VARSITY IS IMPROVING

FINE OFFENSE LAST NIGHT

Team is Gaining Strength at Every Practice—Sayings of Pell and Ristine.

The practice on Iowa field last night showed encouraging improvement in the Iowa team. The offensive was the best yet seen from the varsity and the defense was fairly good, though a number of old men were out of their positions and several experiments were being tried. The reserves, it is true, scored twice on the varsity, but they were allowed six downs to make their distance. With the regular ends, Coulthard and Siberts, in their positions, and Captain Hollenbeck in the line, the defense will be something to try the best work of the Michigan smashes and runs.

A number of changes in the line-up were made, that of Fred Buckley to left halfback being perhaps the most important. Buckley is a good tackler and a good helper and would make a good Iowa halfback. It is very possible he may fill this position for the rest of the season. McGowan was in at right tackle and Coach Knipe paid close attention to his movements. He has the fire which is wanted for the position and if he can make good at it, one great load would be removed from the shoulders of the coaches. Another load would be removed if another tackle could be found or manufactured in some manner. Donavan, at present the one bright star of the team, now playing at left guard, might make a good tackle could he be spared as guard. He was again the bright light of practice last night, charging faster and surer than ever and taking a delight in his work. Ochiltree was out again last night and played in his usually fine form. Siberts hurt his hand in the practice, an accident which will mean much should it prove serious. Briggs played at center and Johnston was put in at right guard. Stoltzenberg and Ross played the ends and White continued his good work at right half back. Jones and Griffith alternated at quarterback.

SOME WISE SAYINGS

Coach Ristine (late of Harvard) and Coach Pell (late of Drake) have been bobbing up very strong the past few days with their opinions on the Iowa team. Dr. Pell's contribution to the gaiety of the university is an opinion, well fortified by saws and maxims, to the effect that the Hawkeye team is overtrained. Mr. Ristine continues to express his entire confidence in the Agricultural school's ability to defeat Iowa next Saturday.

The Des Moines Capital takes up Pell's opinion on overtraining and elaborates it giving an opinion that Minnesota's score of 34 to 0 was unwarranted if Iowa was properly coached. If there has been any signs of overtraining on which to base an opinion, Dr. Pell's saying might be worthy of some attention. The Minnesota game, however, showed the team in the best physical condition of the season. They possibly showed up in better condition than the Gophers because they didn't work so hard as the Minnesota players but there was no indication of any fineness in their condition.

Mr. Ristine is much of the opinion that Ames will defeat Iowa. He will undoubtedly be of that opinion until about four or five o'clock Saturday.

There is however, no reason to expect a cataclysm simply because one defeat has come to Iowa. Minnesota played the best game on Iowa field she has played for three years and defeated Iowa by a large score. But the varsity is still able to play a good game of football. The team is improving steadily this week and will be stronger Saturday than it is now. There may be some doubt as to how the team will measure up with Michigan a week from Saturday but as to the intervening game—it is quite possible that Ames may not win even if Mr. Ristine says she will.

Pi Beta Phi Initiate.

Saturday evening the Iowa Theta chapter of Pi Beta Phi met at the home of Miss Edna Boerner and initiated the following members: Mattie Bloch '06, Atlantic; Agnes Remley '06, Anamosa; and Verne Stockdale '06, Walcott. After the initiation the chapter gave a banquet to their new members and alumni. Speeches, games and a general good time helped to while away the hours.

Among the out of town guests were: Dorothy Schultz, Burlington; Nonie Stockdale, Walcott; Leda Pinkham, Wichita, Kansas; and Anna Robinson Rule.

About 1,000 students or Michigan Agricultural college struck Monday owing to the suspension of seventeen of their number for participating in a freshman-sophomore rush ten days ago. No classes were held in the afternoon. Resolutions were drawn up by the students demanding the reinstatement of the suspended students, but the committee that presented them to President Snyder was informed that the faculty meant to stand firm in its position.

The auditing committee of the board of regents are going over the books of retiring Secretary Haddock preparatory to turning them over to Mr. McChesney.

Miss Caroline Jarvis, '03, is receiving a visit from her sister.

DON'T LOWER THE BARS

NEED FOR MORE NOT LESS EDUCATION

Dean Currier Gives His Ideas on the Shortening of College Courses Following the Lead of Harvard.

By DEAN AMOS N. CURRIER

The scope and import of the action of Harvard University allowing the completion of the undergraduate course in three years, seems to have been widely misconstrued. As I understand it, nothing is abated from the conditions heretofore prescribed for the bachelor's degree except the time requirement. In former years the course has been completed, substantially or entirely, in three years but the degree could be obtained only at the close of the fourth year. Hereafter students who are able to do four years' work in three will be granted their degrees at the end of the third year. This practice, I believe, is prevalent in some shape and in some degree in many colleges and universities. In most cases, the shortening of time by overcrowding is a serious mistake for the student since the breadth and quality of scholarship inevitably suffer. Besides the indefinable but very real and permanent influence of a wholesome college atmosphere needs time to produce its best results in developing, maturing and refining those subject to it.

