FORTY-SECOND ANNUAL COMMENCEMENT
GROUND BROKEN FOR NEW MEDICAL BUILDINGS

Large and Able Classes Graduated from the Colleges of Liberal Arts, Law and Dentistry—Splendid Address by President Booker T. Washington—The Prices and Class Rolls

In the big tent and before thousands of resident and visiting Iowans and their friends, the forty-second annual commencement of the college of liberal arts, the thirty-seventh annual commencement of the college of law, and the twelfth annual commencement of the college of dentistry, took place Wednesday morning.

The address of the occasion was given by President Booker T. Washington, the well-known negro educator and philanthropist of the Tuskegee Industrial School.

President Washington discussed the race problem of this country and for two hours the immense audience followed the colored orator with applause and genuine admiration. Unlike Senator Tillman, who sees no solution for the race problem wise to wit that the problem is already working itself out and, trusting in the freedom of the press and the hope that the American people thinks the problem will in some way be adjusted in fairness and for the best interests of both races. In speaking of the Tuskegee industrial school President Washington said:

"For a number of years we have employed the word, "provincialism," in connection with moral and literary education in a very large degree. We have come to hope, as well as the opportunity to so blend their lives with the industrial life of the world, we might make the two races feel that their interests are identical.

It is to the school of self support that the South owes much. That, with the hundreds of graduates that go out of Tuskegee to put brains, skill and dignity into the common occupations of life; we are teaching them to make a common thing in an uncommon manner; to lift labor up out of drudgery and toil into that atmosphere where becomes beautiful and glorified; we are teaching them that the greatest protection lies in usefulness; we are teaching them to make a common thing in an uncommon manner; to lift labor up out of drudgery and toil into that atmosphere where becomes beautiful and glorified. They will be teaching their children to do a thing we esteem.

The problem of self support is already working itself out, and the negro is beginning to see that he is a part of the world and that he can contribute to the world. The negro has now been on the same plane with the white man for three hundred years. It is the negro's privilege to be educated, and in the process of education he is taught to respect the dignity of the white man. If a negro is not taught to respect the dignity of the white man, he will not respect the dignity of his own race. The negro is now beginning to see that he is a part of the world and that he can contribute to the world. He is no longer a slave but a free man, and he is now beginning to see that he is a part of the world and that he can contribute to the world.

I have heard it stated more than once recently that the true solution of the race question in the South is that the negroes should be free and that their interests are identical. Then there is friction and difficulty as to the negro's position in society. I have heard it stated more than once recently that the true solution of the race question in the South is that the negroes should be free and that their interests are identical.

In the big tent and before thousands of residents and visiting Iowans, the address of the occasion was given by President George E. MacLean.

At the close of the address President George E. MacLean conferred degrees upon the following graduates from the several colleges:

BACHELOR OF ARTS

Professor Josiah Royce of Harvard Discusses Interesting National Problems in Student Forum

The commencement exercises of the Iowa Alpha of Phi Beta Kappa fraternity were held in the hall of liberal arts Tuesday morning, June 10. The program was opened with a beautiful band, the creation of Professor of Music, followed by a selection from the orchestra. Dr. G. T. W. Patrick then introduced Professor Royce, of the Royal Institute of the British Museum. Professor Royce is the speaker of the occasion. Professor Royce, of the Royal Institute of the British Museum, is the speaker of the occasion.

"Those who would help save men should understand their influence to keep them on the soil and out of large cities, especially the large cities of the North. "Already the results that are beginning to show themselves are almost startling. For example, there is proof that the colored people already own 1,004,000 acres of land and paid taxes last year upon over $1,500,000 worth of property. In Georgia the official records show that the colored people own 1,004,000 acres of land and paid taxes last year upon over $1,500,000 worth of property. In Georgia the official records show that the colored people own 1,004,000 acres of land and paid taxes last year upon over $1,500,000 worth of property.

Bear in mind that this is a race that started empty handed and in poverty and ignorance less than 40 years ago. George Kennan, the eminent Russian historian who has recently been in the south, says that the negroes who were freed at about the same time as the Russian serfs, have already outstripped the Russian serfs in progress, notwithstanding that the serfs in Russia were given land by the government and the negroes in the south had to buy their own land.

