physics, $3,000 per annum for the general library, $1,500 per annum for the law library, $1,000 per annum for the medical library; to replace especially the Peck, Ramsey, and McKeen collections, $1,500 for the publication of the original researches of professors, $10,000 per annum to provide for the university's growth in buildings, $8,000 per annum for a new medical building, $1,000 per annum for the purchase of additional ground, and contingent fund, and $10,000 increase in the general support fund, and the increase in the number of students, will not provide all that is necessary. It is especially urged in this report that the library, to replace especially the Peck, Ramsey, and McKeen collections, $1,500 for the publication of the original researches of professors, $10,000 per annum to provide for the university's growth in buildings, $8,000 per annum for a new medical building, $1,000 per annum for the purchase of additional ground, and contingent fund, and $10,000 increase in the general support fund, and the increase in the number of students, will not provide all that is necessary.

In asking for an increase in the student body, the report says: "The growth of the university has been so great, not only in the number of students who attend, but also in the additional courses of instruction offered that we are compelled to ask an increase in the fund set apart for new buildings and their equipments. The relief expected on the completion of the hall of liberal arts was swept away by the fire of March 10. We feel that we should fail in our duty to the state and the university if we were to proceed upon any other plan than that of building complete, adequate and fire-proof buildings when we build at all. We can, upon our present provision, erect cheap, flimsy, insecure buildings such as these recently destroyed by fire, which will afford shelter to some of our rapidly growing departments but which will almost immediately become sources of expense and risk and will grow into burdens instead of those under which we struggle."

After enumerating the need of college of law for lecture rooms, of an armory and assembly hall, of a museum and library building, the board says: "For these reasons we strongly urge the increase of the tax for buildings. The statement was made that the tax for the past two years was 105 mills per annum to 2-10 of a mil per annum for the ensuing year.

In dwelling upon the need of Iowa's armory and auditorium, the board dwells upon the need of a gymnasium to care for the physical training of every student, and especially young women, who attend the university. Without an armory and assembly hall says the board, "the proper development of the university from a mere assemblage of loosely associated colleges into a living educational organism, working unitedly and effectually for the highest and best results along the lines of educational effort, is impossible."

The report is signed by the entire board of regents, including Richard C. Barrett and exclusive of Leslie M. Shaw.

The report of President George W. McLean to Gov. Shaw is a voluminous document, covering 18 typewritten pages. It deals with the progress made by the university in all departments during the past biennial period.

The report of Treasurer Lovell Swisher to Governor Shaw for the biennial period ending June 30, 1901, shows:

Receipts, $259,019.25; expenditures, $275,161.50; balance on hand, $102,618.72. Texas Swisher's report on the revolving loan fund shows "receipts from G. E. McLean of $228,52 and of loans paid out $174. The total loans for the period were $280,000. The total working capital of the university consisted, on June 30, 1901, of $121,191.70. This was the same on Jan. 30, 1899. It consisted of $70,400.56 on hand and mortgage notes of $57,560.04. The A. Whitney. Carr. Free scholarship fund amounts to $51,000.00. The books of the trea- ter's office show the number of acres of land remaining unsold June 30, 1901, to be 288 acres.

Mr. Brewer will not meet his $288 acres.

COE ADVANCED 47 YARDS.

PRACTICE GAME YESTERDAY.

Iowa Played Snappy Ball, Especially in Case of Additional League Play. Tough \Well-Interference Occasion- ally Rugged."

In a big building practice game on Iowa field, yesterday, Iowa defeated Coe 11 to 0. There were no startling features to the game, which was scheduled to give both teams some light prac- tice and develop substitutes for Iowa's hard game with Minnesota Saturday. The only disappointing feature of the varsity's playing was the occasional rugged interference. The ballbacks failed noticeably at times to take care of the opposing ends and on the flying interference formation, the five men out on the line could not keep Larson, of Coe, from getting through to trouble the Railroad. The varsity still showed buttery fingers in handling the ball, nevertheless several fumbles and one in the opposite field that did not connect.

Iowa used every kind of play at will and placed no special emphasis on any one formation. Coe had a double tandem formation made by lining up the halfbacks in a tandem on one side of the quarterback and the fullback and one of the tackles called back on the other side of the quarterback.

The ball went to either tandem, the half on the right from man on the line of scrimmage and to the back men on end runs. By the aid of this new play, an invention of Coach Bres, Coe carried the ball for a total of 47 yards in the two halves.

Iowa's larves did good defensive work for Coe. In one of Iowa's fumbles, Larson secured the ball behind the Hawkeye team, but just as he girded up his loins for a sprint to the goal line, Smith tackled him, and brought him back 20 yards to Larson's 138.

