THE SUMMER SESSION

University Opens June 16 for the Annual Summer Session.—Large Number of Courses will be Offered

The summer session of the University which is intended particularly for superintendents, school teachers and university students will begin this year on June 16 and close July 26. This session will have many more courses open to the student than has heretofore been the case and will provide an excellent opportunity for students to take advantage of the summer time to pursue their studies along these several lines.

During the session the Department of Greek offers a course in beginning Greek, and one in Xenophon's Economicus. One or more graduate courses will also be offered.

In Latin, under Professor Fairbanks and Miss Hughes, at least four courses will be offered, consisting of a course in Caesar or Cicero's Orations, one in Composition and Syntax, one in the plays of Plautus or Terence, and selections from Ovid's Metamorphoses. Work will also be provided for graduate students.

Prof. Van Steenderen of the Department of French offers a course in the grammar which is equivalent to the third term of French, a course in French conversation and composition, and one in reading from French authors.

Professor Wilson of the German Department offers four courses, consisting of the German Drama; German Composition; Seminar for advanced students; and a Conference on Methods.

The English Department, under Professor Ansley, offers a course in the drama. Shakespeare's Macbeth will be considered in detail. The second course offered is the Novel—studies in the structure and significance of prose fiction. The work will be based upon "The Last of the Mohicans," "Silas Marner," "The Vicar of Wakefield," and "Ivanhoe."

The Department of Public Speaking offers a course in Vocal Training and Expression, and in Public Address. Both courses are in charge of Professor Gordon.

Professor Wilcox offers a course in United States History and in the Napoleonic Era in Europe. In addition to these courses, Professor Wilcox will give a series of five lectures on subjects of historical interest.

Professor Patterson of the Department of Economics gives courses in Economics, Modern Industrialism and Taxation.

The Department of Philosophy and Psychology offers the following courses: Dr. Stuart—Introduction to Philosophy. Assistant Professor Seashore—General course in Psychology. Dr. Seashore and Miss Williams—Laboratory Course in Psychology. Dr. Seashore—Research in Psychology.

The Department of Pedagogy under Professor Bolton offers courses in Problems in Advanced Educational Psychology; High School Inspection; Child Study, and Elementary Education.

Professor Houser of the Department of Morphology offers a course in Animal Biology; a Teacher's course in Physiology, and a graduate course.

The Department of Chemistry offers the following courses: Professor Andrews—Introduction to the Elements of Chemistry and Organic Chemistry. Dr. Von Ende—Physical Chemistry; and Determinative Mineralogy and Qualitative Analysis.

The Physics Department under Professor Veblen offers courses in Acoustics and Optics, Laboratory Work and Graduate Work.

The Department of Mathematics under Professor Weld offers the following courses: Algebra; Plane Geometry; Solid Geometry; Trigonometry; Higher Mathematics and Astronomy.

ATHLETICS AT DRAKE

Track Men are Engaging in Cross Country Runs as Preliminary Work

Drake track men are hard at work in preparation for the spring meets. Every afternoon a bunch varying from twenty to fifty men "take to the woods." This squad consists of the remnant of last year's champion team together with many new men of unknown caliber but with good academic reputations. Each night the distance covered in these cross-country runs is increased. They are now about three miles. As soon as the fine weather opens up, practice on the field and track will be begun.

Pell, Graham, Jaggard, Anneberg, Thompson and Smith make up the nucleus around which Monilaw will center a strong team. These men are almost all sure point winners and the Drake men are confident that they will do as well as they did last year, if not better.—Des Moines Leader.

Y. M. C. A. at Indianola

The biennial conference of Young Men's Christian Associations of Southern Iowa will be held at Indianola March 13 to 16. Many speakers of wide repute will address the meeting and the large committee in charge are making arrangements for a large attendance. H. S. Hollenbeck, W. A. Shurman, John Dunn, R. J. Olinger and Ira T. Hawk have been chosen as Iowa's delegates. Secretary Hawk will address the meeting Friday afternoon on the subject "The Associate Member."

Dr. James Murphy, a member of the medical class of 1888, died at his home on east college street yesterday. The funeral will take place from the family residence Friday, March 14, at 9:30 a. m. Dr. Murphy had located for the practice of medicine here in Iowa City and by his ability, and integrity had won the friendship and respect of the community.

