The wisdom of the adoption of the fiftieth Amendment will be in question tomorrow night. First year's vote to argue later.

That the debating talent of the university is not all confined within the limits of forensic societies of the college of liberal arts is to be demonstrated tomorrow night in the general lecture room of the new hall when the selected speakers from the two debating societies will match argument and oratory with the chosen ones from their rival society, the Hammond Law.Law.

Last year these two societies formed debating teams for the purpose of conducting debates and in accordance with this compact the principals in the fall term were the chief contributors of the argument. The Hammond Law submitted the following question to the Forum regarding forensic societies in the history of the world. Careful consideration of the Foremen failed to convince these gentlemen that they chose to negative the proposition.

Four of these men have served out their apprenticeship on the debating floor and should show the results of preliminary training. Van Ness has served on an inter-society debate at the Normal School. Grinstead represented preliminary training in the forensic society of the Missouri State Normal school when Kenderdine was a member of the affirmative at Cornell college.

The same question was but recently discussed at Cedar Falls, and the three Foremen were sent to digest the argument. Both sides are now hard at work on the subject and it is certain that the wisdom of the entrenchment of the grapple will be well discussed before the last top of the gavel by Davard Gregory, who presided over the contest. Judge H. E. Deemer, Dr. R. P. Shambaugh and Attorney Walter Davis have been agreed upon as judges of the merits of the discussion.

The law debating league is now in correspondence with law societies of the Southern states and the Western Universities for the purpose of securing an inter-university law debate during the coming summer. The kind of the kind will probably be attempted this year but it is the intention of this league to establish such a debate for future years.

The foremen societies have already chosen men from their ranks to take part in the first year debate. Messrs. W. D. Ralston, E. G. Nasan and G. Claassen will represent the Forum and Messrs. C. V. Clark, J. E. Cross and D. M. Kelly will argue for the Hammond Law. Question submitted by the Forum team is: Resolved, that high protective tariffs is more beneficial to industries of the United States than complete equal protection and the Hammond team has chosen to deny. The contest will be held during the spring term.

STUDENT CONVENTION

Nearly Three Thousand Delegates Meet in an Enthusiastic Convention

The fourth student volunteer Convention which met at Toronto from February 26th to March 1st was larger than any previous convention, there being nearly three thousand registered delegates in attendance. These delegates were from twenty-two different countries and represented 24 institutions. The delegates were occupied in the discussion of the ponto of real English style, with out any of the neckbreaking boasts and approximations. They were not lacking in liberty either when we consider that the city of Chicago has an estimated population of about 2,500,000. The convention was an Iowa boy, Mr. John Mott. The missionary interest of the convention was the Iowa boy. The missionary interest was heightened by the presence of one hundred and seventy returned missionaries notable among whom were Bishop Thorburn for forty years missionary to India and Mrs. Howard Tay lor for whom were fourteen years missionary to Siberia, and lived through the recent Boxer riots and siege of Peking.

There were general secretaries of the W. Y. C. A. and seventy general secretaries of the Y. M. C. A. also in attendance. The rest were foreign visitors, secretaries and representatives of young peoples societies, graduate volunteers, speakers and others.

The seventeen delegates from our university, met the greatest part of the ninety Iowa delegates in Chicago where the Wabash and Canadian Pacific had provided a special train direct to Toronto. The return trip was via Niagara where a half day stop over was provided to view the Falls.

Miss Ruth Paxson, state secretary of Iowa, for the Young Women's Christian association, is with us today. She has been away from the university for a few days this week. Miss Paxson is a member of the Kapok Kappa Gamma freemasons and has been entertained by the local chapter. She is a woman of strong personality and is the most earnest speaker. She will talk to the girls at the kindergarten this (Saturday) evening, at 6:15, and again Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

NO PLACE FOR POOR MAN

GENERAL MANAGERSHIP: AN EXPENSIVE HONOR

Manager McCutchen Spent $500 More Than His Salary to Maintain the Position Creditably—Athletic News

"Do you know that Manager McCutchen during his three years as general manager spent more than $1,500 over and above his salary in order to maintain his position creditibly and to the best advantage of the university?" remarked a member of the athletics. As a matter of fact these things require ability of the highest order, but they are the simplest of a general manager's duties. In addition, he must be a diplomat of no mean order of merit, who would manage Iowa's athletic enterprises not only with the universities of the west but with the colleges of the state. He must be popular with the athletes, with the team captains and above all, with the director of the athletic department. It must be a man of ability to work with the newspaper correspondents who have an influence which can be appreciated by Coach Williams' statement that if McCutchen's bunch sent out from Iowa City last October added 8, instead of the gate receipts and Minnesota-Iowa game. Add altogether of all these qualities and you will agree with me that a man must have long training to properly fit himself for the general manager's position.

Manager McCutchen has not yet resigned as general manager. No successor will be appointed by the board until his resignation is acted upon. Manager McCutchen may be able to return to the university next year, in which case he may be induced to continue as the general manager.

A bill was introduced by Senator Courtright relating to the levy of a one-tenth mill tax for the erection of buildings at the State Normal school yesterday.
Last week our chances of possessing the coveted fossil and of having a baseball team were about on a par. Both were to be had for the requisite amount of the coin of the realm, but in neither case did this same fliby hury show itself in any alarming quantities. A goodly amount of energy coupled with well directed endeavor on the part of those in interest removed the difficulty in the first case and secured for the university the fossil. We suggest to the president of the athletic union that a little more than a homeopathic application of this same medicine might work wonders toward relieving the base ball situation of its sorry aspect.

Benj. F. Teneblood seems to be making the rounds of Iowa colleges with his dissertation on peace. Though during the reign of peace may be the time to prepare for war, still there can be no valid objection to allowing peace to get a word in edgewise and since it must be said where could be found more fertile fields for the sowing of these so-called “peace seeds” than in the minds of the college students? Then they are by force of habit and long train-

With this issue the Daily Iowan reaches the century mark. There may and no doubt have been times when the management has erred in judgment but we feel that the general success of the paper will demontstrate the wisdom of the combination of the two former publications into one university daily.

Of course it is not compulsory upon an editor to give credit for an article copied from another newspaper but such a course of proceeding is considered as better ethics among the best class of journalists.

Amusements

"When we were 21" is a constant succession of tearful laughter. Certainly this comedy is the best England or France has favored as with for years, and as depicted by an excellent organization engaged to portray the life-life characters, the same of the natural school of acting is very nearly obtained.

One of the new stage beauties is appearing this season in the part of "Flyllis" in Esmond's "When we were 21" and is meeting with great success. She is Miss Doro Booth, and comes from Toronto, where she is well known and popular in Canadian society.
