THE UNIVERSITY
BY OUR GOVERNOR

The extensive growth of this state constitutes all its colleges of higher learning, save those already mentioned, in the State University. It is, and ought to be, a cherished object of devotion and admiration. I confess, that while I have the deepest solicitude for the growth and betterment of our Normal school and agricultural college, my affection tingles last and longest upon the State University. The educational way it is the movement which marks the position of this university in the world of culture, and around it cluster our choicest memories and highest hopes. To consider, if we should remember that it is easier to form character than it is to remove it. If the reformative institutions proceed, in point of importance, reformative institutions. Government has no stronger function than to prepare men and women for citizenship. Generosity and liberality should distinguish the provisions made for the State University. Inasmuch as it is the institution intended to represent our highest education in higher and specialized forms, it should be all that money can create, of genius deriving. Iowa is not poor and there is no extravagant form in which either its State University will be enabled. State University to the best and most brave work of which a university is capable I have given some time to the investigation of the subject so nearly my heart.

The fact is, a state institution, whatever the pecuniary burdens and the private benevolence and philanthropy, may bear upon the character, that there is no school in the Union that has made more progress, achieved more, done more work with the same means.

The fact is, a state institution.

In some degrees, I am not gratified to pride us to remember that we are doing less for our university than Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Missouri and Nebraska are doing for theirs. We ought to be ashamed of seeing less done in the accomplishing of education, and it is humiliating to see our state less able to keep the pace passing us in the ranks. We are not accustomed to look at the lack of our resources in any month, and I trust that we may speedily take our proper position in the advancing column.

AN ATHLETIC FIELD

PLANS ALMOST COMPLETED

A New Field Which Will De Credit in the State--For Use Next Spring

The board of Union Park commissioners of Des Moines in conference with the Intercollegiate Athletic Association are completing the plans for the making of the new athletic field which shall be best adapted for the use of the state colleges in their annual field meets and other athletic events. The idea is to make it the best athletic field in the West; one which will do credit to the city of Des Moines and also to the State of Iowa. The plans completed will contain a one-third mile track, a base ball diamond, and a football grid, besides commodious grandstands and bleachers.

The games committee of the athletic association met Thursday in the office of C. B. Brennan and drew up plans and requirements for such a field which were submitted to the park board. The committee was appointed to set a time of holding a meeting for the purpose of concluding arrangements.

The ground will be broken as soon as possible.

The location in Union Park is a good one, it being within easy reach of the downtown street car lines in the city. The chief man on the park board in this movement is the Hon. James Stover, a man who has always been a firm friend of athletics in Iowa.

University of Iowa
Mandolin and Banjo Clubs

The first truly university organization of this nature, was organized at the University last term and are now working in earnest.

The club consists of a double mandolin quintette, a banjo quartette, a guitar sextette, cello, mandola, flute and violin. As a whole the members are good men and each being good in his line. Among them are many well known musicians who have played with former clubs of the university. A number of likely candidates are trying for places but as there are several places left open, all may be happy next week will be given a trial.

The first of the series of baseball games, which the. peculiarly Y. M. C. A. team are now playing resulted in a victory for the home team by a score of 7 to 0.

The tour of Iowa in the spring came from King Idaho, Floralda and many other southern schools.

Rec tal5

The last of the dramatic recital which was given by Miss Katherine Rhoss, Miss Segger and Miss Gertrude Paine at the University last night was the best for the series of progressive hearts.

Miss Zoe Debelhelm and Miss Annie Folkerts entertained a fort-enty of their friends at an afternoon party Thursday. Progressive.

The most interesting event of the game played and prizes won by Miss Myra Hoskins, Miss Hayes, Ignon, the "Out of town" gang was given by Miss Margaret Small, Alice Taylor, Miss Gertrude Muscatine, and Miss Anna Farrell, F. Podge.

Employment Bureau

The employment bureau of the Y. M. C. A. gave their report for the fall term at the business meeting Tuesday. The report was given by J. C. Saunders, who is chairman of the bureau, and stated that the good work of the C. A. is doing in aiding those who are working their way through college.

During the term some seventy two men have applied to the bureau for work. Of this number some twelve have been found permanent jobs and some thirty work temporarily, making in all forty-two jobs obtained through the work of the bureau. The estimated value of this work was given at two hundred and seven dollars.

Senior Class Play

The senior class play committee informs an Iowa Reporter that the play role for the play was not yet certain or completed. A number of parts have been pruned, debated upon, however, and the committee only await their acceptance before making any announcement to the effect that be the sentiment of a great majority of the class that Thomas Clag d be given the leading part.

Other parts will probably be taken by Misses A. H. Beitch, Ima Moler, Eila Par stopped by some sure aim and Footballs and Football their purpose. The inspiring words of Governor Cummins in regard to the University are such that they elicit for him the gratitude of everyone who desire the highest and noblest for Iowa. They set forth the conditions in their true light and are full of that encouragement which comes from a bright hope for the future. Hats off to Governor Cummins! The movement on foot by the citizens of Des Moines to make an athletic field which will be suitable and convenient for the annual State field meet, is certainly a laudable one. The need of such a field has been keenly felt in the past. The inaugural address of Governor Cummins should be read and studied by every Iowa citizen.

Have a Purpose

A great majority of the mistakes and failures in life are made because those who make them have no definite aim or object in view. The most of the failures in business are made by men who, from the start have been drifting from one thing to another. So it is with our professional men. If you see one who is being crowded from the ranks it is generally safe to suppose that he went into the profession with no definite idea of what he was getting into. Thus it is in everything. He who fails is he who has no sure aim or purpose.

On the other hand, it is almost universally true that the great successes, the great achievements, are attained by those, who from their youth up have been led and dominated by some sure aim and purpose. The prosperous business man is the one who always had some goal in view. The eminent lawyer or physician will most invariably tell you that he began to make definite plans in his boyhood. A definite purpose, a conscientious effort and success is sure to follow.

Since, then, this idea of plan, or end in view is such an important factor in life and does to such a great extent determine either success or failure, should it not be especially kept in view by us as students who are preparing ourselves and making our habits for the future. The student who is continually changing his course, who don't know what he wants or what he is here for, who, in short, is without definite purpose, is sure to add one more to the long list of failures. But the other student, who has kept to his course from the beginning, who knows what he wants and goes after it, who always with a certain end in view has kept steadily to the front, is just as sure of success. All experience teaches us that with a strong ambition following a path marked out by a definite purpose and a lofty ideal success is sure to be attained. Let us then, make our plans, choose our career or profession, in short, take steady aim and shoot straight at the mark.

Hope they are not worrying you. No man can develop the better part of his nature while his feet ache. Aside from making himself disagreeable to others he loses considerably of life’s sunshine.
