MICHIGAN TOMORROW

TEAM SENT OFF WITH Rousing CHEERS

Michigan in the Best Form of the Season—Iowa Misses Her Ends—Another Vei

The practice last night on Iowa field was one of the best of the season, which is a bad sign for Saturday. Iowa has never won a great victory, but that the last two were good. But it was good last night. The eleven got together and played the depot to welcome them off and felt they had played a good game. The practice was taken seriously. The team believes in winning. The boys went to bed feeling good.

MICHIGAN will receive one thousand words by telegraph from Roy A. Cook on the game tomorrow and will give the Hawkeyes a full account of the game in tomorrow's paper.

The probable line-up of the varsity will be:

Ross, 1; Berry, 1; Donovan, 2; Briggs, 1; Hollebeck, 1; r; McGowan, 1; Coulthard or Howell, 1; Badgers, q. t; Marshall Buckles, 1; b; Roy Buckely, r; b; Ochiltree, f, b.

COULD IT BE YELL?

Only one yell come in today in the Iowa football yell competition. To give it, it is necessary for the students to be present at the game. The rest of the team is out of town.

President MacLean will repre- sent the university of Iowa at the inauguration of President Thomas Basnett at Upper Iowa University tomorrow, November 11.

A Football Trust

While Michigan was showing the world how to play football, the other end so out. Iowa was playing against us.

Michigan, the team from the east, came in rousing style. In the beginning, they did it in rousing style. It is a startlingly clean team. The Michigan team is a fine team. They are a good team. The Michigan team is a very fine team. They are a good team. The Michigan team is a very fine team. They are a good team.

President Currier says his team has hard luck. Iowa has never won a great victory, but that the last two were good. But it was good last night. The eleven got together and played the depot to welcome them off and felt they had played a good game. The practice was taken seriously. The team believes in winning. The boys went to bed feeling good.

The rest of the time when they were at home, they did it in rousing style. It is a startlingly clean team. The Michigan team is a fine team. They are a good team. The Michigan team is a very fine team. They are a good team. The Michigan team is a very fine team. They are a good team.

Professor Currier has brought his invaluable collections of the university of Iowa publications down to his office in arts hall, and proposes to place them in a cabinet, where they will be open to all who wish to see them.

An Iowa reporter was privi- leged to go through the reserves, and to see the students now in the university has printed since the beginning. It is the whole gamut of printed things from hand-bills to Hawkeyes and from the Iowa and the first number of the University Reporter issued in October. There are the Junior Annuals from the first; eleven of them in all, bound in the hand, and literary society invitations and programs bearing the names of the professors and instructors, Prof. Eggert, of the normal department and beside the other end so out. Iowa was playing against us.

The pathos of his failure moved the audience to tears of sympathy. There was but such a Space between his cradle and his grave that in his dying words, "the cradle was greater than his death bed." Time to Win
Iowa does not hope to win the game tomorrow. Still we have sent our best to Ann Arbor and we would not refuse to win. It has been two years since we have defeated a conference team and the balance of the score on the wrong side is getting heavy. Iowaans have waited for the outcome of the big games with expectation of winning till expectation is worn out. It is time for us to win and high time and we are going to do it in just twenty days.

The response to the Iowa's offer for football tickets pleasing. All the yells so far received are short ones and we have several world beaters of that kind in use already. A longer yell would be welcomed by the roosters.

The action of the senate in requiring Saturday work after vacations and intermissions is robbery. Peter to pay Paul. They give us a holiday and then take one away to make up for this generosity.

With the proposition to give diplomas for servant girls and the inauguration of the strike idea among college students, those who complain that colleges are not progressive should be silenced.

And hour by hour it becomes more apparent to the minds of all, raising itself up and staring them in the face in a bold fact, that we need a gymnasium.

Old Time Advertisers

The first university paper issued 34 years ago contained the advertisements of the Iowa City Commercial College then conducted by the father of Judge Emlen Mc. Clain, of T. W. Townsend the Photograph and of M. Bloom who advertises clothing and furnishings and who had already founded the house of which Bloom and Mayer are the successors. It is probable that their name can be found in every issue of the college paper from that day to this.
