DO STUDENTS WANT SPRING ATHLETICS?

SUCCESS OF CANVASS DECIDES THE MATTER

Can not Every Student Contribute $2 to Spring Athletics when he is Given so Much in Return?—The Schedule will be Played if 400 Tickets are Sold

Have you subscribed yet?

If you have agreed to purchase a season ticket to the baseball games for $2, you have made an arrangement that not only affords you a great deal of pleasure from the sense that you are helping university athletics, but you have before you the prospect of a great deal of wholesome enjoyment that is worth many times the $2 which you will pay for it some time next term.

$2 for 14 games—that's the proposition.

If you haven't subscribed, you are of course ready to do so as soon as a subscription paper reaches you. The Iowan athletic editor, who headed the original paper for two tickets some two months ago, had three opportunities to subscribe for tickets in one journey up the central walk today, so opportunities are walking around pretty frequently. They will get around to every student soon. The canvass is booming along finely—it delights the Iowan to see it. The office-holders are at last doing their duty and the canvass is going along nicely.

It's a great bargain—14 games for $2.

The baseball season this spring begins April 17 and ends May 31, with a possible game on Alumni day of Commencement week. Fourteen fine games will be played at Iowa City and an equal number away from Iowa City. The purchase of season tickets to the home grounds will render possible the trips which the team will take, playing Minnesota, Illinois and Purdue among other college teams. Unless 400 season tickets are sold to the students, there will be no trips, no home games, no anything in the baseball line. There will be only the dual meet with Minnesota at Iowa field for excitement in the athletic line all spring. It is very probable that the board of control would conclude that if the students didn't care enough about athletics to invest in a proposition like that presented in the baseball ticket at $2.00, it would alone be inadvisable to hold any track meet here. That would enable the students to save not only the $2.00 for the baseball season but the quarter or half dollar which will be charged for the track meet. No athletics at all and every student saves money, yes as much as $2.25. How many students would like to purchase that condition by that saving?

Every student can afford to buy a ticket at $2.00.

A student who is earning his way through one of the colleges of the university, earning his way by about as hard work as any student ever did, said yesterday: "I think I will have to buy one of those baseball tickets. I know I will get many times that amount of good out of it and I can save that amount in many ways. I want to get some of the college spirit while I am here, want to see some of the things that all students want to see, want to know something about college baseball before I leave. I'm going to sign for one of those tickets and I want you to tell every student that he makes a mistake when he refuses to subscribe for a season ticket this spring simply because he doesn't have to. He'll regret it before he is much older."

$2 for 14 games covering the entire spring term—you'll be sorry that you didn't if you don't.

The general sale of the tickets in all the colleges evidently means that the baseball games this spring will be attended by a good share of the students of every college. You'll see all your friends at the games. You'll want to be there yourself. The only way to do it is to take a season ticket of the first fellow that comes within hailing distance of you with a subscription paper. It's the best investment all around that you will have a chance to make for a long time. You'll have a fine time at the games and you'll become such an expert in baseball that all the boys at home will reverence you as an oracle of balls, strikes and stolen bases—if you subscribe for a season ticket.

It'll cost only two dollars. Any student can spare that and save that for such a cause.

It may be suggested, tentatively of course, that it would be better to subscribe for two tickets than one—but such a matter is apparent to the wide-awake man. One ticket is all that the Iowan absolutely urges you to buy for the sake of yourself and varsity athletics. Dame Curtsey may advise two—the canvassers will not refuse any number of tickets that may be asked for.

It has been a long time since the students of the university were asked to contribute to the athletic union's treasury. They are not now asked for any great help. They are allowed the opportunity to purchase season tickets at a bargain, with the assurance if four hundred tickets are subscribed for, the baseball team will play out its schedule.

$2—can you help athletics that much, especially when you receive so much in return?

14 games—$2.

Dr. D. F. Fitzpatrick, M '01, who has been practicing his profession with excellent success at Dubuque during the past year, has decided to return to the city and after next Monday he will occupy the late Dr. Murphy's office rooms. Dr. Fitzpatrick is a young man of worth and ability, and no doubt will do well here.

CERCLE FRANCAIS

New French Society of University Now Well On Its Feet and Assured a Rapid Growth

Professor Van Steenderen, of the French department, is highly elated over the brilliant prospects of the Cercle Francais, but recently organized by the students and instructors of French in the university. It has fifteen members now enrolled, and quite a number more have expressed their desire to join the organization. The members are enthusiastic in their work, and are doing everything in their power to arouse interest in the Department of French.

Through the endeavor of Professor Van Steenderen, negotiations are pending to affiliate the local organization with the Alliance Francaise of Paris. This latter society is a power in French literature of the present day and exerts a strong influence throughout France and her colonies as well as in the principal institutions of learning, in this country and Europe. Iowa's departments are always advancing to higher standards and the French department is proving itself no exception.

The second meeting of the society will be held this evening in room 119. A paper on Alphonse Daudet will be read by Professor Van Steenderen, after which the evening will be spent in social games conducted in French.

SCHOOLS CLASSIFIED

Much Hard and Earnest Work Being Done to Bring About Uniformity Throughout the State

Dr. Brown, state inspector of high schools, has been hard at work all the year upon the task of bringing about a standard uniformity in the courses and work of the high schools of the state, and his endeavors are everywhere being met with appreciation. When it is considered that there are at the present time over two hundred accredited schools in the state, while there are but nine months school to the year and about one-third of this time must be spent in the office, one gets something of an idea of the amount of time demanded for the work.

To bring about the desired ends, Dr. Brown has issued, quite recently, three bulletins, the first upon entrance requirements in English, another over secondary schools, and the last on the four-year high school.

