WADE ON IOWA ATHLETICS

BRIGHT THOUGHTS ON FOOT BALL.

Judge Wade Says Many People Expect Athletics to Pay Enough Profit to Run the University.-- Other Speeches.

At the President's banquet to the foot-ball men, Judge Wade in his toast on "The Department," said many brilliant things. Some of his sentences were:

"A lot of people in the university and Iowa City think that we should make enough money out of athletics to relieve the legislature from the necessity of appropriating any money to run the university.

"The board of control ought to be criticized. It doesn't get any salary and anyone who gets no salary ought to get something.

"Every young athlete must be on the safe side these days of protests. Be wise, young men, and don't fall in the mill race or pitch hay.

"I went to Chicago Thanksgiving day at a considerable sacrifice of time because I thought the boys were going to be beaten and I thought that was about the time a fellow ought to be around.

"I expected that it would be rather unfortable at Chicago for us Iowans who have been winning so regularly of late. But I felt prouder there than I ever felt before. The team never quit; it was a magnificent struggle.

"The importance of giving students the custom of exercising in their college days can not be over estimated. The department of physical training is one of the most important in the university. It should be supported by a tax on every student.

"Iowa has a large bank account to draw on. We have laid up a goody store of scores in years gone by and the drafts upon the deposits this year will not exhaust them by any means.

"The teams that have given Iowa trouble this year have been learning from Iowa for the past two or three years and it is simply to our great credit that they have developed so well.

"There is nothing that develops people like adversity. Iowa is sure of a creditable team with her present spirit in defeat and has great hopes of a wonderfully strong one."

Manager McCutchen in speaking of "The Dollars and the Doughnuts" announced that like Michigan and many other western universities, the athletic year would close in debt. and that in order to have a good baseball schedule it would be necessary for the students to raise money by subscription or by joining the athletic union. Mr. McCutcheon then reviewed the financial situation as he took charge of the football team as the successor of Manager Munger—the athletic union $2,000 in debt and nothing to show for it but an old grandstand, an old track and an old settee. In the past two years Iowa has partly completed the best athletic grounds in the west.

"Personally," concluded Manager McCutchen, "I don't know that I will ever pass through as pleasant experience as during the last four years as manager of the football team. There are better things for the future of athletics at Iowa than there have been in the past. It is essential that Dr. Knipe remain here as a coach, a thing which he has promised to do, but I want to say that you should everyone of you, support him and make it as easy for him as possible, for if you don't, there are plenty of other places waiting and watching for him. It is also important that every member of this year's team who is eligible to play shall return, and also that all the candidates this year and all the new material we can find be ready for the beginning of work next fall."

Captain Williams toasted the team of 1901. "We have fought and fought hard," he said. "We have never quit. We have been defeated and we know how to take defeat. The Minnesota fight was one of the gamest ever played in the west and every man in it should be remembered forever at Iowa as a truest hero. Every player likes and loves Coaches Knipe and Hobbs and hopes they will be back next year."

Acting Captain Burrier, in toasting "The Veterans" hoped none of the veteran players on future teams would play their last on a losing team.

Coach Hobbs, speaking on "The Team of 1901," said that he expected next year's team to be one of the strongest Iowa has had for some years.

Coach Knipe expected to be present at the banquet but at the last moment telegraphed his regrets, showing that it was impossible to be present. Judge M. J. Wade therefore responded to his toast, "The Department."

Sophomore Cotillion.

The Sophomore cotillion committee announce that the date set for the cotillion is January 17th. This party will be the only class party of the winter term and coming as it does at a very popular season, the committee feel that they will be called upon to give a party that will surpass any class affair that has ever been given here. The committee is putting forth every effort to make it a most successful event and expect the tickets, which will be on sale tomorrow, to go rapidly, as a great number have already signified their intention of going. The music will be furnished by Peterson's orchestra, of Davenport.

Minnesota will hold their preliminary to the Iowa debate, December 20th. About fifteen men have entered the contest among whom appears the name of O. P. McElmeel, the whirlwind leader of their team last year.

The Law basket ball team defeated the Academy team last night.

THE RECITALS.

DRAMATIC PRESENTATIONS.

Two of To-day's Most Popular Novels Will Be Presented by Talented and Well Recommended Reciters.

Two of the series of dramatic recitals to be given under the auspices of the department of public speaking will be given this term. The first one, which will take place next Saturday evening, promises to be of unusual interest, as it consists of a number of selections from the new and popular novel, "When the Gates Lift up their Heads," rendered by Emma Payne Ershine, the talented author of the book.

The plot of this new book which has won the approval of the critics everywhere, is laid in North Carolina and life among the forests and mountains of the South is charmingly brought out in a very interesting and dramatic manner. The book is in fact one of the most informing of novels, but this fact does not detract from its attractiveness as a story.

As a reader Miss Erskine comes with the highest of recommendations and giving as she does, selections from her own work, the recital will no doubt be of the first order.

The next recital which immediately follows Mrs. Erskine's will be given by Miss Katherine Jewell Everts, on next Wednesday evening. Miss Everts has won for herself an enviable place among the leading dramatic readers of the East, where her work thus far has been confined, this being her first appearance before an Iowa audience. She will give a dramatic arrangement of Mary Johnson's novel "To Have and to Hold." Miss Evert's presentation of this novel has been very highly complimented by the best judges of the country. Mr. Henry Austin Clapp, Boston's leading dramatic critic, says:

A large and choice audience listened, last night, to a recitation of an unusual sort, given by Miss Katherine Jewell Everts.