Lower requirements for the bachelor's degree ought not to be thought of and are not likely to be adopted by the best colleges and universities. If exigencies of time or means require early entrance upon business or professional study, let it be regarded as an unfortunate necessity in individual cases. The professional colleges which do not require the bachelor's degree for entrance may well make substantial concessions to college graduates by the acceptance of equivalents unless they wish to limit themselves to students without college training. At all events the colleges and universities should not lend themselves to accelerating the feverish haste of the time by shortening or degrading their courses, in the firm conviction that the twentieth century will need for its tasks men and women with more thorough training and a better education than any of its predecessors.

Hand Book Out

The Y. M. C. A. Hand books were completed yesterday and are now ready for distribution. They are free to all students of the university, and may be obtained at Close Hall every afternoon from 3 to 6. The book is of vest pocket size and neatly bound in black leatherette. It is full of information valuable to both old and new students. It contains the complete enrollment, railroad time tables, contest records, officers of all student organizations, and in fact any information that the student may require, except where to pay his board bill.

ABOUT ROAD RUNS

Last Night's Run a Good One—Route for Run Tomorrow

Twenty-five runners followed Prof. C. W. Eastman in a road run last night. The route taken from the gymnasium was across the river and up the rock road to intersection with the Coralville road and thence back to the gymnasium, a distance of three miles. The distance was covered in good time and gives promise of a stiff contest run tomorrow.

CONTEST RUN COURSE

The second contest run for the cross country class cup will start tomorrow afternoon at 4:30 from the gate of the west campus on Madison street, or in other words from the intersection of Madison street and the projection of Iowa Avenue, and the finish will be at the same place. The course will be across the bridge and south on the river road to the intersection with the B. C. R. & N. Ry. tracks and return, a distance of four and one-half miles. There are few or no hills on the course and the road is in good shape.

Laws of 1905

The freshmen laws held a meeting yesterday and elected F. E. Fortner as delegate to the university assembly. The meeting was then at the point of orderly adjourning, when someone proposed a banquet. This met with much favor. Trouble began, however, when a motion to entertain the collegiate girls, was made. The senior collegiates opposed the motion, but being in the minority were overruled. Serious consideration, however, resulted in the appointment of a committee to make plans for a banquet, and to report at the next meeting of the class. The class then adjourned with their yell of,

Sis! Boom! Bang!
Who eats 'em alive?

The Laws! The Laws of 1905.

Brown has a code known as "College customs," which consists of the following rules: 1. Seniors alone shall be allowed to occupy the seats of the Van Wickle Memorial Gates. 2. No silk hat shall be worn by any undergraduate until junior week of his class.

3. No freshman shall smoke upon the campus. 4. No freshman shall wear a straw hat until Memorial Day. 5. No freshman shall be allowed on the south side of College street. If, however, the freshmen win the sophomore-freshman base ball game they shall be allowed the use of either side of College street. Otherwise the rule remains in force throughout the college year. 6. No freshman shall be allowed to wear any preparatory school insignia, such as class or society pins, letters or numerals. 7. Only seniors shall be allowed on the middle east steps of university hall.

Calendar for the Week

Oct. 30: Assembly 9:45 a. m.
Oct. 30. Cross Country Run
4:30 p. m.

Oct. 30-1: Meeting State Society of Charities and Correction.

Nov. 1: Football, Iowa vs. Ames, Iowa field.

Nov. 4: Reading, Bertha Kunz Baker, 8 p. m. "Nance Oldfield."

The editor of the Cedar Rapids Gazette has, with little wit and less logic, formulated an opinion of the future of Iowa professional men. His opinion is based upon Iowa's failure to make a good showing in the football world, this year. "The football team of the state university is very poor this year" he writes, "and the deterioration makes the Gazette tremble for the future of the bench, the pulpit and the school of physicians. Whenever the young men of Iowa are so weak that they cannot grow hair nineteen inches long, they supply abundant proof that the human race has hit the toboggan."

The editors of the Y. M. C. A. hand book are to be congratulated upon its early appearance

While it might have been better and earlier, yet it is so far ahead of last year's in these respects, that we cannot complain. Last year's hand book did well for a Christmas gift; this year's is too early for even a Thanksgiving present.

Formulated customs make laws. This being true, a law regulating the wandering steps of the dental students, should be formulated from their custom of taking short cuts across the campus. This law once ascertained, the board of regents might add another walk or two to our checker board system.

The managers of the cross country runs are to be praised for their successful efforts. It has been tried here before, but never with much success or enthusiasm. These runs combine pleasure, training, and health.

Plan to attend at least a part of the sessions of the Iowa Conference of Charities and Corrections. The student body are especially invited to these meetings. In the general lecture room October 30 and 31.

The student body this year is favored with an abundance in the line of lecture courses, and this in addition to the political campaign in this district, affords an excellent and a rare opportunity to hear the best.

We wish the board of regents could attend one of our assemblies. They might then see the strength of our plea for a new assembly hall.
