THE MEDICAL BUILDING

THE SITE IS DECIDED ON.

It will be BUILT on the East Campus.

- No Definite Set of Plans are in hand.

With the aid and consent of the twenty-ninth general assembly Iowa will have a building for the medical college of the state.

The aid that will be required is $300,000. Architects have estimated that amount short of this sum will meet the kind of building that is needed for the rapidly expanding medical college.

The medical building will be designed with things in their present shape, definite plans and specifications have not been drawn up, but it is a good deal of preparatory work has been done in designing the structure. Dr. Flagg, on his last summer's European tour, had an opportunity of visiting the foremost medical colleges of the old world.

President Maclean on his late tour has been in a position to edit several modern medical establishments, and judging from the very close and individual home he has selected for himself in Minneapolis, he will have some ideas of what the building is to be.

Matters are, at present, in abeyance, but it has been practically decided that the new building will be built on the present site, and work is expected to be going on this fall.

The building has been talked over at informal meetings of the faculty and it is probable that five or six or more professors know in their mind just what the structure should look and it is supposed that the arrangement should be made for the fine and individual home that is to be.

Mr. Libby, the state architect, has also conferred with those who have been interested in the matter and has passed on a very general set of plans which were worked out at the meeting and outlining the approximate cost of the building for the benefit of the faculty.

PERCOLATOR'S COMMITTEE.

Those who have in charge the football of the pennant, collected the funds and did all the necessary arrangements to ensure the commencement of the sport.

Grinnell Game Saturday Will be Close -

Grinnell Men Say They Will Win on Last Week's Form.

Last year's varsity had a way of occasionally playing like high school boys in practice and that was the form in which they were defeated.

This year their eleven reversed this last week. In Wednesday's practice against the squads the varsity showed unquestionably the best form of the year in offense and defense.

Coach Kane gave the team light work Thursday and Friday, which should have bettered the team's form. Then Saturday's awful slump. Nobody as yet knows what to account for, so far as is known.

I was a team almost without teamwork. The formations were one game.

When on the offense, the backs were too slow in getting into the play and the guards and tackles, when called back tumbled to the ground, as if they felt the illi- using player beneath them. On the defensive, the line was too open to stop the attack and the runners gained unassisted or some of the other backs tackled him. It was difficult to have to fire the way—there was a hole big enough for a coach and the band to pass through.

The greatest gains were made through Iowa's right, the point a receiver to stronger in the team.

It was a bad dream.

Let's Forget It - Coach Kane's advice.

Just had a slump when Northwestern heater her, and all the men rallied to excellent form after it. Iowa may vary quite a bit, too, yet may yet Grinnell and play Michigan to a finish, but, we have the hearty support that it has always had.

The support given the team at its recent Lowell dinner was gratifying.

The team came in the last two minutes of play and forced the game from Iowa's 25 yard line to Illinois' territory might have been the cause of the university's new back of these ends and they passed them.

One of the Illinois players gave the after game.

"Your rooting is better than your playing, you volt. Not only Iowa's back own her team from fru to last, but you treated us nicely. You didn't cheer when you crossed your goal — you couldn't do that, but when we came in the end zone you cheered royally and we appreciated it. Our good plays you cheered and don't think you are going through."

The varsity practice on Iowa was light. Short signal practice was held after the practice the day before. Perry and Berry at tackle, Cuthbert at right end, Jones at half back and the rest of the line-up as usual. Practice was confined to the smashing plays that failed against Illinois, Coach Kane pointing out why they failed. After half an hour's work with the signals, Jones Griffith and Terrell caught the punts of Wilkins Knape and Ochiel reeves, while the rest of the candidates, by sets, ran down the field after the ball.

The game with Grinnell Saturday is bound to be a hard one. Grinnell men who watched Saturday's game went home confident of the Scarlet and Black team's ability to win if both teams play in their form of Friday or Saturday. A great many Iowa men share this opinion but think that the varsity will get together and wind up the season in good shape.

Ex-Captain John Griffith, now Simpson's coach, thinks that Iowa would win on the form of the Illinois' game as against Grinnell's form against Simpson but thinks that the game would be very close.

BETA THETA PI ENTERTAINS.

Friday evening Beta Theta Pi entertained at the armory. This was the first party of the year's social season and was enjoyed by the only armory parties up to this time. The one hundred guests present were admitted to the reception and dinner of the society of Cedar Rapids.

The attendance of society men from out of town was particularly large, and the hosts fully justified their reputation as leaders in the social field. Everything united to make the affair a brilliant one and a great success.

Brooke's orchestra.

A VERY PLEASING CONCERT.

Music Listens to a Rare Treat in the First Number of the Lecture Course.

The first number of the lecture course was certainly a brilliant success in every way. Mr. Brooks is in command of a choir in such a well balanced organization that there was a dash and swing to the music that one seldom hears in an orchestra. The program was one which should have suited the taste of the most fastidious. The classical clash had a chance to bear selections from the beloved Wagner, along with the freshman and other selections from King. Among the numbers which received the heartiest applause was a pretty piece patrol entitled "The Scissors Grinder," Buffalo March, and the ever busy "William Tell." Mr. Timmons, the flute soloist, made a very pleasing appearance. The trombone soloist, Mr. Hild decided hit, being encored several times. The orchestra made its work very gracefully. We think that the Lecture Bureau should give the organization another try and present an excellent number, and should the remaining number succeed in any way reaching the high mark which Brookie and his remarkable orchestra set, we predict a glorious success for this year's course.

Every thing considered, the rooting at the game Saturday showed a slight improvement, but still it was by no means what it should have been. If we could get away from the idea that rooting is merely an expression of joy over victory and learn that it is the instrument by which we can make the team feel that they are doing our work, that we are as anxious to win as they are, that we are all together in our love for the varsity and our desire for her success, then the rooting will begin to show improvement. The crowd roots before the game with good heart and keeps it up if we are winning, but shameful though it is to say, the bleachers rush up in the face of defeat. This kind of thing is what is denominated as "quitting." We do not tolerate it in the team, no more should we in the grandstand.

A Prominent Alumnus.

Mr. Frank Springer of the class of '97 is visiting friends and remembering old memories about the university. He finds things very much changed since being here; for now, only the member of the faculty who was here then is Dean Currier.

Mr. Springer is a lawyer in New Mexico and besides having gained eminence in his profession he has also devoted some time to original research along the line of science, having a valuable collection of zoological specimens.

He was entertained last night by Prof. Nutting, who gave an informal dinner party in his home.
