In the acme of her form for the season, Iowa went down before Michigan, fighting bravely all the time. Neither a color was struck Thanksgiving morning. The gal- lant Hawkeyes made a record on that West Side football field for which Iowa can give thanks for well nigh a year—until the coming of another and better season, another and better team raised from the dead ashes of this year's hopes, will again give the Hawkeyes heart cease for rejoicing and once more startle the shades of campus and city this coming Thanksgiving.

Iowa played a snappier, swifter, more intelligent and stubborn game in every manner of the day than at any time this year. The victory shows more than anything else the surpassing strength of the wonderful Michigan team. Iowa was outplayed in every minute of the game after the first fifteen minutes of the first half and the first ten minutes of the second period of slaughter. The game was an overwhelming defeat by the largest score made on Thanksgiv- ing day and the largest of the season in a big game. Yet it was no less interesting. Michigan fought for all she gained. No touchdowns were made by run- ning the length of the field and no smashes of ten or fifteen yards were recorded. Thirty yards was the limit on Michigan's wonderful- end runs and eight yards on halfback and these were one. Driver played in his place and fought like a hero. Every Hawkeye played with his fellow and spoke not himself to stop the terrific smashes and pounding and dash- ing of the Michigan team in the west, save Wisconsin.

ENGINEERING PROGRESS.

New Machines—Wonderful Hydraulic Laboratory System, Not Shop Work.

There is much activity in the engineering building. This is due to a new iron new jet working machines have been re- ceived and are being placed in position to be connected up with the shafting which runs the entire length of the building. The machines which the workmen are setting in place on the west side of the building are a Chickopee Planer made by the Ames Mfg. Co., an eighteen inch Blaisdell and he explained the rules to be, a ten inch rack cutter, a nine inch Barnes lathe, a band saw, sheet saw, a V shore drill and a cutter grinder. In the south end of the room will be located a five horse power Lanston automatic type setting machine and in the north end a thirty-five horse power Lanston automatic type setting machine which will take its steam from the high pressure steam main and also provide a high pressure and will furnish the steam.

The hydraulic laboratory when finished will be one of the most remarkable in the world. The Mun- nington 8 x 10 x 12 duplex pump capable of maintaining a water head of sixty feet will be used to let pressure and the ten inch rack will force the water through a four inch pipe line running along the east wall of the labora- tory. This pipe line will connect with a high pressure cylinder capable of withstanding a pressure equal to one thousand feet head of water.

The laboratory is composed of: first, the hydraulic laboratory. By this lab oratory is fitted up with arresters, baffles plates and weighing vessels, the latter of which is being attached to the system an orifice tank, ejector, impulse wheel hav- ing a maximum of 50 horse power, and a fly wheel, etc., and systems of pipe lines for illustrating the less in engineering. The head due to right angle, quick return, curved bends etc.

The pump in the laboratory is managed by two men who have charge of the auxiliary fire protection sys- tem for the university property on the campus. This system contemplates a line of six-inch pipe, through the campus, north and south, back of the Old Capit- tol building with a six-inch con- nection, running to the water chamber of the pump in the hy- draulic laboratory. By this system and pressure can be had to throw water over the flag staff on the campus five hours or greater engine and in the event of a fire the force of the stream will be great enough to tear down a brick and mortar.

The improvements here outlin- ed constitute the nucleus of a me- chanical engineering laboratory for demonstrating purposes. The machinery and equipment is to be used for shop work and nothing in that line is contemplated, that field being in the hands of the neg- le of mechanical arts at Ames.

The Middletonian will be out about December 18th.

well of the university. The players have been hard workers, have played for the university and played as hard as they knew how. They did not come up to the teams of '98 and '99 but what green team could? The 1901 team has never loafed, has played hard, consistent ball through the season and when they were beaten, it was because they were outclassed. There is no one to blame and no blame to place. It was hard luck that is all.

Dr. Knipe has done well and the team has done well. We did not win this year but we will next, chalk it up your hat, and we will win over the same teams that defeated us this year. Iowa will not have to meet such a combination of unfavorable conditions again in many seasons.

One thing the season has demonstrated and that is the need of an experienced trainer. It is enough for one man to see to it that the team is conditioned, that every man is in proper physical shape for every game so that when the whistle blows Iowa's eleven shall be fit to compete. The coach cannot do this work and it is of vital importance.

Entered at the post-office at Iowa City, Iowa, as second class mail matter, Oct. 14, 1901.

The football player now retired out of the lime light in the center of the stage and the debater and orator steps into his place. The party committee begins to take a large part of the public attention, and in the distance we see looming up the figures of the baseball man and the pole vaulter.

All records for slowness have been broken by this year's handbook. This book is published and distributed free of charge by the Y. M. C. A. and of course it is not good form to complain, but while a handbook is a very useful thing to have and 'have early in the year, a handbook in December is about as good as none at all. Whoever is responsible for the delay of the publication has caused great inconvenience to all and almost defeated the entire enterprise, for most students have by this time learned the addresses of their friends and don't need a dictionary.

Beaten fairly and by an overwhelming score. There is not much more to say about Thursday's game except that our team fought out to the end and that Michigan has the best team in the west and probably in the country. Iowa congratulates you Michigan, even in the hour of her defeat. Though beaten in the three big games of the season and beaten roundly, the 1901 team deserves
