VARSITY LOST THE GAME
SIX EASY BALLS MUFFED AT FIRST

Save for Shearer's Erratic Work Game was a Good One, which Varsity should have won—Ineligible Batter Played by Iowa

Mr. Shearer, a gentleman stationed out at the first relay depot for the Hawkeyes, lost the closing game of the Iowa-Rock Island series on Iowa field yesterday by miffing six balls thrown into his mitt. Barring Mr. Shearer's performance, the game was a good one on both sides. The Iowa management showed its high opinion of the present present by naming the dates for the varsity battery, by deducing that they did not need practice. Rock Island eagerly accepted the opportunity to practice with the twirler, Lester and Cadawr, and Yates filled the bonk behind the rubber.

The second of the series of lectures given under the auspices of our school of public and commercial science took place last night before a larger audience than was present at the closing one tonight (no doubt the audience will be more increased). Prof. Monaghan's subject last night was upon the subject of "Commercial Service and Commercial Expansion."

The substance of his lecture was as follows. The U. S. is developing and is developing very rapidly in an industrial way. We are receiving much of our grain, cattle and many other materials from the "combined world." Our soil geography teaches us to best on earth. The Mississippi Valley could produce enough to supply the globe. Nature has favored us and we will soon be at a lead in manufacturing.

For athletic bodies we must have an increasing commerce and to get this we must continue to increase our colonial and our producers the mileage of our commercial service for so much depends upon them. Continue study the schools for education to our merchants and our producers the need supply of foreign goods.

The daily reports of our good ships are complete and are of interest. The value to our commercial classes.

The rapidity with which the growth and development is, is killing the markets of the world with goods in the face of competition. We are afraid of it in a commercial war. We have borrowed 35 per cent of our resources and are fast developing them. We are producing the goods and we are exporting them. In this commerce our diplomatic and commercial service plays a small part. Our service is already good but should be given increased attention.

Men for these positions of broad training should be procured. Young men trained in the economic and commercial departments of our universities would have a good base with a keen insight and broad way of looking at things are desired. We need a man to be the head of the commercial service. We need a man of superior talent and ability. The College graduate who has taken the producing end work and who has had experience in "newspaper work" and has learned such a way as to increase the good work of our diplomatic and commercial service would materially aid us.

Mr. Monaghan said:

Sophos Give a Circus
The sophomore class of the University of California, who recently gave a circus, found it to be a very profitable form of entertainment. The committee reports that receipts have been $1.50, while the total expenditure was only $500, thus leaving a balance of $550. This profit was applied to the track fund.

The report that the race for the presidency of Wisconsin has narrowed down to two possibilities has been confirmed. The committee of the board of regents has under consideration Professor William D. Witt of Bowdoin college and Professor J. W. Velika of the economics department at Cornell university. The committee met in Milwaukee yesterday but reached no decision. — Wisconsin Cardinal.