THE DAILY IOWAN

IOWA CITY, IOWA

Entered at the post-office at Iowa City, Iowa, second class mail matter, Oct. 15, 1901.

The editor of the Lenox Nutshell, according to the initial issue, 'takes up the editorial pen with a feeling of fear and trembling, but makes no juicy promises
as to what he will make the paper.'

The crowd of Iowa rooters to leave Iowa City for Minneapolis is estimated at only about six hundred. Let us change this and raise the number of students on the Iowa bleachers to one thousand and at least.

Dr. Kipe and his men are this week putting forth all their energies in preparation for the great Minnesota game. No detail is being overlooked and no effort spared which would add to the strength of the team. The men themselves are entering in this final rounding out with the spirit of 'Defeat Minnesota we say, and defeat Minnesota we must.'

With this spirit the prospects begin to look brighter and the chances of winning ever more hopeful. But is there nothing left for the student body to do?
Yes. Take off your coats and get into the game of encouragement with that zeal and enthusiasm which is already here and which only needs stirring up a bit to bring it to that triumphant pitch which has so characterized Hawk eye spirit in the past and made it victorious. This spirit of encouragement and victory is already being manifested and it only remains to give it a full vent to turn the Rally Thursday night into the largest, most exalted and most filled with true university spirit, of any enthusiasm meeting ever held at Iowa. Let us do this.
Turn out, everybody, with voices ready to shout to the old: university and football yells and make this rally the grandest in our football
history.

Let us Rally to the support of the team and send them to Minne-polis with the knowledge that win or lose they still have the support of every Iowa.

In this spirit that wins football games and if this spirit is shown we have made a great line plunge towards victory Saturday.

Frank B. Reid, '01, of Okla-Bob Moses, a normal school studeent and a resident of Lancaster, was crazed by fear of hating.
During a football game Moses vented his enthusiasm in favor of his home team in a way to disgust his fellow students. Late that evening, fifteen started to dip him in the city fountain, but he went into a dead faint, whereupon they laid him down in the park and ran off. Later he was found by other students still unconscious and was revived. But he had been crazed by the fright. Sunday night the physicians pronounced him in a precarious condition, but slowly recovering from the shock.

The opinions:
Coach Knipe: "It was a good practice.
Coach Bryant: "I was very well satisfied with the work of Coe. The line men, whom I had considered weak, did very well. I was disappointed by Iowa's interference, which I had supposed would be stronger. We brought our team down here to give them an idea of what football was like, not particularly to make any showing against Iowa."

To Advertisers.
Mr. A. E. Nissen, representing McNevin & Gansert, a Rock Island firm having a big wholesale-cigar business in Iowa, is the subject of the salesmen for that house who covers this territory with advertisements of their goods. As a result, he sold the goods worth $4,796.48, while other of their salesmen sold, in good as a territory, in the Peoria office, but $444.49 worth of these goods.

As his advertising medium in Iowa City Mr. Nissen selected the Daily Iowan and his opinion as to what advertisers should seek is set forth in the following statement written and signed by him:

IOWA CITY, IOWA.,
OCT. 21, 1901.

This is to certify that I have received greater results from my advertising in the Daily Iowan than any other medium I have ever used up to this date, and I take great pleasure in recommending said paper as an exception-膳食fully good advertising medium.

Hawkeye 1903.

The Hawk-eye board of '03 have bought their tickets for this year's annual outing by the first of April. This decision was reached at their meeting on Monday afternoon. This is later than usual, but the board hopes that a better annual will be the result.

The largest literary prize ever offered—twenty-five dollars—is this year to be given for the best story of college life. The competition is open to all undegrad-uate students. No definite limit, as to number of words, is made. The prize must be in the hands of the literary editors of the by 15th of February.

The color of the book is to be old gold. A special old gold dye is being prepared by a Chicago firm.

The cover design consists of a large "H" pressed on "Hawk" Scroll within.

Only one book department editor—Mather for the law—has been selected.

The junior classes are urged to choose their respective editors as soon as possible. Early work means more and better work. The annual as representative of the university should be the best possible. This requires the united effort of the board, and the loyal aid and support of the student body.

The heating plant which has been undergoing a series of repairs, is now ready for cold weather.

Dr. Loomis, a graduate of the military and collegiate depart-ments, has been visiting with Prof. Calvin.

H. R. Reiter, who has done such excellent work for Prince-ton's football teams as halfback in the past years, has been de-clared ineligible to play this year by a decision of the graduate ad-ministrative board.

Attractions.

The Chautauqua Company, which played to such large houses last year, will be at the opera house with a new play every night this week. The company this year is composed of the best talent and is introducing several new and attractive specialties.