"We have heard much of the days of reconstruction in the south, but we are bringing about other movements now through the graduates that are going out from our various schools a new era of reconstruction. Not the old era of charity, but an era that emphasizes politics alone and hatred of the negro, but a new era of reconstruction which emphasizes the buying of land, the education of the race, the strengthening of the bond of friendship between the negro and the white man. It is to be hoped that this is a race that starts from the bottom, that this is a race that starts from the bottom.

I have heard it stated more than once recently that the true solution of the race question in the South is that the negroes should be free and that their interests are identical. Then there is friction and difficulty as to the negro's position in society. chapels here and if so of what kind? It is hardly probable, that there is any considerable number of students who desire the re-establishment of that chapel which suffered such a deserved death and was so deeply buried some five years since. That kind of a chapel has no place at Iowa. For several years it was most thoroughly and persistently tried and failed, and now to exhume such a wasted corpse only for the privilege of its second interment were worse than folly. But for an assembly of the right sort, one suited to the nature and manifold needs of our modern university, one which would tend to unify and strengthen her by fostering in her several organizations a common sentiment and sympathy, there is a positive need.

Divided as the students of this institution now are into seven different colleges and these colleges submit to another, if you please, into over fifty different and distinct organizations with interests almost as various as their numbers, the influences which act upon the student are almost wholly divergent. To the influence of athletic and forensic contests alone must we look for the convergence of student interest and enthusiasm. But we need something more. We need a spacious assembly hall where the men and women of the university can meet regularly as a family, where the topics of common interest may be thoughtfully considered; where the students may come to know better not only one another and their different interests but the faculties as well: where, in short, the common bond of friendship and interest between the several colleges may be augmented and the general and individual loyalty to Iowa strengthened. For such an assembly the university has an urgent and immediate need.

The College of Law

In view of the fact that about fifty percent of the students fail ed to pass the examination recently given by the board of law examiners at Des Moines, it is need ful that we stop to consider the farther fact that out of the nine seniors at Iowa's university not one failed to pass identicaly the same examination and before the same board. And the further fact remains that, as expressed by a member of the board "the papers of the university students ranked all the way from fifty to one hundred per cent better than those written at Des Moines." From these truths we conclude that the college of law is maintained by the state of Iowa is the one institution in the West which provides such an education in law as meets to the strict measurement of that state for the privilege of the practice of law at her bar.

offered the invocation. Governor A. B. Cummins as the official head of the state and the board of regents returned the two spadeful of dirt with the following remarks: "This momentous step in the history of the University of Iowa's university which will make the university a permanent intellectual center of the good people of the state and the country."

President MacLean spoke briefly of the bright prospects of the University in the future and the wonderful ability to advance through tried by fire and water. He referred to the loss of a number of the beloved professors of medicine and of his good deeds for the institution.

Regent Carroll Wright mentioned the good feeling which exists all over the state toward the University and the desire on the part of the legislature and the people of the state to provide well for their university.

FACULTY PROMOTIONS

Among Various Faculties of the Several Colleges of the University

President MacLean has announced the following promotions: C. E. Seashore, Ph. D., from assistant professor of philosophy to professor of psychology; E. W. Stewart, Ph. D., from assistant professor in philosophy to instructor in philosophy.

Mabel Williams, B. Ph., from assistant professor in psychology to assistant instructor in psychology.

R. D. George, M. A., from assistant professor of geology to professor of petrology and economic geology.

H. G. Gilbert, M. S., from assistant professor of history to professor of American history.

G. E. Thoms, Ph. D., from assistant professor of Scandinavian acting professor in charge of Scandinavian.

G. L. Cadly, M. A., from honor assistant to lecturer in sociology.

J. E. Conner, R. A., from fellow in department history and professor of American history to assistant professor in history.

G. T. Flam, Ph. D., from assistant professor of Scandinavian to professor of Scandinavian.

The band was dispensed with about fifteen minutes was jammed with well-honored guests. The Greek maid's must not be forgotten nor Tom-Tom the wild boy from Patagonia. Fred Emry in clown suit and mounted on a mule which had a voice like that of Olympus and was wounded like thunder when he was brayed, was the center of attraction for several small boys. Mabel and her donkey, two of a kind, were a pair of fun makers. The free exhibition began at about 6:30. The side show included of five minutes was jammed and packed with curious spectators. Inside, the dwarf, giant, and giantess, snake charmer and other sideshows, made a decided hit. The posters outside the tent made a decided hit. The side show was directed by Fred Grant Emry, who won merited glory by his tireless efforts to make the side show a success.

