BASKETBALL GAMES

SEASON BEGINS WITH GAME HERE JANUARY 24

Several Games Scheduled.—More to Come—Team is Strong This Year Practice Every Other Day

The basketball team is now practicing regularly for the games it is to play this winter. The season will open a week from Saturday with a game at Close Hall with Wilton college.

The schedule, so far as completed, the Grinnell game being still in state of negotiation, is: Jan. 24—Wilton college at Close Hall.

Jan. 26—Des Moines college at Des Moines.

Jan. 30—Des Moines Y. M. C. A. at Des Moines.

Jan. 31—Grinnell at Grinnell.

Feb. 6—Kansas at Close Hall.

The schedule will be considerably lengthened by games to be scheduled. Among these will be Grinnell and Mobmouth colleges at Close Hall and Minnesota and Minnesota Agricultural college at Minneapolis.

The team is practicing regularly Tuesday and Wednesday nights and Saturday afternoons. The team as at present organized is composed of: Farrell and Ross, forwards; Parson, Center; Schenek, Captain, and Brock guards.

The second team has been practicing regularly against the first team since the beginning of the basketball work last term. The second team men are: Stover, Brown, D. Griffith, Negus, and Scudberry.

Coach Bailey is much encouraged over the form of the men as shown by the practice this last week.

"The team will be considerably stronger than it was last year," said Mr. Bailey this morning. "The men are playing with more snap and skill than ever. They are fast and clever and should make an even better record than last year's good team."

Sophomore medics began dissection Monday.

Dr. Decker began lecturing to senior medics this morning upon diseases of children.

Sophomore medics have passed the holiday examination in physiology under Dr. McClintock

F. W. Crockett, L. '03 has returned from a five week's trip through Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and California.

Dean C. N. Gregory leaves tomorrow for Evanston, where he is to act as judge on the Michigan-Northwestern debate.

On January 22, at 4:30 and 8:30 p. m. Samuel Arthur King will lecture on the "Art of Public Speaking." It is to be held in the general lecture room and is free to all.

RHODES' SCHOLARSHIPS

President Gives Part of the Report of Committee

Today's assembly was taken up by a discussion of the Cecil Rhodes' scholarships, by President MacLean.

Rhodes has said, that the greatest thing he gained from Oxford was a thought from Aristotle, "the conscious pursuit of a noble end, enobles." "This," says President MacLean, "should be incorporated in the sentiment of every university."

Oxford has stood for one thing, pre-eminently for the humanities. Its object has always been to turn out statesmen. Only recently it turned its attention to the sciences.

The committee, so far as can be made public, have agreed upon the following things: Awards will be made upon an educational basis and not upon a political; No awards will be made before autumn of 1904; A bachelor's degree will probably be required, or at the lowest two years in a university; They must not be out of school more than two or three years. The age limit will be twenty-four. An education sufficient to pass the entrance examination to Oxford is expected. This last condition carries with it a classical course as preparatory. Others however are not absolutely barred, but will of course be handicapped. The fixing of the age limit was to acquire two things, maturity and a plastic mind. They are expected to go as Americans and return as Americans, but broadened by the contact. It is not expected to send fighters, or to have English apes return.

Y. M. C. A. Convention

The state biennial convention of the Y. M. C. A. is to be held at Cedar Rapids, February 19 to 22. An excellent program by well known speakers is prepared. Free entertainment is to be given to all accredited delegates. The local association have decided to accredit any member who desires to attend. The usual reduction on the railroads will be given.

About the Cotillion

The athletic ball and sophomore cotillion committees are evidently trying to outdo each other. They have engaged the same orchestra and are now engaged in making elaborate preparations for the decoration of the armory. Although the sophomore committee is placed at a disadvantage in having their party first, nevertheless they have determined to give the swellest party of the year with the possible exception of the athletic ball, and are doing all in their power to accomplish this.

Middletonian will hold its first regular program of this year tomorrow evening at Close Hall.

CARNEGIE INSTITUTION

A CHANCE FOR IOWA STUDENTS

An Opportunity for Those Who Desire to do Research Work

The following facts relating to the appointment of research assistants in the Carnegie Institution of Washington are submitted by Dean Weld as being of interest to the students in the scientific departments of the university.