Salute the Freshmen

The freshmen have taken the initiative in class athletics by calling a meeting of all their men interested in athletics for tomorrow at 12:30 in the auditorium. From the successful scraps the freshmen put up last fall, it is probable that they will respond to this call of their president to a man. Now that the ice is broken, it's about time for the sophs to commence navigation if they are to get the big bunch of points.

VALUABLE SET OF BOOKS

Complete Set of Student Publications Kept by Prof. Currier—The Only One in Existence

Professor Currier has the only complete set of the files of the student publications of the university that is in existence. Each year, from the very beginning of college journalism at Iowa, he has carefully had these papers bound. In them are recorded the history and record of the progress of the university. Professor Currier takes pride in the collection and as each issue of the Iowan comes out he files it away to be bound at the end of the year and added to his collection.

Professor Currier in speaking of his set of files, said, "I prize the collection very highly and consider it of great value. It is very interesting to look them over and to compare the events of years ago with those of today."

As soon as a suitable case for these books can be had they will be placed in the Dean's office where they can be looked over by the students.

Besides these publications Professor Currier has a great many of the old publications which were issued at Dartmouth during his college days there. These by the Dean are prized very highly indeed. In looking them over he can bring to his memory many of the happy college events of long ago at Dartmouth. "My advice to all students and especially to the freshman as he enters the university," said the Dean, "is to keep a file of your college paper. You will never be sorry for it and in after life they will be among your most prized treasures."

Phi Delta Phi Banquet

The Blackstones of Phi Delta Phi Fraternity banqueted at the Berkley Imperial last evening, and a pleasant time is reported. Fourteen of the members were present, besides a number of invited guests. E. D. Kenyon acted as toast-master for the evening, and toasts full of wit and wisdom were given by R. J. Bannister, "The Fraternity;" C. M. Dutcher, "The Alumni;" Dean C. N. Gregory, "Schools and Gentlemen;" Judge H. E. Deemer, "Before and After;" Judge Emlin McClain, "The Law School and the Law Office"

Middletonian Program

The Middletonian society will hold their last open meeting of the term this evening. Eighteen seniors will graduate from the society this year, which is an excellent showing, considering the short time they have been organized. The program will consist of an instrumental solo by W. E. Bushnell, installation of officers, presentation of diplomas by Dr. Bierring, a response by T. H. Baer, and music by the Medical quartet.

G. P. Linville is supplying for Attorney Zmunt as instructor in commercial law at Irish's Business College for a couple of weeks.

Entered at the post-office at Iowa City, Iowa, as second class mail matter, Oct. 11, 1901.

"Wow, wow! Who, wah!" seems already to float up to our sanctum from the west. Every day of practice, get out and "ginger up" the boys in their early work on the diamond. The men are out. Keep them out with your good cheer. Iowa is going to play ball this spring and don't you be "hood-winked" into believing anything else. "Just a safe little single. That's the eye." Of course, all these remarks must be declared null and void, unless that bargain sale of season tickets is well patronized by the student body and others interested in college baseball.

When we pick up this, that or the other university daily, we are always greeted with "and the university chorus sang college songs." Now, verily, we would like to write the same thing, but — Well, we'll guarantee that the glee club will sing your rhymes, Mr. Composer, if you will give them a rolling, rollicking chant for old Iowa.

Where the bees are humming, there's either honey or a sting. The bees are humming. Our experience thus far has been that one must either stay away from them altogether, or else whet his appetite for the sweets and prepare a flax-seed poultice for emergencies.

And it's about time for that end-of-the-term editorial, stating (for the information of freshmen and others) that military duties are suspended on the bulletin board till after the death of his lordship, Sir Cramming-for-Zams

Professor Calvin Returns
Professor Calvin takes charge of his geology classes this morning and gives a very interesting account of his geological expedition to the Frasier river region, British Columbia. He was to have been back several days ago, but his train met with several delays on account of the heavy snow storms on the route. He told of many interesting geological facts about the geology of the Frasier region, which is one with a strange history.

In crossing the border between Canada and the United States the on the Canadian Pacific R. R., Dr. Calvin observed that on the United States side was a region covered with prosperous towns and villages, while on the Canadian side, although the soil and climate were practically the same, yet there was scarcely a human habitation within sight. The reason for this is that there are markets for the produce on the American side, while that on the Canadian side had no outlet for produce within paying distance.

Freshman Debate

The Freshman debaters have finally obtained a satisfactory question and are now preparing for the final effort. The following question was submitted by the Zetagathians: "Resolved, that our laws should provide for the compulsory adjustment of labor disputes between railway and mining corporations and their employers." The Irving debaters chose the negative. Irving will be represented by Diamond and Allen; Zetagathian by P. T. Rinker and Ray Files. The debate will take place rather late in the spring term, owing to the unusual delay in securing a desirable question. It will, however, be up to the standard as the men chosen to represent the societies are men of unusual ability along debating lines.

Captain Storey Resigns

Leslie Story, C '02, has handed in his resignation as captain of the baseball team. He gives as his reason too heavy school work, as he is taking work both in the collegiate and law departments. Since so few of last year's men are back, the board of control will select Captain Storey's successor probably on next Saturday. W. L. DuBois, C '02, is prominently spoken of for the position on account of excellent work on third last season.

President MacLean is in receipt of an invitation to be present at the installation of Nicholas Murray Butler, L. L. D., as president of Columbia University, to take place at Morningside Heights, N. Y., on April 19. Dr. Butler succeeds the Hon. Seth Low, last fall elected mayor of New York.
