WILLIAMS ON PROTESTS.

TELLS OF ROGERS AND CAYOU.

Protests and Rumors of Protest—Investigations started by Minnesota to Result in General Cleansing.

Minnesota stirred up a hornet's nest when she started investigation of athletic records by her eleventh hour protest of Captain Clyde Williams. Since the conference decided that Captain Williams is a professional because he broke the letter and not the spirit of a broad inter-collegiate rule whose interpretation was doubtful. Minnesota has been given the tip that if she has any of her present team left by the time of the Wisconsin game, she may consider herself lucky. Dobie, quarterback; Rogers, rightguard; LaFans, righthalfback, are some of the names mentioned for the chopping block. Professor Jones was told of the cases existing against his men at the conference meeting and as a result a general discussion was precipitated in which the temperature of Professor Jones and most of the delegates rose to the boiling point. Iowa did not join in the discussion as she was little interested after the disbarment of Captain Williams.

Captain Williams tells something of the present condition of affairs in the following interview, given before the result of the conference was known:

"Rogers is eligible to inter-collegiate athletics under the four-year limit rule, for Carlisle, where he played four years, is not a college but only a preparatory school.

"The point on which they could hold him, however, is receiving money to pay his school expenses. Rogers, as I am informed, had little or no money with which to pay his tuition at Carlisle and the government paid it for him. He was a great athlete and they didn't want to lose him. If that isn't receiving free tuition I am again wrong in my interpretation of the rules. I don't see why he shouldn't be barred on that ground. This would apply to Cayou of Illinois also.

"The fact of the matter is if athletics in the west were absolutely purged of all taints of professionalism we wouldn't have any athletics. An illustration of that was seen at Minnesota last year. I am told that Prof. F. S. Jones, their faculty athletic director, and Dr. Williams, their coach, started out in the spring to purify their baseball team and make its amateur standing perfect. After going through it systematically the attempt was abandoned because they found out that to cleanse their team of all taint of professionalism was to destroy the team, taking all its best players, for nearly every one of them had, some time in his life, broken some of the inter-collegiate rules, and there is no statute of limitations in the inter-collegiate rules."

Team Left Champaign this Morning, Twenty-two Strong—Last Night's Practice Best for Fortnight.

(Special to The Daily Iowan.)

CHAMPAIGN, ILL., Nov. 8.—Fairly confident of victory over Iowa tomorrow, the Illinois team left Champaign over the Big Four this morning. The team was cheered in its departure by a large crowd of students. Rooters accompany the team with money to bet, provided slight odds can be obtained. The reports from Iowa City that the university was all broken up over Captain Williams' disbarment from the team was characterized as rot by the coaches.

A fast practice on Illinois field was held at eight o'clock this morning. Stahl was not in the line-up but it is hoped that he will be able to play tomorrow. The signals were run smoothly and with speed and agility that pleased Coach Yost. It was announced at the conclusion of the practice that the team was in as good shape as could be expected and that a hard game, if not a victory, was certain. The probable line-up for the game announced here is as follows:

Associations Meet.

President MacLean leaves tomorrow for Washington, where he will represent the university at a joint meeting of the Association of State Universities and Association of State Agricultural colleges and experiment stations.

The object of the meeting is to take action and lay plans in regard to common interests. Steps will be taken to have these two organizations permanently united.

W. H. Weaver, '01, is located at Iowa Falls. He was elected Justice of Peace, Tuesday on the republican ticket.

CONNOR IS PRESIDENT.

IOWA MAN TO BE HONORED.

Fellow in Sociology to Succeed J. D. Stout as President of Ellsworth College.

Mr. J. E. Connor, fellow in sociology, has been elected president of Ellsworth college, at Iowa Falls, and will take up his duties next Monday, according to dispatches from Iowa Falls. Ellsworth college is an institution founded largely through the benevolence of the benefactor for whom it is named.

It has a small attendance and a good field for work, largely in the preparatory and first college years. It desires a lively, energetic head who will stimulate and broaden the institution and popularize it with the people of its community. Its choice for president was made some time ago, but has been withheld from announcement until final official action should be taken.

Mr. Connor is a graduate of the University of Iowa, class of '93, and later, a student in post-graduate courses in Yale. He has been for the past two years scholar and fellow in the School of Political Science. President Stout, his predecessor at Ellsworth, resigned suddenly, it was announced in dispatches, and left Iowa Falls with another man's wife.

The selection of Mr. Connor for this position is regarded as a fortunate one, as he is a man eminently qualified for the position, having had the experience that fits him for the duties that will devolve upon him.

The Iowa Practice.

Practice on Iowa field was light, the varsity being now in perfect condition for the Illinois game and needing only work to keep it up to the scratch. After half an hour's bright, active signal practice in as good form in every way as has been shown on Iowa field this season, Coach Knipe started games of "Lea" and "Three-deep" for the balance of the practice. Captain Williams was on the field in his uniform and contributed much to the good spirits of the men by his presence and coaching.

Official Rooters.