One of the purposes of the institution is to encourage and aid in a substantial way persons of exceptional ability and promise engaged in the various lines of scientific research. To this end there will be appointed a considerable number of research assistants. These positions are not to be regarded as fellowships or scholarships; nor is it the intention to secure thereby the corps of laboratory assistants or helpers needed in the conduct of the work of the institution. It is rather to "discover and develop, under competent scrutiny and favorable conditions, such persons as have unusual ability."

The work required will be independent research of an advanced and special character, and each appointee must have demonstrated a superior fitness for such work. He will be under the immediate direction of some able specialist and must have ready access to libraries and laboratories well equipped for his particular work. Otherwise his residence must be such as to afford the best of facilities for "field work" in the subject under investigation.

Application for appointment may be made either by the candidate himself or by a responsible representative of any institution of learning. The application should be accompanied by evidence of the ability and qualification of the candidate, such as papers which he has already published, and an account of the research work which he has already done. A prospectus of the particular line of investigation which he wishes to pursue, together with a statement of the special facilities and the time necessary to complete such investigations should also be furnished. In making appointments there are no limitations as to nationality, age, sex or academic preparation. The annual emolument will vary according to conditions but will not, in general, exceed $1,000. Appointments will be made for one year only, but may be renewed. All communications upon this subject should be addressed upon the outside envelope to the Carnegie Institution of Washington, 1439 K Street, Washington, D. C., and marked upon the inside envelope, "Research Assistant."

By virtue of a grant to the Marine Biological Laboratory at Woods Holl, Mass., the Carnegie Institution also has at its disposal

COMMUNICATION

Law Student Shows Injustice of Recent Ruling of Law Examiners

The recent announcement of the state board of law examiners, in which they have decided, that all future applicants for admission to the bar in this state, must show a diploma covering a three year high school course, or a certificate of graduation from some higher institution, or pass an examination in all the branches of high school work before the board is causing a great deal of anxiety and apprehension among the present students of the law.

It is impossible to see the justice of this decision for the following reasons:—

The present law students here have complied with all the requirements for admittance to the university and the state bar, as stated in the catalogues and by the university examiner; Many who have fondly worked and hoped for admittance in the next one, two, or three years as the case may be, are deemed it seems to go back and study and refresh their memories in some long forgotten studies, which many of the members of the board would fail in. Many are here in the university who, had they known of the unreasonable surprise which awaited them would have spent more time at high school, or would have chosen another school or state as their educational and legal home; no reasonable person, or one genuinely interested in the laws could believe in an ex post facto law. The examining board itself does not, yet this is exactly what the present decision amounts to. It will make students who entered and complied with all the then present requirements for admission to the bar, be liable for requirements since added.

This certainly is not fair. We all want the standard of the university and the bar elevated, but we think that the manner adopted for doing it by the state board is not just; as it has the appearance of trying to fill the department with unsuspecting laws, and then springing higher requirements.

We earnestly hope President MacLean will use his influence as a member of that august,—but in this matter, erring body,—to have this requirement set aside in favor of those now in school, who have complied with the examiners requirements.

A LAW STUDENT

The writer of the above is mistaken in assuming that President MacLean is a member of the board of law examiners—Ed.

M. J. Mehaffy, a member of the graduate college and acting secretary of the Y. M. C. A., has accepted a position in the Marion High School. His place at the Y. M. C. A. office is to be filled by H. S. Hollenbeck.

The Cedar Rapids Gazette contains the following upon the faults of education. Its chief value lies in the fact, that the real faults have been carefully omitted.

While some educators are finding fault with the education of pupils in the rural schools, and making the statement that teachers are incompetent, the Gazette would like to state the teachers are themselves taught by professors who do not know, and they in turn seek to impart a series of surmises to the children. Give us something practical, cut out the frip frap and give us careful training in the regular branches and in the things that will mean something to the children. What does the average boy care for Latin? How many think they need to spend time on German? How many could live without French? How many know how to spell in English or to write an intelligent letter to a friend?"

The University of Iowa should and doubtless will, be represented in the near future by appointees to one or more of the very desirable positions at the Carnegie Institution.

Basketball has gradually become a more important factor in winter sports, since its admission to the union. This year's schedule is due to the earnest effort of those in charge. They have worked for love of the game and without pay. We predict success for this year's basketball at Iowa.

The Cornellian got so enthusiastic, over an announcement of the executive committee that Cornell was to have $71,500 additional finds, that they issued a special edition. We dislike to promise so far ahead; but we believe if we were to get a new assembly hall, we would print a red, white, and blue edition.