At 6:30 the big tent was opened and then came the jam. Two thousand people, each determined to get in first and secure the best seat, crowded and jammed about the main entrance till a hundred policemen could not have stopped them. Many went away without showing their tickets and many more got in without even seeing tickets. When the tent was packed to overflowing and all tickets were sold the side walks were lowered and the small boys of people on the hill who had been unable to get in were given an opportunity to see the show.

C. C. Geise as ringmaster got things started at 7:30 and for three hours there was continuous fun and amusement. After the grand entry the Bros. O'Brien were introduced and went after the work like real showmen. Living pyramids were formed and stunts done which must have taken months of training. The semi-accidents in the air and the work of Walker, the strong man, were especially surprising.

Trainer Harry S. Pusnon, sometimes known as Patagonia, the Baby, introduced Dodo the big elephant and put him through a few stunts including the cake walk and all other amusing dances. Mike. Dugan, who was in the act of setting fire to the place was doubled up the crowd with surprise and the younger Tumblebug who finished. The Tumblebug took a grand entry the Bros. Roulier (Ferd and Fay Huff) was a fine hit.

VARSI T REGENTS MEET

MEDICAL BUILDINGS TO BE STARTED AT ONCE

Various Arrangements Made to Accommodate Needs of the University

The annual meeting of the Board of Regents was adjourned this evening after three days of routine business. During their session the board decided to locate the medical buildings upon the new quadrangle. The structures are to be three in number, of stone, of modern architecture and furnished and equipped with the most modern laboratories and provisions. The building which is to contain the physiological, pathological, histological and bacteriological laboratories will be first erected, and the bids for its construction will be opened about the first of August. This structure is to be completed by July 1, 1903. It will be 53 by 149 feet in size and three stories in height. The approximate cost will be about $60,000.

The second of the Medical buildings to be erected will contain the anatomical laboratory and is to be of the same style and architecture as the first but smaller in the amount of floor space. It will be 50 by 55 feet in dimension and also three stories in height and is to be ready for occupancy on November 1, 1903. Its cost will approximate $45,000.

Appropriations were made by the board for the establishment of a laboratory for mining, mining engineering and electrical engineering. $2,000 was set aside with which to engage an instructor for this department.

An additional instructor French and in botany was provided for. It was decided to divide the upper floor of the old library building into rooms for the department of physics, thus doubling their floor space.

The chair of otology was provided with a clinic room in the basement of the university hospital building, while an additional lecture room is to be provided for the use of the Dental instructors in that building by removing the present amphitheater and putting in a new floor.

G. P. Kier was elected demonstrator in operating dentistry in place of McCartney.

The resignations of Drs. C. H. Coggeshall and Frederic G. Beck from the college of Homeopathic medicine and Dr. De Ford from the college of Dentistry were accepted.

Harry G. Morrow was elected demonstrator in prosthetic dentistry.

Miss Elva G. Dunham resigned her position as matron of the Homeopathic hospital and Miss Marie Stuart Sims was elected to fill the position.

Merton L. Person was elected to the position of lawyer librarian in place of Claude Hornack, who will study at Harvard next year.

Eight Thousand Five Hundred dollars were appropriated for the purchase of books for the several libraries.

Owing to the increasing number of Dental students and the amount of clinic work, provision was made for ten new operating chairs and an increased clinical fund.

Provision was made for a non-compulsory weekly assembly. The university arms are to be removed from the present armory building and this building fitted up for the new laboratory of mining and electrical engineering.

Provision was made for the position of armorer and J. F. Kirby was elected to the position.

Messrs. Holbrook, Abernethy and Ilah were re-elected to the executive committee of the board of regents.

BACCALAUREATE ADDRESS

GALA WEEK OPENS WITH IMPRESSIVE RELIGIOUS SERVICES

The Right Reverend Theodore H. Mor- roon Makes an Elloquent Plea to Immense University Audience.

On account of the lack of a building in Iowa City large enough to accommodate the commen-cement audiences, a mammoth tent was secured for the presentation of the services and in the history of the university have so many people assembled to hear these addresses. The baccalaureate exercises were the first of the program and on Sunday afternoon of June 8 the vast tent was filled to overflowing, and long before the hour announced for the opening of the program the hills of Iowa's west campus were dotted with Iowans eager to be present at the first impressive ceremony.

