GILCHRIST IS EXTREME HAS SMALL KNOWLEDGE OF
ATHLETICS
Opinions of Doctors and Athletic Authoriies — Preston Dr. Gilchrist’s Views of College Athletics Dr. Gilchrist’s opinion on college athletics, given at Bowman’s and last evening before the first semi-ester, have been very generally pronounced extreme by physicians and athletic authorities.
Physicians and directors having to do with students have been interviewed by different papers from Boston to San Francisco and there has been a general opinion that Dr. Gild-christ’s views are those of one who has formed his views from exaggerated reports of compopapers rather than from any intimate knowledge of his subject.

The physicians at the University of Chicago have much the same views as those physicians at the University of Iowa who have had to do with students in their athletic work.

Dr. Chas. P. Small, official physician to the Chicago “U’, this student body for the first semi-ester, has been very generally pronounced extreme by physicians and athletic authorities.

Dr. Joseph E. Roycroft, medical examiner for men in athletics, says: ‘The statement that an athlete is liable to see a premature death is unfounded in fact. Careful studies have proven the opposite. A comprehensive study of the Harvard seniors back to 34 shows that the men who train for these races, which are the most severe in athletics, are all able to do in living after things.

Prof. Stagg says that Dr.
Gilchrist’s entire argument is based on a fallacy and cites the experience of the four-mile run-racing races in England as showing that injuries supposed to result from strain in athletic exercise are false.

Calendar for the Week.

Earlier Start
The athletic ball committees are to be strongly commended for their stand in regard to starting the ball earlier. A grand march at eleven has become a frequent occurrence at the armory parties. Such a late beginning means that the program will last till a correspond ingly late hour. Those in attendance are wearing waiting for the dancing to begin, and then they are forced to miss part of the program on account of the unreasonable hour to which it must be dragged out. The request of the committee that hack orders be put in for early hours, such as eight, fifteen, and eighthirty, if needed, will remedy the evil. On the other hand a man with a nine fifteen carriage call cannot expect to be at the armory before ten o’clock, which, if the committee keeps its word, will result in his missing the grand march.

More Men Needed

Amusements

The Elmina Telegram, speaking of Adelaide Thurston, who will appear here at the opera house, Saturday night, February 14, is quoted as follows: “The good does not contain a more lovable character or a more gifted ingenue than sweet little Adelaide Thurston. Those who witnessed Miss Thurston’s superb portrayal, and they numbered nearly 2,000 people at both performances, were not only attracted to her by her admirable acting, but her sweet unaffected charm of manner as well.”