INTEREST IN DRILL

Captain Burnett Infuses Interest and Enthusiasm into the Military Work

Interest in the military department of the university is at a greater height than it has been for years and during the next month much hard and conscientious work will be done on the part of both officers and privates. Through the efforts of the commandant, George R. Burnett, several valuable medals will be provided and awarded to the best drilled men. The firm of Coast & Son will furnish a $75.00 sword and belt for the captain of the best drilled company. The winning captain will be permitted to carry this sword for the year and until the winner of next year's contest is ascertained.

C. Yetter will furnish two $30.00 medals. One for the best drilled junior and the other for the best sophomore. George Sneppel furnishes a similar medal for the best drilled freshman, and the commandant will provide a like medal for the best marksman of the battalion. April 18th, is the day set for the company and private competitive drill and on that day the right to wear the sword and the several medals will be won. The winners of the class medals will be allowed to retain possession of them until they are promoted to another class, when the right to wear them will again be open to competition. Major Burnett expects to provide medals which will designate the winners of the several honors and will be the property of the men themselves.

The big military ball is scheduled to take place on the evening of this day and the governor and his staff will be invited to be present at the drill exercises and at the ball of that evening. This ball is in the hands of the first sergeants of the companies and we are assured that it will be the most elaborate military function ever given here. The rewards offered and the general interest taken should make the event a grand success and a great gala-day for the military department.

The Northwestern University of Chicago barred swearing, smoking, drinking intoxicants, and kissing from the rendition of the annual sophomore class play, on the very proper grounds that their toleration is a semi-indorsement of such practices by the faculty and therefore demoralizing in its tendencies.—San Francisco Chronicle.

The judges on delivery at the local oratorical contest tomorrow evening are Dana C. Johnson, Rev. Geo. L. Cady and Attorney C. M. Dutcher. Judge Ney will act as referee.

Polygon initiated Miss Mather '02, Mr. Barrett '03, Robert Edgerton '04 and Ben Wyland '05 last night, following the initiation with a spread and dance at Woodman Hall.

That Board of Control

The Cedar Rapids Gazette after letting loose of a lot of gush which must have originated in the fertile imagination of their Des Moines correspondent gives the following as a reason for the adoption of a board of control for the Iowa educational institutions.

"There is still another reason why this educational board should be authorized and appointed. The whole system—if that word can be rightly used—is hap-hazard. We tinker a little every session. We put a patch here and another there. There is no harmony nor congruity. The State university is cramped up on a couple of city blocks when it should have an immense campus. A board such as we contemplate will study unity in plan and idea, and look to the future for the full accomplishment of its purpose. It will have the support of all except the pedagogic politicians and will, I am confident, go through this legislature as a measure of personal relief from those who have proved themselves obnoxious."

LAST LECTURE-RECITAL

Professor Gordon will Discuss and Interpret "The Marble Faun" Tonight

The last number of the lecture recitals will be given this evening in the general lecture room of the hall of liberal arts. The program will consist of a discussion and interpretation of "The Marble Faun" by Professor H. E. Gordon and an interpretation on the piano by Miss Alice B. Chase. The programme follows.

That the system of debating as worked out by the two forensic societies here is of no mean order is shown by the recent victory of Fred S. Holsteen, C '99 L '00, who was during his course here a member of the Zetagathian society and who took part in the inter-society contests. Here it was, that he received that training and practice which enabled him to bring great credit to himself and honor to his alma mater on the forensic field of Yale University. We congratulate Mr. Holsteen on his success and the societies upon the efficiency of their system of debating work.

The students of Pennsylvania are protesting because the heads of the athletic departments are always selected from resident men. Here we care not whether they are resident or non resident but about now we would like to see something more doing in the way of making ready for spring athletics.

Those who have good reason to expect a few flunk notices at the end of this term will be interested in the summer school announcement printed elsewhere in this issue.

A good hearty enthusiasm manifests itself in the department of military science. The department of athletics however need not be seriously alarmed about the contagion spreading over into their quarters for the athletes have all been successfully vaccinated.

The baseball men assembled for practice today. Good! But now let us settle that little matter of finance.
