BETTER MEN THAN BEFORE.

Lecture Bureau Announces New Features and Better Speakers. Two Musical Numbers on Program.

Brooke's Chicago Marine Band Orchestra will give a concert Monday, November 11, at 8:30 p.m. in the Union. This will be followed by a second musical number, to be given by the City Band, under the direction of E. J. Clarke.

Lecture Bureau is also to have as its feature speaker the Hon. John Marshall, who will lecture on "The Race Problem." His subject too is one of vital importance, that no one can afford to neglect.

M. JOHNSON, 1st Lieut. and Adjutant.

IOWANS WILL BE PRESENT UNIVERSITY THE MODEL.

Letters Received Indicate That Old God Will Be Well Represented at Saturday's Assembly.

The following is one of many letters received by the manager of the lecture bureau from alumni all over the country.

Dear Sir,

Yours of the 17th received and contents noted. I have arranged with W. S. Bratt, division freight and passenger agent of the C. M. & P. R. R., to put the express on a one fare rate from this city to Minneapolis, good leaving here at 4:20 a.m., Saturday, for return until Monday. This train goes north from here direct to Minneapolis and makes good connections both going and coming.

I wish you would send me a block of reserved seats so that I can accommodate the students here who will come through me. Yours truly, Prof. Richard T. Elly, of the University of Wisconsin, spoke to the students of the auditorium of the library hall at a few o'clock this afternoon. Dr. Elly's subject was "The Twentieth Century." In the course of his remarks, Dr. Elly said: "The internal in civil and municipal problems has increased greatly in the last twenty years. This is a sign most encouraging to optimists.

Today especially the men of the city are apt to be dominated by the New Yorker by birth and the controlling element in national life is coming largely from the city. From one-thousand of the popular politicians of the United States, the cities have increased to one-third of our population.

"This increase in urbanism is not due to sentimental consideration. The improvement in transportation, postal service, and machinery in general have sent people to the cities because there are the best means of living. The past twenty years have been marked by an increased number of cities, towns, villages, and conferences to raise the standard of civic procedure.

"Education in the business, not politics, 'gives us an economical administration,' separa-" city, we will have two classes of officers, those engaged in legislation and those in administration. The legislators should be representatives of every business. The administrative officers should have a special training and should have a long period of service. Let the successful mayors of the small cities be called to the larger cities. We have had this principle in the administration of our best state universities, the management of which requires the brightest types of the administrative faculty. The president of a state university corresponds to a mayor of a city, and he is chosen from over the entire country. Wisconsin chose a president from New York, Iowa from Nebraska, Missouri from Virginia. It is, too, the function of the university to train men for civic affairs. I believe that the modern university is doing more than trying else to bring forward the Twentieth Century city.

Tomorrow, at 3:15 at the athscrum team from Iowa. The Iowa team will be composed of those second team men who do not go to Minneapolis with the team and a part of the third team men.

The Fairfield men have a very fair team and will doubtless make a good showing against the lineups from Iowa. Iowa's scrubs will play a return game at Fairfield on
