ATHLETIC BALL COMMITTEE REGARD FUTURE

The committee of the athletic union is not all able to give the athletic ball at their last meeting organized, and elect

President R. E. S., a member of the committee ex officio. It was considered proper that the presi- dent of the athletic union should be a member of this committee.

The matter of the price of tick- ets for the ball was thoroughly considered and it was finally de- cided not to raise the price above that charged for the regular class parties.

This stand was taken with con- siderable doubt and only after a full discussion and the committee was pleased to see that thus is a University party and a party for the benefit of athletics and the administration is kept within the means of the majority. A fine soloist and their ensemble party for the benefit of athletics are more than entertained this evening.

This consideration was allowed to outweigh the desire of the committee to make a large sum of money for the union and to banish for the moment the sancti-pation of the great expense entailed by a party of such magnitude as they were preparing.

The athletic ball according to the statement of the committee is to be conducted in a manner and at a price which the union may be proud of as well, showing the first athletic ball such a success that the annual feature of university is well looked to for in the future will be the athletic ball.

IOWA CITY, IOWA, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 18, 1922

Miss Ruth Paxson general secre-

In the auditotium of Close-

The formation of alumni associations in the different cities in the state is an object which is receiving attention from a number of university alumni. The need of these associations is great. There are but few of them at present in the state and hardly any of those which exist in name are active.

The object of the associations is to promote good fellowship among

Iowa alumni, to spread through the state by-ways the good name of the University of Iowa, and to aid the university in the many ways in which constantly face themselves to the alumni. The membership of the association is so broad as to take in all former students at Iowa, the division between alumni and present students being not so finely drawn in Iowa as it is in the east.

The coming months of January and March are excellent times for the local alumni associations to get into the spirit of the essentials of an alumni association is to make the best of the time.

Addresses by the president, a regent or a professor and by other speakers followed by stories and a general good time comprise the programs at these diners.

The principal address would be from the direct view of the university, bearing the latest news of her progress and able to tell the alumni of her greatest needs.

The alumni would then be brought in touch with the present university and would be able to sympathize more intensely with her aims and work.

The alumni associations, provided their officers were wide awake would form a needed medium of communications with the university, alumni from time to time which would best be useful to the university. The members would also be able to work more concentrately in influencing the high school graduates to attend Iowa.

These associations should not be formed in Iowa but in every city outside the state where alumni are numerous enough to warrant an organization. A dozen or more alumni are estimated to be sufficient to form a nucleus for an Iowa alumni association.

Polygon elected the following officers at a meeting this night:

President Leila Kemmerer; vice-president Stanley Miller; secretary R. H. Edgerton.

The variety "I" men will meet at Close Hall this evening at 7:30 to vote on the proposed constitution for their new class. All the "I" men are given the opportunity to become charter members and should do so if their漉er is in the matter.

True Human Standards
A college education is broadening, it opens up to the student the whole range of knowledge if he will grasp it. But it may be narrowing too. There is no danger of lacking in warm human sympathy; no one more out of harmony with the innocent joys and pleasures of the great mass of humanity; no one more censorous or unforgiving of the slightest weakness or error, than one who, buried in books and abstractions, forgets that all true knowledge is the interpretation of life.

It is a warm, throbbing, vital experience that we live. A college education is called a preparation for life; but the measure of the highest importance that those who teach in the college should feel and appreciate in its broadest sense what this life is.

Through all the long winter months the path of the student deviates little from the walk from the room to the boarding house, thence to classes and then back to the room. A place for exercise, to work off the pent-up energy, a place to meet on friendly terms of equality and social intercourse is demanded by the close-boarded and separated students. Such a place is a university gymnasium.

Those who look upon the be-nighted condition of their Tagal brothers in the Philippines with commiseration, will doubtless be surprised to learn that the oldest college of law under the stars and stripes is in the city of Manila. This college existed one hundred and fifty years before Harvard endowed its law department.

The college presidents of the state are getting so friendly and meeting together so frequently that some one will be accusing them of having organized a trust without consulting J. Pierpont Morgan.

What is a good time for some people is nothing but a bore for others. A good time is a relative term and different things, right things too, will furnish good times to different people.

"BOXING"
SPALDINGS ATHLETIC LIBRARY
No. 163

The book contains about seventy full-page illustrations, showing how each blow is to be made, how to attack and how to defend yourself. It shows how the hands must be held and it points out to note with descriptions that are so accurate that any boy can be taught, even them up with a young fand before preferncents. Besides being a fully illustrated book on the art of wilder-var, it contains nearly all the plagues of the leading fun-var boxers and the positions they find in which to lure sublim.