The exercises opened with the singing of the hymn, "Onward, Christian Soldiers," at 4 o'clock, sung by the choir of the Trinity church. The president then introduced the Right Reverend Theodore N. Morrison, D. D., Bishop of Iowa, who gave the baccalaureate address. The Rev. Morrison closed his address with the words: "Lo, thee, by my beloved one in the close of the season.

By the Best Ball Playing the Handsome Trophy Goes to Sigma Nu

The Sigma Nu fraternity in the closing game of the season on the magnificent baseball diamond succeded in defeating their opponents and at the same time established their title to the famous silver cup, put up by the Emeritus class in the last game with the Phi Upsilon, or the former Alpha Chi Khois, was a close one and only resulted in a victory for the Sigs by their cool playing at critical times. They also did great work at the bat and not a man failed to find his ball throughout the season. On the other hand the Phi Uptons could not hit Wheaton, the Sig phobia for fear only three hits during the entire game. The Sigs did not take their final game and the seniors stood to it in their favor. It is the general opinion that the frats games this year have shown a better grade of ball than they have in former years.

The Pickard Prize Debate

The Pickard prize extemporaneous debate was held in the

FESTIVAL OF MUSIC
First Public Appearance of the University Chorus a Grand Success in Every Particular
The grand festival of music goes into history as marking an event in the musical history of the university. The custom of having such a programme is a young one at Iowa, but the grand success which attended the first effort surely insures a prosperous future for such musical treats.
The concerts given were of excellent grade of art and too much cannot be said of the creditable showing made by the local chorus.
The Chicago Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of the celebrated Koussevitsky, more than substantiated the nice things said of it, and the several soloists were equally well received.
The sublime oratorio St. Paul was most creditably rendered by the soloists, chorus and orchestra.
The chorus that has been in rehearsal for the past four months under the direction of Dr. J. G.
Gilchrist, and Professor C. K.
Chase showed the effect of careful training.

The precision of attack, tone coloring, simultaneous releases, volume of tone and the perfect harmony were proof that their months of study were well spent.
The artists engaged for the choir-partes made the most of the score and did their part to add to the success of the event.

Taken as a whole and from all day-points this advent of the June festival of music at Iowa was most auspicious, and it may be safely said the festival has come to stay and next year should see the chorus greatly increased in size. Interest will not be allowed to wane and preparations are already under way for our next grand festival of music.

high developments of popular sentiment subject to the disorders of more dangerous mobs than have ever before been brought into symptomatic relations. This is the third evil. As a crowd, the mob cannot be wise. Sympathy and not judgment rules their action. Opposed to these men are the provincials, the lists who make council together in small groups, who expect one another's individuality, who meanwhile criticize one another constantly and earnestly, and who suspect whatever the crowd teaches. From the latter groups come the best good and to them should the popular government be entrusted.

The modern nation needs today, as never before, the high development of the life of its individual provinces. Provincialism and only provincialism can assimilate our foreigners, can neutralize the evil of great industrial consolidation, can nourish the needed independence with which to resist the influences of the modern forms of the mob spirit, and can give back to the nation what the nation is in danger of losing—its conscience, its spiritual dignity, its organic life. Let your provinces be the first social ideal. Cultivate its young men, and keep them near you. Foster provincial independence. Adorn your surroundings with the beauties of art. Serve faithfully your community that the nation may be saved.

IOWA LAWS VS. ILLINOIS

The Law Debating League of Iowa Makes Arrangements to Debate Laws of Northwestern University

A temporary debating compact has been closed between the local law debating league and a similar organization of Northwestern university. A debate is provided for, to be held at Chicago, probably some time during the second semester. The permanent compact will be drawn up immediately upon the opening of the university as fall.

Iowa has submitted the same question which the Forum submitted to the Senate: Resolved, that present legislation in opposition to industrial combinations should be limited to statutes providing for and enforcing publicity and prohibiting local or personal discrimination. Northwestern has been given fifteen days to make her choice of sides.

The preliminary debate will be held during the first semester and a hotly fought contest is anticipated. The Hammond Senate's men have chosen the negative of the proposition, leaving the burden of proof upon the Forum.

The marriage of Miss Edna Page '99 and John W. Ham '99 will be solemnized on Wednesday, July 17, at the home of Mrs. S. E. Page on East Iowa Avenue. They will make their future home in Schenectady, New York.
