ANDERSON AGAINST
DANISH ISLANDS

INDIES A BURDEN TO DENMARK

Former Minister to Copenhagen Talks of the Danish Universities—Favors Denominational Colleges Dean Gregory a Rising Price

"The people of Denmark are inclined to object to the sale of their West India islands because of their dislike for having their limbs amputated," said Hon.
Rasmus R. Anderson, former U. S. minister to Denmark, this afternoon.

"King Christian of Denmark ascended the throne with the country crippled by the loss of some of its best students where the people may long be proud, for the islands are a fine lot of students where the Danish treasury as nothing is raised from the islands. There is no strong of the same opinion, for the islands as there was in 1801. Then the claim was that we needed them as a strategic point in the Caribbean sea. We have gained all this by the possession of Pombo and Huancayo. We will in ten years have to take Cuba as well, so I do not see that we need flourishing in English, during the entire winter. It is done out of respect for the people of Wisconsin by a very talented student. Then the Bagder and the Sphinx are the literary magazines of the college students. They are all very good ones. Dean Gregory's lecture on "Our Tentoonic Epics," will be delivered in the main lecture ooming room of the library of the Union College in Madison, where his home now is. He is the author of the books and histories of

WILL HEAR NORMALITES DEBATE

Messrs. Van Ness, Kenderline and Kolso members of the Forum debating society will hold a meeting last evening, when they will attend a debate between two societies of the Normal School this evening. The annual debate between the "Weavers," students of the Senate and the Forum occurs on the twenty-eighth of this month, and promises to be an unusually spirited one. The question to be debated by the Normalites toight is the same as that chosen for the inter-society debate: "Resolved that history has proven the wisdom of the fifteen Amendment. The law societies have appointed a committee for the purpose of securing a debate with the University of Nebraska.

The only novelty booked for an early presentation here—if a re-written version of an ever welcome offering may be so designated—is "Next Door," that familiar funny conceit built to exploit the marvelous undertakings of the world's greatest acrobats, the Bros. Royer. This merry melange will be seen at the opea house, on Saturday, Feb. 5, not only in a new dress from line and incident standpoint, but with many new vanguard innovations, new ideas in costumes, extravagant scenery and an augmented cast, including among others the original and only Bros. Royer.