Miss Everts, a slender girl, fair in face and graceful in figure, "gowned" like the heroine of Tennyson's most beautiful idyl, "in pure white was fitted to the shape," blessed with a sweet, fresh voice, modest and unaffected, yet self-possessed in manner, appeared, on her first appeal both to the eye and ear, to be very fortunate in the gifts of nature. And presently it was made equally plain that culture of those gifts had been careful and effective through the young artist's quick and docile intelligence.

The dramatic version, which is to be characterized as a remarkably neat and rapid condensation of the novel, was compounded about equally of narrative and dialogue, occupied two hours in delivery, and was effected with perfect smoothness, and without one lapse of memory. There was no flagging of interest from the start to the finish of the romantic tale of love and adventure.

Miss Evert's unintermitted vivacity and freshness, her power of entering into the situation, and her aptness in feeling character and expressing it through its various emotional manifestations were definitely demonstrated.

Jocelyn Leigh's face, in moments of fear, anger, or offended pride, was fine; but its sweetness and shyness were very beautiful, perhaps no more beautiful than the singularly sunny looks, mixed of amusement, dignity, gentleness, respect and affection, which radiated from Captain Ralph Percy's face in his early interviews with Jocelyn Leigh.

New Courses.

All of the first term regular freshman classes will be given again during the winter term.

Mr. Thomas will give a course in Political Parties, Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays at 11:00 a. m., room 203.

Latin Course 18, Tuesday 1:30 p. m., room 110, open to students who have completed Latin 3. Prof. Currier will confer with intending members of this class at 12 m., Monday, Dec. 16th.

Mr. Gordon offers Public Speaking, 10 (for men). Extempore Speaking, 1 hour, Winter and Spring terms. Time to be arranged.

Miss Everts offers Public Speaking 11 (for women). Vocal Expression, 1 hour. Winter and Spring terms. Time to be arranged.

Attention is called to the announcement of the Registrar as to registration for the Winter term. All students are urged to arrange personal program, at least, before the close of the term.

AMOS N. CURRIER.

The New York Sun ranks the 1901 Eastern football teams in the following order: Harvard, Yale, West Point, Princeton, Cornell, Lafayette, Syracuse, Columbia, Annapolis, Pennsylvania, Dartmouth, Williams, Wesleyan, Amherst, Carlisle Indians, Brown.

In the December number of the "Journal of Applied Microscopy" Prof. Houser has a very interesting article on the general methods for the study of the nervous system.

There are fifty-seven student organizations in the university, as that is the number composing the Board of Student delegates.

Arthur L. Rule, L '00, of Cedar Rapids, has been unanimously elected captain of Co. C, of the National Guard of that city.

Will Bailey '91, now a successful lawyer of Chicago left this morning after a visit with his brother, Ed. Bailey.

F. C. McCutchen departed for New Mexico yesterday where he will remain until about January 1.

Moffit, '04, was suddenly called home this morning by the death of his father.

Entered at the post-office at Iowa City, Iowa, as second class mail matter, Oct. 11, 1901.

The faculty of the college of liberal arts have decided to follow the lead of the other faculties and next year will substitute the semester system of credits for the old three-term plan. It now only remains for the law college to make the forward move and the modern system will be established in all colleges.

Some of the reference books on the library tables are being taken out and kept over time, while others are otherwise disappearing. This practice is a source of annoyance to the librarian and of much inconvenience to the classes for whose use the books were intended. Students having assignments and references to look up go to the tables only to find the books gone. Those who are the cause of this trouble certainly show a lack of courtesy and surely do not appreciate the rights of others for the books are for the use of all. Whether it is thoughtlessness, or whether it is something else, the practice should stop at once for the fact that there are others should never be lost sight of.

Notice.

TO STUDENTS IN ALL COLLEGES: Students may register at any time now for the second term's work and are advised to do so, as far as possible, to avoid confusion at the beginning of the winter term.

To register for the second term students registered for the fall term and students re-entering, who were registered for work last year, will call at the office of the registrar for tuition cards, pay tuition to the treasurer and return to the office of the Registrar.

New students will call at the office of the examiner who will give necessary information and instructions.

On and after Thursday, January 16, students not regularly registered will not be allowed to be in attendance upon classes.

TO STUDENTS IN THE COLLEGE OF LIBERAL ARTS:

Students in the college of liberal arts who do not pay their tuition and register regularly for the next term's work before leaving for the holidays, are requested to call at the office of the registrar between December 12 and 19 to arrange in advance their program of studies. In cases where no change in program is contemplated, students are expected to call and give notice to that effect.

During the first four days at the opening of the term those who have been to the office previously to arrange their work and those who register without change of programs will be given preference.

Records of absences are kept from the opening of the term and whether students are or are not registered before the sixteenth, they should be in attendance upon classes for which they intend to register.

Students who fail in Freshman English, French, German or Mathematics, for the first term, must re-register for the same work at the opening of the winter term.

Of Interest to Women.

"Are You a Mason?" will be presented at Opera House, Friday, Dec. 13. The women of the land who have looked with suspicion on that, "I've been to the lodge" excuse, will, as well as others see a stage interpretation of that famous joke, in the production here of, "Are you a Mason?" It is a rollicking farce adapted from the German. As a result of a promise made to his wife, Amos Bloodgood, of Rockford, Ill., joins the Masons, but only in imagination. Mrs. Bloodgood's implicit faith in the Masons, enables Bloodgood to extend the deception over a term of years.