At the counting of the ballots for yell masters last night it was found that F. G. Emry, F. H. Minkel and Merrit Brackett, of the class of '02, Ward Henry '03, R. J. Bannister, L '03, and Bigger, D '03, were elected. Over four hundred votes were cast.

Miss Helen Gould has again shown her interest in Vassar College. Some time ago she presented it with two scholarships, now she has invested $20,000 in two more. They are both held for the benefit of the schools at Tarrytown, where Miss Gould has her summer home.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

WESTERN PROGRESS.

RECOGNIZED BY THE EAST.

At the Great Gathering at Yale, Western Education was given a Just Recognition.

At the Yale celebration, which was probably the greatest gathering of college presidents and educators ever held in this country, the West was given a very prominent place and her delegates received most cordial recognition at the hands of the East. President Angell, of Michigan, was honored with the degree of L. L. D., President Northrop of Minnesota, delivered one of the leading addresses, and President Harper, of Chicago, spoke as representative of the western universities, while President Wheeler, of California, was made doctor of law in recognition of the far west.

Many tributes were paid to the educational work of the middle west, Presidents Harper and Northrop bringing the institutions of this section into particular prominence. President MacLean's name was also one of those mentioned in the list of the five prominent western educators.

In general the eastern people recognize the high standard of work done by western institutions and speak of it in terms of great respect. The men who go east for post-graduate work have won this respect and esteem for us by their attainments and ability. At the banquet of Minnesota men given in New York City, ex-Governor Waller and Albert Shaw, of the Review of Reviews, paid high tribute to western faculties and western students, alluding to the fact of western men taking many important positions in the east.

That these expressions of eastern men are not meaningless is shown by the fact that the foremost eastern universities are only too glad to bid for western students and to give them places as fellows and scholars. In fact our own university faculties are able to place a certain number of men in these coveted positions each year.

That the West, not long ago regarded as uncouth and poorly cultured, should have been so much honored by one of the most conservative of the eastern universities on the occasion of its two hundredth anniversary, is indeed most gratifying.

Arthur Knipe, who is coaching the University of Iowa, has issued an order against having any of his pigskin chasers sit before a camera. Knipe says that pictures are a "hoodoo" on the team. He has evidently changed his mind on this subject since he played on Pennsylvania, when he was himself a candidate for fame, and had his own handsome face in all the papers.—The New York Sunday Telegraph.

F. S. Merriam, '01, who is at present with the law firm of Court-right & Arbuckle, at Waterloo, expects to take in the Iowa-Illinois game.

Entered at the post-office at Iowa City, Iowa, as second class mail matter, Oct. 11, 1901.

The University hopes some day to have a building that can be called an auditorium but until then it is a mistake to so call the general lecture room in the Liberal Arts Hall.

Now that our cheering at the games has been put upon a systematic basis and yell masters selected, there is now only a need of some good university or football songs, suitable for these occasions, to make our rooting a complete success. The poetical and musical talent of the university should attend to this and contribute some lively songs.

The Illinois team and students come to Iowa with a determination to win. Ever since the Thanksgiving game of two years ago when Iowa went through their line at will, and ran the score up to 57 to 0, they have been waiting for a chance to wipe out that defeat, therefore, for this contest, they have spared no effort or energy which would add to their chances of winning. They come with confidence and no doubt will put up one of the pluckiest battles that our team will meet this year. To meet this every Iowa student should be on the bleachers tomorrow with a megaphone and lots of enthusiasm ready to follow the leadership of the long needed and newly chosen yell masters. This will be the first time this year that the rooting will be under the direction of responsible leaders whose duty it will be to direct the yelling and keep it going in a systematic way. If the spirit that has already been shown is centralized by these leaders the rooting cannot help but be effective and add much to our chances of winning. These leaders should see that this is done and in order to do it must have it planned before hand. Meet Illinois confidence with Iowa spirit.

Of Course He Hasn't.

The following article taken from Truth, on editorial duties would apply in part to the editor of the average college paper: "The editor has no business to make mistakes. He has no business ever to get anything into his paper that people do not like. He ought to know what would suit each individual, or he ought to take each item before it is published and let the person whom it concerns censor it. An editor has plenty of time to do all this as all he has to do is hunt news and clean rollers, set type, clean the floor, pen short items and hustle advertising, fold papers and write wrappers, make paste and mail the papers, talk to visitors and distribute type, carry water and read proofs and correct mistakes, hunt the shears to clip articles, dodge the bills and dun delinquents, take cussings and tell subscribers he needs money. An editor has no business to make mistakes while attending to little trifles like these, and living on oxtail soup, flavoring, imagination, wearing old shoes and no collar, a patch on the equator of his pants, and at the same time turn a smiling countenance on the man who tells him that his paper isn't worth the subscription price and anyone could run a better one with his eyes shut."

"Barring me from all further participation in amateur athletics seems pretty hard, especially when there was no intentional breaking of a rule, and it was so small an infraction at any rate. I had an idea when I went to Chicago that such would be the result, though I hoped that it might be changed. Before I left Iowa City I hung up my uniform at the gymnasium and draped it, for I had little hope of ever again needing it in an inter-collegiate football game."
